FOR nearly a century Ferguson's Directory has been a regular and reliable compendium of all information anybody wants to have about Ceylon.

This year's issue, the 96th, it is believed, lives up to the reputation this publication has established for itself over the years as an indispensable handbook for every type of business and professional use, and the only one of its kind in the country.

Every effort has been made to ensure that the information presented in these pages is as comprehensive, accurate and up-to-date as possible.

A number of new features and sections have been introduced in this year's issue. The Companies' Section contains data about the latest dividends declared and the names of directors of companies in Ceylon. Together with Weights and Measures is included a set of time-saving Conversion Tables. The latest Census and Statistics Department report on population and kindred matters list of Clinics in the Colombo General Hospital and of hospitals in the Island are also published.

The Directory also carries articles on the Housing Loans Board, Social Services in Ceylon, the Medium Term Loans for Development and Housing projects, and Term Deposits in the Bank of Ceylon.

A complete revision has been made of the sections dealing with Sports and Recreation in the Island, and with Ceylon's social Condition.

The compiler is indebted to all those who furnished him with prompt returns of facts and figures. Without their ready co-operation his task could not have been accomplished.

The history of the Diesel tractor is a history written by "Caterpillar." Others have sought to imitate the working ability, the quality the strength, the versatility, the economy of these machines. But imitation is a poor substitute. That is why 99% of all tractors built by "Caterpillar" are still hard at work.

The Land of Palms (specially ric.-2-w+i) t^-7 Rubber, Cocoa, Spices (Cinnamon, Cardamoms, Camphor, Pepper &c.) Cinchona ; Land of Pe s, Rubies, Sapphires, Alexandrite, Cat's-Eyes, Moonstones, Plumbago, &c. ; of #icient Ruined Cities ; of Tropical Vegetation and Scen 01 (Highland and igeland) theinest in the tvor7d ; of a great variety of Fauna, from tlw Elephant to the Cobra-de-capello.

Ceylon is a pear-shaped island lying at the southern extremity of India, between 5055' and 9051' of North Latitude and 79041' and 85053' East Longitude. It is separated from India by the rgrrow Palk's Strait, which is crossed by Adam's Midge, a row of islands and sandbanks, with very shallow water between.

The island etends 270 miles north at.cl, is 540 miles broad, i*,5total area being 25,332 square miles.

PHYSICAL FEATURES

The mountains of 'Ceylon, which originally formed part of the great massif of Peninsular India consists of a central mass of crystalline Rock of Pre-Cambrian Age, which culminates in the Pidurutalagala (8,282 ft.) overlooking Nuwara Eliya.

The central mass of mountains is surrounded by broad ,coastal plains, which are broadest towards the northern Elope of the :slatd. The rivers radiate round the cent41, tpountaipcore and are short and swift and flow into the sea.

CLIMATE

Ceylon has a variety of climate, largely dependent on the monsoons and the elevation above sea-level. There are no well-marked seasons. The average mean temperature ranges from 790 to 820 in the low-country and from 580 to 750 in the hilly country. The rainfall is less towards the North-west and South-east and average under 50 inches a year ; while in the wet zones, the average is 200 inches or more. Full temperature and rainfall figures are given on pages 03 to 65.

FLORA AND FAUNA

Ceylon has a wide variety of vegetati h1. Paddyfields are found in the wet ow-country up to ook: tion of -,00out 2,000 feet above sea level. The coconut palm is characteristic of that' coastal belt of the Southern, Western and North-western provincs,,s-ehilv plantations of Tea, and Rubber are confined to the mid anAp-country. The total area cultivated is about 2 million acres. Full particulars will be "fund in the Agriculture and Estates Sections.

Large tracts of forest chiefly supply timber for building and furniture trades.

The elephants mostly associated with Ceylon, while leopards, bears, deer, monkeys and buffaloes are somOlf the commoner animals.

POPULATION

A full Census taken on Maich 20, i/953, showed a total population of 8,098,637. The total population on March 19, 1946 was 6,657,339 which was 25.4 per cent. more than in 1931. The 1953 Census figures reveal an increase of 25.6 per cent, when compared with the population in 1946. The 1953 Census figures are subject to further revision and should be regarded as provisional only. Full figures are found on pages 56 to 61.

Eclipses and Planets in 1954

ALL times, given in this Ephemeris, are in Ceylon Standard Time, which is 5h. 30m. in advance of Greenwich Mean Time. The Colombo true local time is 5h. 15m. in advance of G.M.T.

The times of sunrise and sunset are those of the appearance and disappearance of the Upper limb of the Sun on the horizon at Colombo, assuming the observer to be at sea-level. "For every degree eastward from Colombo, the Sun will rise and set 4 minutes earlier. Observers on, 1000, 2000, 3000, and 4000 feet above sea-level would see the Sun rise, 21, 31, 41, and 51 minutes earlier, respectively, and set the same amount later, than the corresponding times at sea-level. For places north and south of the latitude of Colombo there will be another correction to the times of sunrise and sunset, which varies with the time of year, but is never more than 5 minutes anywhere in Ceylon, and is usually much less.

The Sun will be directly overhead at Colombo on April 8 and September 5. At Colombo, the longest day, June 22, is 15 minutes longer than the shortest, December 22. At Jaffna the range increases to 40 minutes and at Galle reduces to 48 minutes.

Eclipses—There will be three eclipses of the Sun, two annular and one total. The annular eclipses will be on January 5 and December 25 and the total eclipse on June 30; none of these would be visible in Ceylon. There will be two eclipses of the moon, one total and the other partial, both visible in Ceylon, the former only at the beginning. The total eclipse will be on January 10 and the partial eclipse on July 16.

Planets—Venus is a morning star at the beginning of the year and becomes an evening star by February. It continues as an evening star till November, when it becomes a morning star again. Mars rises after midnight in January and rising progressively earlier is in the sky all night by mid-June. Thereafter it sets before dawn and setting progressively earlier is in the evening sky from November. Jupiter sets before dawn at the beginning of the year. By mid-March it begins to set before midnight and is in the Western sky till July. It rises before dawn by mid July and rising progressively earlier is visible practically all night during November and December. Saturn rises after midnight in January and rising progressively earlier is in the sky all night by the beginning of May. It then sets progressively earlier and is an evening star by October. From November it is a morning star.

Magnetism—The estimated mean value of the compass declination (or variation) at Colombo in 1954 may be taken as approximately 3.1° W., (i.e., the compass zero is West of true North by this amount.)

The Currency of Ceylon

The Monetary Law Act No. 58 of 1949, replaced the Currency Ordinance No. 21 of 1941 with effect from 28th August 1950.

2. The Act provides to Pa Ceylon Rupee, having a par value equal to 248 grains of fine gold, as the unit of currency. The Central Bank of Ceylon, which has been established under that Act, is now responsible for the Currency of the Island, the preservation of the par value of the Ceylon rupee and the maintenance of the domestic and international stability of the Ceylon rupee.

3. Currency Notes are issued in the denominations of Re. 1, Rs. 2, Re. 5; Rs. 10, Rs. 50 and Rs. 100 and coins in the decimal sub-divisions of the rupee i.e.,

50 cent—nickel brass.

10 cent—nickel brass.

5 cent—cupro-nickel and since 1942 brass.

2 cent—nickel brass.

1 cent and 1/2 cent—bronze.

4. Subsidiary notes for 50 cents, 25 cents and 10 cents were issued until recently. Subsidiary notes and coins are legal tender for the payment of any amount.

5. The value of currency notes in circulation on 31st December, 1953 was Rs. 345,163,657.50 and the value of subsidiary notes and coins in circulation on the same date was Rs. 1,415,414.25 and Rs. 20,511,689.99 respectively.

Historical

The decimal system of coinage came into operation on January 21, 1872 from which date accounts of the Island were kept in rupees and cents. Since 1825 they had been kept in feet and shillings and pence and prior to that in rix-dollars, fanattis and pice.

THE METRIC WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

In the Metric system, the standard of length is the Metre, the standard of weight is the Kilogram and the standard of capacity is the Litre.

MEASURES OF LENGTH

10 millimetres (mm.) equal	1 centimetre (mil.)	equal	0.39370113 ins.
10 centimetres do	1 decimetre (dm.)	do	3.9370113 ins.
10 decimetres do	1 metre (ns.)	do	1.0936143 yards
1.9 metres do	1 decanetre (dam.)	do	10.936143 yards
10 decametres, do	1 hectometre (hm.)	do	109.36143 yards
10 hectometres do	1 kilometre (km.)	do	0.61237 miles

One kilometre is approximately 0.62137 mile. To change kilos to miles multiply the number of kilos by 5 and divide by 8.

MEASURES OF LAND

100 square metres equal	1 are (a)	equal	0.0988 rood
1000 ares do	1 hectare (ha.)	do	2.4711 acres
100 hectares do	1 sq. kilometre	do	0.38611 sq. mile

MEASURES OF WEIGHT

10 milligrams (mg.) equal	1 centigram (cg.)	equal	0.15432 grain
10 centigrams do	1 decigram (dg.)	do	1.5432 grains
10 decigrams do	1 gramme (gm.)	do	15.4323 grains
10 grammes do	1 decagram (dag.)	do	5.6438 drams
10 decagrams do	1 hectogram (hg.)	do	3.5274 or.
10 hectograms do	1 kilogram (kg.)	do	2.2046223 alb.
10 kilograms do	1 myriagram (mg)	do	22.046223 lb.
10 myriagramas do	1 quintal (7.)	do	1.9684 cwt.
10 quintals do	1 tonne (t.)	do	0.842 ton

One kilogram is approximately 2 1/2 lb.

MEASURES OF CAPACITY

10 millilitres (mil.) equal	1 centilitre (Cl.)	equal	0.0704 gill
20 centilitres do	1 decilitre (di.)	do	0.17598 pint
100 decilitres do	1 litre (lit.)	do	1.7598 pints
10 litres do	1 decalitre (dal.)	do	2.1997 galls.
10 decalitres do	1 hectolitre (hl.)	do	2.7497 bushels

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

One amuna is equivalent to five bushels, if thirty-two seers be reckoned to the bushel ; but if each earn, or measure as it is sometimes called, be "pressed down" and running over only twenty-eight face upon a most anomalous extent of rice or kurakkali growing land which can be sown with that quantity of seed. Similarly one amuna is taken to mean that surface of land which is generally sown by five bushels of seed. But different lands and localities naturally possess different degrees of fertility, and consequently, one amuna, as applied to surface, may signify two acres, as is usually assumed in Nuwara Eliya District or two-and-a-half, to which it is considered to be equivalent in the Eastern Province. The kurunija and the laba are of varying size, the former being sometimes equal to the laba and at other times only equal to the mela.

- 1 amunara is equal to 4 pelas, 40 lahas or kurunis, 8 parrahs, 5 seers or neli.
- 1 pela is equal to 10 lahas or kurunis, 2 parrahs, 1 bushels, 5 pecks, 40 quarts or seem or neli
- 1 laba is equal to 4 quarts or seers or ueli.
- 1 parrah is equal to 5 lahas or kurunis, 20 quarts or seers or nail.

The English Bushel is equal to 34 Seers or 1 Parrah and 10 Seers.
 8 Lahas=1 Kuruni, 10 Kurunis.=1 Pela, 4 Pelas=1 Amunam.

SINHALESE LANE MEASURES

The extent of land is defined by the quantity of seed required to sow it, computed at the Amunam measure and its subdivisions. In fertile lands the seed is not sown half so thickly as in poor soil. Foil: an Arounam of good mound therefore, fill sometimes measure twice as many square feet as an Anatutana of poor soil.

NOTE—A Kuruni is equal to 10 15/16 square perches. One Amunam's sowing is equal to 24 acre roots 371 perches exactly in the case of paddy ; and a Laha is the equivalent of an acre in the sass of tottrakkati.

INDIAN WEIGHS AND MEASURES

1 tola=180 troy grains (rupee weight); 80 tolas=1 seer--24 lb. tray 40 seers-1 maned-- 83 2-7th lb. avoir. (or 100 lb. troy). Grain is usually sold by weight throughout India. Another calculation 5 toles (2 2-35 or, avoir.)=1 chittack, 16 chittacks (2 2-35 lb. 2voir.)=1 Mer. 40 seers (82 2-7 lb. avoir.) =1 maund. One ton=27,222 maunds. The standard 9 lef lineal and square measure vary with the province and the purpose.

Kulta—The guz=Ump, yard, the Bengal common toss or mile-2,000 yards, 301. biggan=16 imp. acres. Th. factory infund of 40 seers=74 lb. avoir. The bazaar matind—a 2 2-15 lb. avoirdupois. Tea is always reckoned by the maund of 80 lb. avoirdupois.

Madras—The covid in cloth measure-18 3-5th inches, but the English yard, of 36 iodise, is generally used; the cawny in land measure= 57,600 square feet or about 1 acre 1 rood and 1 } poles; the garze of 80 parabs of 490 marcals in corn for dry measure—about 16 7/8 imp. quarters or by weight 9,254 lb. avoir.; 20 ollocks— 1 English gallon; the mound of 8 via. in measures of weight.. 25 lb. avoir.; the candy=20 mauuds or 500 lb. avoirdupois.

CEYLON'S CONSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENT •

ON the 16th of February, 1796, Colombo surrendered to the British forces. After the Capitulation, Ceylon was placed under the Goliernment of Madras and its administration entested to a Gajor-General Commanding the Forces, assisted by three civil affirms, who were stationed aif Colombo, Galle and Jaffnapatam.

The employment, however, of dubashes imported from Madras for the purpose of collecting the revenue and the harsh methods they adopted in the performance of their duties led to an insurrection in several of the Korles in 1797. That resulted in the withdrawal of Ceylon from the control of the Madras Government, the transfer of the Island to the Crown, its conversion into a King's Colony. and the appointment of the Hon. Fredric North as its first Governor on xOr October, 1798.

The Governor was authorised to nominate a Council of Advice and form a civil establishment for the Island. This Council, which was then described as His Majesty's Council and was composed entirely of the higher members of the Civil Service, presided over by the Governor, formed the legislature of the Island. In 1823 the following officers formed the Council :—The Lieut-Governor (who was also the Commander of the Forces), the Chief Justice, the Chief Secretary to the Government, the Commissioner of Revenue, the Hon. Mr. John William Carrington and the Hon. Sir John D'Oyly, Bart., the last named gentleman having been appointed apparently to represent the interests of the Kandyan Provinces which had then been recently acquired.

THE COLEBROAKE COMMISSION

While this Council of Advice was still in existence, there arrived in Ceylon in 1829, Lieut-Colonel Colebrooke and Mr. Charles H. Cameron who had been commissioned by the Home Government to inquire into and report, the former upon the Administration of the Government ocCeylon, the latter on the Judicial Establishments and Procedure in Ceylon.

According to William Digby, the immediate occasion of the appointment of this Commission was the financially disastrous position of the Colony at the time. Colebrooke in his Report of the 24th December, 31, while dealing exhaustively with the various matters that formed the subject of his inquiry, made certain important recommendations, effecting changes in the method of legislation and in the administration of the revenues of the Colony.

THE FIRST LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

Judging from the sequence of events the creation of a Legislative Council was perhaps immediately due to the suggestions thrown out by Lieut-Col. Colebrooke in his report, though Sir Alexander Johnston had previously in the year 1809 submitted, without success, to the Home authorities a draft scheme for the formation of a Legislative Assembly and is therefore entitled to a fair share of the credit for the effected reforms.

During the administration of Sir Robert WilLot Horton in 1833, the year which saw the proclamation of a new charter of Justice ands the opening of a new Supreme Court, the old Council which was known as His Majesty's Council was dissolved and the power of enacting laws and of appropriating the public revenues was conferred on a Legislative Council, reaind by letters patent, composed of the members of the Executive Council, six in number, of four additional official members, and of six unofficial members, nominated by the Governor to represent the Sinhalese, Tamil, Burgher, General European Planting and Mercantile communities.

This Council of sixteen members who were appointed for life had for its president the Governor who, as such, was armed also with a casting vote in all discussions, as well as with the poNtr of veto.

On taking their seats, every member was sworn notonly to allegiance to the Throne, but to discharge his duties as Councillor according to his conscience. The Legislative Council, thus constituted, had power to discuss only such measures as might be submitted to it by the Governor and Executive Council, the privileges of unofficial members being restricted to submitting to Government the projected measure. As there was no certainty that such a project would ever be brought before the Council, the privilege was never exercised.

From the inception of the Council the unofficial members showed signs of impatience at the restrictions imposed on their powers of legislation and at the lack of all control over the finances of the Colony.

Matters came to a head in 1864 when, acting on the instructions of the Secretary of State, Sir Hercules Robinson, the Governor, in spite of opposition of the unofficial members, appropriated for military contribution to the Mother Country, a sum of Rs. 30,000, which had been specially voted for works and buildings. The struggle was continued in the session of 1864 and culminated in the resignation of the unofficial members from the Council in a body.

This step was followed by the formation of the Ceylon League to carry on the fight that had been fought unsuccessfully around the Council-board. It was composed not only of the Ex-members of Council but of the leading citizens of the island as well. A committee was formed, meetings held, and a vigorous campaign conducted both here and in England, Mr. George Wall, the Planting Member, having been specially commissioned by the League to interview the Home authorities and secure the sympathy of the British public.

The League declared its aim to be the securing of full control of the financial affairs of the Colony by a modification of the Constitution and procedure of the Council and disclaimed all desire for any violent change or enlargement of the Council, "however desirable on other grounds".

In furtherance of the objects of the League a petition was addressed to Queen Victoria signed by over 2500 of the inhabitants, European and Ceylonese.

This petition was forwarded by the Governor, Sir Hercules Robinson, with a covering despatch dated 23rd April 1866. In this famous State document the Governor not only obscured the main issue by discoursing on the applicability to a Colony like Ceylon of British Constitutional principles, the unfitness of the people for self-government and the unrepresentative character of the unofficial members who were merely nominees of Government.

The despatch put an end to all hope of securing redress. The petitioners were informed by the Earl of Carnarvon, Colonial Secretary, that he felt himself unable to advise Her Majesty to accede to their prayer, alleging as a reason for the refusal to transfer to the Council the control over the revenues and legislation of the Colony, the inability to establish in Ceylon an "legislature which would really represent the population of the country."

Mr. George Wall continued the struggle, but after some time returned to the island in 1869, and in a letter to Mr. R. V. Dunlop gave an account of his labours in England and the causes which contributed to the failure of his mission.

The bureaucracy had won and a more submissive council settled down to pursue the even tenor of its way, with all its old defects and imperfections.

Very minor changes were effected in its constitution when two additional unofficial members were appointed to represent the Kandyan Sinhalese and Mohammedan communities, and in 1889 the term of office of all unofficial members, who originally held their seats for life, was limited to three years. This period was extended to five years, with the right to renomination for another term of five years.

In 1903 an attempt was made during the administration of Sir West Ridgeway to have the Executive Council enlarged by the addition of two unofficial members to represent popular interests. With this object a motion was brought forward by Mr. J. N. Campbell, the General European member and carried through Council. The proposal was recommended by the Governor "as tending to satisfy the public opinion which is in favour of more effective representation in the Government of the Colony", but was vetoed by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, then Secretary of State, on the ground that such a step could be justified only if the members of the Legislative Council were the nominees not of the Governor but of the people

THE REFORMED COUNCIL

The demand for an effective participation in the Government of the Colony and the introduction of the elective principle in filling the seats of the Legislative Assembly became more insistent. •

Chief among the causes that contributed to a desire for a reform in the existing Council were the spread of education, the increasing wealth of the people with the consequent formation of a leisured class, the growth of public opinion aided by a powerful press, the democratisation of the Indian institutions, and remotely, the general awakening of the people of the East. The new campaign for popular rights opened with a question asked in the House of Commons on the subject of Reform, and a Memorandum in submitted by Mr. James Peiris on the 12th of December 1908 at the request of the Under Secretary of State for the Colonies who also had granted Mr. Peiris an interview. This was followed by memorials to the Secretary of State from the leading inhabitants of the island, which was forwarded by Mr. H. J. C. Pereira, and from the Jaffna, Ceylon, National and Low Country Products Associations.

These were all agreed on the main points. They complained of the antiquated character of the constitution of the Legislative Council, of the over-representation of the European communities and prayed for the election of members to Council instead of nomination by the Crown and for the appointment of one or more unofficial members to seats in the Executive Council.

Mr. Peiris' memorandum and the five petitions formed the subject of a despatch (dated 6th Nov. 1908) to Governor McCallum which has not been printed. In his reply of the 26th May 1909 the Governor dealt in detail with the points raised in the memorials. At the outset he belittled the importance and denied the representative character claimed by the various associations which had memorialised. He stoutly opposed the abolition of racial representation and the introduction of the elective principles in any form, what-soever.

The Governor, however, admitted that the educated classes had to be reckoned with "having greatly increased in importance during the last 70 years", and proposed that a new member be nominated by the Governor in future to represent them in the Council.

"In view of the preponderance in numbers of the Low Country Sinhalese over all other nationalities" and apparently as a set-off to the retention of the three European members, a course which he advocated, he suggested the appointment of a second nominated Low Country Sinhalese member, and in order to maintain the official majority which would be affected if his recommendations were carried out, he advised the granting of seats in Council to the Government Agent of the Southern Province and the Principal Civil Medical Officer. He further opposed the addition of an unofficial member to the Executive Council for the reasons he detailed in paragraph 45 of his despatch.

In the meantime several Ceylonese gentlemen - led by Mr. H. J. C. Pereira, took advantage of their presence in England to obtain an interview with Colonel Seeley, then Under Secretary of State for the Colonies. The deputation was introduced by Lord Courtney. Their views, as stated by Earl Crewe in his despatch, were in general accordance with those expressed in the memorials.

Earl Crewe, Secretary of State for the Colonies, replied on 24th December 1909. He adopted the view of the Governor with regard to the retention of the Executive Council in its present form, the necessity for maintenance of the principle of racial representation, and the existence of an educated class whose aspirations had to be satisfied. But disagreeing with the Governor, he decided on the granting of the franchise to the European, Burgher and the "educated Ceylonese" communities, abolishing at the same time the Seat of the General European member.

He also acquiesced in the creation of an additional seat for Low Country Sinhalese and the appointment of the Principal Civil Medical Officer as the new official member. The Governor was further directed to appoint a Commission to consider in what manner provision was to be made for the election of the new members.

It was only after the receipt of this despatch, when it became certain that the old order of things was passing away, that Sir Henry McCallum and his masterful lieutenant Sir Hugh Clifford recognised* that in these days of progress and reform the new departure was bound to come sooner or later. "

The Reform Commission sent in their report on 7th April 1910 and at the instance of the Governor recommended the granting of the franchise to Burgher and Ceylonese Government Servants, which had been denied them by the Secretary of State, and the appointment by the Governor of a locum tenens during the absence of an Elected Member. Both these proposals were adopted but subject to the modification that the franchise was restricted to Government servants born in Ceylon.

Later, the Tamil Community successfully pressed for the appointment of an additional member to represent them.

A section of the Burgher Community memorialized that the franchise for the election of the Burgher member be confined to themselves, but without success; while the efforts of the European community to induce the authorities to reconsider their decision to reduce the European representation proved equally futile. In passing it may be noted that the European and Burgher memorials lay emphasis on the fact that they never asked for nor desired the introduction of the elective principle.

A Draft Ordinance was framed on instructions from the Secretary of State and with a few amendments, the Franchise Bill was passed on 24th September 1910; and the new Council was proclaimed on the 16th of January 1912.

BEGINNINGS OF RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT

The reforms of 1912 had not in any appreciable measure satisfied the political aspirations of the Sinhalese and *Lam middle classes who formed the backbone of the reform movement. The agitation for reform therefore continued unabated and with the passage of years, along with the increasing hegemony of this Ceylonese middle class in the social and economic structure of the country, the rank of the Government Service and the sphere of business, it came to acquire a vigour which by the end of the war made the further ignoring of its demands by the British Government impossible.

The immediate impetus of the clamour for reform came from the hostility to the British consequent on the severity of the repressive measures adopted under the Martial Law which was imposed during the 1915 riots. The Sinhalese in particular realised that the only way the repetition of such misrule could be prevented was by their obtaining some sort of effective control over the administration.

The nationalist revival which was taking place at this time and whose principal manifestation was cultural in the rediscovery of Sinhalese and Tamil civilisations now alleged to be swamped by an inferior European culture, also added strength to the demand for reforms.

The first two factors just mentioned assisted the reform movement in another way too; they had the effect of broadening the basis of the political movement in Ceylon into whose ranks attracted those sections of the middle classes whose cultures were exclusively Sinhalese or Tamil, and who had been outside the pale of the small set of the English educated Ceylonese who had formed the backbone of the political movement in the past.

With its increasing strength the agitation for reform began to organise itself. The political forms of organisation if they can be termed organisations at all in the past, namely active groups of politically conscious individuals inspired by similar ideals, were considered insufficient for the perspectives that now opened up before the reform movement; a sort of permanency in organisation based on a common programme was considered desirable. Thus it was that the Ceylon Reform League was formed in May 1917 under the leadership of Sir Ponnambalam Arunachalam. The Ceylon National Association was also formed. And in December 1919, a more permanent organisation, the Ceylon National Congress was formed.

The National Congress lost no time in formulating its chief reform demands which are succinctly stated in its telegram to the Secretary of State, which read as follows: " Enlarge Legislative Council about fifty members, four fifths elected territorially, wide male franchise, restricted female franchise remaining one-fifth officials and unofficials representing important minorities secondly, elected speakers, Legislative Council; thirdly, continuance full centrally, Executive Council at least half Ceylonese, on budget, no dyarchy; four unchosen from elected members Legislative Council; fifthly, Governor should possess English parliamentary experience; sixthly, complete popular control local self-government. " In June 1920, the Secretary of State received Ceylon representations on the matter of reforms from the Kandyan Association, the National Congress and the European Association of Ceylon.

NEW ORDER IN COUNCIL

Soon after in August 1920, the new Order in Council appeared. It had the appearance of being a liberal measure but while erecting a facade of representative government, in actual fact it preserved the dominance of the government under pseudo-democratic forms and gave no real power to the Ceylonese.

The Council was composed of 37 members of whom 16 were to be elected mainly on a communal basis, including such European members; 14 officials, and 7 nominated members. While on paper the unofficials were in a majority of 23 to 14 over the officials, in reality however the 3 European members and the seven nominated members could generally be depended on to vote for the Government on any important measure, and thereby the Government had a majority of 24 to 13 over the unofficials.

The Order in Council further gave extraordinary powers to the Governor. He could stop the discussion of any bill or resolution, limit the time of any discussion and suspend unofficial members.

The Order in Council was naturally condemned by the general body of Ceylonese. The National Congress characterised it as having "introduced invidious distinctions between communities, created special interests and denied even the beginnings of responsible government", and decided it to participate in the new Council.

Such reactions however came as a surprise to the British Government which as far as it was concerned, had never intended the reforms to contain the "beginnings of responsible government", the Legislative Council rather was to be a sort of durbar of an Indian ruler which enabled the latter to learn how his measures were likely to affect his subjects.

Governor Manning therefore at first ignored these protests; eventually however he came to realise the strength behind them when the Low Country Products Association which had to choose a member under the constitution refused to elect one. He therefore entered into a negotiation with the Congress and offered a further instalment of reforms based on the recommendations of the new Council, provided the National Congress co-operated. This offer was accepted by a majority of the Congress in December 1920, though a few like Sir P. Anmachalam doubted the wisdom of participation in such a Council.

The New Legislative Council met in June 1921. The 23 Unofficial members comprised 11 Low Country Sinhalese, 3 Tamils, 3 Europeans, 2 Burghers, 2 Nanyans, 1 Muslim and 1 Indian.

It was about this time that the split in the ranks of Ceylonese first arose when the Tamils broke away from the Congress... The immediate occasion for this decision was the refusal of Congress to support the demand for a reserved seat for the Tamils of the Western Province, despite such a promise made by two prominent Sinhalese Congressmen. The real causes were however deeper and arose principally from the struggle for openings in the Government Service and for a proportionate share of whatever political power passed into the hands of the people of Ceylon. Coming from the Dry Zone where the opportunities in life were limited and faced with the closure of openings for employment outside Ceylon, as in Malaya and Burma, the Tamils had now to fall back mainly on the Government Service in Ceylon, and the struggle for openings in it formed the core of the communal conflict.

The political strategy of the Tamils naturally underwent a change. They decided to look to the other minorities and to flirt with the British Government for support of their demands; and their tactics took the form of withdrawal of the support they had so long given to the policy of territorial representation, which they felt gave the Sinhalese a definite advantage over them, and the substitution of their policy of communal representation on the basis of 2 Tamil members for every 3 Sinhalese members. In 171 their new policy they received the encouragement of Governor 31 anilling who realised that the situation created by this division between the Sinhalese and the Tamils could if skilfully handled be turned to the advantage of the bueeaueracy.

Therefore, when Silo James Pejris December r92r brought forward a motion in the Legislati', Council for reforms along the lines demanded by the National Congress namely for

- (i) A Council of 6,5 members, of whom 28 were to be elected including 9 from the Northern and Eastern provinces, while the minorities were to have 11 nominated members and the officials to be limited to 6.
- (ii) An elected Speaker, who would preside over the proceedings of the Legislative Council.
- (iii) The lowering of the franchise qualification.

The Tamils opposed it. Instead they formed a united front with the European, Burgher, Muslim and Indian members of the Council and put forward a joint scheme of their own. According to it the Council of 45 members was to be composed of 19 territorially elected members, 11 communally elected members, 3 nominated non-officials and 12 officials.

Governor Manning put forward a scheme of his own, for a council of 47 members consisting of

- (i) 21 territorially elected members (14 for the Sinhalese areas and 7 for the Tamil areas).
- (ii) 6 communally elected members (3 European, 2 Burghers, 1 Ceylon Tamil).
- (iii) 5 communally nominated members (3 Muslims, 2 Indians).
- (iv) 3 nominated seats for special interests and
- (v) 12 officials.

His object was to make it impossible for one community to dominate the rest or for the Sinhalese and Tamils to outvote the officials and minorities. He expected that in all matters of vital importance, the Government could count on the votes of the 12 officials, the 5 nominated members, the 3 European members and the 2 Burgher members, thus giving it a total of 25 votes in a house of 47.

The only proposal of the Congress Sir William Manning agreed to was the inclusion of the territorial electorates of all those qualified to vote; he was opposed to all their other demands, except that he agreed to an elected Vice-President of the Council.

The National Congress naturally opposed the Governor's proposals vehemently, but the Secretary of State refused to make any fundamental changes to them. He however made a few concessions to appease the Congress, by giving two more seats to the Low Country Sinhalese. He also acceded to the demands for the election of their members by the Indians and the Muslims. The effect of the changes made by the Secretary of State was that the territorially elected members were increased to 23, the Sinhalese and Tamil representation to 24 and the elected Ceylonese members of 31 in a Council of 49. He thereby upset the delicately balanced structure of representation proposed by Sir William Manning, and instead created a constitutional structure which had inherent in it the obstacles to its proper functioning.

The Executive Council was reformed to include 2 elected members of the Legislative Council they had however, to resign their membership of the latter on appointment to the former. No portfolios were however granted to them.

The Constitution which was introduced by an Order in Council 11,3e was thus destined from its very inception to breakdown; for the measures of financial expected to carry out its measures through a Council with a majority of 37, control, where the Ceylonese elected unofficials were a

It did not take long for it to be generally realised that this Constitution would never work satisfactorily. Hence the Donoughmore Commission was appointed "to visit Ceylon and report on the working of the existing Constitution and on any difficulties of administration which may have arisen in connection with it; to consider any proposals for the revision of the Constitution that may be put forward and, to report what, if any, amendments of the Order in Council now in force should be made."

The Commission found that the principal defect in the existing Constitution arose from the breach between the Legislative and the Executive which was inherent in the Constitution itself. In the past the Constitution was such that the Executive was all powerful and did not have to accede to the wishes of the Legislature. The 1924 Reforms had transferred power to a Legislature which did not have the power to take the place of the Government it opposed. The Legislature had no power to enforce its decisions, nor had the Executive Committee power to act as it could not command a majority in the Legislative Council. The Executive further had not sufficient control over finances. It alone initiated expenditure but the control of finance was in the hands of Unofficials. Hence but the finance committee which consisted mainly of unofficial began to exercise more power than the Executive Council

Further the severance of their connection with the Legislature on the part of the two elected members who were included in the Executive Council cut off the link between the Executive and the Unofficials. The latter thus lifted into a permanent opposition and as they were never expected to take up the responsibility of governing the country, indulged in irresponsible criticism of the Executive.

The Government could have in this situation carried out its measures with the official vote alone by exercising the special powers granted to it under the Constitution. As such action would have nullified the Legislature, it tried to win the co-operation of the Unofficials by conceding, compromising and virtually surrendering its powers. Thus it reduced itself to impotence and the Governor who alone was responsible for the administration of the island could not carry out his functions satisfactorily.

From this diagnosis of the defects of the existing Constitution, the Donoughmore Commissioners drew the conclusion that the further Constitutional development of Ceylon must be on the road to responsible government. The novel contribution they were responsible for is very well known to need description; it was designed to provide the training ground for the day when Ceylon was to run her own affairs. Whereas in the past, political activity had taken the form of a struggle for the very elements of responsible government, the phase was now reached where these elements were realised and the Ceylonese were to begin to run their government, though at first in a limited way.

The agitators of the pre-Donoughmore era become transformed into the Ministers of the Donoughmore Constitution. Thus a clear line was drawn dividing the Constitution into two eras—the era before the development of Ceylon into two eras—the era before the Donoughmore Report and the era after.

DOMINION STATUS

The Donoughmore period, that is the period after 1931 the year in which the Donoughmore Constitution came into operation and gave Ceylon internal self-government with an elected State Council was largely characterised attempts to introduce amendments to this Constitution, and further the advance towards full Self government.

October 1941 His Majesty's Government issued a Declaration (commonly referred to as the Declaration of 1941) recognising the "urgency and importance of constitutional reform," and suggesting that the position would be examined after the War!

By the 'Declaration of 1943' it was made known that His Majesty's Government's post-war examination of the reform of the Constitution would be directed towards the grant to Ceylon by Order-in-Council of full responsible government under the Crown in all matters of internal civil administration, subject to certain conditions.

This would have obviously imposed limitations on full self-government. The Board of Ministers, therefore made a statement in 1943 through the Leader of the State Council, Mr. D. S. Senanayake, setting out with clarity how they understood the offer and, stating that they were proceeding to frame a Constitution in accordance with their interpretation.

There followed a period of rather uncertain exchange of views between the Ceylonese leaders and the Colonial authorities culminating in the appointment of a Commission with Lord Soulbury as Chairman, and assisted by Mr. (later Sir) Frederick Rees and Mr. (later Sir) Frederick Burrows, to examine the Ministers' proposals and "provide full opportunity for consultation to take place with various interests, including minority communities, concerned with the subject of Constitutional reform and with the proposals the Ministers had formulated."

Shortly after the Soulbury Commission had completed their work Ceylon received her Independence by the Independence Act of 1947 passed in the House of Commons.

The Constitution of Ceylon is contained in two sets of documents :

i. The Ceylon Independence Act, 1947.

2. The Orders-in-Council of 1947 known collectively as the Ceylon (Constitution and Independence) Orders-in-Council, 1947.

These documents contain the legal powers for full Dominion Status, meaning that Ceylon had after nearly 130 years of subjugation to a foreign power emerged as a free nation with the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The ceremonial opening of the first Parliament of the Dominion of Ceylon, on February 22, 1948, was an occasion of great historical significance.

The opening was performed by His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester who came to Ceylon for the occasion, accompanied by the Duchess of Gloucester.

The Duke delivered the speech from the Throne, while Sir J. W. Goonetilleke, Leader of the Senate, and Mr. S. W. R. D. Bandula, Leader of the House of Representatives, spoke on behalf of the respective Houses of Parliament.

Ceylon Communist Party—Hd. Qrs : 91, Cotta Rd., Colombo 8. The Ceylon Communist Party was formed in 1943. The Communist Party's fundamental aim is to achieve a Socialist Ceylon which will establish common ownership of national economy, end the exploitation of man by man and nationality by nationality, eliminate class division in society and so be able to plan the use of all Ceylon's material, productive and scientific resources that every citizen will be guaranteed security, the right to work and leisure, a steadily rising standard of living, liberty and equal opportunity for a free and happy life. Office-Bearers : Genl. Secretary—Dr. S. A. Wickremasinghe. Asst. Secretaries—Pieter Keuneman and M. G. Mendis. Treasurer—N. Sammugathasan. Tel : 9328. T.A. " Communist ".

The Ceylon Indian Congress—The Ceylon Indian Congress was brought into being on 25-7-39 by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru who succeeded in bringing together a group of leading Indians for the purpose of forming an organisation representative of all sections of the Indian Community in Ceylon. A provisional Committee of 21 members was appointed to draft and adopt a constitution.

The first office-bearers were :—President—V. R. M. Letchimanan Chettiar. pt. Secretaries—H. M. Desai and A. Aziz and Treasurer—D. M. Vora.

The Constitution which was then adopted is with minor amendments in force to-day.

The aims and objects of the organisations are :—(a) To establish a Society which secures the equitable ownership, control and distribution of Material Resources and Wealth so as to uphold the dignity of the individual—(a) To secure for all Sections and Communities in this Island equal rights in the Social, political and economic spheres,—(e) to remove the disabilities imposed on the Ceylon Indian Community and (d)—To promote world-peace and fellowship.

The first formal Sessions were held at Gampola on 7th and 8th September, 1940 when the membership was 104,948. The late Mr. Satiyamurthy, the then Deputy Leader of the Congress Party in the Central Assembly and V. V. Giri, the veteran Indian Trade Union Leader and Ex-Minister for Labour & Industry of Madras and the ex-High Commissioner for India in Ceylon attended the Sessions with messages from the Indian National Congress.

Annual sessions have been since held regularly, at Kandy in January 1942 with a membership of 130,893, at Badulla in 1943 with a membership of 130,983, at Hattton in 1944 with a membership of 96,310 and in Colombo in 1945 with a membership of 103,126, at Nuwara Elyyn. in 1946 with a membership of 146,819, in 1947 at Nawalapitiya with a membership of 180,022, in 1948 at Ratnapura with a membership of 147,749, in 1949 at Hattton with a membership of 129,136, in 1950 at Matale with a membership of 133,359 at Wategarna on 10th April, 1951 with a membership of 195,459 and the last session was held at Badlilla on 18th April, 1952 with a membership of 202,000. Membership is largely from among Estate Workers reflecting their proportion in the Indian Community in Ceylon.

Ceylon Labour Union—Hd. Qrs : 39, Canal Row, Colombo 1. President—Ananda Goonesinha. Secretaries—Vincent Perera, D. H. Handunge and K. M. Perera. Treasurer—Vincent Perera. The Ceylon Labour Union was started in 1922 as a Trade Union to fight for the rights and privileges of the labourers who were at the mercy of the employers.

The Union claims that it has worked consistently for the social and economic welfare of the working class and still continues to do so.

Ceylon National Congress—The establishment of the Ceylon National Congress was the outcome of a series of early political movements that upheld the case for constitutional reform in Ceylon. The first of these was the "Ceylon League" formed by Mr. George Wall on May 16, 1865 with the combining the different communities of the Island into a mendable object of ce united Ceylonese nation-. Launching into a severe criticism of the administration, it pointed out that the military taxation imposed on the country was excessive and contended that the Ceylonese should have a due share in the Government. Thirteen years later the Ceylon National Association was founded originally under the name of the Ceylon Agricultural Association. Deviating from agricultural interests, the Ceylon Nationale Association began to advocate the cause of constitutional reform. Forty-even years after this, the Ceylon Reforms League came into existence and started working side by: side with the elder political association. These two representative bowes made a vigorou; effort to promote better feeling between the different communities and for the attainment of a common political goal.

Subsequently another association consisting of delegates from every political body and every important town in Ceylon began to function actively as the Ceylon National Conference- By now the spirit of renaissance was well kindled and the country's plea for self-government was receiving enthusiastic support.

It was at the second conference on Conitutional Reform held in December 1918 that the Ceylon National Congress was established.

The European Association of Ceylon came into being on 17th 11ay, f9r8 and it was decided that the objects of the Association should be .benevolent, Civic, Economic, Patriotic and Political and to deal with any matters which may arise from time to time of particular interest to the welfare of the European community.

Lanka Sama Samaja Party—Hd.

The objects of the Party are to organise and maintain in Parliament and in the country a political party to put into effect the Policy and Programme accepted by the Party as contained in its Manifesto. The Party, in addition, has a seven-point programme meant to develop and foster Agriculture and Fisheries, Industry, Local Administration, Health, Education, Communications and Transport.

A REVIEW OF CEYLON HISTORY

INDIAN LEGEND

Two notable references to Ceylon are early Indian. The Indian epic, the Ramayana, describes an invasion of Ceylon, defeat of the demon-king, Ravana and the rescue of Sita by her husband Rama, an avatar of Vishnu. The grotto mural painting in the Ajanta caves called "Sinhala-avadana" seems a representation of accepted tradition.

The Anuradhapura Era

In Ceylon the tradition begins with colonization from N.E. India by Vijaya and his 700 followers in 483 B.C. Panduvasadeva, Vijaya's nephew and successor, was brought to the throne from N.E. India and so was his queen, Subhadakaccana. From this Kshatriya couple was descended the Sinhalese royal dynasty. Their grandson Pandukabhaya 377 B.C., to Anuradhapura (named after the constellation under which it was founded and also after the chief who founded it) to be the royal capital henceforth it was called Anuradhapura forever. The zonal planning of the royal city and the administrative measures for the country villages indicate a high grade of civic organization.

Advent of Buddhism

Pandukabhaya's grandson Devanampiya Tissa 247 B.C. exchanged gifts and letters with the great Indian Emperor Asoka, underwent a second consecration with requisites sent by Asoka and adopted his advice to become a Buddhist. The missionaries sent by Asoka were led by Mahinda his son by a morganatic wife. Mahinda preached to an converted royalty, the nobility and the commonalty. His first ordination was of 500 of the Rajavamsija (high nobility) at Issarasamanarama (now Isurumuniya) and his second was of 300 Vaisyas at Vaisyagiri (now Vassagiri). Mahinda asked female devotees to wait for nuns to perform ordination and sent for his sister the nun Sanghavnita who was sent by Asoka with other nuns and the desired gift, a branch of the very Bo-tree under which Gotama Buddha sat in meditation until he attained Enlightenment; this branch, planted at Anuradhapura, is the Sacred Tree which has recently thrown out a new shoot. Buddhism from about 246 B.C. was henceforth the religion of the Court and the people, although Kataragama Deviyo and other primeval puissant deviyos were not suppressed.

Tri-Sinhala

Two of Devanampiya Tissa's brothers established subordinate kingdoms, Maya Rata in the S. West, between the rivers, Deduru-oya and Kaluganga, and Ruhuna Rata in the South and East, the country south of the Kaluganga and the Mahaveli ganga, its central mountainous part was the Makaya district. The northern kingdom, Pihiti Rata was also called Raja Rata as the sovereign resided in it. These three kingdoms, the Tri-Sinhala, were abolished Nilren Parakrama Bahu 1153 B.C.--1186 n.c. destroyed the autonomy of Maya Rata and Ruhuna Rata. The first stupa or dagoba in Ceylon very different in shape from the restored structure now seen) was built by Devanampiya Tissa and enshrined the left collar-bone of Buddha; the extensive and once prosperous monastery around was called the Thuparama. Monasteries were many and monks so numerous that military weakness may be suspected.

First and Second Tamil Usurpations

Thirty years after Devanampiya Tissa's death, two Tamils invaded and ruled the country for 22 years when a Sinhalese prince gained the throne but so years later he was replaced by Tamil, Elara, who ruled justly and well for 44 years, when the young prince of Ruhuna came up from Magama, invaded Pihiti Rata winning battles all the way and finally defeated Elara near the south gate of Anuradhapura.

Great Thupas

The victorious Dutugemunu was the builder of Mirisveti dagoba in the first years of his reign for B.C.--77 B.C. and of Ruwanveliseya in his last years. This dagoba was called the Mahathupa on account of its bulk; another big pious erection of his was a 9 storeyed monastery called the Brazen Palace as its roof was covered with brass ; its 1600 stone pillars of the ground floor are the only remains of it.

Third Tamil¹ Usurpation

Only 33 years after his death there was a third Tamil usurpation of the throne and the Sinhalese King Valagambahu's exile in the ^{Malaya} district lasted for 15 years. The restored king built a ^{the Thupa now called} Lankarama, the monastery Manisomarama and the great northern dagaba, the Abhayagiri in commemoration of incidents connected with his flight and exile. He is said to have ordered drip-hedges to be cut on all rock-caves because he felt the need when in hiding in ^{Malaya}.

Era of Great Builders

His dagaba was slightly bigger than the Maha Thupa. It was followed by about four and half centuries of freedom from Tamil usurpations with prosperity, building of new monasteries, embellishments and additions, building of tanks and above all continuance of trade and cultural relations with Buddhist N.E. India and China, the Persian Gulf and the Red Sea. Building of tanks and temples, Mahasena 277 A.C. built the great tanks at Minneriya and Padawiya and his sister built Ka,wdulu tank. Mahasena's dagaba, the Jetavanarama, was bigger than even the Abhayagiri. The Mahayana heresy had a short period of royal patronage.

Coming of Tooth-Relic

When a King in Kalinga was in danger of losing the Tooth-Relic of Buddha to a powerful invader he instructed his daughter and his son-in-law to flee to Ceylon and entrust it to my friend King Mahasena. It reached Ceylon in the reign of Mahasena's son Sid Meghavanna who placed it in a shrine attached to the Palace and occasionally exhibited it to the people, a custom which was continued by all the subsequent kings. Cordial relations with China and the Gupta Empire in India are mentioned in the records. King Upatissa 370 A.C. built the Topawewa at Polonnaruwa..

Visits of Renowned Scholars

In the time of King Mahanama were two notable visitors ; Pa-Hien, the Chinese scholar-pilgrim, after visiting Buddhist India came to Anuradhapura and spent 3 years copying sacred texts. Indian Brahmins Buddhist Buddhagosa spent many years studying and wrote a commentary still held in high repute.

Fourth Tamil Usurpation

About 436 A.C. the fourth Tamil usurpation of the throne occurred and lasted over 27 years until Dhatusena, a young prince from Ruhuna, restored Sinhalese sovereignty. In his reign the great Kalawowa tank was built, and the people heard read aloud to them at the King's expense the Mahavamsa compiled by the king's scholarly uncle the monk Mahanama.

The Parricide

Dhatusena was deposed and later killed (walled alive) by his son by an inferior queen.

Disturbed Pericote

Whilst the rightful heir, Moggallana, fled to India, the parricide Kasyapa moved the royal residence to the rockfortress Sigiriya which he garrisoned. Moggallana 497 A.C. who conquered with the aid of an army from South India gave the palace buildings at Sigiriya to a sect of monks whose monastery may have been the promoter of the mural paintings in the pockets and on the face of the rock facing west. Notwithstanding other civil wars and attempts at Tamil aggression, progress was great in tank-building. Aggabodhi 1st 564 A.C. built the Giant's tank and others, Aggabodhi 2nd 598 A.C. built Giritala and Kanthalai, the country under the latter acquiring the title of the grain country ". He fought a successful battle in S. India.

Rise of Polonnaruwa

Aggabodhi 7th preferred to reside in Polonnaruwa as Anuradhapura was becoming troublesome and in a few decades the kings gave up residence knuradhapura. In the reign of King Dappula 2nd, 802 A.C., a sandalwood image of Vishnu floated ashore at Devundara (Dondral where a shrine was built for it; it was later removed to the Alutnuwara Dewa?e in Kegalla district built by King Buvanaike Bahu 1st 1271-1283, and later still to the Maha Devale in Kandy. " 4 u .

In the reign of Sena 1st, 846--866 A.C. a Pandyan raiding party sacked Anuradhapura and robbett shrines of gold an. O. gems. Sea and, 866-9or was able to make a military r.,.id into S. India and to sac Madura. His queen was able to again cover wits dark blue sapphires the head of the large Stone Buddha in the Abhayagiri forest replacing the similar cover made by the queen of Sena 1st and taken by the Pandyans. Sena 2nd also built the large hospital on the plain at Mileintale. The country was prosperous and the royal house consecinotly rich, but local conditions around Anuradhapura made Polormaruwa, favoured as a royal residence. Sena 2nd was able to invade Pandyan territory and to sack Madura, but Kassapa 5th failed in a similar military raid, and Udraya 3rd suffered a Chola invasion. His nephew married a Kalinga princess, and repelled atIbther Chola invasion" "but the Tamils settled in Raja Rata usurped power in the next reign for some years, as the king was a drunkard.

Chola Occupation

Mahinda 3rd unable to quell a revolt of the troops fled to Ruhuna and anarchy prevailed in Raja Rata. A Chola invasion followed and Chola viceroys ruled over the country except Ruhuna, for 5 decades, renaming Polonnaruwa, Jananathapura, and building many great temples of stone and brick in the city. In 1017 A.C. the Sinhalese king was captured and deported, the Pandyan regalia whic'di had been brought to Ceylon 7o years previously by a refugee Pandyn Prince and the c3eyzon Crown jewels and treasures were removed by the Chola%

Survey

It was tee close of an epoch, the Anuradhapura period of fourteen centuries which had recovered from three Pandyan military raids and four Tamil usurpations of the throne of Pihittirata, had witnessed great building of dagobas, impressive stone architecture, extensive mural painting and exquisite stone carvings, building of great and small reservoirs for storing water for cultivation, great wealth and prosperity. For two centuries, Polonnaruwa, then called Pulastipura, had been even more frequently the royal residence but Anuradhapura was still the capital, the Maha Nuzvara, and the last King was in residence there before his flight. The occasional Tamil usurpations and the Sinhalese re-conquests of the throne were not due to racial wars but to desire to possess " the glorious royal dignity " of dominion over such a rich country. Even the Sinhalese dynasty had family feuds and civil mars consequent on ambitions due to such desire.

The Polonnaruwa Period

The Chola viceroys meant Jananathapura to be the capital of a Chola province and er4ellished the city with great buildings in stone and brick and a strong citadel. But in the South of Ceylon the Ruhuna kings were still independent and sought ,robust the Cholas from Raja Rata. But dissensions delayed vccss.

Sinhalese Reconquest

A young prince Kitti, when 15 years old, about A.C. 1054 overcame his rivals and in A. di: IC/55 became King Vijayabahu zet. He fought the Cholas, overcame rebellions and finally gained Anuradhapura about 1069, lastly Polonnaruwa about 1072, renaming it Vijayarajapura, a name soon forgotten. He ma., ied a Kalinga princess while his sister was married to a Pandyan prince. On his death in A.C. IjII a Kalinga faction made his brother, the sole-King, Ruler and maintained him at Polonnaruwa till his death in 1132 when he was succeeded by Gaja Bahu 2nd A.C. 132—1153. Meanwhile the Pandyan factiortruled in Maya Rata and Ruhuna Rata (divided into 2 realms) the three kings being the three sons of the Pandyan Prince and Vijaya Bahu's sister Mitta, they also nominated as Overlord a half-brother of Vijayabahu, Jayabahu, who could not occupy Raja Rata and retired to Ruhuna where he died in obscurity, in 1145. The son of the ruler of Maya Rata was ambitious, energetic, able and determined. On succeeding to his father's kingdom Parakramabahu reorganized the civil and military administration and insisted on restoration of the irrigation works he made the declarations to his hesitant nobles " not a drop of water shall reach the ocean until it has rendered service to man ", and " what is there a man of energy cannot do."

The Glory of ,Polcninar,pwa

After some baffled attempts, in A.C. 1153, Parakramabahu, Ruler of Maya Rata is enthroned at Polonnaruwa as Sovereign Lord of Ceylon and proceeds by a protracted war to subdue rebellious Ruhuna. On jugugating he destroyed its autonomy that of Maya had already ceased and thus the " Tri-Sinhala " was abolished. His 33 yeaes of reign were of opulent splendour at Polonnaruwa. Topawewa and its southern neighbour were submerged in a larger reservoir, the Parakrama Samudra ; other tanks and the great channels were repaired and improved, the Sampas at Anuradhapura were repaired ; Polonnaruwa had great thupas, ornate stone eshrines and brick shrines, gigantic stone statuary, well laid out parks, baths and gardens. A military expedition to Burma was the sole instance of interruption of the centuries old frierKiller relations with that „ountry. Another military expedition to S. India Was successful in the aid given to Pandians against the Cholas and an occupation of Rameswaram for some years. Internal administration was not neglected but the system depended on his personal rule. He compelled the three sects of Buddhist monks to enter into a community, and had heresy banished. Regard for Hindu religious ideas and for his Tamil troops is evident in the architecture and stone-sculpture ; the exteriors of the great temples are Hindu in decoration ; the bull, sacred to Shaivites and Vaishnavites is omitted from every ornately carved threshold stone so that its image will not be trod upon ; moreover, the bull was carved on the side of the guardstone in place of the elephant. The next great king at Polonnaruwa was the Kalinga prince Nitsanka Malla A.C. 1157-119 who emulated Parakramabahu in building, remitted taxes, travelled through his realm and adorned Dambulla " :15ck cave temple. His son reigned only one day ; the general set up puppet kings one after another igcleding Parakramabahu's widow Lelavati thrice. There were ro such puppet rulers, the third was an infant whose father came with a Chola army, killed the infant son and reigned for 17 days ; another interloper who crime with a Tamil army ruled only nine months.

Sixth Tamil Usurpation

In A. c. 1215 only 29 years after Parakramabahu, the military weakness of the Government was such that a Kalinga prince Magha was able to invade and overrun the country with an army of only 24,000 Keralas who destroyed temples, libraries, mansions and dagabas with ferocity ; the Tooth-Relic was hidden in Kotmale where it had been taken during the period the puppets of the generals.

Thus the Polonnaruwa period of glory was a brief one of onlr 43 years. The usurpers were probably helped or at least not opposed by the Tamil settlers and the Tamil troops of the government and by disaffected Sinhalese ; but military weakness was confined to Rezia Rata

Low Country Pepioci

In Maya Rata a Sinhalese prince about A.C. 1220 in Maya Rata increased his power and expelled the Keralas and became King of Dambadeniya his royal capital ; his son when grown up pushed the war against the Keralas and conquered Polonnaruwa about A.C. 1244 but immediately had to repel an invasion by a Javanese pirate Chandrabhanu whose troops were armed with blowpipes and poisoned arrows. A Pandyan invasion was repelled, but in the next reign Chandrahanu with Tamils in his army was successful to as fan as Yapahu. Next, Pandyan invaders sacked Yapalau and carried off the Tooth Relic. King Parakramabahu the 3rd A.C. 1302-1310 went to the Pandyan Court and " by persuasion and entreaty " obtained the Relic. On his return he resided at Polonnaruwa. The envoys from China seeking the Tooth-Relic and the Bowl-Relic had gone back disappointed.

Gampola Period

After Nurunegala for two reigns, the capital was Gampola in the Malaya district. The Mediaeval temples of Lankatillake and Gadaladeniya were built by the first Gampola King. In the time of the third, an able and bold minister founded Kotte. Friar Marignolli visiting Ceylon found Beruwala ruled by a Muslim. Ibn Batuta found Colombo ruled by an Abyssinian and Puttalam ruled by a Tamil. Clearly the royal power was weak against foreign settlers and Jaffna was lost with a large portion of the mainland in the north. Art and literature did not suffer the same decline; Poetry especially flourished. The seat of Royalty shifted to Denigaiya, Rayigam and finally to Kotte.

The Kotte Period

The position was not pleasant. Relations with S. India were hostile; Jaffna claimed independence and once tried to exact tribute; the old friendly relations with Kalinga Magadha and Orissa had long ceased; China was still a friend, but trouble occurred early in the fifteenth century when the Chinese visitor Ching-Ho met with suspicion and rudeness and left much offended. He came back with troops in A.C. 1411, deposed and removed the Kotte King to China. The prince selected or permitted by the Chinese to rule Ceylon paid tribute even as late as 1459. The military weakness of the royal dynasty was the cause of decline in power and a dread of absorption by South Indian kingdoms but even their dread did not prevent family quarrels and acts of violence. The canal from Hendala to Negombo Lagoon was constructed by King Parakramabahu 8th who had to quell the consequent revolt of the cultivators whose fields were ruined by the salt water coming from the canal. The conquest of Jaffna by a Sinhalese Prince indicates that the Sinhalese of the Kotte period were capable of greater achievements if bold leaders were forthcoming. Ceylon had lost the commercial and cultural contacts with Asiatic countries, except for the solitary exception of an embassy in A.C. 1476 of monks from Pegu for canonical ordinations. The island was now to make contact with mercantile and vigorous colonization from Europe.

The Portuguese Period

The Portuguese Vasco Da Gama had rounded the "Cape of Storms" and reached India in 1497. The adventurous and brave nation resolved to capture the Indian trade and in three years a fleet under Admiral Pedro Aldare Cabral set out with the sanction and blessing of the Pope, rounded the cape now called "Cape of Good Hope" and reached Calicut on the 20th August 1500. Before 5 years had elapsed the Portuguese owned ports and trading stations on the west coast of India and maintained a Viceroy at Goa with civil and military jurisdiction. Late in the year 1505 the Viceroy sent an expedition to the Maldivian Islands under command of his son Leuren de Almeida; contrary winds forced it to Colombo on November 15th 1505; as the ships did not carry the usual ready-made padres a boulder on the ridge of rocks bounding the Gal boka was engraved with "the Cross of Christ and the Arms of the King of Portugal" (now placed in the Gordon Gardens). At the interview with the king at Kotte the Portuguese envoys were granted permission to erect a factory, and to trade in cinnamon etc., and undertook to guard the ports of Ceylon against invaders. There were factions and interested traders against the newcomers erecting of a factory and consequent demolition of the Portuguese Fort, but by A.C. 1521 the Portuguese were in an advantageous position owing to the dissensions in the Royal Family. The King interviewed in 1505 had been dethroned by his two sons; his son reigning in A.C. 1521 had his palace sacked, was dethroned and killed by the three sons of himself and a brother by a joint wife.

Sinhalese Dissension

The three Princes divided the kingdom into three parts; the youngest Rayigam Bandara, ruled over Pasdun, Rayigam and Walallawiti Koraks, the next, Mayadunne, had Sabaragamuwa and some adjacent tracts of land and reigned at Sitavaka; the eldest, Bhuvanaike Bahu, (7th A.C. 1521-1550) was the Overlord of all Ceylon and ruled over the kingdom of Kotte from Mannar to Hambantota; other parts considered tributary to Kotte were the Wannu, Jaffna, Trincomalee, Batticaloa districts and the principalities of Uva and of "Kandy". Rayigam Banojara lived in tranquillity and obscurity and passed out of history. Mayadunne, the most capable of the three, was ambitious and strove hard to displace Bhuvanaike Bahu and be Overlord of Ceylon; except for a period from 1539-1547 he was perpetually at war with Kotte and the Portuguese. It was certain that but for the Portuguese Mayadunne might have ousted the feckless king of Kotte who became increasingly dependent on the Portuguese; they came for cinnamon, pepper etc.: own their chief official in the island was "Captain-General of the Conquest."

Portuguese Ascendancy in Maritime Area

About August 1541, a Ship reached Lisbon with an effigy of the Ring infant grandson and heir, Dharmapala; the body was of silver, the head of gold and ivory, the accompanying crsvin rfas decked with gems. The King of Portugal complied with the request to crown the image and to proclaim Dharmapala heir to the throne of Ceylon. This embassy from Ceylon returned with six Franciscan Friars. Conversions were many and Dharmapala was baptised as a youth and was a Catholic King; Mayadunne and his son Rajasinha the 1st 1554-1593 gave Med rasily adherents, in consequence the fights against the Portuguese were desperately pursued. Colombo was besieged and in danger. In 1580 Rajasinha annexed the kingdom of "Kandy" but when he renounced Buddhism and became a Hindu, there was discontent and the prince of T.Jva invited the regent named by ol'he fugi the previous king of "Kandy" to take the realm; the Portuguese seize opportunity to send p... force under their protegee Don Juan (Konappu Bandara) whose father had been treacherously killed by order of Rajasinha. The prince nominated regent was another Portuguese protegee, the refugee Don Philip. On the army reaching the hill country at Wahakotte Don Philip was proclaimed King. A Fort was built on reaching Gannoruwa on the river Bank opposite to Peradeniya. On the death of Don Philip from an unknown cause.

The Kandyan Realm comes into Existence

Don Juan proclaimed himself King, redeemed allegiance to the Portuguese and Catholicism and maintained his position against Rajasinha. When he repelled the 1592, and against the Portuguese in 1594. later invasion he captured Dona Catherilia, the heiress to the throne, whom the Portuguese had brought up for crowning as queen, and married her. By Rajasingha's death early in 1593 the Portuguese were able to gain his kingdom; by Don Juan Dharmapala's will, the king of Portugal was his heir and on his death L": 1597 the Portuguese became rulers of all the Maritime area of Ceylon including Jaffna which they had conquered in 1591. But the central part of the island maintained its independence and its Sinhalese King, once a Portuguese trained fighter, in their service, held his own against them. The new kingdom was in the mountainous area the, "Kanda uda Rata" and he was to the Portuguese the "Kanda uda Raja" which became the "kanda raja", hence the king of "Kandy" a new name for the capital which was known as Senkadagala Nuwara or Maha Nuwara; the Dutch and English continued the usage of the word Kandy, a questionable result was the coming into use of the term "Kandyan" to designate the Sinhalese population of the Central Kingdom.

Futile Military Raids

From 1594-1656 Portuguese rule over the maritime area of Ceylon was imperilled, the treasury depleted and the scanty army sacrificed by needless military raids into Kandya territory; all of one pattern; a small number of Portuguese with Sinhalese auxiliaries made a triumphal march into the forested hills, to conquer, ravage and plunder; when ammunition and provisions were running short perhaps with fever and other illness, the march back along narrow jungle paths was perilous and to escape alive impossible with thousands of armed men overwhelming a few hundreds. The greatest tragedy was the massacre of Constantine De Sa Noronha at Randeniwela in 1630. The Great retreat of De Azavedo was an exploit but the lost soldiers could not be replaced. Often every territory was in revolt. Rajasinha's sieges of Colombo were fierce and persistent, one siege lasted one and a half years. Bravery could not make up for lack of sound policy, and lack of trained men. The Dutch invited by the King of Kandy began gaining forts and territory piecemeal in 1638 and finally completed their conquest by gaining Colombo in 1656. This capitulation of Colombo was a result of resistance for seven months and the capitulation of Jaffna in 1658 was similarly due to lack of food and ammunition.

The Portuguese in the earliest period posed as auxiliaries of the King of Kotte, Overlord of Ceylon, fighting his battles against Mayadunne aspirant for the Overlordship, guarding his ports against foreigners and quelling rebellions. They became heirs to his territory and rights and regarded the King as holding a tributary kingdom.

Kandyan Claim

In Kandy a contrary belief arose and grew strong so that by the time of Rajasinha 2nd A. C. 1629-1687, the King and court considered that the Sinhalese king at Kandy was Overlord of Ceylon, the maritime area subordinate and tributary to Kandy and the Portuguese mutinous rebels serving expulsion. Cinnamon and pepper were as attractive to Dutch merchants as they had been to the Portuguese and the Dutch East India Co. first sent envoys to the king" who in return had sent envoys to witness off Gata a naval battle in which the Dutch defeated the Portuguese. The King then decided to obtain the services of the Dutch to expel the Portuguese "interlopers".

Dividing the Spoils

The first agreement was immediately after Admirals Westerwold and Coster had compelled the Portuguese fort at Batticaloa to surrender in 1638; it provided that the Dutch should have the export trade; the king was to pay expenses of Dutch operations against the foe and was not to have any dealings with the Portuguese and all forts captured were to be handed to the King or demolished unless he chose to have them held for him and garrisoned by the Dutch. In 1640 when Negombo was captured and garrisoned by the Dutch, the king was very angry; by a new agreement by which when all Portuguese had been driven out the Dutch could keep only one fort; until the king paid the expenses, all forts would be retained by the Dutch, Colombo fort was to be demolished unless the King wished it garrisoned by the Dutch. The third agreement in 1649 was the same as that of 1638 but the Dutch were not to have the monopoly of cinnamon. Rajasinha Nea, secretly breaking faith by communicating with the Portuguese.

Disagreements

The king and the Dutch were on bad terms until 1652 when war against the Portuguese was resumed. When Colombo was taken in 1656 Rajasinha's army was merely an onlooker as at Batticaloa, Negoinlaa and Galle. In the fights for Negombo the Portuguese sent troops by the Hendala canal as well as by land. Rajasinha's demand for Colombo fort was countered by the claim for arrears of expenses unpaid. He was very angry and acted against the Dutch in many ways. In 1664 owing to a rebellion Rajasinha fled to Hanguranketa and then wrote to the Dutch for assistance; in 1665 they annexed great parts of Four Korales and Sabaragamuwa. About 1671 the King accepted overtures from the French. There was constant friction till his death in 1687. There was as constant friction during the 20 years of his son's reign. In 1723 and 1736 the cinnamon peelers were in revolt until grievances were redressed in the latter year.

The closing of certain ports in 1702 against Kandyan traders was much resented. War was declared in 1736 after Kandyan annexations of territory. When Narendt'a. Sinba died in 1739 and a Tamil was made King, Court hostility against the Dutch increased, but Batavia ordered forbearance.

• Conciliation

In 1740 a yacht has provided to fetch bhikkus from Siam, Pegu, etc. but it was shipwrecked; in 1741 another envoy was sent to Siam the embassy in 1746 and in 1750 rested in the arrival in 1753 of bhikkus who established canonical ordinations and helped to strengthen the reforms of Weliwita Saranakara who was made a Sangharaja for that purpose by King Kirtisri A.C. 1747-1780.

• Hostility

The Kandyans were frequently committing aggressions and in 1760 set up a revolt of land owners in Dutch territory. Now, but too late, the Dutch had learnt that the Portuguese had held their territory as lawful heirs of the last king of Kotte and changed their own claim to one of conquest from the Portuguese. In 1761 the Kandyans captured Matara and Hambantota and some frontier possessions. In 1765 an expedition under Governor Van Eck occupied Kandy but when provisions were failing and sickness setting in fought its way out without loss; Van Eck had left earlier and died 3 weeks after reaching Colombo. His successor Falck made an advantageous peace in 1766 abolishing the annual embassy for permission to cut cinnamon in the king's territory, and confirming to the Dutch the ownership of all the territory in the maritime area, thus cutting off the Kandyans from the sea: In 1772 the Kandyan Court asked for a share in the Pearl Fishery, and in 1776 tried to get a bit of the Coast. It also wanted to revive the yearly embassy for leave to peel cinnamon which had been abrogated in the 1766 treaty; the court was communicating with the French who took Trincomalie in 1782; it was restored to the Dutch by the Peace of Paris in 1784. Governor Van de Graff took firm measures, and peace prevailed owing to the Kandyan scarcity of salt and the failure of a year's prospect of French aggression. In January 1794 I. G. Van Angelbeek was Governor.

British Intervention

In December 1794 the French invaded Holland and established the Batavian Republic. The Prince of Orange, Staenolder, wed and resided in Kew near London. After correspondence with the British colonial government and commanders that he issued a letter to prevent French annexation they should permit British ships and British troops to occupy ports and forts. The Governor of Madras invited Van Angelbeek to comply since all would be restored to the Dutch when peace was made. On the assumption that the new Republic was only an institution imposed by the French the Dutch authorities in Ceylon intended to comply but later intelligence that it was a popular movement caused opinion to be divided.

The British appeared first at Trincomalie and were refused admittance by the commandant, they landed unopposed; the Dutch at Colombo decided to stand by the Batavian Republic and to refuse admission to the British. The British on receiving this information resorted to force. The Forts at Trincomallee were bombarded and yielded, Batticaloa and Jaffna followed. Colombo was forced to capitulate to the superior forces of the British on February 16th 1796. By the Treaty of Amiens in 1802 Holland ceded Ceylon to the British.

The Kandyan Realm except, for the military raids by the Portuguese, and the disagreement with its Dutch allies, had a fairly uneventful career from A.C. 1590 to A.C. 1739 when the dynasty came to an end for lack of a legitimate heir and the Chiefs put on the throne a Tamil, a brother of the queen. Sections in the Court were still prevalent when the third King of the Tamil dynasty died in 1798 two years after the British occupation of the Maritime Provinces and the fourth Tamil King was placed on the throne.

British Maritime Period

The Maritime Provinces taken from the Dutch were administered by 3 successive military commanders of the troops with Madrassi civil employees for two years but in 1798 a Governor was appointed by the King of England though the East India Company still owned the territory; Governor North instituted reforms and sent back the Madrassi oppressors. In 1802 Ceylon was allotted to England in the Treaty of Amiens and was made a Crown Colony. Governor North caused to be Treasurer and President of the Supreme Court and was given an Advisory Council of three, the Chief Justice, the General Commanding troops and the Chief Secretary.

Disaster

North was involved in secret conferences with the chief minister of the King of Kandy and in 1803 a British force occupied Kandy but met the same fate as Portuguese conquering raiders had encountered, namely sickness, overwhelming numbers of assailants and massacre.

Peril Overcome

The King of Kandy's subsequent invasions of British territory in 1803 were repelled with difficulty and the next Governor Maitland who came in 1805 refrained from warlike or other hostile actions and left the Kandyans alone.

Invasion of Kandyan Territory

Governor Brownrigg came in 1812 and was soon interested in the question of the independence of the large central area, the Kandyan realm. The King's severities and the barbarities practised on some British subjects gave Brownrigg reasons, the disaffection of the Chiefs gave him opportunities, and in 1815 an unopposed British force invaded the Kingdom and occupied Kandy from which the King had fled.

Terms made with Chiefs

After conferences and discussions a treaty was framed and approved by Governor Brownrigg, and his Chief Secretary John D'Oylv on the one side and the principal Kandyan Chiefs on the other side. On March 2nd a ceremonial Convention was held, the document was read aloud and accepted unanimously. The Royal Standard of the King of England was hoisted and a Royal Salute fired by guns which had been previously dragged up the hills. The King of Kandy was captured in a jungle village, taken to Colombo in captivity with respect and thence to Vellore Fort in Madras territory where he was detained till his death. The independent Sinhalese Kingdom founded by Konappu Bandara in 1590, has defied and repelled the Portuguese for 65 years and the Dutch for 140 years but owing to the dissensions of the Chiefs was ruled by Tamils for the last four reigns for 76 years and now was yielded to the British within 19 years of their taking over the Maritime Provinces from the Dutch.

The Kandyan Chiefs were accepted by the British as envoys for the people and the Convention of 1815 guaranteed their rights and privileges, promised liberty and justice to the people and protection to the Buddhist religion and edifices.

Rebellion

The Chiefs made the distant King of England "the King of Ceylon" but that king's civil and military representatives in Ceylon offended these feudal lords. A British official judged their actions, reproved capricious or unjust dealings and thus hurt their dignity; the British soldiers however well-trained to salute the King's uniform did not salute civilians however distinguished their lineage, however high their rank and however great their pomp and power. Sullen discontent prevailed among many of those who had signed the treaty. When a pretender appeared in Wellassa a trickle of Chiefs joined him and a rebellion spread. Most of the Chiefs were sympathetic and some took an active part in the rebellion which had to be quelled with great severity by jungle warfare. Later the rebellion petered out.

Feudal Powers Abolished

The Kandyan Chiefs were judged to have violated the Treaty and a Proclamation (ISIS) curtailed their powers which had been similar to those of feudal lords. The same Proclamation confirmed the civic and personal liberty of the common people and the undertaking to protect the Buddhist religion and edifices, adding "and possessions" correcting what was an oversight in wording of the treaty of 1815.

British Rule over whole Island

There had been the abolition of slavery for the children of slaves and the institution of trial by jury, in the maritime area under British rule, orderly administration, schools, medical aid and other progressive measures; these were only slowly introduced into the Kandyan area which was still treated as a separate area till 1833 previous to which year the making of roads, planting of new products for export, and appeasement of the country had made the Kandyan area less backward than it had been after 3 centuries of seclusion from the outside world and resistance to the European influences that had lodged in the maritime area.

Separate Kandyan Area Abolished

separate secretariat and administration for the Kandyan area were abolished. In 1833, parts were attached to adjoining provinces and thus it was reduced in size and importance; the discontent was very great. There was a plot or alleged plot by the Kandyan Chiefs in 1833 and 1834 which was disclosed by one of their leaders; the previous disturbances in 1820, 1823, and 1824 were trifling in comparison with the alleged designs disclosed.

Legislative reform by a halting step

The Governor's Council was now increased by the addition of unofficial members to represent the various communities; the official majority ensured the passage of legislative enactments favoured by the Governor who presided. The political advancement urged by Europeans and Burghers, Sinhalese and Tamils, was slow and in stages of cautious concessions in vivid contrast to rapid and widespread diffusion among the people of English Literature which inspires ideas of "government of the people, by the people, for the people." Education in English opened the minds to sentiments and ideas not founded in other local languages; and the Colonial Office at one stage granted the right to elect a representative. This did not satisfy those pressing for representative government. In 1910 there was a "reformed" legislative Council: 11 official members and 4 unofficial of whom only 4 were elected by communal groups, European Rural, European Urban, Burgher and Educated Ceylonese. In addition to the official majority of one member, the safeguard that the Governor nominated the other 6 unofficial Kandyan, Sinhalese, 2 Low-country Sinhalese, 2 Tamils and 1 Moorman Muslim). In 1919 powerful pleas were put forward by a Ceylon National Congress formed by fusion of the Tamil and Low-country, Sinhalese political associations. The British administration had been an honest stewardship; economic progress and cultural development had been great; except for the riots in 1848 and 1915 peace and prosperity were notable. The educated section were nurtured there was unswerving devotion to the liberal and democratic British political ideas only, British Politics, principles and the Ceylonese in general followed the Congress leaders. -

Forward

In 1924 the Colonial office in London again made a sincere attempt to fulfil British intentions and satisfy Ceylonese aspirations by introducing 11 unofficial members, a decisive majority, into the Legislative Council. The official members nominated by the Governor were added to the Executive Council. The official members in the Legislative Council were only 12, the unofficials were 37 of whom only 3 were elected, 23 by territorial electorates and 1 by communal electorates. One Conservative precaution was power given to the Governor (a) more to and to certify a bill, (b) to declare a bill if voted for by all the 12 official members to be of paramount importance to the public interest and make it law.

Drawback

A defect in principle was that the educational and property qualifications required for registration as a voter limited the franchise to 4% of the population. Defects in practice were serious. The decisions and administrative all ignorant of parliamentary practice and with no administrative experience felt frustrated when their proposals were not heartily adopted by the experienced officials and grew bitter in their remarks; the officials, dependent for financial resources on a critical and often suspicious unofficial majority, were subjected to hostile cross-examinations and sometimes felt personally insulted. Strained relations prevailed and public affairs were hampered and even occasionally damaged.

Loyal opinion consulted

In 1927 the British Colonial office recognised the necessity of considering opinions in Ceylon as well as in their files. A Commission of 3 with administrative and political experience was sent to Ceylon to hear, to record, and to deliberate upon facts and opinions from all sections and communities and classes in the Island. The Donoughmore Commission completed its patient labours in 1928.

The Donoughmore Constitution

The most notable features in its report were three. (1) The Tamils left the National Congress in 1921 because of Congress' insistence on the abolition of communal representation later if not immediately. The case for it rested on the belief that communal ill-feeling and communal dissension would disappear or be greatly weakened if there were recognised channels for constitutional representations. The Donoughmore Constitution rhetorically condemned communal representation and abolished the 113 communal electorates. In lieu the Governor was to nominate not exceeding 8 members for communities not represented in the elections. The number of unofficial elected members was increased to 50; the official minority was omitted from the Council; 3 officials, heads of legal, financial and administration. Government departments, were to sit in the Council but not vote though they could speak in a debate. (2) Universal adult franchise was instituted for male and female (including domiciled Tamils and European British subjects), (3) The strife between irresponsible unofficial power and responsible officials was eliminated because the State Council, as it was called, would exercise executive power by a division into 7 Constituencies, each electing one member as Councillor who would be Minister for several departments in charge of his Committee.

Changes (1) and (2) were disagreeable to the Ceylonese political leaders except the Low-Country Sinhalese, and to the members of the Legislative Council but (3) was gratifying to unofficial legislators who had assumed they could manage affairs better than "the bureaucrats." The first State Council did not warrant continuance of this belief but it lingered among the members. The Second State Council had its dissolution postponed owing to the war and lasted eleven years outstaying its welcome, but voicing the general demand for an advance towards freedom. Another Commission toured Ceylon made itself acquainted with all aspects of life, heard evidence, received memoranda and made its report in 1945.

The Soulbury Constitution

It removed appointments etc., from the Council, judicial to a judicial Commission, other services to a Public Services Commission and also instituted a Ministry of Justice. The State Council was to be replaced by 2 houses. A Senate of 30 members, 15 nominated by the Governor and 15 elected by the House of Representatives which was to have 95 elected and 6 nominated members.

The Governor was to invite a leader to become a Prime Minister and form a Cabinet. The M.P.'s were exempted from the requirement to speak and write English.

Freedom

After deliberations and Conference Ceylon was offered and accepted Dominion Status which was inaugurated on the 4th of February 1948 by the swearing-in of Sir Henry Monckton Moore (former Governor) as Governor-General of the Dominion of Ceylon within the British Commonwealth of Nations. Mr. D. S. Senanayake, Prime Minister has chosen a Cabinet and Cabinet practice and conventions are expected. On February 10th H.R.H. the Duke of Gloucester, the King's brother, formally opened the first sitting of the Parliament of the New Dominion in the presence of the Duchess, the Governor-General and Lady Moore, the Prime Minister and his Cabinet and members of both Houses and over 6,000 people in a Special Hall with much pomp and rejoicing which characterized the whole week "Independence Week". The Judicial System of Ceylon

SUPREME COURT--The Supreme Court consists of a Chief Justice and eight Puisne Judges. It has appellate and revisional jurisdiction in civil cases from all courts except Rural Courts. It exercises original jurisdiction in civil cases except in matters provided for in the Ceylon Courts of Admiralty Ordinance (Chapter 7, Legislative Enactments of Ceylon) and the Ceylon (Non-domiciled parties) Divorce Jurisdiction Order in Council of 1936.

The Supreme Court has original jurisdiction in all criminal cases and exclusive jurisdiction in respect of the more serious offences, such as homicide, rape, and the graver types of house-breaking and robbery. Such jurisdiction is exercised at Criminal Session of the Supreme Court by one of the Judges or by a Commissioner of Assize with a jury. They can try only cases committed to them for trial by a magistrate's Court.

A Judge of the Supreme Court nominated by the Chief Justice hears election Petitions.

The Supreme Court has power to inspect the records of any court—to grant writs of quo warranto, certiorari mandamus, procedendo and prohibition against any District Judge, Commissioner, Magistrate or other person or tribunal and to issue injunction. It has the power to transfer civil and criminal cases and to try in a summary manner any offence of contempt committed in disrespect of itself or of any other court.

Three Judges of the Supreme Court at Bar may try without jury in the case of certain offences like sedition etc.

The Governor-General may, if he thinks it expedient from time to time appoint a judicial officer to be called " Commissioner of Assize " to hold any Criminal Session or part thereof of the Supreme Court. Such Commissioner shall, be invested-with all the rights, powers, privileges and immunities of a Judge of the Supreme Court.

THE COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEAL--The Chief Justice and the Puisne Judges of the Supreme Court are the Judges of this Court. Any person convicted on a trial held before the Supreme Court may appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeal against his conviction on any ground of appeal which involves a question of law ; or, with specified leave, against his conviction on any ground of appeal which involves a question of fact ; or, with specified leave, against the sentence passed on his conviction unless the sentence is one fixed by law.

DISTRICT COURTS—The District Courts, of which there are at present 25 in the Island, have unlimited original Jurisdiction in all civil, revenue, matrimonial and testamentary matters and over the persons and estates, of inns-tics, minors, and wards, over the estates of cestuisque trusts and over guardians and trustees. They have the power to issue injunctions in certain events.

The District Courts have Criminal jurisdiction in respect of all offences which are not within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Supreme Court ; they can try only cases committed to them for trial by a Magistrate's Court.

The District Courts may pass any of the following sentences.

- (a) Imprisonment of either description for a term; not exceeding two years
- (b) Fine not exceeding one thousand rupees ;
- (c) Whipping
- (d) Any lawful sentence combining any two of the sentences aforesaid

They have the power to try in a summary manner offences of contempt committed in the face of the Court.

When a person is convicted at one trial of any two or more distinct offences the aggregate punishment it can award is twice the punishment mentioned above.

Under Sections 14 and 15 of the Ceylon Courts of Admiralty Ordinance the Governor has power to appoint a District Court to have a limited admiralty jurisdiction. The District Court of Colombo alone has been appointed to exercise such jurisdiction.

The District Courts hear appeals from Rural Courts over which they have appellate jurisdiction.

MAGISTRATE'S COURTS.—There are 30 Magistrates' Courts and 7 Municipal Courts in the Island, and a Juvenile Court in Colombo. The offences which a Magistrate's Court may try are specified in the schedule to the Criminal Procedure Code, Chapter 6, of the Ceylon Legislative Enactments. Various Ordinances have also made other offences triable by a Magistrate's Court. A Magistrate's Court may not pass a sentence heavier than the following, except where an Ordinance has specially empowered it so to do :—

- (a) Imprisonment of either description. for a term not exceeding six months;
- (b) Fine not exceeding one hundred- rupees ;
- (c) Whipping; if the offender is under 16 years of age ;
- (d) Any lawful sentence combining any two of the sentences aforesaid.

When a person is convicted at one trial of any two or more distinct offences the aggregate punishment it can award is twice the punishment mentioned above.

JUDICIAL SYSTEM OF CEYLON

Magistrates' Courts also hold preliminary inquiries into crimes with a view to committal for trial to a District Court or the Supreme Court. If after inquiry a Magistrate is of opinion that an accused person should be discharged he makes order to that effect. Where a Magistrate is of opinion that an accused person should be committed for trial to a court of competent jurisdiction, he commits him accordingly and forward the record of the proceedings at the inquiry to the Attorney-General, who either presents an indictment against the accused person or quashes the commitment or orders the case to be remitted to the Magistrate for further proceedings.

A special jurisdiction is conferred under the Maintenance Ordinance 1889, on Magistrates' Courts to make orders for the maintenance of wives & children.

COURTS OF REQUESTS.—Courts of Requests have original civil jurisdiction (subject to certain exceptions) in all actions in which the debt, damage or demand or value of the land in dispute does not exceed Rs. 300/-. This Court has been given special jurisdiction by the adoption of Children's Ordinance No. 24 of 1947 to invalidate adoption orders authorizing any person to adopt a child and to provide for the registration as custodian of persons, having the care, custody or control of children of whom they are not natural parents.

There are 30 Courts of Requests in the Island, of which one (the Colombo Court) is presided over by a separate Commissioner. All the others are presided over by a District Judge or a Magistrate who acts as Commissioner of Requests in addition to his duties as District Judge or Magistrate.

MUNICIPAL COURTS:—This is a special Court created under the Municipal Council's Ordinance, No. 29 of 1947, Sec. 162. There shall be a Municipal Magistrate appointed to each Municipality. Such Municipal Magistrate may be appointed to be an additional Magistrate in addition to his other duties. In the Municipality of Colombo, there is a Municipal Magistrate. In the other Municipal Towns the District Judge having jurisdiction performs the duties of the Municipal Magistrate. They have no civil jurisdiction whatever. They try offences committed within the Municipality in breach of any Municipal by-laws of any of the Municipalities mentioned in Sec. 164 (1) of the Municipal Council's Ordinance.

RURAL COURTS:—Rural Courts have civil jurisdiction in actions in which the debt, damage, or demand or the value of the land in dispute does not exceed Rs. 500/-. PART II

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL

Appointment and Functions of Governor-General

4. (1) The Governor-General shall be appointed by His Majesty, and shall have and may exercise in the Island during Her Majesty's pleasure, but subject to the provisions of this Order, such powers, authorities and functions of His Majesty as His Majesty may be pleased to assign to him.

(2) All powers, authorities and functions vested in His Majesty on the Governor-General shall, subject to the provisions of this Order and of any other law for the time being in force, be exercised as far as may be in accordance with the constitutional conventions applicable to the exercise of similar powers, authorities and functions in the United Kingdom by His Majesty.

Provided that no act or omission on the part of the Governor-General shall be called in question in any court of law or otherwise on the ground that the foregoing provisions of this subsection have not been complied with.

Salaries of Governor-General and Officer Administering the Government.

5.—(1) The Governor-General shall receive a salary of £8,003 a year.

(2) During any period in which the Office of Governor-General is vacant, or the Governor-General is absent from the Island, or is from any cause prevented from, or incapable of, acting in the duties of his Office, the Officer Administering the Government shall receive a salary calculated at the rate of £6,000 a year and shall not be entitled to receive during that period any salary in respect of any other office.

(3) The salary of the Governor-General and of the Officer Administering the Government shall be charged on the Consolidated Fund and shall not be altered during his continuance in office.

(4) In the assessment of any income tax which may be payable under any written law, no account shall be taken of the salaries provided by this Section for the Governor-General and for the Officer Administering the Government or of the annual value of any official residence occupied by either of them as such.

6. The salaries of any member of the Governor-General's office and of his personal staff shall be determined by Parliament and shall be charged on the Consolidated Fund.

PART III

THE LEGISLATURE

*GeneralParliament

7. There shall be a Parliament of the Island which shall consist of His Majesty, and two Chambers to be known respectively as the Senate and the House of Representatives,

The Senate

8. (1) The Senate shall consist of thirty Senators of whom fifteen (hereinafter referred to as "elected Senators") shall be elected by the House of Representatives and fifteen (hereinafter referred to as "appointed Senators") shall be appointed by the Governor-General.

(2) The Senate shall be a permanent body and the term of office of a Senator shall not be affected, and the seat of a Senator shall not become vacant, by reason of a dissolution of Parliament.

(3) One third of the Senators shall retire every second year.

(4) Subject to the provisions of Section 73 of this Order, the term of office of a Senator shall be six years from the date of his election or appointment

Provided that-

ORDER IN COUNCIL

- (a) a person who is elected or appointed a Senator to fill a casual vacancy shall be deemed to be elected or appointed to serve only for the remainder of his predecessor's term of office;
 - (b) a person who is elected or appointed to fill a vacancy caused by the termination of a Senator's period of office by effluxion of time shall, for the purposes of this Section, be deemed to have been elected or appointed on such termination.
- (5) A separate election shall be held for the filling of each casual vacancy among the elected Senators.
- (b) A retiring Senator shall, if otherwise qualified, be eligible for re-election or re-appointment from time to time.
- (7) In this Section, the expression " casual vacancy " means a vacancy occurring otherwise than by the termination of a Senator's period of office by effluxion of time.

Election of Senators

g.--(i) After the first election under Section 7 of this Order of the Speaker, the Deputy Speaker and Chairman of Committees and the Deputy Chairman of Committees, the House of Representatives shall, before proceeding to any other business, elect fifteen Senators ; and thereafter, as soon as may be after the occurrence of a vacancy among the elected Senators, the House of Representatives shall elect a person to fill such vacancy.

(2) The election of Senators shall, whenever such election is contested be according to the principle of proportional representation, each voter having one transferable vote.

(3) As soon as may be after the election of a Senator, the Clerk to the House of Representatives shall communicate to the Governor-General and to the Clerk to the Senate the name of the person elected.

Appointment of Senators

io--(1) As soon as may be after the first election of Senators under Section 9 of this Order, the Governor-General shall appoint fifteen Senators, and there after, whenever there is a vacancy among the appointed Senators, the Governor-General shall appoint a person to fill the vacancy :

Provided that, if there is at the same time a vacancy among the elected Senators, the Governor-General may defer filling the vacancy among the appointed Senators until the vacancy among the elected Senators has been filled.

(2) Whenever a person is appointed a Senator under this Section, the Governor-General shall cause to be sent to the Clerk to the Senate a certificate signed by the Governor-General setting out the name of the person appointed and the date of appointment. Such certificate shall be conclusive for all purposes and shall not be questioned in any court of law.

(3) In the exercise of his functions under this Section the Governor-General shall endeavour to appoint persons who he is satisfied have rendered distinguished public service or are persons of eminence in professional, commercial, industrial or agricultural life, including education, law, medicine, science, engineering and banking.

The House of Representatives

ix--(i) Subject to the provisions of Section 74 of this Order, the House of Representatives shall consist of the Members elected by the electors of the several electoral districts constituted in accordance with the provisions of this Order, and the Members, if any, appointed by the Governor-General under sub-section (z) of this Section.

(2) Where after any general election the Governor-General is satisfied that any important interest in the Island is not represented or is inadequately represented, he may appoint any persons not exceeding six in number, to be Members of the House of Representatives.

(3) When the seat of a Member appointed under this Section falls vacant the Governor-General may appoint a person to fill the vacancy.

(4) (Revoked).

(5) Unless Parliament is sooner dissolved, every House of Representatives shall continue for five years from the date appointed for its first meeting and no hanger, and the expiry of the said period of five years shall operate as a dissolution of Parliament.

Qualification for Membership of Senate or House of Representatives

12. Subject to the Provisions of this Order, a person who is qualified to be an elector shall be qualified to be elected or appointed to either Chamber,

Disqualification for Membership of Senate or House of Representatives

13.—(1) A Senator shall be disqualified for being elected or appointed or for sitting or voting as a Member of the House of Representatives,

(2) A person shall be disqualified for being elected or appointed as a Senator or for sitting or voting in the Senate if he has not attained the age of thirty-five years.

(3) A person shall be disqualified for being elected or appointed as a Senator or a Member of the House of Representatives or for sitting or voting in the Senate or in the House of Representatives—

(a) If he is not a British Subject or is by virtue of his own act, without any acknowledgment of allegiance, obedience or adherence to any foreign power or state ; or

(b) if he is a public officer or a judicial officer or the Auditor-General ; or

(c) If he, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any person on his behalf or for his use or benefit, holds, or enjoys any right or benefit under any contract made by or on behalf of the Crown in respect of the Government of the Island for the furnishing or providing of money to be remitted abroad or of goods or services to be used or employed in the service of the Crown in the Island.

(d) if he has received, or is a member of any incorporated or unincorporated body of less than twenty-five persons which has received, during the period of twelve months immediately preceding, from the public funds of the Island, any grant of such a nature that the award or amount thereof is within the discretion of the Crown or of a Public Officer; or

(e) if he is an undischarged bankrupt or insolvent, having been declared a bankrupt or insolvent under any law in force in any part of His Majesty's dominions or in any territory under His Majesty's protection or in any territory in which His Majesty has from time to time jurisdiction ;

(f) If he is serving or has, during the period of seven years immediately preceding, completed the serving of a sentence of imprisonment (by whatever name called) for a term of three months or longer imposed by any court in any part of His Majesty's dominions or in any territory under His Majesty's protection or in any territory in which His Majesty has from time to time jurisdiction, for an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term exceeding twelve months, or is titter sentence of death imposed by any such court, or is serving, or has during the period of seven years immediately preceding, completed the serving of a sentence of imprisonment for a term of three months or longer awarded in lieu of execution of any such sentence.

Provided that, if any person disqualified under this paragraph is granted a free pardon, such disqualification shall cease from the date on which the pardon is granted, or

(g) if he is, under any law in force in the Island, found or declared to be of unsound mind ; or

(h) If by reason of his conviction for a corrupt or illegal practice or by reason of the report of an Election Judge in accordance with the Law for the time being in force relating to the election of Senators or Members of Parliament, he is incapable of being registered as an elector or of being elected or appointed as a Member, as the case may be, or

(0 if by reason of his conviction for a corrupt or illegal practice, he would have been incapable of being elected as a member of the Legislative Council or of the State Council if the laws relating to the election of Members to those bodies had remained in operation;

(j) ^{or} it by reason of his expulsion or resignation from the State Council before the date upon which this Part of this Order comes into operation he would have been incapable of being elected or appointed a Member of the State Council if the Ceylon (State Council) Order in Council, 1933, as amended by the Ceylon (State Council) Amendment Order in Council, 1943, had remained

(k) ^{in force ; or} if during the preceding seven years he has been adjudged by a competent court or by a Commission appointed with the approval of the Senate or the House of Representatives or by a Committee thereof to have accepted a bribe or gratification offered with a view to influencing his judgment as a Senator or as a Member of Parliament.

(4) The provisions of paragraph (c) and (d) of sub-section (3) of this section, shall not apply to-

- (i) Any contract for subscription to a loan to be issued to the public on advertised terms ;
- (ii) any pension, gratuity, or other benefit payable from the public revenues or other funds of the Island ;
- (iii) any grant to any Municipal Council, Urban Council or other public authority established by or under any written law ; or
- (iv) any grant to any person or body of persons for purposes mainly religious, educational, or otherwise charitable, or any salary or allowance payable from the public revenue or other funds of the island to any person, not being a public officer, employed by or under any person or body of persons for any such purposes.

(s) For the purposes of paragraph (k) of subsection (3) of this Section, the acceptance by a Senator or Member of Parliament of any allowance or other payment made to him by any trade union or other organisation solely for the purposes of his maintenance shall not be deemed to be the acceptance of a bribe or gratification.

Penalty for sitting or voting in Senate or House of Representatives when disqualified

14. (r) Any person who—
(a) having been appointed or elected a Member of the Senate or House of Representatives, but not having been, at the relevant time of such appointment or election qualified to be so appointed or elected, shall sit or vote in the Senate or House of Representatives, or

(b) shall sit or vote in the Senate or House of Representatives after his seat therein has become vacant or he has become disqualified from sitting or voting thereon, knowing, or having reasonable grounds for knowing, that he was so disqualified, or that his seat has become vacant, as the case may be, shall be liable to a penalty of five hundred rupees for every day upon which he so sits or votes.

The penalty imposed by this Section shall be recoverable by action in the District Court of Colombo instituted by any person who may sue for it :

Provided that no such action, having been instituted, shall proceed further unless the leave of the District Judge of the Court is obtained.

(3) Where, after the institution of any action in pursuance of the provisions of this Section, no steps in pursuit of the action are taken by the person instituting the action for any period of three months the action shall be dismissed with costs.

Sessions of Parliament

15.—(i) The Governor-General may, from time to time, by Proclamation summon, prorogue, or dissolve Parliament.

ORDER IN COUNCIL

(2) Parliament shall be summoned to meet once at least in every year,

(3) A Proclamation proroguing Parliament shall fix a date for the next session, not being more than four months after the date of the Proclamation. Provided that, at any time while Parliament stands prorogued,

(a) the Governor-General may by Proclamation summon Parliament for an earlier date (not being less than three days from the date of such Proclamation) ;

(b) the Governor-General may dissolve Parliament.

(4) A Proclamation dissolving Parliament shall fix a date or dates for the general election of Members of Parliament, and shall summon a new Parliament to meet on a date not later than four months after the date of the Proclamation.

(5) If at any time, after the dissolution of Parliament, the Governor-General is satisfied that an emergency has arisen of such a nature that, an earlier meeting of Parliament is necessary, the Governor-General, may by Proclamation summon the Parliament which has been dissolved for a date not less than three days from the date of such Proclamation, and such Parliament may be kept in session until the meeting of the new Parliament.

President and Deputy President of Senate r6.—(r) The Senate shall at its first meeting elect two Senators to be respectively the President and the Deputy President and Chairman of Committees (hereinafter referred to as the "Deputy President") thereof

(2) A Senator holding office as the President or the Deputy President of the Senate shall, unless he earlier resigns his office, vacate his office if he ceases to be a Senator.

(3) Whenever the office of President or Deputy President of the Senate becomes vacant, the Senate shall, at its first meeting after the occurrence of the vacancy, elect another Senator to be the President or the Deputy President, as the case may be.

(4) The President, or in his absence the Deputy President, or in their absence a Senator elected by the Senate for the sitting, shall preside at sittings of the Senate.

Speaker, Deputy Speaker and Deputy Chairman of Committees of the House of Representatives r7.—(I) The House of Representatives shall, at its first meeting after a general election, elect three Members to be respectively the Speaker, the Deputy Speaker and Chairman of Committees (hereinafter referred to as the "Deputy Speaker") and the Deputy Chairman of Committees thereof.

(2) A Member holding office as the Speaker or the Deputy Speaker or the Deputy Chairman of Committees of the House of Representatives shall, unless he earlier resigns his office or ceases to be a Member, vacate his office on the dissolution of Parliament.

(3) Whenever the office of Speaker, Deputy Speaker or Deputy Chairman of Committees becomes vacant otherwise than as a result of a dissolution of Parliament, the House of Representatives shall at its first meeting after the occurrence of the vacancy elect another Member to be the Speaker, Deputy Speaker or Deputy Chairman of Committees as the case may be.

(4) If Parliament, after having been dissolved, is summoned under subsection (5) of Section r5, each of the Members mentioned in subsection (2) of this Section shall, notwithstanding anything in that subsection, resume and continue to hold his office while that Parliament is kept in session.

(5) The Speaker, or in his absence the Deputy Speaker, or in their absence the Deputy Chairman of Committees, shall preside at sittings of the House of Representatives. If none of them is present, a Member elected by the House of Representatives for the sitting shall preside at sittings of the House.

Voting

r8. Save as otherwise provided in sub-section (4) of Section 29, any question proposed for decision by either Chamber shall be determined by a majority of votes of the Senators or Members, as the case may be, present and voting. The President or Speaker or other person presiding shall not vote in the first instance but shall have and exercise a casting vote in the event of an equality of votes.

ORDER IN COUNCIL

Power of either Chamber to act notwithstanding vacancies

Each Chamber shall have power to act notwithstanding any vacancy in the membership thereof, and any proceedings therein shall be valid notwithstanding that it is discovered subsequently that some person who was not entitled so to do sat or voted or otherwise took part in the proceedings.

Quorum

If at any time during a meeting of either Chamber the person presiding is drawn to the fact that there are, in the case of a meeting of the Senate, fewer than six Senators present, or, in the case of a meeting of the House of Representatives, fewer than twenty Members present, the person presiding shall, subject to any Standing Order of the Chamber, adjourn the sitting without question put.

Standing Orders

Subject to the provisions of this Order, each Chamber may, by remain-tion or Standing Order, provide for the election and retirement of the President and Deputy President

- (i) in the case of the Senate ; and
- (ii) the election and retirement of the Speaker, the Deputy Speaker and the Deputy Chairman of Committees, in the case of the House of Representatives ;
- (iii) the regulation of its business, the preservation of order at its sittings and any other matter for which provision is required or authorised to be so made by this Order.

Adjournment

Each Chamber may adjourn from time to time as it may determine by resolution or Standing Order until Parliament is prorogued or dissolved.

(2) During the adjournment of either Chamber for a period exceeding one month the President, or Speaker, as the case may be, shall, prescribed by Standing Orders of that Chamber, a meeting of the Senate or the House of Representatives for the transaction of any urgent business of public importance.

Vacation of Seats in the Senate

23.—(x) The seat of a Senator shall become vacant—

- (a) upon his death ; or
- (b) if, by writing under his hand, addressed to the Clerk to the Senate , he resigns his seat ; or
- (c) if he becomes subject to any of the disqualifications mentioned in Section 13 of this Order ; or
- (d) if, without the leave of the Senate first obtained, he absents himself from the sittings of the Senate during a continuous period of three months ; or
- (e) upon the termination of his term of office.

(2) As soon as may be after the seat of an elected Senator becomes vacant the Clerk to the Senate shall inform the Clerk to the House of Representatives of the vacancy.

(3) As soon as may be after the seat of an appointed Senator becomes vacant, the Clerk to the Senate shall inform the Governor-General of the vacancy.

Vacation of Seats in the House of Representatives

24.—(F) The seat of a Member of Parliament shall become vacant--

- (a) upon his death ; or
- (b) if, by writing under his hand addressed to the Clerk to the House of Representatives, he resigns his seat ; or
- (c) if he is elected or appointed a Member of the Senate ; or
- (d) if he becomes subject to any of the disqualifications mentioned in Section 13 of this Order ; or
- (e) if, without the leave of the House of Representatives first obtained he absents himself from the sittings of the House during a continuous period of three months ; or

(f) upon the dissolution of Parliament.

(2) Whenever the seat of a Member of Parliament falls vacant under this Section except upon a dissolution of Parliament, the Clerk to the House of Representatives shall inform the Governor-General who shall (except in the case of a Member appointed under the provisions of subsection (2) of Section 11 of this Order), within one month, by notice in the Government Gazette, order the holding of an election to fill the vacancy. •

• Oath of Allegiance •

25. Except for the purpose of electing the President or the Speaker, no Senator or Member of Parliament shall sit or vote in the Senate or the House of Representatives until he has taken and subscribed before the Senate or the House of Representatives, as the case may be, the oath of allegiance in accordance with the provisions of the Promissory Oaths Ordinance or shall have made the appropriate affirmation in lieu thereof as provided in the said Ordinance.

Cap. r3

Allowances to Senators and Members of Parliament

26. If provision is made by law for the payment to Senators or Members of Parliament of any remuneration or allowance in their capacity as Senators or Members of Parliament, the receipt by any Senator or Member of Parliament of such remuneration or allowance shall not disqualify him from sitting or voting in the Senate or the House of Representatives, as the case may be

Privileges of Senate and House of Representatives

27.—(r) The privileges, immunities and powers of the Senate and the House of Representatives and of Senators and Members of Parliament may be determined and regulated by Act of Parliament, but no such privileges, immunities or powers shall exceed those of the time being held or enjoyed by the Commons House of Parliament of the United Kingdom or of its Members.

(2) Until Parliament otherwise provides, the privileges of the Senate and the House of Representatives and of Senators and Members of Parliament shall be the same as the privileges of the State Council and of its Members at the date on which it is last dissolved.

Staff of Parliament

28.—(I) There shall be a Clerk to the Senate who shall be appointed by the Governor General.

(2) There shall be a Clerk to the House of Representatives who shall be appointed by the Governor-General.

(3) The members of the staff of the Clerk to the Senate shall be appointed by him in consultation with the President.

(4) The members of the staff of the Clerk to the House of Representatives shall be appointed by him in consultation with the Speaker.

(5) The Clerk to the Senate, the Clerk to the House of Representatives and the members of their staffs shall, while they hold their offices as such, be disqualified for being elected or appointed as a Senator or as a Member of Parliament or for sitting or voting in the Senate or the House of Representatives.

(6) The Clerk to the Senate and the Clerk to the House of Representatives shall not be removable except by the Governor-General on an address of the Senate, or of the House of Representatives, as the case may be ;

Provided that, unless Parliament otherwise provides, the age for their retirement shall be sixty years.

LEGISLATIVE POWERS AND PROCEDURE

Power of Parliament to make laws

29.—(r) Subject to the provisions of this Order, Parliament shall have power to make laws for the peace, order and good government of the Island.

(2) No such law shall—

- (a) prohibit or restrict the free exercise of any religion ; or
- (b) make persons of any community or religion liable to disabilities or restrictions to which persons of other communities or religions are not made liable ; or

- (c) confer on persons of any community or religion any privilege or advantage which is not conferred on persons of other communities or religions⁴ or
- (d) alter the constitution of any religious body except with the consent of the governing authority of that

Provided that in any case where a religious body is incorporated by law, no such alteration shall be made, except at the request of the governing authority of that body.

(3) Any law made in contravention of subsection (2) of this Section shall, to the extent of such contravention, be void.

- (4) In the exercise of its powers under this Section Parliament may amend or repeal any of the provisions of this Order or of any other order of His Majesty in Council in its application to the Island :

Provided that no Bill for the amendment or repeal of any of the provisions of this Order shall be presented for the Royal Assent unless it has endorsed on it a certificate under the hand of the Speaker that the number of votes cast in favour thereof in the House of Representatives amounted to not less than two-thirds of the whole number of Members of the House (including those not present) ; every certificate of the Speaker under this subsection shall be conclusive for all purposes and shall not be questioned in any court of law.

30. (Revoked.)

Introduction of Bills

31.--(i) A Bill, other than a Money Bill, may be introduced in either Chamber. A Money Bill shall not be introduced in the Senate.

(2) In this Section and in Sections 33 and 34 of this Order, " Money Bill" means a Public Bill which contains only provisions dealing with all or any of the following subjects, that is to say, the imposition, repeal, remission, alteration or regulation of taxation ; the imposition for the payment of debt, expenses of administration or other financial purposes, of charges on the Consolidated Fund or on any other public funds or on moneys provided by Parliament, or the variation or repeal of any such charges ; the grant of money to the Crown or to any authority or person, or the variation or revocation of any such grant ; the appropriation, receipt, custody, investment, issue or audit of accounts of public money ; the raising or guarantee of any loan or the repayment thereof, or the establishment, alteration, administration or abolition of any sinking fund provided in connection with any such loan ; or any subordinate matter incidental to any of the aforesaid subjects.

In this subsection the expressions " taxation", " debt ", "public fund", " public money " and " loan " do not include any taxation imposed, debt incurred, fund or money provided or loan raised, by any local authority.

Passing of Bills

32.--(1) A Bill shall not be deemed to have been passed by both Chambers unless it has been agreed to by both Chambers, either without amendment or with such amendments only as are agreed to, by both Chambers.

(2) A Bill which has been passed by the Senate with any amendment which is subsequently rejected by the House of Representatives shall be deemed not to have been passed by the Senate.

Restriction of powers of Senate as to Money Bills

33.--(1) If a Money Bill, having been passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate at least one month before the end of the session, is not passed by the Senate within one month after it is so sent, the Bill may, notwithstanding that it has not been passed by the Senate, be presented to the Governor-General with or without any amendments which have been made by the Senate and agreed to by the House of Representatives, and shall take effect as an Act of Parliament on the Royal Assent thereto being signified.

(2) There shall be endorsed on every Money Bill when it is sent to the Senate and when it is presented to the Governor-General for Royal Assent a certificate under the hand of the Speaker that it is a Money Bill. Before giving his certificate the Speaker shall consult the Attorney-General or the Solicitor-General.

Restriction of powers of Senates as to Bills other than Money Bills

34.—(z) If a Bill, other than a Money Bill, is passed by the House of Representatives in two successive sessions, whether of the same Parliament or not, and,

(a) having been sent to the Senate in the first of those sessions at least one month before the end of that session, is not passed by the Senate in that session and,

(b) having been sent to the Senate in the second of those sessions, is not passed the Senate within one month after it has been so sent, or within six months after the commencement of that session, whichever is the later.

the Bill may, notwithstanding that it has not been passed by the Senate, be presented to the Governor-General and shall take effect as an Act of Parliament on the Royal Assent thereto being signified.

(2) There shall be endorsed on every Bill, when it is presented to the Governor-General for the Royal Assent in pursuance of the provisions of subsection (z) of this Section, a certificate under the hand of the Speaker that the provisions of subsection (z) have been complied with and that the Bill presented for the Royal Assent is identical with the Bill sent to the Senate in the first of the two sessions in which it was passed by the House of Representatives. Before giving his certificate the Speaker shall consult the Attorney-General or the Solicitor-General.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (2) of this Section, a Bill presented for the Royal Assent shall be deemed to be the same Bill as a former Bill sent to the Senate in the preceding session, if, when it is sent to the Senate, it is identical with the former Bill or contains only such alterations as are certified by the Speaker to be necessary to the time which has elapsed since the date of the former Bill, or to represent any amendments which have been made by the Senate in the former Bill in the preceding sessions; and any amendments which are certified by the Speaker to have been made by the Senate in the second session and agreed to by the House of Representatives shall be inserted in the Bill as presented to the Governor-General in pursuance of this Section:

Provided that the House of Representatives may, if they think fit, on the passage of such a Bill through the House in the second session, suggest any further amendments without inserting the amendments in the Bill, and any such suggested amendments shall be considered by the Senate, and, if agreed to, shall be treated as amendments made by the Senate and agreed to by the House of Representatives; but the exercise of this power by the House of Representatives shall not affect the operation of this Section in the event of the rejection of the Bill by the Senate.

Certificate of Speaker

35. Every certificate of the Speaker under Section 33 or Section 34 of this Order shall be conclusive for all purposes and shall not be questioned in any court of law.

Assent to Bills

36.—(r) No Bill shall become an Act of Parliament until His Majesty has given His consent thereto.

(2) When a Bill has been passed by both Chambers or by the House of Representatives, alone in accordance with the provisions of this Order, it shall be presented to the Governor-General, who may assent in His Majesty's name, or refuse such assent.

(3.) (Revoked)

37. (Revoked)

Enacting words

38.—(I) In every Bill presented to the Governor-General, other than a Bill presented under Section 33 or Section 34 of this Order, the words of enactment shall be as follows, that is to say :-

" Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and the House of Representatives of Ceylon in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—"

(2) In every Bill presented to the Governor-General under Section 33 or Section 34 of this Order, the words of enactment shall be as follows, that is to say:—

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the House of Representatives of Ceylon in this present Parliament assembled, in accordance with the provisions of Section 33 (or Section 34 as the case may be) of the Ceylon (Constitution) Order in Council, 1946, and by the authority of the same, as follows.

(3) Any alteration in a Bill necessary to give effect to subsection (2) of this Section shall not be deemed to be an amendment of the Bill.

Laws relating to Ceylon Government stocks

³⁹—(1) Any law which has been assented to by the Governor-General and which appears to His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom—

(a) to alter, to the injury of the stock-holder, any of the provisions relating to any Ceylon Government stock specified in the Second Schedule to this Order ; or

(b) to involve a departure from the original contract in respect of any of the said stock may be disallowed by His Majesty through a Secretary of State.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) of this Section shall also apply in relation to any Ceylon Government stock issued after the date upon which this Part of this Order comes into operation which, at the request of the Government of the Island, has been included in the list kept by the Treasury of the United Kingdom, in conformity with the provisions of Section 2 (of the Colonial Stock Act, 1900, of securities in which a trustee may invest.)

(3) Wherever any such law has been disallowed by His Majesty, the Governor-General shall cause notice of such disallowance to be published in the Government Gazette.

(4) Every law so disallowed shall cease to have effect as soon as notice of such disallowance shall be published as aforesaid ; and thereupon any enactment repealed or amended by or in pursuance of the law disallowed shall have effect as if such law had not been made. Subject as aforesaid the provisions of Section 6 of the Interpretation Ordinance shall apply.

Cap. 2

PART IV

DELIMITATION OF ELECTORAL DISTRICTS

• Establishment of Delimitation Commission

40.--(1) Within one year after the completion of every general census of the Island following the general census of 1946, the Governor-General shall establish a Delimitation Commission.

(2) Every Delimitation Commission established under this Section shall consist of three persons appointed by the Governor-General who shall select persons who he is satisfied are not actively engaged in politics. The Governor-General shall appoint one of such persons to be the Chairman.

(3) If any member of a Delimitation Commission shall die, or resign, or if the Governor-General shall be satisfied that any sub member has become incapable of discharging his functions as such, the Governor-General shall in accordance with the provisions of subsection (2) of this Section, appoint another person in his place.

(4) (Revoked.)

Duties of Delimitation Commissions

⁴¹ (i) Every Delimitation Commission established under Section 40 of this Order shall divide each Province of the Island into a number of electoral districts ascertained as provided in subsection (2) of this Section and shall assign names thereto.

(2) The total number of persons who, according to the last preceding general census, were for the time being resident in the Province shall be ascertained to the nearest 75,000. In respect of each 75,000 of this number the Delimitation Commission shall allot one electoral district to the Province and shall add a further number of electoral districts (based on the number of square miles in the Province at the rate of one additional electoral district for each 1,000 square miles of area; calculated to the nearest Lac) as follows:—

Western Province		2
Central Province	---	2
Southern Province	..	2
Northern Province	•	4
Eastern Province		4
North-Western Province		3
North-Central, Province		4
Province of Uva		3
Province of Sabaragamuwa		2

(3) Subject to the provisions of subsections (4) and (5) of this Section, each electoral district of a Province shall have as nearly as may be an equal number of persons :

Provided that, in dividing a Province into electoral districts, every Delimitation Commission shall have regard to the transport facilities of the Province, its physical features and the community or diversity of interest of its inhabitants.

(4) Where it appears to the Delimitation Commission that there is in any area of a Province a substantial concentration of persons united by a community of interest, whether racial, religious or otherwise, but differing in one or more of these respects from the majority of the inhabitants of that area, the Commission may make such division of the Province into electoral districts as may be necessary to render possible the representation of that interest. In making such division the Commission shall have due regard to the desirability of reducing to the minimum the disproportion in the number of persons resident in the several electoral districts of the Province.

(5) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (1) of this Section, the Delimitation Commission shall have power to create in any Province one or more electoral districts returning two or more members :

Provided that in any such case the number of electoral districts for that Province, as ascertained in accordance with the provisions of subsection (2) of this Section, shall be reduced so that the total number of Members to be returned for that Province shall not exceed the total number of electoral districts so ascertained.

Decisions of Delimitation Commissions

42. In the event of a difference of opinion among the members of any Delimitation Commission, the opinion of the majority of the members thereof shall prevail and shall be deemed to be the decision of the Commission. Where each member of the Commission is of a different opinion the opinion of the Chairman shall be deemed to be the decision of the Commission.

Notification of Electoral Districts

43. The Chairman of every Delimitation Commission shall communicate the decisions of the Commission to the Governor-General who shall by Proclamation publish the names and boundaries of the electoral districts as decided by the Commission, and the number of members to be returned by each such district ; and the districts specified in the Proclamation for the time being in force shall be the electoral districts of the Island for all the purposes of this Order and of any law for the time being in force relating to the election of Members of the House of Representatives.

Re-division of electoral districts

44. Any re-division of the Provinces of the Island into electoral districts effected by any Delimitation Commission established under Section 40 of this Order, and any alteration consequent upon such re-division in the total number of the Members of the House of Representatives shall, in respect of the election of Members thereof, come into operation at the next general election held after such re-division and not earlier.

PARLIAMENT OF CEYLON

A REVIEW OF 1953-44

Din two Houses of Parliament (the House of Representatives and the Senate) assembled for their second sessiift on July 7, 1953 at Parliament Hall, where the Governor-General, Lord Soulbury, delivered the Speech from the Throne.

The debate on the Address of Thanks which followd, was proposed by Mr. M. D. H. Jayawardene (Horana) and concluded on the fourth day and the original Motion of Tht.nks was adopted by 45 vetes to 15.

Appropriation Bill

On July 22, the Minister of Finance, Mr. J. R. Jayewardene, moved the first reading of the Appropriation Bill for the year 1953-54. The estimates indicated that there was to be an overall deficit of Rs. 168 million. The deteriorating financial position, particularly the drawing down of Ceylon's external assets, made it necessary for the Government to relieve the National Budget of the heavy burden of the subsidies on food. This subsidy at the end of 1952 was placed at Rs. 295 million or roughly about 30 per cent of the entire budget.

The removal of the subsidy on rice, which was in operation from 1948, did not find favour with the nation as a whole, and on the very day that the Minister of Finance was making his budget speech demonstrations were taking place outside the House of Representatives, which culminated in a clash between a section of the masses and the police, who had to use tear gas, and baton charge to restore order.

Apart from the removal of the food subsidy the other outstanding features in what was termed the "austerity budget" was, an imposition of restrictive duties on luxury articles, that could be produced locally, with a view to conserve foreign assets.

Revenue earning for the new fiscal war was also to be stepped up by (a) increase in the postal and telegraph rates anticipated to bring in an additional revenue of about Rs. 7 million ; (J) increase in railway fares operative from August 1, 1953, intended to increase revenue from that department by Rs. 10 million; (c) increase in the electricity rates intended to bring in an adeltion Rs. 3 million ; (d) imposition of a tax on Ceylon tobacco expected to yield a revenue of about Rs. 9 million a year; and (e) the sale of all Government-held stocks of scrap iron expected to realise an additional Rs. 15 million.

The Minister of Finance announced that the new budget had limited expenditure on development to the extent to which current revenue could be increased, the pattern, however, being not only to maintain but increase monies spent on development in the new financial year by limiting the overall deficit to Rs. 75 million.

The debate on the Second Reading was opened for the Opposition by Dr. N. M. Perera (Ruanwella) on July 30, and lasted for seven days. It was concluded on August 7, with 59 voting for (Government) and 23 against (Opposition). The Bill was committed to a Committee of the whole House on August 14. The 13111 successfully emerged from Committee and passed its third reading.

Meanwhile the Oppositkin to the budget among certain sections of the people was growing in intensity. There were repeated requests for a re-introduction of the food subsidy but Government could not oblige due to the financial implications.

The resentment td themproviso however kept on mounting and while the Appropriation Bill was still in Committee, the Leftists organised an islandwide "hartal" on August 12, which led to a state of affairs that necessitated the proclamation of a state of emergency.

The "hartal" was accompanied by violence, arson, thuggery and looting and the Government after declaring a state of emergency on August 12, 1954 called out the armed forces to take charge of maintainina. peace. The disturbances spread over nearly 4 days, and caused loss of life and property.

Legislation

A direct outcome of the "hartal" was the passing of the Public Security Bill. The Bill was presented on August 18, and rushed through all its stages on the same day, and was intended to provide for the declaration of a state of emergency whenever the existence, imminence, threat or apprehension of a state of public emergency was present, and to enforce preventive detention in such a situation.

Another piece of legislation accepted by the House early in 1954 was the Bribery Bill. It is intended to check bribery and corruption in the country, and covers members of the Public Service, statutory bodies, and Members of Parliament. The Bill was unanimously accepted, the Opposition only disagreeing on the time factor.

They held the view that the Bill should be brought into operation with retrospective effect.

The Government however pointed out that in view of the many new offences created under the Bill it would not be practicable to accept the Opposition suggestion."

The Bribery Act came into operation on March 1, 1954.

Indo-Ceylon Pact

The most important single event during this session was the Indo-Ceylon pact signed in New Delhi in January 1954, intended to solve the problems arising from and associated with the question of citizenship of Indians in Ceylon.

The agreement was strongly opposed in the House of Representatives, though the basis for such opposition among the various Opposition groups was not the same.

The Opposition sought to throw the agreement out and brought a motion for the purpose before the House on March 2, 1954 in which they claimed that the Agreement was intended to further the sectional interests of the party in power, and contained the seeds of greater disagreement for the future between the Governments of India and Ceylon.

The motion was lost by 54 votes to 17, when the debate on it was concluded on March 5.

Under the Indo-Ceylon agreement, Indians in Ceylon who qualify under the provisions of the Indian and Pakistan (Residents) Citizenship Act will be eligible for citizenship* Others will be afforded the opportunity of registering themselves as Indians, and staying on in Ceylon under conditions governing non-nationals.

A provision of the Indo-Ceylon agreement allows separate electoral areas for those Indians who become Ceylon citizens. This will be in operation for the next 10 years in order to give the new nationals adequate time to fit into the social and economic structure of Ceylon.

The new Ceylonese will under statutory provision be allocated a certain number of seats in the House of Representatives.

Towards the close of the session under review the Government successfully introduced a Bill empowering them to raise loans for purposes of development up to a maximum of Rs. 600,000,000. The loans could be raised, under the terms of the Bill, from the International Bank of Reconstruction and Development, the London Money Market, and domestic sources.

Change of Government

After 18 months of Premiership, Mr. Dudley Senanayake, second Prime Minister of Ceylon, resigned on October 12, 1953 owing to ill-health.

Announcing his resignation Mr. Senanayake said, it is exactly 18 months now since having scarcely recovered from the shock of the sudden loss of my father, I yielded, not without hesitation, to the persuasion of my colleagues to carry on the work from where my father had left it.

"The hard work which the first year of office always involves, made harder by the financial difficulties the country has drifted into as a result of world events, has brought on a physical ailment. The pressure of the recent long Parliamentary session has much aggravated the ailment, and I must take a protracted holiday to give myself a chance to retrain my strength.

"I feel that the pressure of urgency, and the nature of some of the problems call for such close and continuous attention as will not permit of any rest to the Prime Minister in office.

"Nor will it be fair or reasonable to let the solution of the long-term problems be undertaken by a short-term Acting Prime Minister. I have accordingly decided, entirely on my own responsibility, to make way for another Prime Minister at this juncture."

The Leader of the House, Sir John Kotelawela, was accordingly called upon to form a new Government on October 12.

Sir John rang a few changes in the Cabinet but introduced no new blood into it. The portfolios of Finance, and Food and Agriculture were interchanged. Mr. J. R. Jayewardene assumed the role of Leader of the House and took charge of Food and Agriculture, while Senator Sir Oliver Goonetilleke was made Minister of Finance. The Prime Minister himself took charge of Defence and External Affairs while retaining his original portfolio of Transport and Works also. A new portfolio was introduced by Sir John, namely Housing and Social Services, and the Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of External Affairs, Sir Kanthiah Vaithianathan, was appointed to the Senate and given in charge of this Ministry.

One week after appointing his Cabinet, the Prime Minister decided to relieve two of his Ministers of their portfolios. Sir allocated Industries to the Housing Minister depriving Mr. G. G. Ponnambalam of Ministerial Office, and called in an eminent member of the Bar, Mr. B. Wikremanayake 2.c., to replace the Minister of Justice, Sir Lalita Rajapakse, Q.C.

Policy Statement

On November 25, the Prime Minister Sir Johnotelawela outlined the policy of the new Government, before the House. He said: "Our one aim and endeavour is to build up a healthy and prosperous nation, and in this aim and endeavour my Ministerial colleagues and I have a great and stupendous task to perform. We do not mean to be distracted from that task by futile controversies about the relative merit of—isms.

Our policy is fundamentally the same, and if there has been any change it has been in the determination to carry out that policy.

"We shall extend a hearty welcome to the Head of the Commonwealth, the Queen of Ceylon, when she visits us a few months hence. In all our international relations we will continue to have an independent approach without aligning ourselves with any power bloc.

"We will wholeheartedly pursue the path of peace. In South and South-East Asia we will endeavour to maintain the friendliest relations with our immediate neighbour, with whom we have historical, cultural and religious ties".

In the domestic sphere, the Prime Minister said that housing would receive top priority, the switchover to Swabasha, would be gradual, and the existing State industrial projects would be transferred to statutory corporations.

The Opposition gave notice of a motion of "No Confidence" in the Government, claiming that the policy outlined gave no indication that the Government was attempting to improve the social and economic conditions of the people, and that the concrete steps were being taken to solve the many pressing and urgent problems that were facing the country.

The motion was last 17 voting for, and 58 against.

The Language Medium

A new development in the House of Representatives during the period under review was the increasing number of speeches made in Sinhalese and Tamil.

The employment of Swabasha in a legislature composed of members of many nationalities all understanding English, but not Sinhalese and Tamil, proved to be unsatisfactory, and more often than not those Members who did not understand the language being spoken, left the Chamber.

Some Tamil-speaking Members protested, pointing out that it was necessary to carry on the business of government in a language that they all understood. The Speaker in consultation with the Prime Minister, and the Leader of the Opposition then decided that Members speaking in Sinhalese or Tamil should give a five-minute summary of their speeches in English for the benefit of those who did not understand the language spoken.

This decision was instrumental in cutting down considerably the speeches made in Sinhalese and Tamil.

Prorogation

Parliament was prorogued after its meeting on March 31, 1954.

The change of Government necessitated the nomination of Sir Kanthiah Vaithianathan and Mr. F. B. Wikremanayake to the Upper House. This coincided with the termination of the terms of office of some Senators.

The new Senators apart from Sir Kanthiah and Mr. Wikremanayake were Mrs. Cloagh Jayasuriya, Messrs. Shums Cassim, K. A. Damaly, and Thomas Amarasuriya.

In February this year, the Senate was made use of by the Finance Minister Sir Oliver Goonetilleke, to make a declaration on financial policy of the Government with special reference to foreign investments.

This speech did not meet with the entire approval of the Cabinet, and the Finance Minister's statements were severely criticised by his Cabinet colleagues,

DEVELOPMENT OF CIVIL AVIATION IN CEYLON

THE airplane has played a phenomenal role in the history of nations and bids fair to revolutionise our ideas of transportation. The science of radio has annihilated space and time and to a lesser extent, world air transport is destined to achieve a conquest of these two elements and radically alter our present concepts of living. We live in an age where the benefits of speedy air travel provide immense possibilities for forging new links with the peoples of the world, cementing new ties and generally promoting Internationalism in the widest sense.

The first step for the provision of flying facilities in Ceylon was taken in June 1934, when the State Council accepted a report of the Executive Committee of Communications and Works for the construction of an aerodrome at Ratmalana. By early 1936, an airfield of modest dimensions was completed and in February of the same year, the Aero Club of Ceylon gave flights to members of the public with a view to stimulating interest in Aviation. An important landmark in the progress of civil flying was the flight of a Tata aircraft from Ratmalana on 28th February, 1938, carrying the first load of Ceylon airmail under the Empire Airmail Scheme.

Aerodrome development work went ahead and several additional facilities were installed at Ratmalana. The construction of an emergency landing ground at Puttalam on the Colombo-Madras air route was also completed. This airfield was officially opened by the Minister for Communications and Works on 2nd June, 1939.

Ceylon's importance as an air base during the Second World War resulted in considerable extensions and improvements being made to Ratmalana air field and additional airfields being constructed in various parts of the Island at high speed. Air links with the outside world were rapidly forged and the Commonwealth trunk air service between the United Kingdom and Australia was routed through Ceylon.

The Department of Civil Aviation which was formerly administered by the Director of Public Works, was made a separate organisation in February, 1946 and Mr. L.S.B. Perera of the Ceylon Civil Service was appointed first Director of Civil Aviation.

The following principal recommendations for the development of Civil Aviation in Ceylon was accepted by the Executive Committee of Communications and Works of the State Council of Ceylon in July, 1946 :—

- 0) Applications for traffic rights in Ceylon for external air services operated by outside agencies to be treated as a matter of policy on considerations of public convenience and necessity and based on a system of reciprocal rights.
- (2) The formation of an airways corporation with Government capital for the operation of external air services.
- (3) The inauguration of air services to India to be given high priority in Ceylon's external air transport plan.
- (4) Investigation of schemes for the operation of air Services to U.K. and Australia.
- (5) Ratmalana and Kankasanturai to be developed as major airports for the promotion of civil flying.
- (6) Telecommunication systems for civil aviation to be maintained and operated by the Department of Civil Aviation.
- (7) Progressive development of air traffic control services and navigational aids by the department with a view to ultimate transfer from the R.A.F. to the civil administration of full responsibility for the air route organization.
- (8) The expansion of the meteorological service to meet the needs of civil aviation.
- (9) The promotion of light plane aviation in Ceylon, and
- (10) The establishment of an aircraft inspectorate for the regulation and supervision of airworthiness standards for Ceylon registered aircraft.

It is broadly within the above compass that the work of the Directorate of Civil Aviation progressed during the ensuing years.

In July 1948, Ceylon was elected a member of the International Civil Aviation Organization, which controls Civil Aviation in the international sphere through a permanent Council and Secretariat seated at Montreal, Canada. The Organization makes a continuous study and review of international air transport in both the economic and technical branches. The organization has done much valuable work in determining the rules of conduct between nations for the regulation and control of air commerce and for the adoption of common standards and procedures in respect of airfields, communication systems, air navigational aids, air traffic control, meteorological services and the licensing of ground personnel. Ceylon in common with other member States implements the standards and the practices that are recommended from time to time by the Organization for the systematic and orderly development of Civil air transport.

The increasing demands for flying training from the youth of the country made it abundantly clear that a permanent establishment should be set up on sound lines to provide flying training. The Ceylon Air Academy was therefore established under the aegis of the Directorate of Civil Aviation in November, 1950. It provides training facilities for Aircrew and Aircraft Engineers.

Air Ceylon : A bold and decisive step was taken in 1947 when the Minister for Communications and Works decided that the time was ripe for Ceylon to engage in commercial air transport and obtained the approval of Government for the purchase of three Dakota aircraft which were overhauled and reconditioned in India for passenger transport. These aircraft rendered a very useful service to the community by helping to maintain communications when surface transport was completely interrupted during the disastrous floods of August 1947. Continuous shuttle services were maintained between Colombo, Negombo, Trincomalee and Jaffna which paved the way for the commencement of regular services by the Government airline, Air-Ceylon. During the next three months, the airline organisation assumed shape and its entire energies were devoted to the recruitment of operating crews, engineering staff and the building up of the organisation. The most important single achievement in civil aviation in Ceylon was undoubtedly the establishment of its national commercial air service. It was indeed a proud day when Air-Ceylon commenced regular operations on Toth December, 1947, between Colombo and Madras with an intermediate stop at Jaffna. The initial frequency of the service was four flights per week. Safety, Regularity and Comfort have been the watchwords of the service and it is a tribute to the efficiency of the airline organisation that the service continued to be maintained without interruption or delay to its flight schedules. Air-Ceylon has made steady progress and the frequency of the services to Madras and Trichinopoly was subsequently stopped up to a daily service.

An impressive record of achievements was chalked up by Air-Ceylon in one year of actual operations when it is remembered that the entire management, operational and engineering staff were Ceylonese.

At the end of 1948 Air-Ceylon entered into an agreement with the Australian National Airways Pty. Ltd., and soon expanded her activities. She purchased two four-engined Skymaster aircraft and embarked on international services in March 1949.

On 1st May, 1951, Air Ceylon changed into a Corporation. Forty nine shares of the Corporation are held by the Australian National Airways Pty. Ltd. and the remaining fifty one by the Ceylon Government.

TRANSPORT COMPANIES

(a) Air Ceylon Ltd. operates a daily service with Dakota aircraft between Colombo and Jaffna. This service is linked up with the Air Ceylon Jaffna-Madras and the Jaffna-Tirichurappalli services, which are also operated daily.

The International Services operated by Air Ceylon on the routes Colombo/Bombay/Karachi/Cairo/Rome/London and Colombo/Singapore and the fortnightly service on the route Colombo/Singapore/Djakarta/Darwin/Sydney, have been suspended with effect from 27th July, 1953.

(b) Indian Airlines Corporation—There is no change in the Air India Ltd.'s daily 'Dakota' services on the route Colombo/Tiruchirappalli/Madras/Bombay, except that under the scheme for nationalization of air service in India, this service is now operated by Indian Airlines Corporation, (line 6).

(c) British Overseas Airways Corporation operates

- (i) a weekly "Argonaut" service on the route London-Frankfort - Rome - Nicosia - Damascus - Basra - Karachi - Bombay - Colombo - Singapore - Hongkong and
- (ii) a weekly "Cornet" service on the route London-Rome-Beirut - Bahrein-Karachi-Bombay-Colombo.

(d) Qantas Empire Airways—operates a weekly service with Constellation aircraft on the route London/Rome/Cairo/Karachi/Bombay/Colombo/Singapore/Djakarta/Darwin/Sydney in close association with British Overseas Airways Corporation.

(e) Trans World Airlines operates a hi-weekly service with Constellation aircraft on the following routes :

New York-Paris-Zurich-Rome-Cairo-Dahran-Bombay-Colombo, touching down at Basra and terminating at Philadelphia on the return flight.

New-York-Paris-Geneva-Rome-Cairo-Dahran-Bombay-Colombo, touching down at Basra and Shannon and omitting Geneva on the return flight.

(f) Flying Training--The Ceylon Air Academy, which was established under the aegis of the Directorate of Civil Aviation in November, 1950, for providing flying training to the youth of Ceylon, inaugurated an internal air service on September 14, 1951, to popularise air travel between points in Ceylon not already served by Air Ceylon. The De Havilland 89A Dragon Rapide aircraft was used to operate a service three times a week on the route Colombo/ Minneriya/Trincomalee/Kankasanturai. The provision of these services is incidental to the flying programme of the Academy.

Communication and Radio Aids--Point to Point W/T Communications network has been established between Ratmalana and the principal airports in the region viz : Calcutta/Rangoon/Bombay/Madrasi/Tiruchirappalli and Singapore. An Internal Radio telephone network connects Ratmalana with Jaffna., Minneriva, Trincomalee and Amparai. Rotating light Beacons, and obstruction lights to guide night landings have been installed at Colombo Airport (Ratmalana). In addition to these the airports at Ratmalana and Kankasanturai have been provided. with standard radio and radar navigational aids.

OTHER AERODROMES

- (i) On the initiative of the Gal Oya Development Board an aerodrome for Amparai was constructed in 1951 and has been used for internal air transport services between Colombo and Amparai.
- (ii) The aerodromes at Puttalam, Minneriya and Vavuniya have been maintained by the Department as emergency landing grounds. These are also used by learner pilots during training in cross-country flying and navigation.
- (iii) Negombo airport is a military aerodrome, and is situated nineteen miles to the north of Colombo Harbour, and may be used by civil air transports with permission from the Ministry of Defence and External Affairs.

Survey Department

(Lower Chatham St., Colombo)

The Ceylon Survey Department was created by a Proclamation by the Governor, dated at Galle on August 2nd, '80. For the first 50 years of its existence it was a very small Department and its work consisted of scattered and independent surveys of land for sale and for issue of title plans to purchasers of Crown Land.

Since then, the Department has expanded greatly and is at present manned by a staff of 6 Superintendents, 24 Assistant Superintendents, 297 Surveyors and 344 Clerks and Draughtsmen with a Surveyor-General, a Deputy Surveyor-General, and Asst. Surveyor-General, an Office Assistant and a Drawing Office Assistant.

For administrative purposes the Island is divided into five Divisions—viz: Northern, Eastern, Southern, Western and Central, with controlling Divisional Offices at Anuradhapura, Badulla, Gallo, Colombo and Kurunegala respectively. Surveyors of the Pepparonment work in all parts of the Island and have, for many years now, been engaged on Irrigation Engineering Surveys, Town Surveys, and other surveys directly required for the development of the Island in addition to their former work for the settlement of claims to land, the issue of leases, etc.

The drawing and printing of all kinds of maps and plans are also done by the Department in its Head Office in Colombo. These maps are available for purchase at the Surveyor General's Office, Colombo and at the Divisional Survey Offices, and also with certain private firms in Colombo and in London.

In addition to the five Divisional Offices, a separate branch office has been established at Diyatalawa to deal with all Trigonometrical and Levelling work. The Departmental Survey Training School and the recess camp for surveyors are also attached to this branch at Diyatalawa.

Surveyor-General: C.B. King. O.B.E., B.SC., Eng. (Lond.), A.c.G.I., F.R.I.C.S. (4'1,700); Deputy Surveyor-General: N. S. Perera: (L1,350), Asst. Surveyor-General: V. Rasaretnam, F.R.I.C.S. (4'1,250), Office Assistant: B. de La Harps (f570); Drawing Office Assistant: C. Marapona (420).

Local Govt. Service Commission

An Ordinance to make provision for the establishment and incorporation of a body of persons to be known as the Local Government Service Commission, for the constitution and regulation of a Local Government Service, and for other matters connected therewith or incidental thereto, was passed and came into operation from 10th December 1945.

The unified Local Government Service was constituted from 1st April 1946 consisting of those officers and servants of Municipal Councils, Urban Councils, Town Councils, Sanitary Boards, Village Committees and Road Committees. In all about 12,500 employees came within the purview of the Commission. By Ordinance No. 37 of 1947, all daily paid employees and those monthly paid employees on a scale the maximum of which did not exceed Rs. x2.00 per annum in the case of Municipal Councils and Urban Councils and Rs. 480 per annum in the case of other Local Bodies, ceased to be members of the Local Government Service and were transferred with effect from 15th July 1947 to the Local Authority in which they were serving. The members of the Service are employees of the Commission which is the Central Authority for making appointments, promotions, transfers, etc.

The Local Government Service Regulations made by the Commission under Section 57 of the Local Government Service Ordinance, No. 43 of 1945, were duly published and came into operation from 4th July 1947 (vide Government Gazette No. 9729 of 4-7-47). These Regulations lay down the procedure regarding recruitment, appointments, promotions, transfers, resignations, retirements, disciplinary procedure, interdiction, confidential reports, etc.

The Local *Government Service Salaries Schemes applicable to the members of the Service in the various Local Bodies were brought into operation with effect from the under-mentioned dates :-

Urban Councils, Town Councils, Road Committees and Village Committees - - - 1-10-47

Municipal Council, Galle-1-3-48

Municipal Council, Kandy, 7-9-48

Municipal Council, Colombor-8-49

Recruitment to the various grades of the unified Local Government Clerical Service is made through competitive examinations. The following six examinations are held annually :-

- (a) Examination for promotion from Grade II to Grade I of Ur Local Government Clerical Service.
- (b) Local Government Clerical Service, Grade II Examination.
- (c) Local Government Assistant Clerks' Service Examination.
- (d) Village Committee Clerical Service Grade I Examination.
- (e) Village Committee Clerical Service Grade II Examination.
- (f) Local Government Stenographers' (Lower Grade) Examination.
- (g) Local Government Electrical Foremen's Grade I Examination.
- (h) Local Government Electrical Foremen's Grade II Examination.
- (i) Local Government Electrical Superintendent's Grade IV Examination and about 500 young men are absorbed into the Local Government Service every year through these examinations alone.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT SERVICE PENSION SCHEME

Provision was made by Section 12 of the Local Government Service Amendment Act. No. 8 of 1949, for the Commission to establish and regulate a Pension Scheme for those members of the Service who were contributors to the Provident Fund. Accordingly a Scheme generally based on the Government Minutes on Pensions was formulated by the Commission and approved by them Senate and the House of Representatives, and was brought into force with effect from 1-8-1952. It may be mentioned that before the Local Government Service was established no officer in a Village Committee enjoyed pensions rights and only a few Village Committees had a Provident Fund.

L G. S. PROVIDENT FUND

A Provident Fund Scheme is maintained for female and temporary employees of the Local Government Service. The member contributes 5% of his or her salary with the Local Authority contributing 71%.

L. G. S. WIDOWS' AND ORPHANS' PENSION FUND

None of the Local Authorities had Schemes for the payment of pensions to widows and children of their employees in the event of their death whilst, in the service or after retirement. After the constitution of the Local Government Service in April 1946, provision was made in the Local Government Service Amendment Act, No. 8 of 1949, for the establishment of a Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund for the payment of pensions to widows and children of the Members of the Local Government Service.

The Scheme for the grant of pension was accordingly drawn up after actuarial investigation into the Mortality Statistics of the Local Government Service employees by the Government actuary in London.

The Local Government Service Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund regulations were approved by the Senate and the House of Representatives and brought into force with effect from 1.8.1952.

Under this Scheme, each member will make a contribution of 4 per cent of his salary and the Local Authority will contribute 3 per cent of the officer's salary to a separate fund. The membership of the Fund will be compulsory to all entrants to the Local Government Service after 1.8.1952. The existing pensionable officers will have the concession of commencing their contributions from a period of five years prior to the date of the establishment of the Fund thus giving them an opportunity of making up for the time lost in bringing the Fund into operation. The scheme of payment of pension has been based generally on the Government W. & O. P. Scheme.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CEYLON

The University of Ceylon came into existence on July 1, 1942, when the Ceylon University Ordinance, No. 20 of 1942, was brought into operation by proclamation. It incorporates two Government Colleges, the Ceylon University College founded in 1921 and the Ceylon Medical College founded in 1870. It might almost be said to have been born under fire, for during the consideration of the Bill the State Council adjourned for an air raid alarm and a Japanese fleet was steaming towards Ceylon when the Bill was passed on April 2, 1942.

The Ceylon Medical College was founded as an "elementary school" and gradually progressed until, in 1888, its diplomas were recognised by the General Medical Council. University College, on the other hand, was established as the nucleus of a University. The need for a University had been felt even in the early years of the British occupation, and from 1884 there was a growing body of opinion, which swelled to a chorus in the early years of the present century, for the establishment of a University of Ceylon. Whereas the war of 1914-1918 held up the project, that of 1939 onwards, by impeding communications with London, helped it forward. The University College was founded in 1921 with the intention that it should confer diplomas until the University was in being. It was thought that the period of transition would be short, and, in order to obtain experience of University standards it was decided for this short period to prepare students for external degree of the University of London.

The "short period" was in fact 22 years. The delay was due to controversy over the site which was really a controversy over the nature of the University. University College was given certain buildings in the "educational triangle" in Cinnamon Gardens which had originally been planned for it. It was then decided to use them for Royal College, and to this day they bear witness to the decision. Before they were ready, however, University College was established in College House, now occupied by the offices and common rooms, and, when the buildings were ready, the College was moved into them. The buildings and space were both insufficient. In 1923, therefore, Mr. R. Marrs suggested that the University should take over the whole "educational triangle," which would give enough space until the lease of the Racecourse fell in and its disposal could be "reconsidered." In reply Sir Cecil Clementi intimated that the solution was to move Royal College to Buller's Road; and the University College Council agreed with him.

COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATION

Later in the same year, however, it was agreed that Royal College should stay where it was and that the University should move to Buller's Road. The plan was approved by the Legislative Council, which voted Rs. 3,000,000 for buildings and equipment. In 1925 the Finance Committee of the Legislative Council decided that the fund need not be limited to Rs. 3,000,000 but that "if necessary Rs. 4,500,000 or even more might be spent." The Legislative Council agreed to provide another Rs. 1,500,000 when it was required. The maximum accommodation of this University was to be 600, and plans were prepared on that basis.

Meanwhile, Mr. Marrs and the College Council had been drafting a Constitution and working out schemes of study. When Mr. Marrs went on leave in 1926, nearly all the preliminary planning had been completed. There had been throughout a body of opinion which favoured a residential University outside Colombo. In April 1926, or thereabouts, a memorandum was submitted to the Governor, Sir Hugh Clifford by persons anxious to secure such a University. The Governor thereupon summoned a very representative body to Queen's House and, as a result, a University Site Committee, with Mr. Justice Akbar as Chairman was appointed "to consider the question of a site for the proposed Ceylon University". The Committee reported that the University should be unitary (i.e., not consisting of affiliated or constituent Colleges) and residential. It considered sites in Buller's Road (Colombo), Ratmalana, Peradeniya and Uyanwatta, in the Dumbara Valley, and recommended the last of them. As a result of a question by Mr. Mahadeva (now Sir A. Mahadeva) in the Legislative Council, certain sites at Mawilmada and Aruppola, Kandy, were also inspected. The Legislative Council resolved in March, 1928, that the University should be unitary and residential, that its site should be Aruppola, and that its constitution should be determined by a Commission.

Sir Walter Buchanan-Riddell, Bart, was Chairman of the Commission which was appointed in July, 1928, and reported in January, 1929. It recommended " at the commencement " Faculties of Arts, Science, Law, Medicine and Engineering, with a staff of 17 Professors, 6 Readers, 42 Lecturers (16 part-time), 19 Assistant Lecturers and is (part-time) Demonstrators. The University would begin with 1500 students and the cost would be over Re. 10,000,000. The courses of study and the Constitution proposed were in all essentials those drafted by Mr. Marrs and the College Council from 1923 to 1926. A Bill was drafted on these lines and was read a second time in the Legislative Council in 1930. It proceeded no further owing to the constitutional changes made by the Orders in Council of 1931. The Executive Committee of Education began to consider the matter soon after its establishment, but it was impossible to expect at that date that an additional Rs. 6,000,000 would be forthcoming for such a project. In 1934 it was agreed to proceed with building on the Aruppola site and meanwhile to convert the University College into a University.

UNIVERSITY PARK

Considerable legal difficulties arose over the transitional provisions, and they were not finally resolved until 1939. Meanwhile, doubts had arisen as to the suitability of the Aruppola site because it had been involved in the great malaria epidemic of 1934-35. In 1937 Drs. Paul and Nell submitted a memorandum to the Board of Ministers urging that the University be established on the Peradeniya site. In 1938 it was decided to purchase this site, less the Court Doraifield, for just under Rs. 750,000. The site therefore forms what is now called the University Park. Additional land has since been acquired and, with other land which is to be handed over to the University, the whole site will cover about 2200 acres.

In 1940 Professor L. Patrick Abercrombie (now Sir L. P. Abercrombie) and Mr. A. C. Holliday were invited to prepare plans for the University Park. In accordance with their plans the P.W.D. began the engineering work in 1941. Progress was slow until the end of the war, the University Park being occupied by Ceylon Army Command and South East Asia Command. Building began in 1946. The plans assumed that 1,000 students would be provided for. When the University Authorities considered the matter, however, it was thought uneconomic to plan for less than 3,500 students, the recognized maximum for a residential University of this character. The plans have been revised on this basis.

PROCESS OF TRANSITION

The termination of the controversy over the site enabled attention to be concentrated on the process of transition. The creation of a University even in the most favourable conditions is not an easy process and it would have been impossible to bring it about simultaneously with its physical transfer to the University Park and its transformation from a non-residential University College to a residential University. Either the University College had to be transferred as such, or the University had to be established in Colombo, in order that it might be transferred when the buildings were ready. The actual transition from University College to University would take four years even if no new Faculties were created. The Executive Committee of Education therefore decided that the University should first be created in the hope that when the transition was completed, some at least of the buildings at Peradeniya would be ready for occupation.

Accordingly, the Bill of 1930 was drawn from its dusty pigeon-hole, modified to suit the changed conditions, and presented to the State Council. It was passed in two weeks, and the whole process, from the presentation to the first memorandum to the third reading, occupied only 49 weeks. The University provided by the Ordinance, No. 20 of 1942, is unitary and residential with its seat " in or near Kandy." The residential provisions have however, been temporarily suspended until the transfer to Peradeniya takes place. It is believed that the Faculties can be transferred or established one by one, so that the suspension can be progressively removed as the building programme proceeds.

Meanwhile, the University opened its doors with 904 students in the Faculties of Oriental Studies, Arts, Science and Medicine and a full time teaching staff of nearly 60. The number of students increased to 2,210 in 1951 and the staff to 175.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CEYLON

In 1946 the Executive Committee of Health agreed with representations from the University that a Second Medical School with a University Hospital should be established in Peradeniya; and a site was tentatively selected. Later in the same year the Minister for Agriculture and Lands agreed to recommend the transfer to the University of the lands and buildings used by the School of Agriculture and the Veterinary Hospital in order that a Faculty of Agriculture and a Faculty of Veterinary Science might be established. In 1950 the degree students of the Ceylon Technical College were taken with and a Faculty of Engineering established; precedent to its transfer to Peradeniya. The planning of these developments, and also the establishment of a Faculty of Law for which the Council of Legal Education had provided Rs. 50,000, were undertaken in 1947.

LEGALLY AUTONOMOUS

The University is legally autonomous being a corporation consisting of the Chancery, the Pro-Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor, the Court, the Council and the Senate. It works through committees which include, in addition to the Court, the Council and the Senate, five Faculties, Boards of Studies, a Scholarships Board, a Board of Residence and Discipline, and numerous ad hoc bodies. The key to the whole is the central administration operated by the Registrar, who is Secretary of all committees, and the Vice-Chancellor who is Chairman of the Senate and the Council and (in the absence of the Chancellor and the Pro-Chancellor) of the Court and also a member of all other committees. The Vice-Chancellor has specific duties under the Ordinance, and in particular it is his function to see that the Ordinance, the Statutes, the Acts and Regulations—the various kinds of University legislation—are observed. The numerous Acts and Regulations have been collected into a general Act and general Regulations.

The University has increased its endowments from U.S. 150,000 to over Rs. 3,000,000 but since it no longer charges fees it is mainly dependent on an annual vote, from Parliament, which exceeds Rs. 5,500,000.

• The Education Department-1953 in the year under review, 2912 teachers were trained for Primary and Secondary School work. A special feature was the introduction of a Course for Teachers in practical subjects at the Maharagama Training College. 30 students were selected for a Course in Arts and Crafts, the basic subjects being modelling, design and composition. The optional traits were Lino cutting, Fabric printing, leather work, decorative paper work, lacquer work and basket work. Another group of 30 students was selected for Wood and Metal work while a third was selected for Commercial subjects. In the other Training College, special attention has been paid to the teaching of English as a second language and to modern techniques of teaching.

a. Courses for English Assistants were continued this year. Besides Saturday Classes, Vacation Courses were held in April. Radio Ceylon helped to broadcast to the trainees specially planned lessons. A number of teachers who attended this course was over 4,000. The Training of teachers of Physical Education was also continued and the Residential Course for zoo was organised at the Government Training College, Maharagama. Teachers of Adult Education were trained by the Specialists working on the UNESCO Fundamental Education Project at Hingnrakgoda. TS teachers completed this course. Steps were also taken to begin teaching of handicrafts in schools. Under the Colombo Plan, the United Kingdom and Australian Government supplied the Department with a large number of sets of tools for woodwork, metal work and weaving. The Department constructed 45 pre-fabricated workshops.

3. The Departmental Fitness Test for 'Standard VIII, vasheld in November and 47,053 pupils entered for the test. Those found unfit for Senior Secondary education numbered 9,035.

4. The Committee appointed for the revision of School syllabuses completed the schemes of work in Home Science, Needle-work and General Science. The Scheme of studies for the Infant School was also complete. During the year under review I Committees completed the work of preparing a glossary of technical terms; a Library for the teaching of Science and Mathematics in the National Schools. The Department also equipped 19 Science laboratories at several Central and Senior schools with all the apparatus necessary for the teaching of General Science.

5. Another Committee appointed by the Minister to go into the question of ways and means of facilitating the change over to the National Languages as the Media of Education in Standards VII and VIII completed its work and its findings were published as a sessional paper.

MINISTRY OF COMMERCE, TRADE & FISHERIES

MINISTRY OF COMMERCE, TRADE AND FISHERIES

(Secretarial Premises, Gaffe Face, Colombo)

THE Ministry of Commerce & Trade was established on 26th September, 1947 With the inauguration of the New Constitution, and in terms of the Prime Minister's Proclamation dated 29th September, 1947, the following Departments were assigned to it :—

Commerce, Controller of Imports & Exports, Registrar of Companies, Tourist Bureau, Rubber Commissioner, Textile Control, Commodity Purchase, Paper Control, Tea Commissioner and Marketing Department.

• The Department of Textile Control, Commodity Purchase, Paper Control & Tea Commissioner have since been closed. The Marketing Department was transferred to the Ministry of Agriculture and Food as from 2nd June, 1952 in terms of the Proclamation dated 2nd June, 1952.

After the change of Government in October 1953 the Department of Fisheries was assigned to this Ministry as from 27th October, 1953 and consequently the Ministry was designated as Ministry of Commerce, Trade & Fisheries.

Hiniger of Commerce, Trade and Fisheries—Hon. Mr. R. G. Senanayake, M.P. Parliamentary Secretary--S. C. Shirley Corea, Ni.P. Permanent Secretary--S. F. Amerasinghe, o.a.e., C.C.S. 1,950). Secretary--P. A. Silva, c.c.s. (Rs. 9,480/-). Cadet Attached to Ministry Office—H. R. Amit, c. c. s. (Rs. 5, 1 60). Office Assistant—V. Allirajah, c.c.s. (Z 650),

The Staff of the Ministry Office consists of one Chief Clerk, eight Clerks, two Stenographers and one typist.

The Permanent Secretary is the chief executive head of the Ministry and exercises administrative control over all the Departments assigned to the Ministry. All questions of Establishments, Estimates and Policy are dealt with by the Ministry Office; and Heads of Departments derive their authority for execution of Ministerial and Cabinet Policy through the Permanent Secretary.

As Ceylon's National Income and Revenue fits largely dependent on the prices obtained from her exports, the importance of a separate Ministry of Commerce and Trade in an independent Ceylon is apparent. The Ministry is actively interested in promoting the Island's Trade and Commerce and in providing facilities for the nationals of this country to take their rightful place in such trade and to conduct their business efficiently and in developing the Island's Fisheries.

The Department of Commerce--The principal function of the department of Commerce is to advise the Government on Commercial and Economic questions. More specifically, it advises the Ministry of Commerce on the formation of Commercial policies and the problems of our export products. In addition, the Department deals with export trade promotion, trade intelligence, chiefly through the medium of a Trade journal published monthly, and arbitration of commercial disputes, It also handles export commodities, standardization problems and under a new law will administer the Weights and Measures Legislation for the Island. The Department performs certain statutory functions connected with the Companies Ordinance and maintains the Companies Liquidation Account.

Department of the Controller of Imports & Exports--Import Control was directed towards (a) the regulation of the import trade to a greater or lesser degree in the context of Ceylon's Balance of payments position (b) the strengthening of the overall payments position of the Sterling Area (c) the protection of certain local industries, (d) the procurement of goods for which export quotas had been fixed by the supplying countries as well as goods in short supply, (e) the Ceylonization of trade which is now a permanent feature of Ceylon's foreign trade policy.

Export Control was maintained (a) for the purpose of restricting the export of imported goods which were required for the essential needs of the Island ; (b) the enforcement of minimum prices for certain export commodities, (c) the control of strategic materials; (d) the restriction on the export of certain Ceylon produce required for the needs of the Island and (e) the implementation of Trade Agreements.

The Department of Registrar of Companies: The Administration of the Joint Stock Companies Ordinance was originally assigned to the Registrar General. In 1938 Ordinance No. 51 of 1938 relating to Limited Liability Companies was passed. This Ordinance was proclaimed on 10th March 1939, and the Administration of this Ordinance was assigned to the then newly created Department of Commerce & Industries.

Under the New Constitution the Department of the Registrar of Companies was separated from the Department of Commerce & Industries. Since that date the Department of Registrar of Companies has been functioning as an independent unit. The Administration of the business Names Ordinance was transferred to this Department as from 3rd February 1949, and the Trade Marks, Designs, Mutual Societies Building Societies, and Cheque Ordinances are being administered by this Department as from the 14th December 1949. The Office of the Registrar of Patents is also attached to this Department.

The Department of Tourist Bureau : The Government Tourist Bureau is responsible for the overall development of Ceylon's tourist industry as a source of foreign exchange. Tourism has now risen from eighth place to fourth place in Ceylon's Table of Export values, but the potential is yet in the initial stages of development.

The Ceylon Travel Centre, a branch of the Bureau, provides a comprehensive travel and tour booking service on Ceylon to visitors, through recognised hotels, transport operators and tourist agencies. Foreign travel agents are able to make use of this service, which provides a variety of rates and interests commission free.

The Department operates a group of 7 Resthouses of tourist interest--PjJoanaruwa, Sigiriya, Habarana, Dambolla, Belihuloya, Arnebepussa and Bentota,

C -

The Tourist Bureau carries out national tourist promotion overseas by means of publicity literature and advertising campaigns, radio publicity and direct mail in addition to the active travel promotion through a network of accredited travel agents in Australia, India, U.K., U.S.A. and Europe.

The Rubber Commissioner's Department : Under the Sino-Ceylon Agreement, Ceylon Government has agreed to supply 50,000 tons of sheet rubber a year to the People's Republic of China for a period of five years. Rubber Commissioner is the sole exporter of rubber to China under this Agreement.

The Department of the Rubber Commissioner maintains r$ purchasing depots in the principal rubber growing areas to serve as "Check Depots" to ensure that the producers get the prices fixed by the Department and also for the sale of acetic and formic acids to producers. Rubber purchased at the depots is transported to Stores in Colombo where it is sorted, baled and shipped to China.

The Rubber Commissioner purchases the bulk of his requirement of Rubber for shipping to China from Ceylonese shippers on F.O.B. terms at fixed prices.

The Rubber Commissioner acts also as the local agent for the People's Republic of China in the matter of the two way trade between China and Ceylon in all commodities except rubber and rice. Accordingly imports of all goods of Chinese origin and exports of Ceylon produce to China are now channelled through the Rubber Commissioner.

Department of Fisheries: The activities of the Department are being directed to ensure the largest consistent yield of fish from fresh, brackish and marine waters and the improvement of the storage, handling, transport and marketing facilities in order to ensure that all this fish reaches the consumer in the best possible condition. The all Ceylon Co-operative Fish Sales Union is intended to provide the producer Co-operative Societies with the direct means of access to the consumer, thereby eliminating the numerous links which have existed in the past between producer and consumer, resulting in the high price of fish to the consumer and a low return to the producer.

Assistance is given to fisherman through registered co-operative fishermen's Societies in the form of cash grants. Crown timber is given at quarter royalty, and salt issued at concession rates to genuine fish curers and traders in salt fish. Disputes among fishermen are inquired into by appointed committees under the Fisheries Act No. 25 of 1952. Rescue services are offered to Fishermen at distress. The Department also provides beaching facilities for fishing boats by acquisition of land where such facilities do not exist.

The introduction of mechanization into the capture operations is being pursued cautiously in order that the fishermen may benefit from improvements that are being tried and prove commercially successful. Suitable mechanized operations are under trial and fishermen belonging to a number of Co-operative Societies are being given the opportunity of observing the use of mechanised crafts for fishing operations. Experiments are being continued on the mechanization of indigenous crafts. The registration of local craft has been undertaken.

Under the Colombo Plan Technical Assistance Scheme the installation of the first fish freezing unit to be introduced into the Island, complete with ice making machinery and storage rooms, on a water front site, is being undertaken through the generous assistance of 'His Canadian Government. A Mechanical fish dryer and a fish reduction plant for the manufacture of fish meal are also being supplied by Canada. The production of Shark Liver Oil is to be improved and extended.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

(Secretariat Premises, Colombo 1)

The principal function of the Department of Commerce is to advise the Government on commercial and economic questions. More specifically, it advises the Ministry of Commerce on the formulation of commercial policies and the problems of our export products. In addition, the Department deals with export trade promotion, trade intelligence, chiefly through the medium of a Trade Journal published monthly, and arbitration of commercial disputes. It also handles export commodities standardization problems and under a new law will administer the Weights and Measures legislation for the Island. Department of the Registrar of Companies

THE administration of the Joint Stock Companies Ordinance was originally assigned to the Registrar-General. In 1938 Ordinance No. 51 of 1938 relating to Limited Liability Companies was passed. This Ordinance was proclaimed on 10th March, 1939, and the administration of this Ordinance was assigned to the then newly created Department of Commerce & Industries.

Under the Soulbury Constitution the Department of the Registrar of Companies was separated from the Department of Commerce & Industries. Since this date the Department of the Registrar of Companies has been functioning as an independent unit. The administration of the Business Names Ordinance was transferred to the Department of the Registrar of Companies as from 3rd February, 1949, and the Trade Marks, Designs, Mutual Societies, Building Societies and Cheque Ordinances are being administered by this Department as from the 14th December, 1949. The office of the Registrar of Patents is also attached to the Department of the Registrar of Companies. The Department comes within the control of the Ministry of Commerce & Trade and consists of the following staff officers:—

Department of Control of Imports and Exports

(Echelon Square, Colombo 1)

This Department came into being on -10-49 as a result of conditions arising from the declaration of War. When the war ended import control has been continued mainly for the balance of payment reasons. The degree of control exercised has varied according to the position of the balance of payments. Due to the fall in the prices of our export products in early 1952, a strict control on imports has been enforced. Imports iron the Dollar Area and from the countries forming the European Payments Union are subject to licence up to fixed monetary ceilings.

Import control is also utilised to implement the Government's Policy of Ceylonising the import and export trade in Ceylon. Goods from Japan, Germany and China can only be imported by Ceylonese Importers who have been registered with the Controller of Imports. Exports to China are now confined to Ceylonese Registered Traders.

On the export side restrictions are mainly imposed on the export of imported foodstuffs and goods which are required for local consumption. The export of strategic materials is also controlled.

RUBBER COMMISSIONER'S DEPARTMENT

(Eastern Bank Bldgs., Colombo 1)

Under the Sino-Ceylon Agreement, Ceylon Government has agreed to supply 50,000 tons of sheet rubber a year to the People's Republic of China for a period of five years. Rubber Commissioner is the sole exporter of rubber to China under this agreement.

The Department of the Rubber CominiAicsier maintains 28 purchasing depots in the principal rubber growing areas to serve as "Check Depots" to ensure that the producer gets the prices fixed by the Department. Rubber so purchased is transported to the Stores in Colombo where it is sorted, baled and shipped to China.

The Rubber Commissioner purchases the bulk of the requirements of rubber for shipments to China from Ceylonese shippers on F.O.B. terms at fixed prices.

The Rubber Commissioner acts also as the local agent for The People's Republic of China in the matter of the two way trade between China and Ceylon in all commodities except Rubber and Rice. Accordingly imports of all goods of Chinese origin and exports of Ceylon Produce to China are now channelled through the Rubber Commissioner.

(Butlers Road, Colombo 7)

The Colombo Observatory, which for over 40 years has controlled meteorological, seismological and time-service activities as a branch of the Survey Department, was accorded independent status in October 1948, and functions now as the Department of Meteorology.

The founding of the Colombo Observatory on its present site in Butlers Road in 1907 was largely due to the efforts of Mr. H. O. Barnard, the then Assistant Surveyor General, who divided his time between the Observatory and the Head Office of the Survey Department. He was also the first Superintendent of the Observatory.

The present, meteorological set-up consists of IS main climatological stations, at which observations are recorded several times a day and telegraphed to Colombo. Similar information is also received from Amparai at which a meteorological station was established at the request of the Director of irrigation in connection with Gal Ova Development Scheme. At the two meteorological stations maintained by the Tea Research Institute at St. Coombs, Talawakele, and at Passara, observations are made twice daily, the Observatory receiving copies of the recdtds at the end of each month. In addition, the Station at Talawakele telegraphs the morning observation daily to Colombo.

Pilot-balloon observations for determining upper winds are now a regular feature at 5 stations Colombo, Mannar, Trincomalee, Hambantota and Maha Illuppallama. Since the commencement of this work in Colombo in 1922, over 30,000 soundings have been made at the Observatory. At Mannar the station was established in 1937 in connection with the Colombo/Madras air mail service that was inaugurated at that time. At Trincomalee where a temporary pilot-balloon station was functioning during World War II for military requirements, a permanent station was established towards end of 1947. During 1952 two more stations, at Hambantota and Maha Illuppallama, were established. Of these the station at Maha Illuppallama is linked up with the establishment of a first-order meteorological station there in connection with research on Dry Farming Schemes.

Autographic instruments for recording various meteorological elements; air pressure, temperature, humidity, rainfall, wind direction and force, and sunshine, are in use at some of the more important meteorological stations.

For its size, approximately 25,000 square miles, Ceylon has at present a fairly extensive rainfall organisation. Commencing from small beginnings, by 5906 there were about 400 rain gauge stations distributed throughout the Island. By 1930, the number had steadily increased to 378, and today there are over 550 stations; sealing returns regularly to the Observatory. A large number of rain gauge stations is maintained voluntarily by members of the Planting Community and other volunteer observers while at most of the others, observations are taken by Government employees without any remuneration for this work. To all of them this Department is greatly indebted.

Synchronizing time-signals are sent daily from the Observatory to the Central Telegraph Office, whence a further distribution of time-signals is made throughout the Island. Wireless time signals are sent out twice daily, in the "Onogo" code, through the Colombo Wireless Station. The morning signal is from 1127 to 113a, Ceylon Standard Time (0557-0600, G.M.T.), and the evening signal from 1857 to 1900 (1327-1330, G.M.T.), both on 500 keis (600 meters) I.C.W. There is no curtailment on Sundays and Public Holidays.

A Radio-Sonde Station for determining the variations of temperature, humidity and pressure with height was established at the Colombo Observatory in May 1951. Observations are limited to one a day at 8.30 p.m. Ceylon Standard Time. Up to the end of 1953 a total of 985 soundings were made. A large majority of these observations reached a height of 50,000 feet or more. A good number of the balloons penetrated well into the stratosphere which occurs in this latitude at an average height of about 56,000 feet. The greatest height attained was a little over 81,500 feet in January 1953. Radio-Sonde data are particularly useful in predicting the occurrence of thunderstorms and other meteorological phenomena dangerous to aviation.

The establishment of a Forecast Centre at Ratmalana, Airport in January, 1952 for taking over from the Royal Air Force Met Station at Negombo meteorological responsibilities for civil aviation was an important step in the development of the Ceylon meteorological service. Another noteworthy event was the taking over from the R.A.F. the responsibility for the Colombo National Meteorological Broadcast service, with effect from 14th April 1952. At present a series of 11 broadcasts is made daily from Colombo under the call sign ZOG. Five frequencies ranging from 3.345 kc/s to $17,350^0$ kc/s have been allotted to ZOG, of which a selection of 3 frequencies being used simultaneously for each transmission. The message consists of surface and upper air data from the net-work of observational stations in Ceylon, the Colombo Radio-Sonde data and weather reports received from ships at sea and from aircraft.

Department of Social Services

The last twenty years has seen the development of far-reaching social changes in this country. Until then the people of Ceylon relied for the greater part on private alms, public charity, government grants and free medical assistance as a cushion against economic and social distress. These proved reasonably satisfactory, so long as the Island's economy was fundamentally rural. But with the economic prosperity of the war years, Government has taken an increasing interest in social welfare, and current social service work reflects State participation in both leadership and finance of programmes.

Public Assistance: The most important piece of social legislation that was promulgated for rendering public assistance to the poor was the Poor Law Ordinance of 1939. Its administration for a start was recommended to be vested in the three major Municipalities of Colombo, Kandy and Galle.

In areas outside these Municipalities, the system of payment of monthly allowances to the Government and still affords the major governmental protection against the hazards of old, age, sickness and disability. The scheme is extended to provide assistance to destitute widows and to women deprived of their husband's help owing to imprisonment if in order to attend to their children or on account of physical disability they are unable to work and support themselves and their children. The maximum assistance is Rs. 10/- per mensem for an individual and Rs. 20/- per mensem for a person with dependants.

The number of persons who received monthly allowances and the total sums expended in such case., since 1949/50 compared with 1936/37 is as follows:

YEAR	No. of PERSONS	TOTAL SUM
		Rs.
1936/37	5,265	Rs.	115,906
1949/50	64,557		5,542,208
950/51	81,208	..	6,836,305
1951/52	91,321		7,927,457

Casual Relief : Assistance is given for the relief of acute distress resulting from accidents or acts of God and affecting individuals in isolated case, or in small groups. The relief covers distress resulting from loss of earnings or food supply by fire or accident, repair or reconstruction of houses so damaged, assistance to purchase implements of trade or tools lost through fire, rains storm or other cause. The maximum grant in each case is Rs. 300/-. The grant is not meant as compensation, but is an award to arrest destitution that would arise if assistance was not forthcoming. In 1936--37 Rs. 5261- has been spent on casual relief, while in 1950--51 Rs. 134,886 was expended on 1706 cases and in 1951/52 Rs. 207,754 was spent OR 2,180 cases.

Relief of Distress : A common came of abnormal distress is flooding or the uncertainty of the rains. Any catastrophic occurrence like cyclone, earthslips or epidemic which involves the people in suffering and helplessness is also regarded as abnormal distress. Prompt assistance is given by way of food, clothing, shelter and monthly allowances to those affected by cyclone disaster, while owing to the recurrent nature of earthslips steps are taken to evacuate affected families to colonisation Iclienies.

Financial Assistance to Tuberculosis Patients: A scheme of financial assistance for indigent tuberculosis patients and their dependants has been formulated by the Department of Social Services in close collaboration with the Health Department. The object of the scheme into grant relief for loss of earning power during treatment and thus encourage early and complete treatment. The maximum assistance payable to a family is Rs. 60/- per mensem where the patient is receiving institutional treatment and Rs. 80/- per mensem where out-door treatment is being taken. Supplements of Rs. 40/- each per month are also payable in respect of dependants who are themselves afflicted by the disease.

Voluntary Agencies: Several voluntary agencies contribute their share to the Social Services provided by the State. Although the sphere of state action has greatly expanded in recent years, the Government in pursuance of its policy of encouraging voluntary action has given liberal grants to various agencies in varying amounts. In 1951/52 a sum of Rs. 263,880.00 was paid as grants to 75 voluntary agencies. This is in addition to the special grants of Rs. 265,666.10 given to 16 voluntary agencies towards buildings and equipment of Honlea for the Aged.

Homes for the Aged: Govt. policy in regard to the Homes for the Aged has been to assist by means of grants to existing Homes which are financed by private subscription and voluntary agencies. A sum of Rs. 113,380 was paid in 1951/52 as grants-in-aid towards the running of Homes for the Aged by voluntary organisations. But owing to the fact that voluntary agencies are unable to cope with the demand for institutional relief, Government has decided to establish Homes for the Aged in suitable areas and to run such Homes. Two such Homes have been established at Koggaia and Anuradhapura and steps are being taken to establish State Homes in other areas as well.

Creches: A scheme to provide creche facilities for the daytime care of children between the ages of about 3 months to 5 years in areas where there are concentrations of working mothers came into force. in the course of the year 1952. An annual maintenance grant is payable depending on the number of children cared for in the creche. A sum of Rs. 750,000 has been provided for the financial year 1952/53 in the estimates.

Rehabilitation of the Disabled: The term 'disabled persons' is popularly associated with disabled ex-service men and civilian war casualties. But, however, industrial accidents and diseases are an equally important cause of disablement. A scheme to provide vocational training for the Orthopaedically disabled persons in the Orthopaedic Workshops was inaugurated in September 1952. A maximum allowance of Rs. 1/— per diem is paid for the duration of the period of training. A training dog's not carry with it any obligation or guarantee of employment, but every endeavour is made to place them in suitable employment.

The Deaf & Blind: Government has assumed responsibility for the care of the deaf and blind which had been a voluntary service till recently. Steps are being taken to provide improved buildings for Sheltered Workshops at Seeduwa.

The Problem of Vagrancy: The rehabilitation of the vagrants and other anti-social elements is being dealt by the Government through the House of Detention and Home for Vagrants. Convicted persons are detained as long as is necessary to rehabilitate them. A scheme of training in cottage industries such as mat-weaving, paper to work, coir work, knitting and nettlework was commenced during the year.

Workmen's Compensation: The Workmen's Compensation Ordinance was brought into operation in 1935. It provides for the payment of compensation by the employer to workmen who sustain personal injury by accident arising out of and in the Aurse of their work. Below are particular of claims paid during the past few years :-

YEAR	CLAIMS PAID	AMOUNT
195 ⁰	7,239	Rs. 536,386.90
195 ¹	7,499	687,785.05
195 ²	7,437	1, 765,081.86

Social Insurance: The Department of Social Services has done preparatory work for the introduction of Social Insurance recommended by the Social Services Commission. A modified scheme covering Health and Unemployment Insurance and a National Provident Fund, suitable for implementation in the initial stages and within the financial resources of the country was drawn up by the Department and considered by Government. It was decided to establish only the National Provident Fund in the first instance. A draft bill has been prepared for introduction in Parliament in 1953.

The Housing Loans Board was established by the Housing Loans Act, No. 26 of 1949. The following are members of the Board:—

- (1) Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Industries, Housing & Social Services—Chairman.
- (2) Commissioner of Local Government.
- (3) Solicitor-General.
- (4) Representative of the Treasury.
- (5) Government Town Planner.
- (6) Director of Public Works.
- (7) Registrar of Co-operative Societies.

Secretary— D. Kurun era.Accountant— M. Somasundaram.Lawyers—De Silva & Mendis, Proctors & Notaries Public.Bankers—Bank of Ceylon.

The main objects of the Housing Loans Board originally were

- (a) To grant loans to Companies, Co-operative Societies, other Associations and individuals for the execution of Housing Schemes approved by the Board.
- (b) To grant loans to local authorities for the execution of middle class housing schemes.
- (c) To grant loans to individuals for the erection of single houses.

Loans are given on the security of primary mortgage of land in the Island except in the case of the local authorities, where the security is a primsry mortgage of the local authorities rates and taxes. A loan is paid generally in four instalments according to the progress made the construction of the houses, and the amount is repayable by equal half yearly instalments within a period not exceeding 20 years.

2. The interest charged originally was 2% and 21-% per annum. Subsequently the interest was raised as follows :—

- (a) 3% up to the first Rs. 10,000/-
- (5) 4% between Rs. 10,000/- and Rs. 20,000/-,
- (c) 5% between Rs. 20,000/- and Rs. 30,000/-
- (d) 6% above Rs. 30,000/-,

According to the Regulations which have been framed under the Housing Loans Act, loans can be given only in respect of houses where the monthly rental assessment is not likely to exceed Re. 200/-.

3. In view of the limited funds that are available for loans it has been decided that—

- (a) Loans should be given only to individual persons who are not possessing houses.
- (b) The maximum loan will be Rs. 20,000/-.

THE CEYLON CIVIL SERVICE

Minute on Permanent Secretaries

1 An appointment of a Permanent Secretary to any Ministry shall be made by the Governor-General under section 51 (1) of the Ceylon (Constitution and Independence) Orders in Council, 1946 and 1947. The appointment is personal and the post is permanent.

2 An appointment of a Permanent Secretary may be made from the Public Service or from the Public Service. Appointments will be made primarily on merit and seniority in the Public Service will be a Secondary consideration.

3 A Permanent Secretary will discharge all the duties of his office as well as such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Governor-General. Such other duties shall be discharged without payment of additional remuneration.

4 The Governor-General may without assigning reasons, discontinue the services of any Permanent Secretary who prior to his appointment was not a member of the Public Service.

5 The Governor-General acting under section 51 (4) of the Ceylon (Constitution and Independence) Orders in Council, 1946 and 1947, may without assigning reasons, transfer a Permanent Secretary, who has been appointed from the Public Service to any other public office.

6 The Governor-General may, at the request of a Permanent Secretary who has been appointed from the Public Service, order his reversion either to the service from which he was appointed or the office which he held prior to his appointment as Permanent Secretary.

7 Upon Transfer as in paragraph 5 above or reversion as in paragraph 6 above, a Permanent Secretary will have the same seniority and the same salary, inclusive of increments, as he would have had if he had remained in the service to which he belonged or in the post which he held before his appointment as Permanent Secretary.

8 Where the Governor-General orders the transfer or reversion of a Permanent Secretary (otherwise than at his own request) the Governor-General may allow or refuse his request to be permitted to retire on special terms equivalent to those granted on abolition of office as laid down in the section of the Minutes on Pensions which deals with the pensions of Permanent Secretaries.

9 Where in the opinion of a Minister disciplinary action against his Permanent Secretary has become necessary, the Minister will report the case to the Prime Minister who will, if he agrees with the Minister advise the Governor-General that disciplinary action should be taken. The Governor-General will thereupon remit the papers to the Public Service Commission for such action as they may deem fit.

10 An application by a Permanent Secretary for leave to be spent within the island and in South India for a period not exceeding 14 days will require the prior approval of his Minister. Where leave is to be spent outside the island, or within the island or South India in excess of 14 days, the application, if approved by the Minister, should be forwarded through the Secretary to the Treasury to the Prime Minister for the sanction of the Governor-General.

11 (1) A Permanent Secretary shall, at least six months before he reaches the age of 55, inform his Minister in writing whether or not he desires to retire on reaching the age of 55. The Minister will thereupon make his report through the Minister of Finance to the Prime Minister who will advise the Governor-General whether the officer should be permitted to retire or to remain in the service.

(2) A Permanent Secretary who is permitted to remain in the service after the age of 55 will forward a written undertaking to the Secretary to the Governor-General that he will give at least 3 months notice to his Minister before he retires from service or is granted leave preparatory to retirement, whichever is earlier.

12 The Pensions, gratuities &c. of Permanent Secretaries and their dependants are dealt with in new section 25A of the Minutes on Pensions.

13 Permanent Secretaries shall be bound by all Financial and other regulations of Government in so far as such regulations are not inconsistent with the foregoing provisions.

2. Appointments to Class I will be made by the Public Service Commission to whom recommendations will be made by the Secretary to the Treasury. This Class will ordinarily be filled, as vacancies occur, by promotion from Class II. Only officers who have served one year on the maximum of Class II are eligible for consideration. Grade I of Class I will consist of 8 members of the Class selected by the Public Service Commission to whom recommendations will be made by the Secretary to the Treasury. Appointments to this Grade will be personal. Officers in Class I, Grade II, will be required to reach the maximum of Grade II before they are eligible for promotion to Grade I.

Four vacancies in Class I will be left unfilled against the possible reversion of Civil Servants appointed as Permanent Secretaries.

3. Appointments to Class II will be made by the Public Service Commission to whom recommendations will be made by the Secretary to the Treasury.

This Class will be filled, by the appointment of Cadets, who are qualified for promotion, or by the promotion of officers from Class II.

4. Cadets will be appointed by the Public Service Commission on the result of the open competitive examination (section 12). On passing the first efficiency bar (Section 9) a Cadet will be entitled to a salary as a Passed Cadet and on completion of two years service from the date of first appointment, Cadets who have passed the first efficiency bar within that period will be eligible for appointment to Class II on the initial salary of that Class. Cadets of the same year who take up their appointments about the same time and pass the efficiency bar within two years will be promoted to Class II from the same date i.e., a date approximately two years from the date of their appointment. Their seniority on entering Class II will normally be governed by order of merit in the open examination.

The promotion of Cadets who fail to pass the first efficiency bar within two year from the date of first appointment will be deferred, and should a Cadet fail to pass within three years his appointment will be terminated.

5. The following are the posts which will normally be held by officers of the Civil Service.

Sinhalese officers must show that they have kept up a knowledge of Tamil, and Tamil officers of Sinhalese, European, Burgher and Muslim officers may select the vernacular in which they are to be tested.

to. The Public Service Commission will appoint occasionally, and within the cadre of that class, to the Third class of the Civil Service, without examination, members of the Public Service possessing aptitude for public business. In appointing such men regard will be had to their ability, high reputation, and long experience.

An officer in Class III, will be eligible for appointment to Class II provided that he is considered in every respect suitable for promotion.

The passing of the First Examination is not required before promotion to Class II can be considered.

For officers Who were in MEMOS on January I, 2946 the Second Efficiency Bar will operate before RS. 9,480.

18. The subjects and scheme of both the first and second examinations are as follows

I—Languages

(I) In the first examination the candidate is required to write an English translation of two out of three short Sinhalese or Tamil letters or reports from headmen written in different running hands. He is required to translate a short passage from an official paper or document into Sinhalese or Tamil ; to dictate off hand the translation into Sinhalese or Tamil of an English letter, report, or other official paper to a Sinhalese or Tamil, who will take it down in writing ; to read and translate an extract from a Sinhalese or Tamil newspaper, and from a letter or petition in Sinhalese or Tamil put into his hands for the first time ; to answer in writing a paper on elementary grammar in which particular stress will be laid upon syntax and idiom, and to be tested in conversation so as to satisfy the examiner as to his power of understanding Sinhalese or Tamil of different classes, and of making himself understood by them, both in common conversation and in the usual course of official business.

(ii) The marks required for a pass in this first examination will be so per cent. in conversation and a total of 45 per cent. in all subjects.

(iii) The second or higher standard examination in the language will be similar in its nature to the first, but more difficult in degree. The candidate will be required to act as an interpreter between the examiner and a Sinhalese or Tamil entirely ignorant of English.

(iv) The marks required for a pass in this second examination will be 65 per cent. in conversation and a total of 50 per cent. in all subjects.

(v) The examination in the second language (See Section 19 (i)) will be of the same standard as the first examination in the first language ; the marks required for a pass will be 50 per cent. in conversation and 45 per cent. in all subjects.

(r) Candidates will be examined in the following subjects :—

Co-operative Movement

IN the earlier issues of this Directory we have traced the three distinct phases of development of the Co-operative Movement from 1912—the supply of credit to the Rural Economy, followed by the change of its content to that of consumer and finally the tendency towards Production & Marketing, the State making the Co-operatives the agencies for its action in cereal cultivating economy. The Movement has gone a step further since then, with the establishment of Co-operative Youth Clubs in the Island, the establishment of Co-operative Hospitals at Sandalankawa, Bandarawela, Matara, Kalutara and the Co-operative Central Market at Pettah, Colombo.

This is the progress of a Movement which has risen in popularity with amazing speed during the last decade. In the first three years there were only 37 Societies serving 11,820 members. Sixteen years later the number of Co-operative Societies had increased to 897 with a membership of 30,227. The next decade did not see anything spectacular.

Then the Second World War and Japan's entry into it in 1942, no doubt stepped up the Co-operative Movement. The air raid of 1942, the mass evacuation of people and the wreckage of the extensive network of wholesale and retail distribution, followed by shortages, called for an immediate and effective remedy.

This was where the Co-operative Movement stepped in—and scored tremendously. Having risen to 2709 Societies (membership : 319,700) in 1943, at the end of the war there were 6,531 Societies and a membership of 1,130,853. In 1951/52 the figure was 8,239 Societies and 1,282,713 members. The number of societies at the time of writing is 8,94 .

The following statistics show the vastness of its growth :-

Year	Number of Societies	Membership
1942/1943	2,989	319,700
1943/1944	5,912	913,899
1944/1945	6,436	1,079,268
1945/1946	6,531	1,130,853
1946/1947	6,521	1,157,202
1947/1948	6,559	1,157,588
1948/1949	6,637	1,134,906
1949/1950	6,767	1,129,175
1950/1951	7,210	1,187,030
1951/1952	8,239	1,282,713

The change of complexion of the Co-operative Movement could also be seen from the following :—for the first 30 years of its existence 80 per cent of the Movement was composed of Credit Societies. In 1942 only 7% of the population were members of Co-operative Societies. By 1947 almost 70% were members and were served in one way or another. At the present moment most of the population is being served—chiefly by way of rice and essential foodstuffs.

Credit Societies number nearly 2,500 with a membership of 91,000. The increase of Agricultural Production and Sales Societies has been a vital factor in the resuscitation and revival of the Credit Societies. The use of credit in profitable pursuits is now a common thing—with increased production, high prices and guaranteed rates for agricultural produces.

Thanks to the Credit Societies, the peasant has been released from the clutches of the rapacious money-lender, whose high rate of interest, crippled the poor villager especially after an uneconomic and unproductive period. The four Es of Village life—farming, food, funerals, feasts—could not be obtained, held or observed without motley. It was the moneylender who "reaped the harvest".

Today economic enslavement is a bygone word with the peasant. Grants of loans by Credit Societies has been a big boon to the peasant cum colonist. They now, even own luxuries such as bicycles, gramophones and radio sets.

Estate stores were the main feature of the consumer sphere of Co-operation in the early days. Antagonism of boutique keepers and the apathy of a public accustomed to transactions on a credit basis were the causes of the non existence of a single urban or rural store. Since 1942 there has been a metamorphosis as we explained earlier.

C. W. E.—that has become a synonym for fair prices to the consumer and is the blackmarketeer's bugbear. The Co-operative Wholesale Establishment, to give its full name, is the largest purveyor of consummable requirements of the Island and their competitive prices have had a most moderating effect on other wholesalers and retailers.

This establishment was originally constituted as a Government Organisation—the Department of Co-operative Development—charged with the function of wholesale supplier of consummable commodities to the retail stores of the Island. It is now managed by an autonomous Board of Directors presided over by a Chairman who for the present is the Commissioner of Co-operative Development. The following figures illustrate its growth:

Year	Turnover
1947	... 62.0 million Rupees
1948	... 54.0 "
1930	... 85.0 "
1951	... 99.2 " "
1952	... 100.0 "

The Co-operative Production and Sales Societies, especially in the sphere of the coconut Industry, have contributed to the national wealth. The rapid growth of coconut mills and the bumper profits obtained therefrom provide ample evidence.

The Co-operative Agricultural Production and Sales Societies have not only given new meaning to rural life but they are also helping greatly in the nation's food drive at a time a great food problem is facing the Island. And with the aid of these the peasants are provided with barbed wire, buffaloes, modern agricultural implements and fertilisers etc., and have emerged from economic enslavement, happy and free. There are over 700 of these Societies now as compared to 27 only, 7 years ago.

The need for Co-operative organisations has also been keenly felt by the Fishermen. The Government realizing the urgent need for such an organisation has appointed a special Co-operative Officer to assist in the development of this Industry on sound Co-operative lines. Much progress has been made and there are now 125 Societies.

With a view to saving the members of these Societies from the clutches of the middlemen, an All-Island Union of Fishing Societies has been registered to market the fish produced by these societies. Fish marketing hitherto done by the Government's Department of Fisheries is now wholly carried on by this Union. More than 2A-million lbs. of fish valued at Rs. 1.8 million were sold last year.

For the purpose of financing the Fishing Industry through Co-operative Societies, the Government has set apart Rs. 3,000,000. Loans are granted to enable members to borrow on easy terms for purchase and repair of boats and fishing tackle and also for marketing. The loans granted to the Societies for two years since October 1950 amounted to Rs. 14 lakhs of which 5 lakhs were to the Co-operative Fish Sales Union.

Of other forms of Co-operation, special mention should be made of the Moolai Co-operative Union Hospital and the Jaffna Malayalam Tobacco Sale Society—both in the Northern Province. The former is fully equipped with an operating Theatre and a Labour Room and attractive nurses' quarters. 3,679 indoor and 36,916 outdoor cases were treated last year. Free treatment to the value of Rs 4,566/- was afforded last year. The profits earned last year were Rs. 24,817. The Jaffna-Malayalam Co-operative Tobacco Sale Societies is the largest and one of the earliest marketing ventures. Its turnover last year was Rs. 1.2 million. Other types of Societies include 125 Fishing Societies, 24 Dairy Societies, 161 Textile Societies, 44 Pottery Societies, 12 Mat Weavers' Societies, 27 Coir Workers' Societies, 20 Transport Societies, 12 Better Living Societies, 960 School Supply Societies, 5 Rubber Sale Societies, 1 Bakery, 3 Cigar Factories, 1 Citronella Distillery, 1 Co-operative Holiday Home.

Finance for the Movement is provided by the Co-operative Federal Bank of Ceylon, the Provincial Banks, the Department of Food Production, Department of Fisheries, Department of Industries and the Local Loans and Development Fund. The Federal Bank has been recently recognised as a Commercial Bank, and the patronage of the Co-operative Wholesale Establishment and other Co-operative institutions should give it stability and security.

Denmark's prosperity may be attributed to two institutions—the Co-operative Movement and Folk High Schools. Ceylon like other countries of South East Asia is relatively a poor one with people of limited literacy. To achieve any degree of prosperity it is essential to eliminate poverty and increase literacy. The Co-operative Movement through credit, production and marketing, has achieved some success in the economic sphere. It is now turning to the liquidation of illiteracy with a scheme of adult education by means of correspondence courses. The Movement has been handicapped by a lack of trained personnel. This deficiency is being remedied through training at the School.

The Department of Commissioner of Co-operative Development and the Department of Registrar of Co-operative Societies have now been amalgamated with a Commissioner as head. Marriages, Births and Deaths

General Marriages

The marriage laws of Ceylon, other than those relating to Kandyan and Muslim marriages, are contained in the Marriage Registration Ordinance (Chapter 5 of the Legislative Enactments).

2. Notice of an intended marriage must be given in the prescribed form by one of the parties to the Registrar of the division in which both have resided for not less than 30 days then next preceding. The Registrar's fee for the entry of such notice is 50 cents.

3. Where either or both the parties, not being a widow, widower, or a divorced person, are under 21 years of age, the notice must embody the consent of the person or persons whose consent is required by law. The person whose consent is required is the father, or, if he be dead or under legal incapacity or absent from the Island, and unable to make known his will, the mother. If both father and mother be dead or otherwise unable to make known their will, the person who has been appointed (in writing) as guardian by the father or the mother or by a competent court, may give consent. If there be no such guardian appointed or if the person whose consent is required unreasonably withholds such consent, the consent of the District Court should be obtained.

4. If the parties to an intended marriage reside in different divisions of the Island, the notice must be given by each of them to the Registrar of the division in which he or she has resided for not less than 30 days then next preceding and a certificate for the marriage obtained from each Registrar to whom notice has been given. In such case each Registrar should, immediately after notice is entered, give to the party a certified copy of the notice and send a like copy to the other Registrar. For each such copy he is entitled to a fee of 50 cents in addition to the fee payable for the notice.

5. If both parties to a marriage reside in the same province or revenue district notice given by one of the parties to the Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar (as the case may be) will be sufficient; but such notice should bear a stamp of the value of Rs. 50.

6. Where only one party to the intended marriage has acquired the residence of 30 days in the Island, such party may give notice (on paper bearing stamps of the value of Rs. 50) pending the arrival from abroad of the other party, to the Registrar, Assistant Provincial Registrar or Provincial Registrar in whose territorial jurisdiction he or she is resident.

6a. Where only four days' residence has been acquired by one or both of the parties, notice may be given on a stamp of Rs. 30. A residence of 4 days is indispensable.

7. In reckoning the period of residence necessary prior to giving of notice a day is taken as meaning a clear period of 24 hours beginning at midnight and ending at midnight.

8. Notice of marriage in the prescribed form is a necessary preliminary and cannot be dispensed with.

9. At any time not less than 3 clear days nor more than three months after the entry of the notice, and where two notices have been given, after the entry of both notices, the Registrar will, on application and on payment of a further fee of 50 cents, issue a certificate for the marriage, unless issue of such certificate has been forbidden by caveat or otherwise. In reckoning the period of 12 days the day of giving notice and the day of issue of certificate should be excluded.

ro. No marriage can take place after the expiration of 3 months from the entry of notice. Where notices given to two Registrars are entered under different dates the period of 3 months counts from the earlier notice and the period of 12 days from the latter notice. Where a marriage has been forbidden, the time taken up in the disposal of the objection to the marriage does not count in the calculation of the period.

To obtain a Special Licence for solemnisation of a marriage immediately after entry of elle notice, or at any time before the expiration of the period of r 2 days mentioned in para 9, the party giving the notice should make a declaration on a stamp of Thirty Rupees before the Registrar-General, or the Provincial Registrar (Government Agent) or the Assistant Provincial Registrar (Assistant Government Agent) to the effect that there is no legal impediment to the marriage, producing before such officer a copy certified by the Registrar of such notice. If there have been two notices (See para 4) copies of both should be produced.

12. The Registrar-General cannot accept notice of, or solemnise, marriages. In the Registrar-General's Office there is a Registrar of Marriages. The Registrar-General's Three Assistants are also Additional Provincial Registrars of the Western Province, and if notice be given to any of them in terms of paras 5 or 6, a licence could be obtained from him or the Registrar-General almost immediately after the entry of the notice. In Kachcheries, too, the case is similar, as in each of the Kachcheries there is a Registrar of Marriages and a Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar as the case may be.

Registrars do not inform the head office of notice given to them, but they send once a month duplicates of marriages registered by them.

Notices of European weddings in the Colombo district are chiefly given at the head office ; in ether districts at the local Kachcheries.

The parties are not bound to state in the notice the date fixed for marriage, but if the marriage does not take place within three months from the date of notice the preliminaries must be gone through afresh. The intended place of marriage is required to be stated in the notice.

Marriages may be solemnised in registered places of public Christian worship or in the appointed office or station of the Registrar between the hours of six in the morning and six in the afternoon. The Registrar's fee for solemnising a marriage is Rs. 1-50. A Registrar or a Minister may, upon a licence obtained from the Registrar-General, Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar, solemnise a marriage at any place and hour the parties may wish. Application for such licence of Registrar must be on a stamp of Rs. 30 except where the female party to the marriage belongs to a class of people to whose customs it is contrary to require their females to appear in public before wedlock and she has at all times observed that custom.

Immediately after the solemnisation of a marrige by a Clergyman a statement of the particulars thereof must be entered by him in duplicate in the book provided for the purpose. Both these entries must be signed by the Clergyman, by the parties married, and by two credible witnesses, whose full names, occupations and residences must be stated. The Clergyman must within seven days from the date of the marriage transmit the duplicate statement to the Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar who then enters the marriage in his Register. It is this entry that constitutes registration.

All persons desiring to secure legal proof of their marriages should obtain an extract from the Registrar's register by applying to him or to the Registrar-General, Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar.

The following are the fees payable to Registrars under the Marriage Registration Ordinance.

If by an Asst. Provincial Registrar outside his office Rs. 5o. If by a Provincial Registrar Rs. 75. In these cases the Registrar is entitled to a further fee of 5o cents for every mile going and returning.

Kandyan Marriages

The marriages of Kandyans are governed by the Kandyan Marriage Ordinance (Chapter 96).

Muslim Marriages

The marriages of Muslims are governed by the Muslim Marriage and Divorce Registration Ordinance (Chapter 99).

Marriage of British Subjects (Facilities) Act, 1917

The provisions of Section 2 of the above Act, enacted in England to facilitate marriages between British Subjects resident in the United Kingdom and British Subjects resident in other parts of His Majesty's Dominions or in British Protectorates, were extended to Ceylon by the passing of the "Marriage Registration (Amendment) Ordinance, No. 27 of 1917". According to this Ordinance :

(1) FOR A MARRIAGE TO BE SOLEMNISED IN THE UNITED KINGDOM, the party resident in Ceylon may, as if the marriage is to be solemnised in the Dominion give the usual notice to the Registrar of the division where he or she has been resident and obtain his certificate :

- (a) Where such party has been resident for not less than ten days in the division, the notice should bear a stamp of Rs. 10.
- (b) Where the residence falls short of ten days, the notice is liable to a stamp of Rs. 3o.

(2) For a Marriage to be solemnised in Ceylon, the certificate for marriage issued in England and Wales by a Superintendent Registrar, or in Scotland or Ireland by a registrar, or a certificate of publication of banns in Scotland will be sufficient without any of the usual preliminaries being gone through in Ceylon by the party who produces such certificate, but section 30 (2) of the Marriage Registration ordinance (Chapter 98) does not relieve the party to such marriage who is resident in Ceylon of the duty to comply with the provisions of that Ordinance which require the giving of notice of marriage, the making of a declaration in such notice, and the production of a certificate of notice of marriage.

Foreign Marriages

Notices of marriages intended to be solemnised under the " Foreign Marriage Act, 1892", where one of the parties is resident in Ceylon, are regulated by the Foreign Marriages Ordinance (Chapter 100). Notice of a marriage intended to be solemnised under this Act may be given to the Registrar-General or the Assistant Registrar-General by one of the parties intending such marriage who has resided in some place in Ceylon for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding the giving of such notice, or to the Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar in whose territorial division he or she has been residing for 10 days.

Every such notice must be in the prescribed form, bear a stamp of Rs. 10 and be signed by the party giving notice, in the presence of the Registrar-General, or the Assistant Registrar-General, or Provincial Registrar, or Assistant Provincial Registrar, or a Justice of the Peace, or a Notary Public and of two credible witnesses.

At any time not less than 14 days nor more than three months from the receipt of such notice by the Registrar-General he shall, upon the application of the party giving notice and unless there is any impediment or objection, issue a certificate of such notice.

A marriage under the " Foreign Marriage Act 1892 ", between persons either of whom is under the age of sixteen years is void—(see " The Age of Marriage Act, 1929 ").

Registration of Births and Deaths

Births

The Registration of Births and Deaths is provided for by the Births and Deaths Registration Ordinance (Cap. 94).

The father or mother, or, in case of the death, illness, absence or inability of the parents, the occupier, or inmate of the house where a child is born, must give information of the birth to the Registrar of the division in which the event occurred within 42 days.

In case a living new-born child is found exposed it is the duty of any person finding such child, and of any person in whose charge such child may be placed, to give information to the Registrar within seven days after the finding of such child.

Information of birth may be given to the Registrar either personally or by a written declaration in the prescribed form by the responsible informant. In the case of information given by declaration, the declaration should be stamped with a stamp of 25 cents and duly perfected.

After three months and within one year, a birth can be registered only upon an order of the Registrar-General, Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar : for this purpose a declaration bearing a stamp of Re 1 must be made before such officer, a Justice of the Peace, a President, Village Tribunal or a Commissioner of Oaths, by the person seeking registration. Before the registration of the birth of any child over three months of age the declarant may be required to produce the child before the Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar or the local Registrar of the division.

For the registration of a birth after 12 months a declaration bearing a stamp of Rs. 5 should be made before the Registrar-General, Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar, a Justice of the Peace, President, Village Tribunal, or a Commissioner of Oaths, and the Registrar-General's authority obtained.

Births which took place not earlier than the 1st January, 1868, and not later than the 30th June, 1897, which have not been registered or regarding which it is doubtful whether they have been duly registered, and the registration of which is not hereinbefore provided for, may be registered by the Registrar-General upon a declaration which may be made before the Registrar-General, the Provincial Registrar (the Government Agent) or the Assistant Provincial Registrar (the Assistant Government Agent) a Justice of the Peace, the President of a Rural Court, or a Commissioner of Oaths, bearing stamps of the value of Rs. 10.

For the purpose of registering a birth under the two preceding paragraphs it is incumbent on the parties applying for registration to adduce evidence documentary and oral, to the satisfaction of the Registrar-General re date of birth, marriage of parents, identity of child, bona fides of the application, etc.

In case a birth has been registered and no name entered, the name subsequently given to the child may be registered or, when it is necessary to add to or alter a name such addition or alteration may be made, after due inquiry and upon an application to the Registrar-General, Provincial Registrar or the Assistant Provincial Registrar by a parent or legally appointed guardian of the child upon a duly stamped declaration in prescribed form made before a Justice of the Peace. When such person is in parts beyond the Island the declaration may be made before a Commissioner for Oaths or a British Consul and the amount of stamp duty should be remitted to the Registrar-General. The stamp required for such declaration is of the value of Re. 1 if two years have not elapsed from the date of registration, and of the value of Es. 5 if more than two years have elapsed.

Every birth or still-birth in a town proclaimed under Section 30 of the Ordinance should be notified to the Medical Officer of Health of the area in which the event occurred within 24 hours of its occurrence by the father, or any person in attendance upon the mother at the time of or within 16 hours after the occurrence. This notification is in addition to, and not in substitution for the usual information to be given within 42 days.

Births on estates should be reported within 48 hours of the occurrence by the Superintendent of the estate to the Medical Officer anointed under "The Medical Wants Ordinance" who shall transmit the report without delay to the Provincial Registrar or Assistant Provincial Registrar, as the case may be.

A Registrar may upon reasonable doubt refuse to certify the legitimacy of a child in the register, and may call for proof of parents' marriage.

A Registrar is not entitled to any fee from the public for registering a birth.

Deaths

It is the duty of the nearest relatives present at the death or in attendance during the last illness of the deceased, and in default of such relatives of every other relative of the deceased dwelling or being in the same division as the deceased and, in default of such relatives, of such person present at the death, and of the occupier of the house in which it occurs, and, in default of the persons above-mentioned, of any inmate of the house and of the person causing the body to be buried, to give within five days of the death, information to the Registrar.

In case a death occurs in a place which is not a house or a dead body is found elsewhere than in a house, it is the duty of every relative of the deceased person having knowledge of any of the particulars required to be registered concerning the death and, in default of such relative, of any person present at the death and of any person finding, and of any person taking charge of the body, and of the person causing the body to be buried, to give information to the Registrar within five days next after the death or the finding of the dead body. A Registrar is not entitled to any fee from the public for registering a death.

Superintendents of estates must within 48 hours of the occurrence report all deaths on estates to the officer appointed under the "Medical Wants Ordinance."

In the principal towns in which the special provisions for the registration of deaths have been brought into operation, no dead body or still-born child can be buried or cremated unless a certificate has been obtained from the Registrar, or from a Police Officer or headman, or from the Medical Attendant or (in the case of death where an inquest has been held) from an Inquirer. It is an offence to remove the body of a person who died in such town without a permit from the Municipality, the Assistant Government Agent or the Police Magistrate.

Miscellaneous

Failure to report a birth or death within the prescribed time—which in the case of a birth is 42 days and of a death five days—is a punishable offence.

Persons applying to the Registrar-General, Provincial Registrar, Assistant Provincial Registrar or Registrar are allowed to search the Registers of Births and Deaths and to obtain extracts therefrom at the following charges:—

Stamp duty on every written application for search of copy or both	...	1 00
Do on certificate of Birth or DeathCts. 50

LOCAL GOVERNMENT BODIES

THE Municipal Councils Ordinance, No. 29 of 1947, which was brought into operation from August 15, 1947, repealed the earlier Municipal Councils Ordinance, the Colombo Municipal Council (Constitution) Ordinance, and all Ordinances passed in amendment thereof. Councillors are elected in accordance with the provisions of the Local Authorities Elections Ordinance. No 53 of 1946. The Mayor is elected from among the Councillors and is not a Civil Servant as formerly. Till the end of 1948 the only Municipal Councils were those of Colombo, Kandy and Galle. From January 1, 1949, the three Urban Councils of Jaffna, Nuwara Eliya and Kurunegala were converted into Municipalities, and from January 1, 195o Negombo too achieved municipal status.

Until the end of 1932 in eleven of the towns other than Municipalities there were Urban District Councils with elected Chairmen, two-thirds of the members being elected by the ratepayers and one-third being nominated by the Governor. (Of these Urban Councils two were converted into municipalities from January 1, 1949 and another from January 1, 195o). On the recommendation of the then Executive Committee of Local Administration, 16 more Urban Councils were established from January 1, 1933, in place of the Local Boards of Health and Improvement, 5 in place of the small towns previously administered by Sanitary Boards, and one in place of the Board of Improvement of Nuwara Eliya. (The Nuwara Eli Sanitary Board Towns were converted into 19 Urban Councils as from January 1, 1945 and another as from January 1, 1947. A part of a village Committee area was also converted into an Urban Council from January 1, 1948. These Councils are now known as Urban Councils and not as Urban District Councils, and since January 1, 1940, are being administered under the Urban Councils Ordinance, No. 61 of 1939. There are now 36 Urban Councils.

Groups of smaller towns known as Sanitary Board towns were administered by Sanitary Boards of various districts until the abolition of this system of administration with effect from December 31, 1946. These towns were either converted into Urban Councils, Town Councils or brought under the jurisdiction of Village Committees.

A new Ordinance, the Town Councils Ordinance, No. 3 of 1946, was enacted and a new form of Local Body was established with effect from January 1, 1947. 24 Town Councils were constituted, 20 of which, prior to January 1, 1947 formed 22 Sanitary Board Towns. Parts of 2 Village Committee areas were converted into 2 Town Councils while a section of an Urban Council formed another Town Council. 5 Town Councils were constituted for parts of Village Committee areas with effect from January 1, 1949, another four with effect from January 1, 1950, and one with effect from April 1, 1951. Two more Town Councils were constituted for parts of Village Committee areas with effect from January 1, 1952. Two Town Councils were constituted in place of an existing Town Council comprising the existing Town Council area and part of an adjacent Village Committee area with effect from January 1, 1953. A Town Council was constituted from 1-7-53 bringing the total number of Town Councils to 38.

In the rural areas, there are Village Committees for groups of villages. Two Sanitary Board towns reverted to Village Committee jurisdiction as from January 1, 1946 and 14 as from January 1, 1947. (34 such towns were reverted to Village Committee Jurisdiction during 1944 and 1945.)

THE COLOMBO MUNICIPALITY

Colombo Municipality was created by a proclamation dated November 22, 1865. Its area is 5,317 acres, comprising of the lake, and its population 234,155, by Census of 1931, exclusive of the Military and the Municipality in revenue and expenditure is presented in the Village Committees

Village Committees were established by the Ordinance No. 26 of 1871 during the Government of Sir Hercules Robinson (afterwards Lord Rosehead).

The principal Ordinance under which these are now worked is the Village Communities Ordinance (Chapter 198). Village Committees are now vested with powers approximating to those of Urban Councils.

The Village Communities Ordinance has been amended by Ordinances Nos. 60 and 61 of 1938; 51,24 and 31 of 1940; 11 and 50 of 1941; 54 of 1942; 58 of 1943; 44 of 1944; and 13 of 1945; 17 of 1947; Act. Nos. 39 of 1952 and 8 of 1952. Some of the important changes effected by these amending Ordinances are the Constitution of Village Committees as corporate bodies with perpetual succession and power to hold property, the taxation of land, the restriction of the franchise to people domiciled in Ceylon and the conversion of certain small towns administered under the Small Towns Sanitary Ordinance, to V.C. jurisdiction. Act No. 8 of 1952 removed some of the limitations and provided enlarged powers to the Village Committees.

A village area is sub-divided into wards and each ward elects a member of the Village Committee and the members thus elected, elect their own Chairman and Vice-Chairman. There are now 403 Village Committees in the Island.

Telegraphs

On September 30, 1953, there were 11,593 miles of Telegraph wire (including Railway Telegraph wires) of which 3,646 are laid underground. In 1857 the Ceylon Government decided to open telegraphic communication in the Island, and accordingly the first line was completed in January, 1858, between Colombo and Galle, along the sea coast, a distance of 74 miles.* In June, 1858, the telegraph line was extended from Colombo to Kandy and in October 1858, direct telegraphic communication was established with India by the construction of a line from Colombo via Kandy and Anuradhapura to Mannar and Talairnannar, nearly 250 miles in length.

In 1859 the Morse System was introduced into Ceylon in place of the old needle instrument. In 1864 the telegraph wire was extended from Kandy via Jambulla to Trincomalee, but, owing to the frequent interruptions from herds of wild elephants which pulled down and broke the posts, this line was dismantled in 1881 and another and a better route from Anuradhapura to Trincomalee took its place.

On March 2, 1865, the first direct message from Europe was received in Colombo. On August 12, 1866, the first message was received from America in Colombo. In July 1880, the telegraph lines were transferred from the Indian to the Ceylon Government. The total number of telegrams disposed of in 1882 was 58,240; in 1900, 467, 476 ; in 1943-44, 3,347, 855; in 1944-45, 3,785, 877 ; in 1948-49, 4,091, 666; in 1949-50, 3,926,360, and in 1950-51, 4,062,519.

Telegraphic Money Orders between Ceylon and India were introduced on February x, 1900.

*A successful Carrier Pigeon Express service begun by Dr. Elliot was carried on in connection with the Ceylon Observer from 1850 to 1858 between Galle and Colombo, before the telegraph was established pigeons brought the mail news regularly throughout the Crimean War and often brought enough for several columns of news in it hour and once in 1/4 hour distance 72 miles.

Telephones--

The Telephone system in Colombo was taken over by the General Post Office on January, 1896 from the Oriental Telephone Company at a cost of Rs. 42,666, with 56 subscribers, 25 miles of posts and 151 miles of wire. In 1899 at a cost of about Rs.60,000 earth return circuits were replaced by metallic return circuits on account of earth currents and induction from the Electric Tramway system. On December 31, 1953, there were 35,087 miles of telephone overhead wires and u.g. 70,685 miles of, underground wireS making a total of 108,776 miles, while there were 14,285 subscribers with 22,630 instruments. This is besides 1,132 miles of line and 1,683 miles of wire in connection with private licensed telephone exchanges, from which there were 239 subscribers with 579 instruments connected to the Trunk System and 193 subscribers with 530 instruments not connected to the Trunk System.

Savings Bank.

The Post Office Savings Bank (established on May 1, 1885) received deposits from Re. if- and upwards, restricting the total in any year, to Rs. 4,000. The total amount standing to the credit of a depositor's account must not exceed Rs. 10,000. Interest is paid at 2, per cent. When the principal and interest exceed Rs. 10,000, interest is payable only on Rs. 10,000.

Value-Payable Post

Under this system the Postal Department accepts for transmission within the Island any postal article, and collects from the addressee and remits to the senders sums ranging from 50 cents to Rs. 500, provided that such postal articles do not contain coupons, tickets, certificates or introductions designed for the sale of goods on what is known as the "Snowball System", or for the furtherance of any fraudulent, obscene, immoral or unlawful object or undertaking or containing any goods forwarded for sale in accordance with or in pursuance of any such system.

The same facilities are available between Ceylon and India (British and Portuguese) and Ceylon and the British Somaliland Protectorate.

FEES-LOCAL : At the Time of Posting : 5 cents if the sum recoverable from the addressee is under Rs. 5 ; to cents if Rs. 5 or up to Rs. to ; 15 cents if over Rs. to. At the time of delivery : M. 0. Commission, postage and warehousing charges.

FOREIGN: At the time of posting registration fee of 15 cents; at the time of delivery Money Order commission 20 cents for every Rs. to or fraction thereof plus Customs clearance fee 25 cents per parcel.

Poste Restante

Correspondence of any kind to be called for is, as a rule, taken in at all Post Offices except Branch Post Offices and Town Sub-Post Offices. The words "To be called for" or "Poste Restante" should appear in the address.

Customs Duty on Foreign Parcels

All parcels are liable to be opened for Customs examination, and their contents are subject to Customs duty according to the laws of the country of destination. The duty is collected from the addressee on delivery. The fee for clearance of Foreign Parcels through the Customs is 50 cents for an article of the parcel post ; 25 cents for an article of the letter post.

OVERSEAS AIR MAILS

Tim air mail services are subject to alteration from time to time and particulars of alterations which take place in the intervals between the issue of successive editions may be obtained at any post office.

General Information

Conditions of Service.

(1) Every air mail article should bear an air mail label, or the clear superscription "BY AIR MAIL".

(2) Registration and Insurance-

Registration* is available to all countries for which the air mail service is in operation (except otherwise notified from time to time), on payment of the registration fee of 25 cents in addition to the air mail charges. Insurance is available only to United Kingdom, India and Pakistan, the insurance fee being payable in addition to the registration and air mail charges.

(3) Air Letters-

Special Air Letter forms, bearing printed postage impressions to the value of 20 cents and 35 cents are on sale at all post offices. When these forms are used for correspondence to the places to which the Air Letter rate is more than 20 cents or 35 cents, additional postage stamps to cover the deficiency should be affixed to each form.

No Air Letter form of private manufacture can be utilized unless, before printing, the sanction of the Postmaster-General is obtained ; and such forms when approved by the Postmaster-General may, if the sender is the holder of a franking licence, be franked with necessary postage. Otherwise stamps representing the postage payable should be affixed to the form.

Enclosures are not permitted.

4) Second Class Correspondence-

Printed Papers, Commercial Papers, Samples, Small Packets (to countries which admit them and Literature for the Blind may be sent by air as Second Class Mail to those countries except India and Pakistan, against which rates for Second class Mail are shown in column (5). In the case of India and Pakistan the Second class Air Mail Service is available for Printed Matter, Newspapers and Blind Literature only.

Such items must conform to the general regulations applicable to them, and should be clearly superscribed (in the upper lefthand corner of the cover) "Printed Papers", "Commercial Papers", "Samples", "Blind Literature" or "Small Packet", as the case may be. They must not contain anything in the nature of a current letter nor be closed against inspection.

The minimum charge of 50 cents applicable to Small Packets sent by surface route applies also to small packets sent by air mail.

(5) 4 ir Parcels

(et Parcels may be sent by air to those countries against which rates for parcels are shown in Column 6.

The general regulations applicable to ordinary surface parcels ifs regards maximum weight and dimensions, customs declarations, despatch notes, compensation, and so on, apply to air parcels. Apart from insurance, the same supplemental services as for surface parcels are applicable to Air parcels.

A blue Air Mail label must be affixed on the parcel close to the address on the relative despatch note if one is used, and on the Trade Charge Card for C.O.D. parcels.

In addition to the acceleration afforded by air conveyance, air parcels are usually given speedy customs clearance abroad.

Postage must be prepaid. Where supplemental services are required charges for those services, must be paid in addition to the postage.

(b) Insurance is available to United Kingdom only and the Insurance fee being payable in addition to the Air Mail Charges.

Registration services is not available for parcels.

TELEGRAPH RULES AND RATES

Inland

The rate for Inland ordinary telegrams is 75 cents and for urgent telegrams Rs. 1-50 for the first ten words or less, including address, and five cents and ten cents for each additional word respectively. All charges must be prepaid in cash or postage stamps. Each word or initial in the address, which includes the name of addressee and the name of the telegraph office of destination will be charged for. It is optional for the sender to require his own name and address to be telegraphed. If he does so, they will be charged for in the same manner. The name of the office of origin and the service instructions, if any, will be telegraphed free of charge.

Post offices which are not in telegraphic connection with telegraph offices receive Inland ordinary telegrams only and despatch them by post to a telegraph office. Such telegrams are sent postage free by first post.

The urgent service will be available only between postal-telegraph offices and no urgent telegram can be sent from, or addressed to, a Railway telegraph office. The sender of an urgent telegram should write the word "urgent" on the telegram form in the space provided for the purpose.

Late Fees

A telegram will be accepted during the hours when an office is closed, if the terminal office is open or its attention can be gained, on payment of an extra fee of Rs. 2/-. Such telegrams will not be accepted at Railway Telegraph Offices. Urgent telegrams will be accepted only during hours the Postal Telegraph Offices are open for telegraph business.

Forms

Three telegram forms are issued for the use of the public—one for Inland and Indian, one for Foreign Cheap Rate and one for Foreign Ordinary or Urgent Telegrams. They can be obtained in reasonable quantities at any telegraph office free of charge and the public are recommended to use them.

Delivery

Delivery free within a limit of 5 miles; over 5 and up to 6 miles Rs. 1/50 for each additional mile or part of a mile 30 cents. Double charge for telegrams booked between 5 p.m. and 5 a.m. Advice of Delivery 75 cents.

For the registration of standing instructions regarding the delivery of telegrams during fixed hours a fee of Rs. 25 per annum or Rs. 15 for six months is payable. For each change in such instructions during the period covered by the fee already paid, a fee of Rs. 2-50 is payable.

Reply-Paid Telegrams

The cost of a reply may be prepaid, but the amount so paid should not be less than the unit rate for an Inland ordinary telegram, nor shall it contain a fraction of five cents. The minimum prepayment on a telegram to India is the unit rate for an Indo-Ceylon ordinary telegram. The sender of a reply-paid telegram should write, in the space provided on the form, the word "Reply Paid", in case the amount to be prepaid is the unit rate referred to, or "Reply Paid---" followed by the amount if the sum is more than the unit rate.

Registered Abbreviated Addresses

Any person may register an abbreviated or arbitrary address and delivery instructions on payment of a registration fee of Rs. 25 per calendar year payable in advance. For registration on or after July 1, fee is Rs. 55 to December 31, following.

Indo-Ceylon Telegrams

Indo-Ceylon telegrams are those exchanged between the Republic of India on the one side and Ceylon on the other, and are subject to the regulations laid down by the Governments of India and Ceylon. Such regulations are generally the same as those for Inland telegrams except where otherwise stated.

Charges : Express—Rs. 2-50 for first 12 words or less and 15 cents for each additional word. Ordinary—Rs 1-25 for first 12 words and so cents for each additional word.

Ordinary telegrams to India are not accepted on Sundays and on the following days :— Christmas Day, Good Friday, Indian Independence Day (August 15th), Republic Day { Jan. 26), Gandhiji's Birthday (October 2nd) and the festival days of Holi, Janam Ashtmi, Devali (Kalipuja), Id-i-Milad, Id-uz-zuha (Baler-Id), Id-ul-Fitr and Dusehra. On these days, only Express telegrams will be accepted.

Indian Express telegrams are also accepted with a late fee of Rs. 2 in respect of office of origin only,

Foreign Telegrams

Foreign telegrams are those sent to or received from places outside Ceylon and India and are subject to the regulations laid down by the International Telecommunication Convention.

Inland—Re. 1 per 100 words or less ; additional 50 words or less 50 cents To United Kingdom-6 cents per word. To India-Re. 1 50 for first 32 words or groups of five figures ; every four additional words or groups of five figures In cents. To Pakistan—Rs. 3 50 for first 32 words and 40 cents for every four additional words.

To Eire and all Empire countries a flat rate of 6 cents per word via Imperial only.

Multiple Address Telegrams

A telegram will be accepted for delivery at two or more addresses served by the same telegraph office in Ceylon, or in India on payment of a single telegram charge for the total number of words in the message including all its addresses in addition to a copying fee for a copy in respect of each additional address. The copying fee is 50 cents and Re. 1 for every hundred words of ordinary and urgent telegrams respectively, plus 50 cents and Re. 1 respectively for any excess.

Senders should write, before the first address, the instruction "____ Addresses " or " TM____" which will be counted as one word, in assessing the telegraph charge of the message.

The copy delivered at each address will bear only the address proper to it unless the sender by writing on the telegram form, the instruction—CTA --(which is counted and charged for as one word) requires the communication of all addresses to each addressee.

Multiple telegrams cannot be sent via North-Atlantic cables.

Plain Language Social Telegrams

To Empire Countries and Eire—The cheapest rate by which Greeting telegrams can be sent from Ceylon to Empire Countries is the Plain language. Social Telegrams rate (GLT rate), which is Rs. 4-30 for the first 50 words or less, and 45 cents for each additional word. GLT messages may contain not only Greetings but also family news and non-commercial personal affairs.

To Other Countries—To non-empire countries, the cheapest rate by which such Greetings can be sent is by the Letter rate, except where these telegrams contain less than the chargeable words when the Ordinary telegram rate should be resorted to.

Telegraphic Money Orders

INLAND, INDO-CEYLON AND FOREIGN

The Telegraph Money Order system is in operation between all Money Order offices in Ceylon on the one side, and those in India, United Kingdom, F. M. S. & Burma on the other. The maximum amount for which a Telegraph Money Order can be issued is Rs. 600. In the case of United Kingdom the maximum amount is £40. No annas or cents are allowed. The charge for a Telegraph Money Order, in addition to the usual rate of commission on an Ordinary Money Order, is :-

INLAND AND INDIAN TELEGRAPH MONEY ORDERS—(1) The cost of the telegram of advice calculated at the current rates for Inland and Indian telegrams, as the case may be, and (2) a fixed fee of 50 cents irrespective of the amount of order.

FOREIGN TELEGRAPH MONEY ORDER (OTHER THAN INDIAN)—The cost of the telegram of advice calculated at the current rates for Foreign telegrams.

Forms of application for Telegraphic Money Orders can be obtained at any Post Office.

Radio Telegrams

Radio telegrams will be accepted at any Postal Telegraph Office in Ceylon for transmission to ships equipped with radio telegraph apparatus.

Private Telegrams to Her Britannic Majesty's Ships of War 40 cents per word via Colombo Radio.

"Private telegrams to Her Majesty's Ships of the East Indies Fleet via Colombo Radio ... 25 cents per word.

All other Government or Private Telegrams 65 cents per word via Colombo Radio.

On Radio telegrams sent to Spanish and Swedish ships the charge is 60 cents per word, and to Finnish ships 50 cents per word. The address should be as complete as possible.

Transmission of Telegrams by Telephone

Persons connected by telephone with a Postal-telegraph office may transmit by telephone to such office messages intended to be further transmitted by telegraph, or where practicable, to be delivered from such office to the respective destinations as telegrams, provided such persons pay the usual cost of such telegrams in addition to a fee of 10 cents known as the " Phonogram Fee " on each telegram.

In Colombo, telegrams are delivered over the telephone free of charge to addressees who are subscribers connected to the same Exchange. Such delivery is restricted to those who have registered delivery instructions at the office of delivery, or whose telegrams are directed to the telephonic address.

- Copies of Telegrams
INLAND, INFO-CEYLON AND FOREIGN

A fee is payable at the rate of 50 cents for each unit of 100 words contained in the telegram. Should the particulars furnished be insufficient to enable the Telegraph Check Office, Colombo at once to trace the telegrams applied for, the cost of searching for them must be deposited by the applicant. A fee of Re. 2 is charged for searching through the telegrams of any telegraph office for one day ; thus, if it be required to examine the telegrams of two telegraph offices over a period of five days, the searching fee will be Rs. 10.

Inland and Indo-Ceylon telegrams are preserved for three months and Foreign telegrams for ten months from the month following that in which the telegram was handed in, after which period they are destroyed.

On the ground of pending or contemplated judicial proceedings, application may be made by an interested party for the preservation of specified telegrams. Such application must be made within the period of preservation, and such telegrams will then be preserved for a period of three months beyond the ordinary date for destruction.

*The address of these telegrams should contain the name of the addressee the word "Warship", the name of the ship and the words "Eastindies Colombo radio ". The words " Warship ", " Eastindies " and " Colomboradio " are charged for as one word ,each. No departure from this form of address is permissible.

Communication is also available to the following Private Exchanges :—
Agrapataana, Amparai, Bogawantalawa, Dikoya, Lochnagar, Madulsirna, Mousagalla, Nugatenne, Talawakele, Tillicoultry and University of Ceylon.

Subscription Charges

In Colombo Message Rate Charges are in force, under which a subscriber, pays an annual or monthly rental for the installation and a fee of 10 cents for each local call originated at such installation. There are two different rates viz., Business and Non-Business, which are uniform throughout the City irrespective of the distance from the Exchange. An installation charge is payable on each new connection Rs. 10/- on a business connection and Rs. 30/- on a non-business connection.

At other places the rental is an inclusive charge (flat rate), based on the radial distance from the Exchange, covering an unlimited number of free local calls during the working hours of the Exchange. An installation charge of Rs. 30/- is payable on each new connection.

Wireless Licences

The following are among the rules made under Section 12 of the Telecommunications Ordinance, No. 50 of 1944 :—

No person shall import for private use, install, establish, maintain, possess or work any wireless telegraph station or apparatus in any place in Ceylon or on board any British ship registered in Ceylon or shall install, establish, or work any wireless telegraph station or apparatus on board any aircraft in Ceylon, unless such person has applied for and obtained a licence in that behalf from the Postmaster-General.

Provided that where wireless telegraph apparatus forms part of the personal baggage of a person arriving in Ceylon, it shall be lawful for the Customs authorities at the port of importation to grant a licence to import such apparatus, subject to a declaration being made by the importer in a form which they will supply.

Provided further that where any person imports or has in his possession wireless telegraph apparatus which in good faith he does not intend to use he shall immediately report the fact to the Postmaster-General, who on being satisfied that the issue of a licence for the time being can reasonably be withheld, may grant permission in writing for such importation or possession without any charge being made therefor for a period not exceeding six months, the permission being renewable for further periods at the discretion of the Postmaster-General.

Any person desirous of obtaining a licence for broadcast listening-in shall apply to any of the principal Post Offices in Ceylon in the prescribed form, and every such application shall have affixed to it stamps to the value of fifteen rupees, in ten or five rupee stamps.

The Postmaster-General may, however, grant free of stamp duty broadcast listening licences to persons certified to be blind by a Government Medical Officer, and in respect of apparatus intended for the use of the inmates of hospitals and other similar institutions maintained for the relief of suffering, to the person in charge of the hospital or institution.

No person shall import for trade purposes or sell any apparatus for wireless telegraphy, unless such person has applied for and obtained a licence in that behalf from the Postmaster-General. Any person desirous of obtaining a licence for such importation or sale shall apply to the Postmaster-General in the prescribed form, and every such application shall have affixed to it stamps to the value of thirty rupees, in five rupee stamps.

DURATION OF LICENCES AND THEIR RENEWAL

All licences issued under these rules shall be for 12 months only dating from the date of issue, excepting broadcast listening-in licences which shall be for twelve months from the date of installation of Wireless Telegraphy Apparatus for broadcast listening-in. Applications for renewal shall be made on Form E (to be obtained from the Postmaster-General on application) in the case of traders' licences to the Postmaster-General. In the case of Broadcast listeners' licences, application for renewal may be made at any of the principal Post Offices in the Island, on form Ar to be obtained from such offices. Applications for renewal shall be made in all cases within 14 days of the expiration of the licences, and shall be accompanied by the expired licence forms. All renewal licences shall be for a period of twelve months from the day following the last day of the expired licence.

The fee for and in respect of all licences for broadcast listening-in shall be fifteen rupees per annum in respect of each station licence, and shall be paid by postage stamps affixed to the application form.

LICENCES FOR EXPERIMENTAL PURPOSES
CERTIFICATES OF COMPETENCY

No person shall work the transmitting apparatus of a wireless telegraph in Ceylon or in any ship or aircraft registered in Ceylon unless such person is a British subject and holds a certificate of competency.

Such certificate of competency shall be issued by such officers as the Postmaster-General may depute, and after such examination as the Postmaster-General may prescribe.

LICENCES FOR IMPORTATION FOR TRADE PURPOSES

(r) Licences for the importation for trade purposes or sale of apparatus for wireless telegraphic purposes shall be granted subject to the following conditions :—

- (a) The applicant shall be a recognized and established dealer in electric apparatus.
- (b) The licence shall be in all respects subject to all the provisions of the Telecommunications Ordinance and to the rules made thereunder which may be in force during the period of the licence.

No wireless telegraphic apparatus for transmitting purposes shall be imported or sold of greater power than is laid down in the rules

(2) The licensee shall keep a book record of all licensed apparatus which he imports and of all disposals of the same in such form as the Postmaster-General may direct, and shall produce his stock and book record on demand of the Postmaster-General or of any officer Rutariscci in that behalf in writing by him.

LICENCES FOR PRIVATE RADIO TELEPHONE SERVICES

(t) The Director of Telecommunications may issue to—

- (a) the Representative in Ceylon (by whatever name, title or designation called) of the Government of any country forming part of the British Commonwealth, or
- (b) the Head of any Department of the Government of Ceylon, or
- (c) any person engaged in any business in Ceylon, a licence authorising—
 - (a) the installation, establishment, maintenance and working of one or more wireless telegraph stations for the purpose of the transmission and receipt of messages relating to the functions of such Representative or Department, or to the business of such person, as the case may be, and
 - (b) the importation and possession of the wireless telegraph apparatus required for the purpose of such station or stations.

(a) A licence issued under paragraph (i) shall be in force until it is revoked and determined by the Director or surrendered by the licensee.

(3) A licence for the purposes of paragraph (I) shall be issued free of charge to a Representative in Ceylon of the Government of any country forming part of the British Commonwealth or a Head of any Department of the Government of Ceylon.

(4) (a) In respect of a licence issued to any person other than a person referred to in paragraph (3), the fee for every consecutive twelve months of the period during which such licence is in force shall be a fixed sum of rupees one hundred and a sum calculated at the rate of rupees seventy-five for each trans-receiver (fixed, mobile or portable) in use on the date on which payment of the fee is due.

(b) The fee referred to in sub-paragraph (a) shall be paid on or before the date of commencement of each period of twelve months.

(e) Where any trans-receiver (fixed, mobile or portable) is installed by a licensee after the payment of the fee for the current period of twelve months, a fee calculated at the rate of rupees seventy-five for each such trans-receiver shall be paid on the date of such installation for the unexpired portion of such period.

(d) The licence fee referred to in paragraph (a) shall be paid in such manner as the Director may require.

NOTE.--

Licences for private Radio Telephone Services will NOT be issued for the following I-

- (i) For communication between TWO OR MORE FIXED STATIONS ;
- (2) For private communication or on the business of any person or company, between a FIXED STATION and a private MOBILE STATION, such as a private car; and
- (3) For communication between TWO MOBILE STATIONS.

2. Licences will be issued only for services of a PUBLIC UTILITY NATURE, e.g., Taxi Cab Services operating in a city. Such licence will be for service between a FIXED STATION and a specified number of MOBILE STATIONS, to be operated on "V.H.F." and on the Two-Way Simplex System. The apparatus should be "crystal-controlled" for two fixed frequencies which will be allotted by the Telecommunications Department on application.

3. No Dealer should import Radio Telegraph and for Telephone equipment, without prior intimation to and approval of the Postmaster-General, and before obtaining the necessary frequency allocation in the case of V.H.F. equipment.

ZONE NUMBERS

(Colombo)

See Part III (Address Section), following Abbreviations.

Broadcasting in Ceylon

On the 1st of October, 1949, all broadcasting services were centralized, and Radio Ceylon was placed under the control of a Director General of Broadcasting who is responsible to the Minister of Posts and Broadcasting. Broadcasting programmes are on the air daily under two distinct services

- (a) National Service
- (b) Commercial Service

Programmes of the National Service fall under five distinct services :

- (i) Western Service for English speaking listeners
- (ii) Sinhalese Service for Sinhalese speaking listeners
- (iii) Tamil Service for Tamil speaking listeners
- (iv) Schools Service for all schools in the Island
- (v) Rural programmes for rural folks in Sinhalese and Tamil speaking areas.

Schools Service programmes are broadcast in English, Sinhalese and Tamil. The Lesson Notes and Guides to Teachers on programmes each term are published in all three languages to enable teachers to make the best use of broadcasts. Wall Charts containing full details of programmes are also issued to schools in advance.

Broadcasting is carried out in the National Service in accordance with schedules which are approved each quarter. All schedulies seek to effect a harmonious blend of the three well known components of broadcasting—entertainment, education and information. Particulars of broadcasting hours each quarter are published in the Ceylon Radio Times.

CEYLON RADIO TIMES—The Journal of Radio Ceylon is published fortnightly. It is sold at 25 cents (Ceylon currency) per copy. Subscriptions for supply of copies yearly and half-yearly (Ceylon only) are Rs. 7.50 and Rs. 3.75 respectively, including wrapping and postage. Intending subscribers should apply to the Editor, Publications, Department of Broadcasting, P. O. Box 574, Colombo, enclosing cheque, money order or postal order, made payable to the Director General of Broadcasting. Single copies may be purchased from the Sole Distributors, McCallum Book Depot, 77, Norris Road, Colombo II, or from any of their sub-agents.

Particulars of rates for advertisements in the Ceylon Radio Times can be had on application to the Business Manager, Radio Times, P. O. Box 574, Colombo. Other communications should be addressed to the Editor, Radiu Times, P. O. Box 574, Colombo.

TARANGINI—The Sinhalese Journal of Radio Ceylon is published monthly and is sold at 50 cents per copy. Subscriptions for supplies of copies yearly and half yearly are Rs. 6.40 and Rs. 3.20 respectively, including wrapping and postage. Intending subscribers should apply to the sole distributors, McCallum Book Depot, 77, Norris Road, Colombo tr, enclosing cheque, money order or postal order made payable to the Manager. Single copies may be purchased from the Sole Distributors or their Sub-Agents. For particulars of rates for advertisements, editorial matter etc. communications should be addressed to the Editor, 'Tarangani', P. O, Box 574, Colombo.

Licence Holders

The total number of licence holders at end of November 1953 was 83,452 as compared with 66,189 at end of November, 1952.

PRIVATE BROADCAST MESSAGES

The following classes of private messages are accepted for broadcasting ;--

- (a) Obituary notices.
- (b) Urgent private messages when relatives are required at the bedside of a sick person who is certified in writing by the Hospital Authorities or his Medical Attendant to be dangerously ill.
- (c) Messages of public interest.
- (d) Urgent official messages sent by the Police about missing persons.

(2) (a) The sender of a message under item (a) or item (6) paragraph (2) should furnish in addition to the name of the deceased or the patient as the case may be, the permanent address or other particulars of identity of the deceased or the patient.

(b) A message under item (c) of paragraph (i) is accepted only on condition that it will be broadcast if the Director General of Broadcasting or the officer deputed by him approves it to be one of public interest. Where the message is not so approved, the message will be cancelled and the full cost refunded to the sender.

3 (a) Private Broadcast messages will be accepted at Postal Telegraph Offices for the transmission for the purpose of being broadcast in one or more of the languages, English, Sinhalese and Tamil as desired by the sender. The messages shall be expressed by the sender in plain English only and shall be written on the usual Inland telegram form, the address being " Broadcast, Colombo ". The contents of the message shall consist only of the facts pertaining to the news or other matter to be broadcast, and shall not contain any matter which in the opinion of the Director General of Broadcasting or of any officer authorised by him to examine, such message before it is broadcast, may be construed to be extraneous to the subject matter of the message. Where a message contains matter which can be so construed, the Director General of Broadcasting or officer authorised by him in that behalf may delete such matter from the message before it is broadcast. The decision of the Director General of Broadcasting or of such officer as to what constitutes extraneous matter shall be final.

(6) The translation for announcement in Sinhalese or Tamil, where desired, will be made at Radio Ceylon. The Director General of Broadcasting shall not be responsible for any inaccuracy in such translation.

(c) The broadcasting of these messages will take place during the following periods assigned for the announcement in the broadcasting programmes in accordance with the wishes of the sender :-

	Morning	Noon	Evening	Night.
Western Service
Monday to Saturday ...	7.40	2.20	6.40	9.4 ⁰
Sunday	7.40	1.20		9.4 ⁰
Sinhalese Service :
Monday to Saturday	9.55	12.55		7. ro
Sunday	6.55	12.55		8.55
Tamil Service :
Monday to Saturday ...	7.25	1.00		7.4 ⁰
Sunday ...	7.25	1.30		10.00

(4) (a) For each private broadcast message a charge calculated in respect of the number of words in the English text of the message, whatever may be the language in which the message is announced, shall be made at the following rates :—

(2) For one announcement or the first of two or more announcements, of a message on any day, fifty cents for each of the first fifteen words and one rupee for each subsequent word of the message.

(2) For each, other than the first, of two or more announcements of a message on any day, twenty-five cents for each of the first fifteen words and fifty cents for each subsequent word of the message.

(b) The sender should specify on the telegram form the following :—

- (a) The number of announcements required ;
- (b) The language or languages to be used in announcements in the correct order ;
- (c) The times at which announcements are to be made, that is morning or night, or both morning and night.

Example :—

(2) two announcements English and Sinhalese morning ;

(2) four announcements English and Tamil morning: English and Tamil Night.

(c) Neither these instructions nor the address of the telegram will be charged for.

(5) Private Broadcast Messages will not be accepted from the sender over the telephone.

(6) The Director General of Broadcasting accepts no responsibility whatever beyond the actual broadcasting of the message. Claims for refund are not admitted except where the message has failed to be broadcast owing to an error of the telegraph service.

COMMERCIAL BROADCASTING

On September 30th, 1950, the Commercial Broadcasting came into operation. Programmes were at first on short wave and were broadcast on three beams directed respectively to Africa, India and Pakistan and S.E. Asia. In March, 1951, a local service for Ceylon listeners was added, broadcasting on medium wave as well as on short wave. The hours of broadcasting at present are:—

S. E. Asia Service 14.45 p.m. to 16.45 p.m.

Indo Pakistan Service: 0700 to 0800, and 1700 to 2200.

Africa Service 10.45 a.m. to 12 noon.

Ceylon Local Service daily 0630 to 2215.

Details together with the rates charged for advertisements may be obtained from the Director of Commercial Broadcasting, Commercial Service, Radio Ceylon or Radio Advertising Services, III, Mahatma Gandhi Road, Bombay, Pan American Broadcasting Co.; 17, East 42nd Street, New York 17 and Overseas Rediflusion Ltd., Carlton House, Lower Regent Street, London, S.W. ..

Ceylon Government Railway

RULES REFERRING TO THE ASSESSMENT AND CONVEYANCE OF TRAFFIC BY TRAINS

Subject to Revision

GENERAL

MAINTENANCE OF SERVICE—The connections between Main and Branch Lines will be maintained as far as possible, but may be broken in which case the Railway will not be liable for any consequences arising therefrom; nor do the Government guarantee that trains shall arrive & depart at the times specified in the Time Tables. Further, they will not be responsible of any loss, inconvenience, or injury, which may arise from delays or detention.

HOURS OF BUSINESS AT STATIONS AND GOODS OFFICES—Stations, Booking Offices, Parcels Offices and Goods Offices will be open for public business only between such hours as may from time to time be prescribed by the General Manager for each such station, booking office, parcels office or goods office.

A notice or notices showing the hours of public business prescribed for each such station or office shall be exhibited at such station or office.

INQUIRIES—Any inquiry for information should always be made from the principal officers-in-charge of the different stations.

INCIVILITY—Passengers are requested to report direct to the General Manager any instance of incivility, want of attention, or misconduct on the part of persons employed on the Railway. Complaints should embody the name and address of the complainant.

GAULTIERES—Railway servants are forbidden, under pain of dismissal, to ask for or receive from the public any fee or gratuity.

GIVING CHANGE, AND ERRORS IN TICKETS—In order to prevent inconvenience and delay, passengers should provide themselves with suitable change to pay for their tickets, etc., as the Booking Clerks may not be able to give change. Passengers are requested to examine their tickets and change before leaving the booking office counter, as errors cannot afterwards be rectified.

WEIGHTS—The Government are not bound by any weights inserted by consignors on their forwarding orders, as freight charges are calculated on the weights obtained, when necessary, by weighing on the weighing machines of the Railway Department; nor will the Government admit any responsibility in respect of the weights thus arrived at, either as a basis of claim for shortage or as regards their absolute correctness between buyer and seller, such weights being taken merely for the purpose of calculating freight charges.

AMOUNTS UNDERCHARGED—by the Railway staff may be subsequently recovered. Parcels, luggage etc., are liable to be detained and sold and the proceeds utilised to clear the charges due and expenses incurred by the Railway.

PAYMENTS—Cheques or other orders for payment of money are not accepted unless especially authorized by the General Manager.

FIREARMS—Under no circumstances may loaded firearms be taken or placed in a carriage or other railway vehicle or brought to any station or other premises of the railway. Before firearms are taken into carriage or handed over to be conveyed in the brake-van as luggage, the station-master and the guard must be satisfied that they are not loaded. Those who violate this rule will be liable to prosecution under section 26 or 27 of the Railway Ordinance. This rule will not apply in the case of troops or military, naval or police escorts who will be conveyed in compartments by themselves when carrying loaded firearms.

PLATFORMS—(a) No person is allowed to go on to the platforms at stations except those holding platform tickets and passengers going by the trains, who must show their tickets when passing on to the platforms, but Station-masters may use their own discretion in allowing friends of passengers to go on to the platforms.

(b) No person shall offer for sale any goods or articles whatsoever in the trains or on the platforms or within the precincts of the Railway without written authority from the General Manager authorising him to do so, or contrary to the terms of such authority. Those who violate this rule will be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 20 for each such offence.

IRREGULAR ACCESS, ETC., TO CARRIAGES, VEHICLES, OR PREMISES—No person shall open, by the use of a key or any other means, the door of a locked railway carriage or any other locked railway vehicle or shall open any locked door or gate giving access to or from any railway premises, or shall enter or quit or shall attempt to enter or quit any railway vehicle or premises by getting through windows or climbing over doors, gates or fences, or other barriers which have been placed by the railway authorities to prevent unlawful exit from or entrance to railway vehicles or premises, or shall break down or damage any railway door, gate, fence, or other barrier.

COMMUNICATION WITH DRIVER—No person shall without proper cause or reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall be upon him, make use of the means provided in any carriage of the C.G.R. for communicating with the driver of the train.

Every person aware of the commission of an offence under the above rule shall, in the absence of reasonable excuse, the burden of which shall be upon the person so aware, forthwith give information to any railway official, who in his presence shall inquire into the circumstances of the case.

TICKETS AND CONDITIONS OF ISSUE—Tickets are not transferable ; they are the property of the Government, and must be produced or delivered up, whenever demanded by the Railway servants.

Single journey tickets are available only on the day of issue or by a through train starting on the day of issue and entitle the holders to travel once only in one direction, between the points marked thereon.

Tickets will not be issued to passengers at an intermediate station for the train by which they have travelled or are travelling, but passengers desirous of travelling beyond the station to which they have been booked must, before passing that station, hand their tickets to the guard, who will see to the collection of the excess fare at the proper point.

Passengers having once booked are not allowed to change their tickets for those of a lower class.

Except under the circumstances stated below a passenger leaving the train at a station short of that to which he has booked must deliver up his ticket, and cannot be allowed to resume his journey except by obtaining a fresh ticket.

Passengers holding single tickets for distances over 50 miles may break journey once at any station en route and resume the journey within 24 hours, provided the tickets are endorsed by the station-master or officer in charge of the station.

Passengers are not allowed to use tickets on any day for which such tickets are not available. Passengers are booked at intermediate stations only on condition that there is room in the train by which they intend to travel.

Tickets issued at specially reduced rates can only be used between the stations specified thereon ; if used to or from any other stations, the whole ticket will be forfeited and full fares charged.

CHILDREN—Children under three years of age will be carried free ; children of that age and under twelve years will be charged half fare.

A female passenger whether accompanied by any other passenger or not may take in her compartment a female servant on payment of the fare of the next lower class ; and a servant in sole charge of one or more children may travel in the same compartment as the child or children on payment of the fare of the next lower class, provided that such an arrangement does not interfere with the comfort of other passengers travelling in the same compartment, and provided further that not more than one female servant shall be allowed this concession in respect of each family party.

Any servant who travels in sole charge of a child or children under three years of age, or with a child or children accompanied by the father or other male guardian must pay the fare of the class in which he or she travels.

TRAVELLING WITHOUT TICKET—(a) Any person, other than a railway official on duty, who is found in a railway carriage or found travelling on the railway—

- (i) without having previously paid his fare, or
- (ii) with a ticket which is out of date, or
- (iii) in a carriage of a higher class than that for which he has paid his fare, shall be liable to pay, in addition to twice his fare or twice the additional or excess fare due from him, as the case may be, a penalty of an amount calculated at the following rates :—

	Rs.	Cts.
(i) if he is found or is travelling in the first class	...	20 0
(ii) if he is found or is travelling in the second class	••	7 5 ⁰
(iii) if he is found or is travelling in the third class	••	5 0

(b) Any person, other than a railway official on duty, who is found in a railway carriage or found travelling on the railway beyond the station for which he has paid his fare without having previously either paid his fare for the additional distance or obtained the sanction of the guard of the train shall be liable to pay, in addition to twice his fare or twice the additional or excess fare due from him, as the case may be, a penalty of an amount calculated at the rate of Rs. 2.50 for every unit of 25 miles or part thereof of the additional distance beyond the distance for which he has paid his fare.

Provided, however, that if he is travelling in a carriage of a higher class than that for which he has paid his fare, he shall also be liable to pay a further penalty of an amount calculated at the rates set out in paragraph (a).

(c) A passenger who unintentionally travels beyond the distance for which he has paid fare will be allowed to return to the station to which he was booked on payment of a single fare for the distance overridden, provided he returns by the next passenger train, and does not leave the station premises in the interim.

EXCESS FARES—When a passenger before commencing his journey wishes to change his ticket for one of a higher class and pays the difference of fare the original ticket issued will be taken back and a fresh one for the higher class issued instead.

When a passenger in the course of his journey wishes to change to a higher class of a carriage than that for which he holds a ticket he must inform the Guard of the train, who will see that he pays the excess fare and obtains an excess fare ticket, either at the station at which the change is made or at the first station at which this can be conveniently done. Care should be taken to obtain a printed and numbered excess fare ticket for the payment made, otherwise the fare may be demanded again at any other station at which tickets are examined or collected.

Every passenger who pays excess fare should demand and at once receive a receipt for the amount paid.

All claims for refund of excess charges must be made within six days of the date of payment, otherwise they may not be entertained. Claims should be addressed to the Chief Accountant, Colombo, and may be written on forms which can be had free of charge from any Station Master. Claimants should carefully note the ' numbers printed on their tickets, as claims cannot be entertained unless the numbers are given.

REFUND ON TICKETS--Refunds will not be allowed on Platform Tickets, and Rail Motor Tickets.

All refunds on tickets will be subject to a deduction of ro per cent., minimum lo cents, for each full or half ticket, except in the case of passengers who were unable to complete their journey owing to accidents on the Railway or any default on the part of the Railway.

Applications for refund on single tickets fully or partially unused, must be supported by a certificate from the Station Master at the issuing or intermediate station at which the journey was terminated.

EXTENSION OF TIME— A passenger who is left behind at a roadside station through sickness or other unavoidable cause, or who is unable to use his ticket by the train for which he has been booked, should at once communicate with the Station Master with a view to having his ticket made' available by another train, if the cause of delay be satisfactorily explained ; otherwise the passenger will have to purchase a fresh ticket.

CONCESSIONARY TICKETS.—Parties of not less than ro persons making excursions for pleasure or education are issued concessionary return tickets at if single fare for the double journey for travelling together in any class between stations not less than 25 miles apart on prior application to the G.M.R. These tickets will be available for return within 17 days.

SEASON TICKETS. Season tickets are not transferable, and holders will be held responsible for seeing that they are not used by any other person. Season ticket holders are required to have their tickets with them when travelling, and to show them when required to do so by a Railway official otherwise they will be liable for payment of the penalty prescribed.

Season ticket holders travelling in a higher class than that for which the season ticket is made out, without having paid the excess fare due, or without having informed the guard, are liable to prosecution.

Any season ticket found in use after the second day of issue without being signed or name written upon will be forfeited. Any person found travelling with an expired season ticket after two days beyond the date of expiry of the ticket will be liable to prosecution.

Season tickets will be issued only to those who make a written application for them. Monthly suburban zone tickets will continue to be issued to Fort and Maradana only from suburban stations.

This change had been made with a view to check fraud and misuse of season ticket facilities.

All persons who want season tickets have to apply on prescribed forms for their tickets. When fresh tickets are issued the old ones will be collected by the railway.

FREE CONVEYANCE OF BREAKFAST AND TIFFIN BASKETS -Breakfast and tiffin baskets of season ticket holders are conveyed free in both directions at owners'

RESTAURANT CARS

Restaurant cars are first class carriages and may be occupied by second class passengers only for the purpose of obtaining refreshments. Second class passengers entering restaurant cars for this purpose must leave them in accordance with the table shown here.

In other sections of the railway they are allowed 30 minutes for refreshments, and, at the expiry of this time, they must leave at the first station the train stops.

First class passengers may also be required to leave restaurant cars in accordance with the table shown above to make room for other passengers.

Passengers holding second class tickets who may desire to travel in the restaurant cars for a longer distance than stated above may be allowed to do so only if the seats occupied by them are not required between the second and first class fare to the end of the next section.

Passengers paying excess fare are requested to see that they obtain a receipt on a printed Railway form giving particulars of the fare paid from the officer to whom the payment is made, and it shall be the duty of such officer to give the receipt on demand.

Passengers are not allowed to put their feet on the seats of the cars,

Under no circumstances shall dogs be brought into the cars. As the accommodation is limited, packages of luggage, etc. cannot be taken on the cars, but must be placed in the guard's van in the usual manner,

TRANSPORT SYSTEM IN CEYLON

Introduction—" It will be agreed by most people that all industrial effort should have as its ultimate object the increase of the real wealth of the nation, and the improvement of the standard of living of its people. In these difficult days, when both are in serious danger, and when the utmost effort is the least that can be expected of all patriotic citizens, transport in all its forms, has a vital part to play, and, therefore, an important duty rests on all those who have any voice in the control of transport so to organise and conduct the forces of this great industry with the maximum benefit to the nation as a whole ". (Paper by D. M. Sinclair, minst.T., General Manager, Birmingham and Midland Motor Omnibus Co. Ltd.).

The necessity for a good and efficient system of transport is now outside the sphere of argument in modern countries. The need for such a system of transport in the development of a nation cannot be over emphasised. It has been said that " Every country pays for the transport that it has not got ". In the pre-war period, ours was mainly an agricultural export economy. The standard of living of the people was low. The economy must be diversified, new industries must be established and agriculture must be developed to make the country self-sufficient as far as possible if the wealth of the country is to be increased and the people are to be assured of a reasonably satisfactory standard of living. The provision of cheap and efficient transport facilities would be necessary for this purpose. Transport would, therefore, play a vital part in the economy of the country and plans for transport should have first priority over other plans since the success of the latter depend, to a great extent, upon the efficiency of the transport system.

In the past Ceylon had been fortunate in this respect. The country is provided with a sufficiently adequate and a reasonably efficient system of transport. More transport, no doubt, might become necessary with the agricultural and industrial development in the future. The transport system has been reviewed by many Commissions and individuals, and Government has, from time to time, taken steps to improve the transport system of the island. The first major Commission appointed was what was popularly known as the Glower Commission. This went into an exhausting inquiry into the working of the Railway and issued its report as Sessional papers XI and XII of 1920. In 1925 another Commission was appointed " to consider and report on the means of transport already existing and to assist the Government to formulate a policy in encouraging the economic development of the island by roads, railways and waterways ". In 1937, a special Commission led by Brigadier-General F.D. Hammond was appointed with particular reference to the railway. Mr. Nelson was engaged in 1942 to re-organise the transport system of the island. In September 1948 Mr. D. R. Rutnam, O.B.E., was commissioned to report on the transport conditions of Ceylon and his report was published in July 1949. The present Motor Traffic Act. No. 14 of 1951 is based on the recommendation of Mr. Rutnam.

Railway Transport

Excluding the Jaffna Peninsula, the bulk of the commerce and agriculture of the country is confined to the area Chilaw—Nalanda—Bibile—Wellawaya—Bentota with a narrow coastal strip extending from Bentota to Tangalle. In addition to the above area there are the requirements of the great naval port of Trincomalee and the agricultural settlements that have arisen between Maho and Trincomalee. There has also been considerable agricultural development around Batticaloa and further south. The Jaffna Peninsula is densely populated by a vigorous population that had developed it considerably. The railway system was built to meet these needs and falls naturally into two groups (a) railways serving fiat country and (b) railways serving the central hilly portion of the island which produces its tea and some of its rubber.

Under (a) there are the following broad gauge lines :—

- (1) The Coast Line from Colombo to Galle and Matara.
- (2) The line from Colombo to Polgahawela and then on north to Jaffna & Kankasanturai, with a branch from Madawachchiya to Talaimannar, connecting with the Indian Mainland.
- (3) The line north of Colombo from Ragarna through Negombo to Bangadeniya, which is north of Chilaw.

(4) The two railway lines from Mabo to Trincomalee and Battalea, Ioa, which bifurcate at Gal-Oya.

There is also the Kelani Valley Line with a narrow 2' 6" gauge from Colombo to Opanaika through Avissawella and Ratnapura.

Under (b) we have the portion of the Main Line beyond Polgahawela to Badulla; a branch line goes from Peradeniya to Matale. The total route mileage is 897, Broad Gauge 1 ro miles and Narrow Gauge 87 miles.

The total capital expenditure on the railways up to the end of 1952-53 is Rs. 268,892,401/-. The Railway is being run at a loss in the post-war period. The excess of expenditure over revenue during 1951-52 and 1952-53 was 12.3 and 13.4 million rupees respectively. In 1952-53 the Railway income was distributed as follows:—

Passengers	...	Rs.	30,305,634	43.21%
Goods and Livestock	...		31,173,502	44.44%
Parcels, Mails and other coaching	4,618,772	6.58%
Miscellaneous	...		3,339,598	4.76%
Road Services	...		705,767	1.07%
The railway expenditure was distributed as follows:—
Salaries, Wages, etc.	...	Rs.	45,090,982	52.70%
Pensions and Gratuities	4,718,181	5.51%
Fuel and Coal	17,122,052	20.01%
Materials for permanent way and equipment	4,965,565	5.80%
Other expenses	13,670,424	15.98%

The latest figures show that about 97% of those who travel by train are passengers of the 3rd class. The number of passengers carried shows a gradual and continuous increase from 1865. In the pre-war period, the maximum number of persons were carried in 1928-29 when the Railway carried 19.4 million passengers and 215,540 season ticket holders. The number decreased during the depression till it reached the very low level of 9.4 million passengers and 160,649 season ticket holders in 1935-36. From then, the passenger traffic gradually increased till in 1943-44 it exceeded the 1928-29 figures. The traffic reached the maximum in 1947-48 when the number of passengers carried was 26.48 millions and the season ticket holders were 453,649. In 1949-50, the Railway carried 24.3 million passengers and 476,032 season ticket holders. The traffic reached a new maximum in 1950/51, when the number of passengers carried was 27.58 millions while the Season Ticket Holders were 517,702. In 1951-52 the Railway carried 27.94 million passengers and 534,765 season ticket holders. In 1952-53 the number of passengers carried was 26.04 millions while the season ticket holders were 516,180. The number of passengers carried by the Railway has increased by about 143% since 1938/39. Yet, this increase is very much smaller than the increase in the passengers carried by omnibuses which is more than 300%. The rate of fare per passenger mile is as follows:—

	Beyond Rambukkana	Other Lines
1st Class	... 16 cents	12 cents
2nd Class	... ro cents	8 cents
3rd Class	... 4 cents	4 cents

The Railway carried in 1951/52 about 1.6r million tons. In 1952/53, the tonnage was 1.53 million tons. The amount of goods carried in 1953 is 74% greater than the amount carried in 1937/38. Yet, it is 109,465 tons less than the tonnage carried during 1944/45 when the Railway carried the highest tonnage in its history, namely, 1.69 million tons. The amount carried is, however, more than the amounts carried in the years 1925/30 when road transport was in its infancy. Since then there has been a large increase in the production and wealth of the country and the amount of goods transported, but practically all this increase has accrued to the road while the Railway has made only slight gains.

The carrying capacity of the railway is about 2.2 million tons. At present, therefore, the railway is only worked up to 72% of its capacity as regards the carriage of goods. The Motor Traffic Act No. 14 of 1951 therefore proposes to reserve for the railway long distance carriage subject to certain exceptions in order to enable the railway to be worked economically. The railway plays an essential part in the economy of the country—

(a) it costs less on imported materials than road transport for the same amount of transport;

- (b) it carries the suburban peak-hour traffic and low-priced goods which road transport would not be able to handle and the in-
- (c) with the agricultural development of the dry zone, roadways would provide industrial development of certain areas. the chief means of transport in these

Motor Transport

Motor transport in Ceylon is placed in a particularly favourable position for the following reasons, (a) The bulk of commerce and agriculture of the country is confined to a small area, and this area covers just over a quarter of the island. Distances within this area are comparatively short. (b) Export products such as tea, rubber and coconuts, which have to be transported are high priced articles and can stand, a comparatively high rate of freight. (c) The main centres of production are Imports are also of a similar nature. (d) Traffic in Ceylon does not move closer to Colombo by road than by rail and (e) Roadway transport more economic than road transport.

For these reasons the development of motor transport has been very rapid today it would be correct to say that the chief means of transport in the island is motor transport.

(a) Motor Cars 1902. At the end of the first motor car was brought to Ceylon in February 1902. There were only 745 motor vehicles in Ceylon. Since then, the number of motor vehicles has been increasing at a rapid rate except for two short periods, namely 1931-1934, the period of the great depression, and 1941-1945 the period of the second world war. The number of motor vehicles at the end of December, 1953 classified according to the different classes is given below :—

Motor cars and Cabs	.. 49759 1
Buses	.. 4 ⁰⁵⁵
Lorries	.. 149 ⁸⁰ 1
Tractors	643
Trailers	831
Motor Cycles	.. 95 ¹⁵
Land Vehicles	.. 4 ¹³

Total 80201

With a population of about 7.9 millions, Ceylon has a motor vehicle for every 114 people. For its population it has more vehicles per thousand persons than industrially advanced countries like Germany or Italy.

Road Passenger Transport

(b) Prior to the introduction of Ordinance No. 45 of 1938, serious results had arisen from uncontrolled omnibus competition. The Hammond Commission which was appointed to investigate into this state of affairs recommended a central authority for the issue of licences for buses issued by the Commission. Under Ordinance No. 45 of 1938 licences were issued for motor transport. Buses were licensed for specified routes and had to run according to approved time-tables. New licences were issued where the services were inadequate. The defect in this system was that full use was not made of available vehicles and capacity. The transporters at fixed times even if there was not sufficient load for the vehicles. The same services could have been run with fewer vehicles.

Ordinance No. 47 of 1942 was brought into operation to rationalise the road transport industry and to prevent wasteful and uneconomic running. Each operator who is given a licence to operate on the main route is also given licences to operate on the other routes and the subsidiary routes. Licences are issued for periods of one or two years and are renewed when they have expired if the services of the operator had been satisfactory. 984 licences were issued to 92 operators to provide bus and cab services in the island. Sixty of these licences are for cab services. Most of the operators are private companies. In terms of vehicles, their size varies from 3 to 220. In addition, there are some 189 small operators who provide special services for occasions, tours, contract hire, etc. The following statement shows the extent of the services provided by the regular operators.

1. Number of buses licensed for the year	.. 2329
2. Number of miles run during June, 1952	.. 5,996,998
5. Number of passengers carried during June	.. 22,988,695

1952 figures not available at the time of going to Press).

Bus services cover all parts of the island. Most of the towns are connected by bus services. These services also run to the remotest parts of the island connecting villages and towns in various parts. They carry more passengers than the railway, and the industry is operated very economically at the lowest costs possible. This was made possible by the system of monopolies.

In addition to the regular services, special services are operated both by the regular operators as well as the 139 small operators mentioned above. During 1953, 1,29 special licences were issued. To prevent competition, buses are only registered in the names of (a) regular operators of bus services, (b) co-operative unions, and (c) bona fide tourist agencies approved by the Commissioner of Motor Transport.

Fares—At present the fare per passenger mile varies from 3 to 5 cents according to the nature of the roads, availability of traffic and economy of operation. Cab services are allowed fares varying from 5 to 10 cents per passenger mile. Operators find it difficult, in spite of the large economies realised through rationalisation under the monopoly system, to operate their services economically at present fares owing to the large increase in the costs of operation. The expenditure of bus companies can be divided into two categories. (a) Fixed charges & periodical expenditure including renewals. (b) Expenditure connected with daily operation. The first category includes cost of new chassis, building new bus bodies, spare parts, establishment charges etc.

The present system of organisation of road passenger service avoids unhealthy competition with the Railway. A large number of long distance road passenger transport services which were running in competition with the Railway was eliminated when Ordinance No. 47 of 1942 came into operation. There are a few companies providing services on long distance routes parallel to the Railway. Even in these cases any increase in the number of trips would not be permitted unless there is a need for such trips.

The system is not free from defects. The units operating transport services are not all of the optimum size. There are a large number of uneconomic units which will have to be eliminated through amalgamation. Since most of the companies are private companies it is difficult for these operators to attract sufficient capital and talent from outside. These private companies must become public companies before the end of 1953.

Motor Lorries are garaged in various parts of the island. All parts of the island except for areas in N.C.P., Eastern Province and Mannar and Vavuniya districts are adequately served by lorries. The above areas are now being developed and in course of time additional lorries will be allowed for these areas. A large number of these lorries are licensed to ply also on long distance routes running parallel to the Railway. It is estimated that on an average about 1,000 lorries are doing full time work on long distance routes. The number licensed for these routes, no doubt, is very much higher. For various reasons road transport is preferred to railway on these routes and for a long time, therefore, the railway has been losing traffic to the road.

Owing to the increase of production there has been a large increase in the number of lorries in the post war period. There were about 4,500 lorries in the island before the war. Today the number is about 13,000. Most of the lorries allowed in the post war period were only allowed local areas so that they may not compete with the Railway. The issue of licences for lorries is governed by the Motor Traffic Act No. 14 of 1951. Carriers' Permits are divided into two classes, namely, Private Carriers' Permits and Public Carriers' Permits. A Private Carriers' Permit is issued to any person who bona-fide requires the use of the lorry for or in connection with any trade or business carried on by him or for any other purpose of a private character. Applications for Public Carriers' Permits are published in the Gazette. Objections can be made by any person providing transport facilities in the area applied for. In deciding such applications, the Commissioner shall have regard to the adequacy and suitability of all existing facilities. Long distance carriage in competition with the railway is prohibited in both cases except in exceptional cases and in the case of transport of perishable and fragile articles.

The vehicles including vehicles belonging to the Government on an estimate carry about 4.5 million tons a year. Even on long distance routes road transport carries 25 per cent. more goods than the Railway. The average rate is about cts. 30 per ton mile on long distance routes. The rate increases when the distance is shorter.

THE MOTOR TRAFFIC ACT

A new act entitled "the Motor Traffic Act" came into operation on 1.9.5r. The main new features of the Act are as follows :-

(x) Road Passenger Transport :

(a) Licences will be issued up to a maximum period of so years. Before the Act came into operation, licences were issued up to a maximum period of 2 years only. The longer period will give greater security to the Operators who will therefore invest more capital and put on the roads more new buses

(b) Buses will be registered in the names of Co-operative Societies and bona fide tourist companies to provide occasional services.

(e) The system of exclusive road service licences is being continued. But provision is made for a number of exceptions.

(1) Different operators can provide services on the same section of a highway within an urban area and (sr) where the services provided by an operator are insufficient and if he fails to provide adequate services alter being ordered to do so, other companies can be issued licences to provide services on the same routes.

(d) Bus companies will be compelled to provide adequate depreciation so that old buses may be replaced by new ones.

(e) Co-operative Societies will be given preference, other things being equal, in the case of licences for routes which are not trunk routes and which serve local needs.

(f) In addition to the power of revocation and suspension, the Commissioner is also given the power to fine operators for breaches of conditions.

(g) Before the expiry of 3 years from the coming into operation of the New Act, all operators should become public companies whose memorandum and articles of association are approved by the Government.

(h) Government may acquire either by negotiation or compulsorily shares in the companies up to a maximum of 45% of the issued share capital. Local authorities will be given a certain portion of these shares.

(i) Operators can be compelled to amalgamate where necessary.

(j) Schools, public bodies, firms etc. will be issued licences for private coaches to carry school children, employees etc.

2) Goods Carriage by Road :

(a) Licences will be classified as public and private.

(b) Private licences will be issued on evidence of bona fide work irrespective of the existence of transport facilities.

(c) No licence, private or hiring, will be issued to any lorry to ply on a route which is served by the railway and where the distance is more than Go miles.

(d) Exceptions to the above prohibition are provided in the following Cases :—

- (i) For the carriage of fresh fish, vegetables, and other perishable or fragile articles.
- (ii) On the ground of strong economic justification.
- (iii) In the case of Government vehicles and
- (iv) In the case of present operators till December, 1955.

(3) Driving Licences :

(a) Driving Licences are to be issued for life but can be cancelled on conviction for rash or negligent driving.

(4) Use of Motor Vehicles on Highways : A new Highway Code incorporating the most up-to-date and recent rules of the road has been published.

(5) Commercial vehicles which are not mechanically fit are to be inspected and prohibited from use.

(6) To prevent duplication and wastage, there is to be a greater measure of co-ordination between road transport and other forms of commercial transport. One of the functions of the Commissioner is to recommend measures of such co-ordination to the Minister who will take steps to implement the recommendations.

Canals and Waterways

There are few waterways which can be used for commercial transport over any appreciable distance. But we have a lengthy canal system left to us by the Dutch extending 109.82 miles from Puttalam as far south as Galpotta on the I(alu Ganga. This continuous system of inland navigation makes full use of lakes and lagoons and streams in addition to cut canals.

The canals are not suitable for use by power driven boats. The canal banks have earth slopes and are unprotected except for short lengths. The whole system is restricted and the type of transport permissible on the waterways is confined to slow moving boats towed by men along tow paths of canal banks for most of the way. The depth of canals varies and in many places it is only 34 feet.

The waterway system is owned by the Government of Ceylon. Toll charges are levied. Tenders are invited from the Public for the right to levy toll charges. Rates are fixed by Government. No new construction is contemplated. All maintenance work is carried out by the Ceylon Government.

The upkeep of the inland water transport system forms part of the duties of the Public Works Department, Ceylon. The collection of rents is carried out by the Government Agents or their assistants who are also Revenue 41 Officers.

The canal system is suffering from considerable neglect. It performed, no doubt, a useful function before the advent of railways and mechanical road transport. It does not play now an important part in Ceylon's national economy, the reason being that it is out of date and not in a position to compete with other speedier and more economical forms of transport. In this island we do not have cheap commodities moving in large bulk which would make the canal system economic.

Very little traffic moves along these canals and it is doubtful whether any expenditure in making these canals up to date will be justified at present.

There are about 600 padda-boats and the total tonnage of goods is 9000. The boats carry copra, salt, tiles, sand, timber, etc. by river and canal at cost of ro to ao cents per ton mile.

Port of Colombo

Present facilities : The Western entrance to the harbour is 750 feet wide with a depth of 39 feet, permitting the entry of ships with draughts not exceeding 37 feet. The Northern entrance to the harbour is 600 feet wide, with a depth of 33 feet, permitting the entrance of ships with draughts not over 31 feet. Dredging policy has been keeping pace with the maximum depth of the Suez canal and Colombo lean how berth any ship that can pass through that gateway to the East. The water area of the harbour is 602 acres of which 232 acres are dredged to 36 feet and over, 137 acres to 33 feet to 36 feet, 60 acres to 30 feet to 33 feet, and 143 acres to less than 30 feet. The harbour contains a Graving Dock and a Guide Pier (500 feet long) and oil jetties all of which have water up to 33 feet alongside. The Graving Dock is 694 feet long 85 feet wide between main copings, and has a minimum width on the floor of 63 feet. In shore of the main Graving Dock is a small inner Graving Dock, opened for traffic on July 18, 1938. It is 350 feet long and 54 feet wide. There is a Patent Slip situated at the South-West end of the harbour, equipped for the cleaning and repairing of such vessels as cannot be either conveniently or economically dealt within the Graving Dock. It is 500 feet long and the cradle is 220 feet long and 40 feet wide. The Patent Slip is capable of slipping a vessel of 200 tons dead-weight and not exceeding 200 feet in length. The harbour provides buoy anchorages and most of the loading and unloading of ships is done through the use of lighters. There are five main lighterage companies now operating in the Port. They use their lighters but the Shipping Agents nominate their own stevedores for the discharging and loading of cargo. Most of the cargo is manually handled but modern mechanical aids to the expeditious handling of cargo are now being gradually introduced,

Judged by the standards of fast working ports elsewhere, the Port of Colombo falls short in the speed of despatch to vessels. The absence of deep water alongside berths involves the lighterage of cargo between ship and shore and vice versa. This has resulted in not only delays to cargoes, but to ships as well, thereby increasing the costs of handling and the risk of pilferage. The reduction of the lighter fleets in the post-war period to less than 2/3 of the pre-war amount has resulted in further delays in loading and unloading. The methods of handling cargo are mostly antiquated and in many respects out of date. The absence of mechanical methods of handling cargo is now being made good. Certain trends in the post-war period have resulted in slowing down the work of the port still further. There have been large increases in the numbers of importers and exporters. The fragmentation of each consignment among so many consignees has reduced the available space by nearly a third, as the cargoes have now to be stacked according to the individual marks of each consignee. Many of the small importers are speculators who sell their goods ex-Wharf and who have no storage facilities in the city of Colombo. Goods are, therefore, allowed to remain in the transit sheds for long periods. The available transit shed accommodation has become totally insufficient. To eliminate the present congestion, more warehouse accommodation and better road and rail access to the harbour, among other things, are required. The modernisation of the Port of Colombo will have incalculable effects on the future well being of Ceylon, the economy of which depends on three main agricultural products. Ceylon sells her tea, rubber and coconut products in the world markets and buys her essential requirements of foodstuffs, textiles etc. All the exports and imports pass through the Port of Colombo.

An efficient Port and the consequent reduction in handling charges will benefit the country—

- (a) by reducing the costs of imports especially foodstuffs ;
- (b) by increasing the competitive position of her exports in world markets ;
- (c) by building up a valuable transshipment trade and attracting world shipping and
- (d) by increasing the revenue of the Port.

Facilities to be provided under the Port Development Scheme

A contract has been signed with a firm of French Contractors (Compagnie Industrielle de Traveux) for the construction of the necessary works to modernise the port of Colombo. The scheme of constructional development comprises four distinct major works to be built :-

(a) Mutwal Quay : The North-East Breakwater has been converted into a solid quay 1,242 feet in length providing two berths for cargo ships, each berth to be provided with transit sheds. This quay will be used primarily for the discharge of general and bagged cargo. Rail served, it will also have electric capstans for shunting wagons. The quay will be sufficiently wide to permit surface transport to remove cargo direct from the ship's side.

(h) Oil Dock : The length of the north pier will be 1,278 feet and the South quay (Guide Pier) will be 650 feet. The dock will be dredged to a depth of 36 feet below Low Water ordinary Spring Tide and will be equipped with a floating boom across its entrance, which will prevent in the event of fire, the dangerous spreading of oil or petrol over the rest of the harbour. This dock will accommodate two tankers and will be equipped with pipelines leading to the Oil Depot at Kolonnawa, where the main stocks of the various oil companies are stored.

(a) Lengthening of the Guide Pier or South Quay of the Oil Dock: As part of the extensions to the North Pier and South Quay of the Oil Dock, the Guide Pier will have a total length of 800 feet and will permit two vessels to berth alongside, instead of one as at present, to receive supplies of fuel oil and fresh water from the pipelines on the quay. It will also be equipped with pipelines for loading ships with bulk coconut oil from the storage tanks at Summerhill, as well as bulk latex from storage tanks to be built nearby.

(d) Delft Pier: This pier, 425 feet wide, will be built on the site of the present Passenger Jetty and will extend as far as the entrance of the Harbour to-Lake Canal. Its Eastern face will be 1384 feet in length and will provide two berths for large car steamers. Its western face will be 1352 feet in length and will provide two further berths for cargo vessels. Each of these berths will be provided with large modern transit sheds, specially designed for handling bagged grain and other cargoes. It will be rail served. Facilities will be available for obtaining supplies of fresh water and oil fuel by pipelines. On the western side of the canal entrance will be a small alongside quay 417 feet long, for the small vessels engaged on the Colombo-Tuticorin service.

(e) Custom's Quay : The length of this quay will be some 3000 feet, providing berths for five big ships. It will be similar in construction to the North-East Breakwater Quay and will be fully equipped with rail and road facilities. Four large and up to date transit sheds with special accommodation for passengers will be provided on each berth. Supplies of fresh water and oil fuel will also be available at these berths.

It is also proposed to construct a rubble bank on the seaward side of the South-West Breakwater Quay so that full protection may be provided for the alongside berths to be built there and that valuable land may be reclaimed which will enable that quay to be fully developed in the future. The Marine drive which is also one of the ancillary works to the general scheme will provide the port with a first class thoroughfare and a bypass of the congested Fort area. When the present plans are completed, Colombo will have alongside berths for some 16/17 ships. At least two-thirds of the handling of import cargoes will be switched from lighters to direct discharge from ships to quayside. The mechanisation of cargo handling operations will eliminate the present inefficient manual methods. Colombo then will undoubtedly be one of the most efficient ports in the East.

MERCANTILE SECTION

BANKING AND COMMERCE

Shortly after Ceylon became a Crown Colony in 1802, the Government abolished the Cinnamon monopoly which had been established by the Dutch. It was then that Captain James Steuart, the Master Attendant of Colombo made arrangements with Messrs. Arbuthnot & Co., of Madras to buy and ship Ceylon produce drawing against the shipments on Bills of Lading.

The Ceylon Chamber of Commerce was established on March 25, 1839, with Joseph Read, a former sea Captain as Chairman. The exports in the year 1839 were valued at 4,331,696 and the imports at £510,664.

In December, 1841, Governor Sir Colin Campbell applied to the Home Government for permission to increase the issue of paper money from £87,400 to £1,000,000 on the ground that the former amount was inadequate to the wants of the community; but the Lords of the Treasury refused to give their sanction to any increase of what they regarded as "the floating debt of the Island."

In 1844 a bill was passed extending to private bankers in Ceylon the privilege of issuing paper money on terms which were certainly unduly liberal towards the banks and unjustly unfavourable towards Government and the public.

After this, Government notes, with the advantage of being a legal tender continued to circulate side by side with private bank notes till 1856, when they were finally withdrawn.

Early in 1854 branches of the Mercantile Bank of India, London and China were opened in Colombo and Kandy, and in 1858 this Bank obtained a Charter.

The advance in the issue of paper money in Ceylon after the Government withdrew from the field will be understood from the following contrast:—In 1854 (when the Mercantile Bank commenced and added its notes to those of the Oriental Bank Corporation) the circulation was:

Oriental Bank notes 461,000
Government notes £70,000
		£131,000
In 1884 : notes of the two Banks (Rs. 4,573,619) *		£457,3⁶²
Increase in paper money in 30 years		£326,362

So that since 1854 the paper money circulation in Ceylon had more than trebled; but the maximum was reached in 1877 when the note circulation had more than quadrupled, the average circulation being £522,902.

The Bank of Madras established a branch in Colombo on July 9, 1867 and opened an Agency in Kandy on August 29, 1868; but it ceased to exist from January 26, 1922, and was merged in the Imperial Bank of India consisting of the Banks of Madras, Bengal and Bombay, under a Government of India Act, while a Ceylon Ordinance made provision for the transfer to the Imperial Bank of India of the undertaking and property of the Bank of Madras.

On January 2, 1881, the National Bank of India (established in India in 1863) opened a branch in Colombo; on July 11, 1892, in Kandy; and on September 1, 1892, in Nuwara

*The issue of the O.B.C. alone for March, 1884, was Rs. 3,652,224 and of the C.M.B. Rs. 925,3495—total Rs. 4,573,659.

The Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China had a Mel cantde Agency in Colombo for many years, but only opened a regular Branch Agency in July, 1892.

In the same way the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank also established an Agency in Colombo on July 1, 1892.

On May 3, 1884, came the greatest crash in the history of Ceylon and perhaps of Eastern banks, in the stoppage of the Oriental Bank Corporation and on January 1, 1885, the Ceylon Government, which (by Sir Arthur Gordon) had guaranteed the O.B.C. notes, issued its own notes, and these were in circulation on February 29, 1932, to the amount of Rs. 41,838,902, the average amount of coin in the vault during that month being Rs. 13,662,076.

Next came the voluntary winding up and reconstruction of the Chartered Mercantile Bank, changing its name into " Mercantile Bank of India, Ltd. ," from February 1, 1893.

On January 8, 1917, the Bank of Colombo (a purely Ceylonese venture was op, ned, but it failed and closed its doors in 1921.

On May 1, 1920, the Eastern Bank, Ltd., opened a branch in Colombo ; and on May 3, 1922, the P. & O. Bank opened a branch in Colombo.

In November, 1932, a motion was moved by a Member of the State Council that " A Commission should be appointed to go into the system of Commerce, Banking and Insurance of this island ".

The late Sir Sorabii Pochkhanawala, Managing Director of the Central Bank of India, was appointed Chairman, with the late Sir Marcus Fernando and the late Dr. S. C. Paul as the other Commissioners.

The Report of the Commission in which the Commissioners recommended the formation of a State-aided Bank was issued as a Sessional Paper in December, 1934.

The Bank of Ceylon was established under Ordinance 53 of 1938 and commenced business with the public on August 1, 1939. The Capital issued was 30,000 Preference shares of Rs. 50 each and 60,000 Ordinary shares of Rs. 30 each. The total amount received on account of capital is Rs. 4,500,000e

The Balance of Profit and loss Account at September 30, 1953 was Rs. 757,282.

The State Mortgage Bank was started on December 5th, 1931, and on September 30th, 1953, it had lent Rs. 32,702,001/25 on the security of 109,8361 acres of land including 32,743 acres of Tea, 17,333* acres of Rubber, 27,399* acres coconut, 3,188 acres of paddy, 3,81.4 acres other products and 25,3581 acres of undeveloped land and house property. The loans are financed by Debentures, and the Bank's Debentures are readily taken up. The nett profit for the year ended 30th September, 1933, was Rs. 91,231/43.

Since the absorption of the P. & O. Bank by the Chartered Bank as from February 1, 1939, there are six Exchange banks, namely The Mercantile Bank, the National Bank, the Chartered Bank, The Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, the Eastern Bank and Grindlays Bank Ltd.

The Bank of Chettinad has local branches, the Indian Overseas Bank in 194⁶ and the Indian Bank was re-opened in 1948.

One small local bank, serving the planting industry in particular, is the Hatton Bank. It has a good record of successful management and is European-owned.

The banking business of Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son (Bankers) Ltd.- was taken over by Grindlays Bank Ltd. towards the end of 1943.

THE CEYLON STATE MORTGAGE BANK

(91, Horton Place, Colombo.)

Directors:—H. W. Paris, (Chairman) ; R. Sahanayagath, i.e.a. s. ; N. E. Weerasooria, zc. and S. Sellateuttu, 0.13.E.

Manager:—T. Victor Fernando, Proctor, S.C. and N.P.

Capital—Rs. 25,000,000 to be raised by the issue of debentures, guaranteed by Government, bearing interest at rates fixed by the Board at the time of issue of debentures with the approval of the Hon'ble the Minister of Finance.

The Ceylon State Mortgage Bank was established in October 1931 under Ordinance No. 16 of 1931 for the purpose of granting long-term loans for agricultural and other prescribed purposes on the primary mortgage of immovable property situated in Ceylon.

This Ordinance provides that the funds for the purpose should be obtained by the issue of debentures and that the total indebtedness on the principal of such debentures should not exceed Rs. 25,000,000 the debentures being guaranteed by Government and bearing interest at rates fixed by the Board at the time of the issue of debentures with the approval of the Governor.

The Bank is not a burden on the Government since its money is borrowed from the public on debentures and loans are granted on suitable security. The Bank reserves for itself a marginal profit to cover its overhead expenses.

LOANS & INTEREST RATES

Changes have been made in the limits of loans granted by the Bank. The original limits were a minimum of Rs. 5,000 and a maximum of Rs. 150,000, but with the object of enlarging the Bank's business and increasing its usefulness, an alteration was effected in 1935. The minimum amount to be granted as a loan was decreased to Rs. 2,500 and the maximum raised to Rs. 500,000. Since then the lower limit has been further reduced to Rs. 2,000 and the higher increased to Rs. 1,000,000. Another alteration was made in the rates of interest charged on loans granted by the Bank and paid on debentures issued by it. Since the Bank was making satisfactory progress, a general lowering of interest rates was considered desirable and the rates were revised in December 1938. A general increase of per cent. in the rate was made as a result of the increase of the interest rate payable by the bank on its debentures from 31 per cent. to 4 per cent. due to war conditions, but towards the end of 1940 it was decided to lower the interest rates on debentures and loans to the pre-war level. The rate of interest on Debentures is at present 3 per cent. and the rates of interest on loans on the security of house properties situated within the administrative limits of Municipalities have been recently reduced.

LOANS & SECURITY

LOANS are granted to suitable applicants for the liquidation of their debts incurred on the purchase or development of agricultural lands. In the case of urban property a loan is obtainable from the bank for the liquidation of a mortgage on any building or the land appurtenant thereto or any land suitable for building purposes as authorized in Section 52 of the Ordinance. No loan is granted by the Bank unless its repayment is secured by a primary mortgage of immovable property in Ceylon. This property must not be undivided and the title of the borrower or the land offered as security should be passed by the Bank's legal advisers before the loan can be granted.

REVIEW OF BUSINESS

In the first quinquennium of the Bank's existence 149 loans were granted in all amounting to Rs. 3,670,000 and in the second period i.e., from 1936 to 1941, 388 loans were paid out totalling Rs. 7,133,105. The peak years of business were 1936, and 1937 when the amount of loans granted each year exceeded Rs. 2,000,000 while the subsequent years show a considerable falling off in this respect. In 1944, loans amounting to 15 lakhs were repaid and mainly due to war prosperity and inflation, new loans granted by the Bank did not exceed 51 lakhs. The loans granted in 1946 totalled Rs. 591,600. This falling off in the volume of business is further attributed to the restrictions on trade and shipping occasioned by the war. The prospect of a world slump had probably deterred many people from purchasing urban lands and erecting buildings on them. These are some of the purposes for which loans are granted by the Bank. During the second and third quinquennium of its existence, it has fulfilled in a great measure the purposes for which it was established. The Loans granted in 1950 amounted to Rs. 2,569,750, 1951 amounted to Rs. 2,645,000, 1952 amounted to Rs. 3,184,000 and in 1953 amounted to Rs. 4,224,500 which is the highest amount granted by way of Loans in any year in the history of the bank, and there is now a definite upward trend in the Bank's business. The Reserve Fund of the Bank now amounts to Rs. 925,19145

BULBS

(Under Section 90 (8) of Ordinance No. 16 of 1931)

1. An applicant for a loan shall pay, for the expenses to be incurred in connection with his application, to the credit of the State Mortgage Bank in the Bank of Ceylon, Colombo. A sum of Rs. 320 or a sum of 1/20 plus 2 per cent. of the loan applied for, whichever is less, and shall annex the Bank receipt to his application provided that where the amount of the loan applied for exceeds 2 lakhs of rupees, the sum to be paid by the applicant shall be Rs. 520. The Board, however, for any special reason, may call upon the applicant to deposit a larger sum.

Conditions of Loan

2. If the loan is sanctioned by the Board two per cent. of the loan, and the Stamp duty on the mortgage bond, shall be deducted from the loan before payment is made to the applicant.

3. In making this deduction credit shall be given for the moneys already paid by the applicant and for the hire of any conveyance supplied by him for the valuation of the security tendered. But where the fee paid by the applicant under Rule 1 is more than 2 per cent. of the loan granted the applicant shall not be entitled to credit for a larger sum than 2 per cent. of the loan, unless the Board decides otherwise in the special circumstances of a case and such decision of the Board shall be final.

4. (i) Where an application for a loan is withdrawn by the applicant or refused by the Board the fee paid by the applicant shall be refunded to him by the Manager, subject to—

(a) a deduction of twenty rupees in any case where the application is withdrawn or refused before a valuator is appointed, or before the application is submitted by the Bank for report on title or for report on the purpose for which the loan is applied for, or on any other matter relevant to the application ; or

(b) a deduction of such sum as the Manager in his discretion may consider necessary for meeting any expenses incurred by the Bank in any case where the application is withdrawn or refused after the Bank has taken any of the steps referred to in paragraph (a).

(2) The decision of the Manager as to the sum to be deducted under the foregoing paragraph (b) shall be final.

4A. " No applicant for a loan shall be entitled to inspect reports of valutors appointed by the Board or to call for details of expenditure incurred in connection with deposits made by him under the Ruler of the said rules ".

5. If the applicant for a loan takes no steps for three months after receiving intimation that the loan has been sanctioned, to perfect the papers for obtaining the loan, the Board may treat the application as having been withdrawn. The Directors may in their discretion grant a loan after the said period and may impose a fine not exceeding Rs. 200 on the applicant for his delay.

6. In the case of a second or a subsequent application for an additional loan on the same security, the fee payable by the applicant at the time of the application shall be Rs. 75 and shall be deposited by the applicant in the Bank of Ceylon, Colombo, to the credit of the Ceylon State Mortgage Bank. It shall be competent for the Manager to require the applicant to deposit a larger sum, when in the opinion of the Board a larger sum is required for assessment of value or for the investigation of title.

7. Where an additional loan is granted deductions shall be made therefrom in the manner provided by Rule 3.

(Under Section 50 (c))

1. Every application for a loan shall be made in the prescribed forms.

2. The applicant shall send along with his application the title-deeds of the property (including probates and letters of administration, and copies of inventories) of the property offered as security and other instruments relating to the property or to the dealings with and possession thereof which are in his custody, including in the case of property liable to rates or taxes the latest receipt in his possession, with one copy of an index of such papers.

3. The applicant for a loan shall submit along with his application an abstract of title for each property tendered as security. Provided however that the abstract of title may be dispensed with, if in the opinion of the Asst. Manager or the Conveyancer, the documents relating to any security are few and properly arranged, and the title can be conveniently examined without such abstract of title.

4- The abstract shall commence with the earliest deed or document available relating to title.

5. All facts whereon the title depends such as births, marriages, deaths or bankruptcies shall be stated in their order.

6. The abstract shall contain the exact words used in every material part of any document abstracted, so that the title can be examined in a convenient way. It is not sufficient to give the effect of a material clause.

7. Tracings of any plans referred to in title-deeds shall be inserted at their places in the abstract.

S. The applicant shall produce all the evidence which is necessary to prove the facts stated in the abstracts such as births, marriages, deaths or intestacies. If he is unable to produce evidence to prove any facts the reason for it must be stated.

g. The applicant shall in every case submit an affidavit in support of the statements in the abstract from persons competent to testify to the facts.

io. Where there has been any litigation about the property, particulars of such litigation shall be stated.

Ir. Extracts from all Registers of Encumbrances, etc., affecting the property, shall be submitted with the application.

12. if the applicant, or any person through whom the title is derived, is subject to any local, personal or foreign laws, the facts should be noted in the proper place in the abstract. Where there is any doubt as to the law applicable, this shall be stated.

13. Where several allotments form one and are comprised within one plan, the different allotments shall be marked on the plan.

14. If any application is defective or if any other information or material is desirable, the Manager shall call upon the applicant to furnish information or documents.

(Under Section 90 (d))

6. Valuers should check their valuation by a consideration of one or more of the following methods :—

(r) The price paid for the same property or a portion of it in recent years after making all necessary allowances for lapse of time, difference of situation and any other possible differences between the property sold and that offered as security. Inquiry should be directed to ascertaining—

- (a) Whether for any special reason the purchaser has paid a fancy price for it ; and
- (b) Whether there has been any rise or fall in the value of land in the neighbourhood since the date of his purchase.

(2) The price paid for property of similar description and quality in the vicinity in recent years, after making all proper allowances for lapse of time, advantage of situation, etc. In considering such sales, care should be taken to exclude all transactions in which, taking advantage of the pressing need of the buyer, the seller obtained as the price of the land a much larger amount than its proper value. The buyer may have paid the particular price for the land because no other land suited his requirements. The value to be fixed by the Bank will, however, be only such a amount as the owner would have been likely to get if he had wanted to sell it in the open market and there had been no neighbour compelled by circumstances to purchase it. When considering the case of neighbouring lands which have been sold, the transaction should be compared with the case of the land to be mortgaged to see in what points they do or do not resemble each other.

- (3) Sale value of similarly situated property in the vicinity, at an auction.

(Under Section 91 (e))

i. Every borrower who makes default in the payment of an instalment upon the due date, and who is given time by the Board to pay such instalment, shall pay, in addition to the amount consisting of the fixed portion of the principal and the interest due up to the date of payment, as required by section 59 of the Ordinance, further interest for the period from the due date to the date of payment calculated---

- (a) in any case where that period does not exceed one month, at the rate of one per centum per annum on the aforesaid fixed portion of the principal; and
- (b) in any case where that period exceeds one month, at the rate of one per centum per annum on the balance of the principal outstanding at the due date ; Provided that in any case where an instalment is not fully paid within a period of one month from the due date, the amount of further interest payable under this paragraph shall not exceed the difference between the amount of the instalment and the part payment made within the period of one month.

(2) Every borrower who makes default in the payment of an amount due by way of an equated payment, and who is given time by the Board to make such payment, shall pay, in addition to that amount--

- (a) in any case where the period from the due date to the date of payment does not exceed one month, interest for that period calculated at the rate of one per centum per annum over and above the rate of interest stipulated in the Bond, on that part of the equated payment which consists of principal ; and
- (6) in any case where that period exceeds one month, interest calculated at the rate of one per centum per annum on the balance of the principal outstanding on the due date aforesaid : Provided that in any case where an equated payment is not fully paid within a period of one month from the due date, the amount of interest payable under this paragraph shall not exceed the difference between the amount of the equated payment and the part payment made within the period of one month.

(Under Section 91 (f))

The charge recoverable for advertising the sale of a land and selling the land under Section 64 of the Ordinance shall not exceed one per cent. of the loan or Rs. 500, whichever is less.

Payment of Interest on Debentures

The Bank will pay to registered holders of debentures interest at the rates specified therein by half-yearly payments on the 31st day of March and 30th of September in each year. The debentures which are issued at present carry interest at 3 per cent. per annum.

Maximum Amount of Loan

The amount on loan from the Bank to any person at any one time shall not exceed Re. ,000,000.

THE AGRICULTURAL AND INDUSTRIAL CREDIT CORPORATION OF CEYLON

(P. O. Box No. 20, Iceland Bldgs., Colombo 3)

Ex-Officio Directors—Hon. the Minister of Finance, Hon. the Minister of Agriculture & Food, Hon. the Minister of Industries, Housing and Social Services.

Nominated Directors—S. Pararajasingam, J.P. (Chairman), N. E. Weerasooria, Q.c., (Deputy C'man), T. C. A. de Soysa, S. N. B. Wijeyekoon, S. Subramaniam. General Manager—H. S. F. (Chartered Accountants), Auditor—Auditor General; Legal Advisers—De Silva & Mendis.

The Agricultural and Industrial Credit Corporation of Ceylon commenced business in December 1943, having been established by Ordinance No. 19 of 1943 for the purpose of re-financing agricultural debt and financing new industrial enterprises by providing long term credit facilities. The authorized business of the Corporation is fully set out in Section 50 of the Ordinance. The main business is to grant long term loans for the following purposes :—

- (a) the purchase or lease or the cultivation, development or improvement of any land used or to be used for any purpose of agriculture or for the exploitation of the mineral resources thereof ;
- (b) the purchase or lease, or the construction, repair or renewal of any building, factory, mill, mine, machinery or equipment used or to be used in connection with any agricultural or industrial undertaking
- (c) the manufacture or preparation of any agricultural or industrial product or commodity for sale in the market ;
- (d) any purpose incidental, accessory or ancillary to any purpose mentioned in any of the foregoing sub-paragraphs ;
- (e) the liquidation of any debt already incurred for any purpose mentioned in any of the foregoing sub-paragraphs.

Rates of Interest

The minimum loan granted is Rs. 500/- . Applications shall be made on the prescribed forms obtainable at the office. The rates of interest payable on loans granted are as follows :—

On loans from Rs. 500/- up to, but not exceeding Rs. 5,000/-,	61 %
On loans from Rs. 5,000/- up to, but not exceeding Rs. 10,000/-,	6 %
On loans from Rs. 10,000/- up to, but not exceeding Rs. 50,000/-	51 %
On loans of Rs. 50,000/- and over.....	5 %

Title and Security

Loans are granted to suitable persons for any of the purposes stated above, on the security of movable or immovable property in Ceylon. Undivided shares of property are not accepted as security. No loan is granted unless the Legal Advisers of the Corporation recommend that the title to the security offered is valid. The Board of Directors decides on the amount of loan that may be granted, after a valuation of the security has been made by a Valuator of the Corporation.

Review of Business

During the first quinquennium ended September 30, 1948, the Corporation granted a total of 180 loans amounting to Rs. 10,934,925/-. The peak year was 1945, during which the total sum granted amounted to Rs. 3,344,000/- Over Rs. 2,000,000/- has been granted every year except the first year of business and in 1947.

The number of loans granted has gradually increased from a total of 11 in the first financial year to a total of 60 in 1948, giving an average of 36 loans amounting to Rs. 2,186,985 per year and has now risen to the high figure of 183 loans amounting to Rs. 10,250,980 in the financial year ended September 30, 1952. The volume of business transacted has steadily increased.

A classification of the loans issued in the first quinquennium of business would indicate that an average of 14.5 loans below Rs. 10,000 amounting to Rs. 50,885/-; 5.4 loans between Rs. 10,000/- and Rs. 25,000/- amounting to Rs. 81,000/-; and 16.4 loans of Rs. 25,000/- and above amounting to Rs. 2,054,200/- have been granted per year.

The classification for the financial year ended September 30, 1952 is as follows:-
 Below Rs. 10,000/- ... 79 loans amounting to Rs. 349,230/-;
 Between Rs. 10,000* & Rs. 25,000/- ... 41 loans amounting to Rs. 616,750/-; and Rs. 25,000/- and above ... 03 loans amounting to Rs. 9,285,000/-
 The net profit before provision for taxation in the financial year ended September 30, 1953, is Rs. 361,980.

Rules

(Under Section S5 (1) of the A.I.C.C. Ordinance)

The relevant plan or plans of the property or properties offered as security should be forwarded with the application.

An applicant for a loan shall make an initial deposit, to cover the expenses to be incurred in connection with his application, to the credit of the No. account of the Agricultural and Industrial Credit Corporation at the Bank of Ceylon, according to the following scale :-

On applications not exceeding] 2% of the amount applied for
 Rs. 25,000/-
 On applications exceeding 2% on the first Rs. 25,000/- and Rs. 25,000/- but not exceeding) 1% on the remainder
 Rs. 50,000/-
 On applications exceeding) 2% on the first Rs. 25,000/-, Rs. 50,000/- 1% on the next Rs. 25,000/-, and 1% on the remainder.

The following procedure is adopted in dealing with applications for loans :-
 In the first instance title to the security tendered is examined by the Corporation's Lawyers, and thereafter valuation of the security is made if title is acceptable.

In order to expedite matters both these actions can be taken simultaneously, at the applicant's risk, if so requested.

All securities tendered in connection with loan applications shall be valued by a valuator or officer of the Corporation before a loan can be considered. On applications for loans exceeding Rs. 100 000/- the security tendered shall be valued by two such valutors.

The amount of loan to be granted by the Corporation to any applicant shall be at the discretion of the Board of Directors, but shall not exceed a sum equivalent to 75% of the value of the security offered as determined by the Board in the case of immovable property, and 50% in the case of movable property.

Repayment of Principal

Every loan granted shall be repaid in equal half-yearly instalments within its period of years as may be determined by the Board, of Directors but shall not exceed :--

On the security of plant and machinery	10 years
On the security of factory including building	15 years
On the security of agricultural property	25 years

Before a loan is disbursed the borrower shall pay the stamp duty on the mortgage Bond, Lawyers' Fees, and all other disbursements or in the alternative such costs shall be deducted out of the amount of loan sanctioned by the Board.

A fee of 4% of the amount of the loan shall be paid to the Corporation by any borrower and the same shall be deductible from the amount of loan or the loan deposit.

Any unexpended balance from the loan deposit shall be refunded to the borrower after the loan is paid.

Where an application for a loan is withdrawn by the applicant or refused by the Board, the deposit made by the applicant shall be refunded to him by the General Manager, subject to a deduction of the amount of expenditure incurred by the Corporation in investigating into it. The amount to be so deducted shall be determined by the General Manager, and his decision on the matter shall be final.

If an applicant does not proceed with his application for three months after he has received intimation that a loan has been sanctioned, the Board may treat the application as withdrawn.

No applicant for a loan shall be entitled to inspect reports of the Corporation's Lawyers or valuers appointed by the Board, or have copies thereof issued to him.

The amount of loan shall not be paid by the Corporation until receipt of the Mortgage Bond duly registered at the Land Registry.

Loans are sanctioned subject to the provisions of the A.L.C.C. Ordinance No. 19 of 1943, as amended from time to time and the following conditions:-

- (a) Every loan granted shall be repaid in instalments by equal payments spread over a period of years in the discretion of the Board of Directors. Interest at the stipulated rate on the total balance due shall also be paid along with the instalment of principal.
- (b) In case where a borrower makes default in payment of instalment or instalments for a period exceeding one month after the date due, he shall pay additional interest of 3% over and above the rate stipulated in the Bond on the total principal due on such date.
- (c) All buildings, machinery or factories standing on the security shall be insured with a company approved by the Board against fire, etc., at the expense of the borrower before the loan is granted ; such Insurance shall be duly renewed during the Currency of the loan.
- (d) The security tendered shall be inspected at regular intervals by the Corporation's officers or valuers. All such inspections shall be at the expense of the borrower.
- (e) In case of default of payment or of failure to carry out the terms of the mortgage Bond the Board of Directors under the powers vested in it may in its discretion either take possession of the property mortgaged to the Corporation and manage the same until all moneys are recovered, or sell the same by public auction by an agent in terms of the Bond and the Agricultural and Industrial Credit Corporation Ordinance No. 19 of 1943.
- (f) In terms of Section 57 of the Ordinance, at any time after the grant of a loan has been approved by the Board and before the actual payment of the money, the Board may in its discretion cancel the grant of the loan or modify the conditions or withhold payment without assigning any reason therefor.

of the Loan Board under 280.

I. Loans are made by the Commissioners authority vested in them by - The Loan Board Ordinance, 1863, (Cap. VI. of Legislative Enactments) ". The Deputy Secretary to the Treasury, the Postmaster-General and the Solicitor-General at present constitute the Board. Loans are not granted on speculative property but only on household property of a good class situated in any Municipal Town or Urban Council to such towns or areas.

area or in very close proximity.

Any person desirous of obtaining a loan should make application to the Secretary to the Board. He will forward a printed form to be returned to him duly filled in giving the required particulars of the security.

No loan may exceed one-half of the appraised value of the property to and no mortgage except a primary mortgage of Rs. 2000. be hypothecated accepted. The minimum amount of a loan is

3. The rate of interest to be charged is decided in each case by the Commissioners personally, who take into consideration the class of security tendered, and the amount of loan required. The present rates vary between 3i and 31 per centum per annum according to the amount of the loan.

If the Board is satisfied as to the general character of the security offered, the applicant will be requested to send the title deeds and registration extracts to the Secretary with the fee payable to the Boards lawyers for examination of title. This fee for examination of title will vary from Rs. 50 to Rs. 500 according to the amount of the loan and the number of titles. This report is according for the confidential information of the Commissioners and any information pertaining thereto is not available to the applicant.

If the title is reported to be satisfactory by the lawyers, the property will then be appraised by one or more of the Loan Board appraisers. The fee for appraisal and actual travelling expenses of the appraisers must be paid by the applicant. The fee for appraisal shall be one per centum on the first Rs. 2,000 and half per centum on the balance, the minimum of the appraisers is for the information of the Commissioners and no information pertaining thereto is available to the applicant. When a loan has been authorised by the Commissioners, the Secretary will inform the applicant of the amount sanctioned, the rate of interest and the terms of repayment and, if the applicant desires to accept the loan, the necessary mortgage bond will be prepared and attested by the notary of the Board. The loan will be paid by the Board's lawyers to the borrower after due registration of the mortgage bond.

All expenses attendant on the legal completion of the loan must be borne by the borrower, who will be required to have the property insured against fire for a sum not less than the amount fixed by the Board. The borrower is also required to renew the fire insurance policy every year till his debt to the Board is settled.

The loans are repayable in 15 equal annual instalments commencing two years after date of loan or as agreed upon when the loan is granted but in order to ensure strict observance of the conditions on which the loan is granted, the bonds are so drawn that the loan is repayable on demand.

Interest is payable monthly on the first of the month following the period for which it is due.

12. Loans for building houses within the Colombo Municipality, and within the V. C. limits of towns in close proximity to Colombo, can be specially arranged for subject to the following conditions:— (a) The loan will only be repaid in instalments according to the progress of the building for which purpose the borrower will have to submit the plans and specifications of the building as approved by the local authorities and also the detailed estimates and cost of the work to be done.

The loan is usually paid in four instalments as follows :—

Not exceeding 25% on completion of the foundation, not exceeding 25% when the walls are up to roof level not exceeding 25% on completion of roof, balance on completion of the building.

The borrower will have to satisfy the Board that he has sufficient funds to commence building operations and on receipt of the first, second and third loan instalments which will be paid in the manner indicated above, to complete the building within a reasonable time which will be stipulated.

He will also be required to give an undertaking that the erection of the proposed building will be completed within the stipulated period.

Medium Term Loans for Development and Housing Projects and Term Deposits

The Bank of Ceylon has decided to employ the Bank as a medium for the collection of savings for investment in the form of long and medium term deposits and then to utilise these deposits for the purpose of granting loans for medium term development projects and house construction.

The Bank is providing these additional services to the public without introducing any element which may disturb the bank's stability by locking up demand and short term deposits in long and medium term advances.

Funds available for such loans will necessarily be limited to the amount of long and medium term deposits received by the bank under this scheme; and on the other hand the total amount of deposits which will be accepted by the bank at a particular point of time would depend largely on the total of medium term loans applied for and granted by the bank.

In the proposed scheme the rates of interest on the loans and the periods fixed for the term deposits will be governed largely by the allocation of monies received for such deposits. As regards the rates of interest payable on the loans it is proposed that the minimum rate of interest applied by the bank will be 44%.

The rates of interest which the bank will pay on the term deposits are attractive and will, until further notice be in accordance with the following tables :--

Rates for term deposits for two years	...	2½%
do three years	...	34%
do four years	...	34%
do five years	...	3 ⁵ / ₈ %
do six years	...	3½%

Emigration of Unskilled Indian Labour to Ceylon

Emigration of assisted emigrant labourers from India is regulated by the Indian Emigration Act of 1922 and the Emigration Rules of 1923. Immigration of the same class into Ceylon is governed by the Labour Ordinances Chapters 111 and 112 and the Regulations made thereunder. Since 1st November, 1949, their entry into Ceylon is also subject to the provisions of the Ceylon Immigrants & Emigrants Act, No. 20 of 1948. (See below).

(The Government of India imposed a ban on emigration from India as from 1st August, 1939).

The officers responsible for the administration of the above laws and rules are :--

Under the Indian Government

IN INDIA---The Controller-General of Emigration, New Delhi and the Protectors of Emigrants at authorised ports. All assisted labourers should travel via Dhanushkodi and pass the Protector of Emigrants for that port, who is stationed at Mandapam camp. The Controller-General has general charge of the administration of Indian Emigration Laws. The Protectors of Emigrants inspect and pass emigrants and decide the cases of those who claim to be non-emigrants. These officers do not come into direct contact with employers in Ceylon.

IN CEYLON—The Government of India have appointed an Agent in Ceylon, who resides at Kandy, and carries out the duties of his position. These include the inspection of labourers and the conditions of their life in Ceylon and the rendering of reports on the subject to the Government of India. Under Ceylon Ordinance Chapter 1 i i, Clause 8, the Agent has the same powers as the Commissioner of Labour and his officers in regard to the entry into places of employment: inspection of the labourers thereon, and the conditions of their lives and employment.

The High Commissioner for India in Ceylon, Colombo, is also interested in the well being of Indian Estate labourers in Ceylon.

Under the Ceylon Government

IN CEYLON—(i) The Controller of Immigration and Emigration. Indian Estate Labourers proceeding to India and returning from India to Ceylon have been exempted by an order made by the Minister of Defence and External Affairs, under Section 2 of Immigration and Emigration Act No. 20 of 1948, from the requirement of possessing a valid passport and a visa or residence permit, if they possess an Immigration Certificate issued under the Estate Labour (Indian) Ordinance No. 41 of 1943.

(ii) The Head of the Labour Department, this being the Commissioner of Labour who is also Chairman of the Board of Indian Immigrant Labour.

It is the duty of the Commissioner to carry out the provisions of all Ordinances relating to Indian immigrant labourers.

The Commissioner assesses and collects the amounts due from employers as contribution to the Immigration Fund, and is in charge of administration of the Fund. In this he is advised by the Board of Indian Immigrant Labour, to which the Minister may appoint any number of persons, not less than nine and not exceeding twelve. Two members of the Board must be selected from among Senators and Members of Parliament.

The Commissioner's office is at Galle Face, Lower Lake Road, Colombo 3.

In India

The Ceylon Emigration Commissioner, appointed by the Ceylon Government, to carry out in India the requirements of the Indian Emigration Act and Rules.

The Ceylon Emigration Commissioner is responsible for the supervision of assisted emigration, the sustenance of labourers after registration and their transport to the Place of Accommodation at Mandapam Camp. The appointment of Ceylon Emigration Commissioner is at present held by the Ceylon Labour Commissioner.

The duties of the Ceylon Emigration Commissioner now include the operation of the Estates (Group) Scheme in India for the Controller of Exchange and the disbursement of remittances made by Indian estate labourers to their dependants in India ; he is also a gazetted authority acting on behalf of the Controller of Immigration and Emigration of the Ministry of External Affairs for the issue of visas on passports of visitors to Ceylon.

The Superintendents of Mandapam and Tatararai Camps are appointed by the Ceylon Government and are responsible for the administration of their respective Camps. The Assistant Ceylon Labour Commissioner, Mandapam Camp, who is appointed an Inspector of Emigration under the Indian Emigration Act and Rules, is responsible to the Ceylon Emigration Commissioner for the transport of labourers from the Camp to the Railway Station nearest the place of employment. All enquiries regarding the nonarrival of labourers' Immigration Certificates, and the card advice regarding depatch should be addressed to the Assistant Ceylon Labour Commissioner, Mandapam Camp.

An Assistant Controller of Immigration and Emigration is stationed at Mandapam Camp, and he examines and passes the credentials of immigrant labourers from the point of view of immigration into Ceylon in reference to the Ceylon Immigrants and Emigrants Act, No. 20 of 1948.

The Ceylon Labour Commission, by arrangement with the Government of Ceylon, renders to the Ceylon Emigration Commissioner all the assistance needed in regard to the examination of all emigrating labourers applying at its various agencies and the transport of labourers therefrom. In addition it performs certain duties as an Agent in India, for all estates subscribing to the Coast Agency Scheme, and with the approval of the Ceylon Controller of Exchange, makes payments, arranges land transactions, carries out village enquiries and renders every assistance that may be possible.

Administration in Ceylon

THE IMMIGRATION FUND--The fund was established under Chapter III of the Legislative Enactments of Ceylon and is maintained for the following purposes :-

- (a) The accommodation, subsistence and transportation of Indian immigrant labourers and their reception by the employer who has expressed his willingness to re-employ them.
- (b) The payment of any fees or charges imposed by the Government of India in respect of any person emigrating from India.
- (c) The repatriation of such labourers and their dependants as provided in the Ordinance.
- (d) The salary of the Emigration Commissioner and the emoluments of all persons employed under him for the purpose of supervising and controlling the migration of labourers and the expenses attendant upon such supervision and control.

It is financed by a cess paid by employers, which is fixed from time to time by the Minister of Labour and Social Services. Assessment of the amounts due is made by the Commissioner of Labour and the assessed amounts are collected by him. All correspondence on this subject should be addressed to the Commissioner of Labour.

It is the duty of the employer to forward to the Commissioner of Labour quarterly, a return showing the requisite details of the estate. The return for each quarter of the year must be sent in on or before the last day of the following month, e.g., the return for the 3rd quarter on or before 31st October, etc.

THE IMMIGRANTS AND EMIGRANTS ACT, No. ao of 1948
THE Immigrants and Emigrants Act, No. 20 of 1948, and the regulations made thereunder, came into force on 1st November, 1949.

The act provides for control of entry into and departure from Ceylon, and the issue of travel documents.

Travel Documents

(i) Passports and Emergency Certificates are issued to citizens of Ceylon by descent or registration. Passports are valid for a period of five years and are renewable for a further period of five years. Emergency Certificates are valid for two years and are not renewable.

(ii) Identity Certificates are issued to non-Ceylonese who are unable to obtain national passports.

Wives and husbands should obtain separate passports. The particulars of children under 16, travelling with a parent, may be entered in the parent's passport.

Entry into Ceylon

Citizens of Ceylon are not required to be in possession of a travel document to enter Ceylon, but as they would be required to prove their national status before being permitted entry, it is advisable that they be in possession of passports or Emergency Certificates.

Non-citizens will be permitted entry only if they are in possession of valid Passports and Temporary Residence Permits, Permanent Residence Permits or visas, or are granted endorsements at the port of entry as bona fide tourists.

Transit passengers proceeding on their onward journey by the same vessel do not require transit visas.

Transit passengers proceeding on their onward journey by a different vessel would require transit visas.

Departure from Ceylon

Citizens of Ceylon are required to be in possession of valid passports or Emergency Certificates for departure from Ceylon.

Non-citizens are required to be in possession of valid national passports or Identity Certificates for departure from Ceylon.

Residence Permits, Visas, and Endorsements

Permanent Residence Permits are issued by the Controller of Immigration and Emigration to non-nationals who have a permanent and abiding interest in Ceylon and to the spouse, dependent child and to certain other dependants of a citizen of Ceylon.

Temporary Residence Permits are issued by the Controller of Immigration and Emigration to persons who were ordinarily resident in Ceylon during the five years preceding the Appointed Date (1st November, 1949), to the spouse, dependent child, and certain other dependants of a citizen of Ceylon; and in his discretion, for purposes of employment, study, holiday etc., provided the entry into and stay in Ceylon of such persons is not prejudicial to the interests of the permanent inhabitants of Ceylon.

Visas permitting stay in Ceylon up to a maximum period of six months are issued by the Controller of Immigration and Emigration, the Assistant Controller of Immigration, Mandapam Camp, the Ceylon Emigration Commissioner, Trichinopoly, Ceylon representatives abroad, and British passport and consular officers and passport officers of the Governments of Australia, Canada, India, Pakistan, New Zealand, and South Africa, where authorized to do so.

Extensions of visas are granted by the Controller of Immigration and Emigration.

Endorsements permitting entry and stay in Ceylon are granted by Authorised Officers at ports of entry to to citizens of the United Kingdom, Canada, Eire, India and Pakistan, if they are bona fide tourists.

Exemptions

The following categories of persons are exempt from the operation of sections of the Act stated against them :—

Category of Persons	Parts of the Act Exempt from

A health certificate is issued to any passenger who satisfies the following conditions :—

- (a) Passenger is healthy and has not been in contact with or exposed to infection from any case of plague, cholera, or smallpox ;
- (b) the passenger-
 - (i) produces a valid certificate on the international form that the passenger has been vaccinated or revaccinated within the three years immediately preceding ; or
 - (ii) bears scars of an attack of smallpox ; or
 - (iii) subjects himself to vaccination ; and
- (c) the passenger produces a valid certificate on the International form that he has been inoculated against cholera not more than six months and not less than seven days of his arrival at Mandapam Camp.
- (d) the passenger-
 - (i) holds a permit from the Director, Quarantine Department, Colombo (Permits are issued free of charge on application being made to the Director, Quarantine Department, through a resident of Ceylon) ; or
 - (ii) is proceeding to embark on board a ship at Colombo & produces proof of that fact to the satisfaction of the Medical Officer; or
 - (iii) has signed a true declaration as to his place of residence in Ceylon.

3. Any passenger not provided with a quarantine permit or unable to satisfy the Medical officer as to his place of residence in Ceylon, or fails to sign a declaration giving his place of residence in Ceylon, may at the discretion of the Medical Officer be granted a health certificate to land on making a cash deposit of Rs. 20 and giving a written undertaking to abide by the Quarantine Regulations while in Ceylon.

4. Servants of 1st and 2nd class passengers may be passed at the discretion of the Medical Officer on the guarantee of their masters. Servants of those proceeding to embark on ships at Colombo may be passed on the guarantee of their masters that they will report to the Assistant Port Health Officer for Immigration, Colombo, while in Colombo, and will return to India immediately after their masters' departure.

5. All other passengers will be required to undergo 5 clear days' quarantine at Mandaparn. Camp, at the end of which period they will be provided with a health pass which they should hand over to the Port Health Officer at Talaimannar and they would then be free to go where they like ; but on the appearance of any illness within 10 days of arrival they should notify the nearest Government Medical Officer.

6. Those holding permits but coming from infected areas may be detained at the discretion of the Medical Officer for disinfection, vaccination and observation. Passengers are advised to arrive at the Camp by the morning Dhanushkodi Fast Passenger Train so that they may undergo disinfection and vaccination if necessary and proceed to Ceylon the same day, if detention in Camp for observation is not found necessary.

7. Conditions to be fulfilled by the passengers on arrival in Ceylon :— Passengers on arrival in Ceylon have to report themselves to the Assistant Port Health Officer for Immigration, Colombo or to the Medical Officer of the district in which the passengers reside on the very day of arrival, except on Sundays, and thereafter as directed by the said Officer, within their period of observation.

S. 1st and 2nd class tourists who do not stay more than a week in Ceylon may, at the discretion of the Quarantine Medical Officer, be asked to report to the Medical Officer of the place they visit on the day of arrival in Ceylon and to the Port Health Officer, Colombo, or to the Port Health Officer, Talaimannar, on departure from the Island. In the event of their falling sick during their stay such tourists should report forthwith to the nearest Government Medical Officer.

The passing of passengers by the Medical Authorities does not necessarily mean the free entry of these passengers to Ceylon as they still have to satisfy the Ceylon Indian Immigration Authorities.

Ceylon Labour Commission

The Commission is registered in India under Section 277 of Act VII of 1903

The Ceylon Labour Commission

The Ceylon Labour Commission was instituted on the 1st June, 1904.

The Commission exists to watch over the interests of Ceylon estate labourers in South India, and it is controlled by the General Committee of the Planters' Association of Ceylon.

The expenses are met from an acreage cess derived from those estates supporting the Commission.

Only estates which are members of the Planters' Association of Ceylon are eligible as constituents of the Commission, all particulars regarding which can be obtained from the Secretary of the Planters' Association of Ceylon, Colombo.

The acreage supporting the Commission approximates 600,000 acres. All labourers going to Ceylon for employment on estates proceed under the aegis of this organization and are fed, escorted, carefully watched and protected from exploitation until they reach the Railway Station most convenient to their estates. By virtue of an agreement between the Government of Ceylon and the Planters' Association of Ceylon, the Commission provides the Ceylon Emigration Commissioner, who is the titular head of the Commission as Ceylon Labour Commissioner, with the assistance necessary to carry out the requirements of the Indian Emigration Rules and the responsibilities due to the Government of Ceylon.

The Commission undertakes many and varied duties on behalf of its constituents and among the cases handled for estates, kanganies and labourers are :—Payments, pensions or other regular allowances, promissory notes, payment of Customs duty, mortgages, purchase and sale of lands, purchase of cloths and cumbles, income-tax cases, land acquisition cases, insurance policies—settlement and enquiries, enquiries on behalf of estate investors re Indian companies, settlement of village disputes, medical attention, free legal advice, enquiries re health of estate employees, despatch of estate superior staff, help to widows and orphans, building of houses, and search for missing relatives.

The organisation of the Ceylon Labour Commission enables it to carry out these cases with the minimum of expense and the maximum of efficiency.

Organization

The Head Office is at Trichinopoly and is under the personal control of the Commissioner. There are 12 Ceylon Labour Commission Agencies which are under the control of Head Office.

Trichinopoly Depot

All Labourers from Agencies other than Arantangi, Pudukkottai, Madura and Tinnevely pass through this main Depot where they are fed, medically examined and their registration particulars checked.

Mandaparn Camp

This is a Government Institution under the immediate control of a Ceylon Government official of the Quarantine Department, the Ceylon Emigration Commissioner exercising supervision over work under the Emigration Rules. Here an Agency of the Commission is maintained with a resident Ass t .Commissioner in Charge, and he and his staff exercise careful supervision of all matters in regard to these labourers. The Camp has been licenced by the Government of Madras as a Place of Accommodation and the Protector of Emigrants for the Port of Dhanushkodi, has an office available therein to carry out his duties of inspection.

Colombo Estate Labour Depot

An Agency of the Ceylon Labour Commission is maintained within the Depot which is situated near Colombo Fort Station and is intended to serve labourers proceeding to South India from districts served by the Coast and Kelani Valley Railways. Such labourers having to pass through Colombo on their way to India will be fed and their Railway tickets purchased for them on estate account by the Colombo Agent, provided they hold a Fare and Meal Order; books of which may be obtained from the Head Office free of cost.

Wages Boards Ordinance

The following are some of the Main Provisions of the Wages Boards Ordinance No. 27 of 1941.

PART I

2. The employer of Workers in any trade shall comply with the following provisions of this section regarding the payment of wages to every such worker :—

(a) He shall, subject as hereinafter provided, pay such wages in legal tender directly to the worker, without any deduction other than an authorised deduction, as hereinafter defined made with the consent of the worker :

Provided that the aggregate of the deductions so made at any one time shall not exceed :

(i) seventy five per centum of the wages due, in the case of a worker in any trade specified by the Minister for the purposes of this paragraph by Notification published in the Gazette and

(ii) Fifty per centum of the wages due, in the case of a worker employed in any other trade ;

Provided, further, that nothing in the preceding provisions of this paragraph shall affect or be deemed to affect—

(i) any deduction authorised to be made from such wages by the Income Tax Ordinance or any other written law ; or

(ii) any retention or payment of the whole or any part of such wages made in pursuance of or compliance with any order, process or decree made or issued by any court of law.

For the purposes of this paragraph a payment which, immediately after the wages are paid to the worker, is made out of the wages by the worker to the employer or to an agent of the employer, shall be deemed to be a deduction from the wages.

In this paragraph " authorised deduction " means a deduction made in the prescribed, manner in respect of—

(i) any advance of money made by the employer to the worker,

(ii) Any payment which, at the instance of the worker, is made out of the wages of the worker by the employer to any person other than the employer or an agent of the employer in order to discharge any obligation of the worker or for any other purpose, or

(iii) Any other prescribed matter.

(b) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 5, he shall fix the wage period (not exceeding one month) in respect of each worker employed by him and shall pay the wages for that period to that worker—

(i) Where that period does not exceed one week, within three days after the expiry of that period, or

(ii) Where that period exceeds one week but does not exceed two weeks, within five days after the expiry of that period, or

(iii) where that period exceeds two weeks, within ten days after the expiry of that period

Provided, however, that where owing to the absence of any worker or to any other unavoidable cause, it is not possible to pay the wages of any worker within the time limited by this paragraph, he may retain such wages and shall thereafter pay such wages to that worker at the earliest possible opportunity.

Nothing in this paragraph shall in any way effect the period of notice or warning necessary under any provision of written law other than this Ordinance for the termination of any contract.

(c) If he terminates the employment of a worker on any date, he shall, before the expiry of the second working day after that date, pay the wages due to that worker.

3. The employer of workers in any trade shall maintain and keep in the premises where that trade is carried on a clear and accurate record in writing (hereinafter referred to as a "wage record"), in respect of each wage period of such workers, specifying—

(a) the wage period,

(b) the names of the workers who are paid wages in respect of such wage period,

(c) the number of hours or days during which each such worker has worked in such wage period,

(d) the wages paid to each such worker in respect of such wage period,

(e) the date of payment of such wages, and

(f) the deductions from such wages.

(2) Every employer shall preserve his wage record in respect of any wage period for two years commencing on the last day of such period and shall produce such record for inspection when required to do so by the Commissioner of Labour or any prescribed officer.

4. Every employer who fails to comply with any provision of this Part of this Ordinance shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees or to imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

PART II

6. (1) Subject to the provisions of section 7, the Minister may by order in writing apply the provisions of this Part of this Ordinance to any trade specified in such order.

The power conferred by the preceding provisions of this sub-section shall be deemed to include the power to make from time to time an amending order for the purpose of varying in any manner the description of any trade specified in any earlier order.

8. (1) The Minister may by order published in the Gazette—
- establish a Wages Board for any trade to which the provisions of this Ordinance have been applied under section 6 or for any branch of, or any function or process in, any such trade ;
 - declare that the powers, duties and functions under this Ordinance of any Wages Boards so established for any trade shall extend to any other trade to which these provisions have been so applied.
13. (1) Regulations not inconsistent with any provision of this Ordinance may be made—
- prescribing the manner in which the representatives of employers and workers may be chosen (whether by election or otherwise) ;
 - prescribing the manner in which meetings of a Wages Board shall be summoned and held and the procedure to be followed at such meetings, including the method of voting
 - prescribing the method of filling vacancies occurring in the membership of a Wages Board
 - generally for or in respect of any matter relating to a Wages Board or the performance or discharge of any power, duty or function of a Wages Board under this Ordinance.
- (2) Any regulation under sub-section (1) may, as provided therein, apply to all Wages Boards or to any particular class of Wages Board or to any one or more specified Wages Boards.
20. (1) In respect of the trade for which it is established every Wages Board shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), determine a minimum rate of wages for time work (hereinafter referred to as " a general minimum time rate ") and may also determine all or any one or more of the following rates of wages :-
- a minimum rate of wages for piece work (hereinafter referred to as " a general minimum piece rate ") ;
 - a minimum time rate to apply in the case of workers employed on piece work for the purpose of securing to such workers a minimum rate of remuneration on a time work basis (herein after referred to as " a guaranteed time rate ") ;
 - a minimum rate (whether a time rate or a piece rate!, to apply in substitution for the minimum rate which would otherwise be applicable, in respect of overtime work done by workers (hereinafter referred to as " an overtime rate ").
- (2) (a) Any minimum rate of wages determined in any decision of a Wages Board under sub-section (1) in respect of any trade may consist of-
- a basic rate ; and
 - a special allowance at a rate to be adjusted, at such intervals and in such manner as the Wages Board may in such decision direct, to accord as nearly as practicable with the variation in the cost of living index-number applicable to workers in that trade :
- Provided, however, that a Wages Board may, in the decision by which the rate is determined, fix the minimum variation in such index-number upon which any such adjustment shall have effect.
- (b) A Wages Board may, in any decision by which a minimum rate is determined, direct that the special allowance referred to in paragraph (a) shall be computed by the Commissioner at such intervals as may be specified, and in accordance with such directions as may be given, by the Board in the decision ; and in every such case the Commissioner shall compute such special allowance in accordance with such directions and shall publish it by notification in the Gazette at the intervals so specified.
- (c) The minimum rate of wages applicable in the case of any trade at any time shall be the aggregate of the basic rate referred to in paragraph (a) (i) and of the special allowance referred to in paragraph (a) (ii), in force at that time, or, where the Commissioner has notified such allowance under paragraph (b), the aggregate of such basic rate and of the special allowance as so notified in force at that time.
- (4) In this sub-section-
- " competent authority " means the authority appointed by the Minister, by notification published in the Gazette, to ascertain from time to time the cost of living index number applicable to the workers employed in the trade specified in such notification ;
- " cost of living index number ", in relation to the workers in any trade, means the index number ascertained and declared by notification in the Gazette by the competent authority to be the cost of living index number applicable to workers in that trade.
- (3) Where a Wages Board is in any case unable, before the expiry of a period of six months from the date on which that Board is established, to determine a general minimum time rate as required by sub section (1), the Board shall report the fact to the Minister, and the Minister may so far as respects that case, exempt that Board from determining such rate, and make an order under section 29a.
21. Where any decision of a Wages Board, whereby a minimum rate of wages for any trade is determined, has come into force, every employer shall pay to every worker to whom such minimum rate is applicable, wages at not less than such minimum rate :
- Provided, however, that, where as respects any employer the date on which any such decision comes into force does not correspond with the beginning of a wage period for which wages are payable by that employer, the rates determined in that decision shall, in respect of that employer, become effective as from the beginning of the next wage period following the aforesaid date.
22. Where a Wages Board has been established for any trade, every worker employed in that trade—
- whose wages are payable at a daily rate, and
 - who, on any day on which he is so employed, works for a period less than the requisite number of hours to constitute a normal working day.
- shall, subject as hereinafter provided, be entitled to receive wages in respect of the work done by him on that day as if he had worked for a full normal working day :
- Provided, however, that no such worker shall be entitled to receive the wages payable in respect of a full normal working day--
- in any case where the failure of the worker to work is caused by his unwillingness to work and not by the omission of the employer to provide him with work, and
 - in such other cases and circumstances as the Wages Board may determine,

23. (1) Any Wages Board may, in respect of the trade for which it is established, determine the period of work (not in any case exceeding one month) in respect of which wages shall be paid to workers, and specify the number of days from the end of such period within which wages shall be so paid.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) or in any decision thereunder shall in any way affect the period of notice or warning necessary under any provision of written law other than this Ordinance for the termination of any contract.

24. Any Wages Board may, in respect of the trade for which it is established—

- (a) subject to the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3), fix the number of hours constituting a normal working day or a normal working week, inclusive, in the case of a normal working day, of the interval or intervals for meals or rest, and fix the number of hours constituting a normal working month by determining the number of normal working days constituting that month and the number of hours constituting each of those days;
 - (b) determine the number and duration of the intervals for meals or rest on a working day the interval allowed for the purposes of the principal meals being not less than one hour;
 - (c) declare that a day in each week shall be allowed by every employer as a holiday to all workers or to any specified class of workers, and what remuneration, if any, shall be paid to workers in respect of such holiday, and the conditions, if any, subject to which such holiday shall be allowed;
 - (d) determine the conditions subject to which workers may be employed on any such holiday, but so however, that such conditions shall include the payment of remuneration for such work at a rate not less than the overtime rate, or, if no overtime rate has been determined, at one-and-a-quarter times the rate normally applicable to such work, and the grant of a holiday with or without remuneration on a day within a specified number of days next succeeding such day, or, in the case of any special class of workers, the payment of remuneration for such work at a rate not less than one and a half times the rate normally applicable to such work, without the grant of a substitute holiday.
25. (1) A Wages Board may, in respect of the trade for which it has been established,—
- (a) declare that a specified number of days not exceeding twenty-one including a specified number of days not exceeding six prescribed as public holidays by or under the Holidays Ordinance shall, in addition to the holidays under section 24, be allowed by every employer in each year as holidays to all workers or to any specified class of workers.
 - (b) specify the conditions subject to which such additional holiday shall be allowed, and
 - (c) determine what remuneration, if any, shall be paid to workers in respect of such additional holidays.
- (2) Where any decision under sub section(1) has been made—
- (a) every worker to whom such decision applies shall be entitled to take and shall take a holiday or holidays in accordance with the terms of such decision; and
 - (b) the employer of every such worker shall allow such holiday or holidays and be liable to pay the remuneration determined in respect of such holiday or holidays in accordance with the terms of such decision.

26. A Wages Board shall, in making any decision under this Ordinance, take into consideration the circumstances obtaining in particular branches of the trade or particular areas or affecting particular classes of workers, and may, in any such decision, determine different rates of wages, hours of work or holidays, or make such other provision for such circumstances as it may consider expedient.

29. Every decision of a Wages Board under this Ordinance shall, from the date on which such decision comes into force, have effect notwithstanding anything in any written law (other than this Ordinance), and notwithstanding any act done or decision made by any Board or person under any such written law.

30. Where a worker performs two or more classes of work to each of which a minimum rate of wages is applicable, the employer shall pay to that worker in respect of the time occupied in each class of work, wages at not less than the minimum rate in force in respect of that class.

31. Where a worker is employed on piece work and a general minimum time-rate but no general minimum piece rate has been determined under this Ordinance, the employer of that worker shall be deemed to pay wages at less than the minimum rate unless he shows that the piece rate of wages paid would yield in the circumstances of the case to an ordinary worker at least the same remuneration as the general minimum time-rate.

32. For the purpose of calculating the amount of the wages payable in the case of a worker employed on any work to which a minimum rate of wages is applicable, the worker shall be deemed to have been employed during all the time during which he was present on the premises of the employer, unless the employer proves that he was so present without the employer's consent express or implied, or that he was so present for some purpose unconnected with his work and other than that of waiting for work to be given to him to perform, and in the case of a worker employed on piece work shall be deemed during any time during which he was so present and was not doing piece-work to have been employed at the general minimum time rate applicable to workers of the class to which he belongs, or, if no such general minimum time rate has been determined, at the guaranteed time rate :

Provided that—

- (a) where a worker resides on the premises of the employer he shall not be deemed to be employed during any time during which he is present on the premises by reason only of the fact that he is so resident; and
 - (b) a worker while present during normal meal times in a room or place in which no work is being done shall be deemed to be present for a purpose unconnected with his work.
34. (1) Where the Commissioner, or any other officer whom the Commissioner may authorise in writing for the purposes of this section, is satisfied that any worker employed or desiring to be employed in any work to which a minimum rate of wages is applicable, is affected by any infirmity or physical injury which renders him incapable of earning that minimum rate, the Commissioner or such officer may, if he thinks fit, grant to that worker, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, a permit exempting the employment of that worker from the provisions of this Ordinance relating to the payment of wages at less than the minimum rate.

(2) While any permit granted under sub-section (1) is in force, in respect of the employment of any worker, the employer shall not be liable to any legal proceedings for paying wages to that worker at less than the minimum rate so long as the permit is in force and the conditions subject to which the permit was issued are complied with.

(3) Any permit granted under sub-section (1) to any worker may at any time be revoked by the Commisecjoner or any officer authorised as aforesaid, after giving notice in the prescribed manner to the employer of that worker,

35. Where a worker in any trade, being a person to whom a minimum rate of wages is applicable is employed as an apprentice or learner, it shall not be lawful for his employer to receive directly or indirectly from him, or on his behalf or on his account any payment by way of premium :

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to any such payment duly made out later than four weeks after the commencement of the employment in pursuance of any agreement in writing entered into at or about the time of such commencement.

36. The employer of workers in any trade for which a Wages Board is established shall in respect of each wage period, maintain and keep one or more registers in the prescribed form showing—

- (a) the name and sex of each worker employed by him, and, in the case of a worker who is a woman or under the age of eighteen years the age of the worker,
- (b) the class of work performed by each worker employed by him.
- (c) the wages paid to each such worker,
- (d) the number of hours of work performed by each such worker,
- (e) the number of hours of overtime work performed by each such worker,
- (f) the dates on which wages are paid to each such worker,
- (g) the holidays allowed to each such worker,
- (h) the amount of the maternity benefits paid to each such worker,
- (i) such other particulars as may be prescribed by regulations or required by any decision of the Wages Board.

37. The employer of any workers in any trade for which a Wages Board is established shall keep exhibited, in such place and in such manner as may be prescribed, a notice setting out the latest decisions of that Board together with particulars of such other matters as may be prescribed.

U. Every person giving out work to outworkers in any trade for which a Wages Board is established shall keep a register in such form as may be prescribed, containing the prescribed particulars relating to such work and to such workers and the payments made for such work.

39. (1) Every employer who fails to pay wages to any worker in accordance with the provisions of section 21, shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or to imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment, and shall in addition be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for each day on which the offence is continued after conviction.

(2) Every employer who, in any case other than that referred to in sub-section (1), fails to make to any worker any payment in accordance with any provision of this Part of this Ordinance or of any decision of a Wages Board, shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or to imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

(3) On the conviction of an employer under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), the court may in addition to any other sentence, order the employer to pay such sum as may be found by the court to represent the difference between the amount which ought properly to have been paid to the worker and the amount actually paid. Any sum ordered to be paid under this sub-section may be recovered in the same manner as a fine.

(4) The power of the court to make an order under sub-section (3) for the payment of any sum of money shall not be in derogation of any right of the worker to recover that sum by any other proceedings.

40. Where the immediate employer of any worker is himself in the employment of some other person, and that worker is employed to do any work in the course of and for the purpose of the trade of that other person, that other person shall, for the purposes of this Ordinance, be deemed to be the employer of that worker jointly with the immediate employer.

42. On the prosecution of any employer under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 39 for the failure to make any payment to any worker, the burden of proving that the payment was made shall lie on the employer.

43. Every employer who— that worker fails or refuses to allow to any worker any holiday required to be allowed to
 (a) under any decision of a Wages Board under this Ordinance ; or commits a breach of any conditions of any permit issued in respect of any worker under (b) section 34 ; or fails to comply with any provision of any decision of a Wages Board—
 (c) guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees or to imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

44. (1) Every employer who dismisses any worker from his employment by reason merely of the fact that the worker—is or becomes a member of a Wages Board ; or
 (a) has given information to any authority with regard to matters under this Ordinance ; or
 (b) has, after giving reasonable notice to his employer of his intention, absented himself frank
 (c) work through being engaged in duties as a member of a Wages Board ; or
 (d) is entitled to any benefit under any decision of a Wages Board—shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or to imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

(2) In every prosecution of an employer for an offence under sub-section (1) the burden of proving that the worker was dismissed by reasons of some fact other than a fact mentioned in that sub-section shall be upon that employer.

45. (1) Every employer who receives an premium in contravention of any provision of section 45 shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees or to imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding three months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

(2) The court may in addition to any sentence imposed under sub-section (1) order the employer to pay the sum found to have been received by him in contravention of the provisions of section 45.
 Any sum ordered to be paid under this sub-section may be recovered in the same manner as

49. (1) The Commissioner may at any time direct the employer of workers in any Iraq^e or class or trade, or any person giving out work to outworkers in any trade, or any person out work to outworkers in any class of trade, to furnish to the Commissioner before a specified date,—

- (a) such information or explanation as the Commissioner may require in respect of any parti-
- (1) culars stated in any return so furnished
- (c) a true copy of any register or record of wages, or of any part of a register or record of wages, required to be kept by such employer or person by or under this Ordinance.

52. Every person who—fails to furnish the means required by an officer as necessary for any entry or inspection or
 (a) the exercise of his powers under section 50 ; or
 (b) hinders or molests any officer in the exercise of the powers conferred by that section ; or
 (c) refuses to produce any register, record of wages or notice, or give any information which any officer requires him to produce or give under the powers conferred by that section ; or (d) makes or causes to be made any register, record of wages or notice which is false in any material particular, or produces or causes or knowingly allows to be produced any such register, record or notice to any officer acting under the powers conferred by that section, knowing the same to be false ; or
 (e) furnishes any information to any officer acting under the powers conferred by that section, knowing the same to be false ; or
 (f) makes default in complying with any direction given by the Commissioner under section 49 or who, when called upon to furnish a return under that section, knowingly makes or fawn's nes or causes to be made or furnished, a false return or a return containing any false information, or
 (g) in any case in which no penalty is specially provided, commits a breach of any provision of this Ordinance or of any regulation—shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees or to imprisonment of either description for a term, not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

51. Where some agent of the employer or other person, that agent or other person shall be liable to be proceeded against for the offence in the same manner as if he were the employer, and either together with, or before or after the conviction of the employer, and shall be liable on conviction to the same punishment as that to which the employer is liable.

(2) Where an employer who is charged with an offence under this Ordinance, proves to the satisfaction of the court, that he has used due diligence to enforce the execution of this Ordinance and that the offence was in fact committed by his agent or some other person without his knowledge, he shall be exempt from any penalty in respect of the offence without prejudice to the power of the court under sections 39 (3) or section 41 (1) to order him to pay any sum which appears to be due to the worker on account of wages.

56. Any contract or agreement, whether made before or after the date on which this Ordinance comes into operation whereby any right of any worker by or under this Ordinance is in any way affected or modified to his detriment or whereby any liability of any employer in any such right is increased, shall be null and void in so far as it purports to a remove or mettle any such liability.

MATERNITY BENEFITS

ORDINANCE No. 32 OF 1939

The following are extracts of the more important provisions of the Maternity Benefits Ordinance No. 32 of 1939 as amended by Ordinance No. 35 of 1946.

2. No employer shall knowingly employ a woman worker at any time during the period of four weeks immediately following her confinement.

3. (r) The maximum period for which any woman shall be entitled to the payment of maternity benefit shall be six weeks, that is to say, two weeks up to and including the day of her confinement and four weeks immediately following that day.

(2) If a woman dies during the period of six weeks mentioned in sub-section (1), the maternity benefit shall be payable only for the days up to and including the day of her death.

4. (1) No woman shall be entitled to maternity benefit unless she has worked under the employer from whom she claims such benefit for not less than 150 days within the period of one year immediately preceding the date of the notice required by Section 6 (2).

(2) Where a change of employer occurs in any shop, mine, estate or factory in which a woman worker is employed, service rendered by that worker under the old employer shall be deemed to be service rendered under the new employer for the purpose of computing the period of employment, by virtue of which she may be entitled to Maternity Benefits under sub-section (1).

5. (1) Subject to the provisions of sub-sections (a), (3) and (4), the employer of a woman worker shall pay to such worker maternity benefit at the prescribed rate for the entirety of the period of two weeks immediately preceding her confinement and of the period of four weeks immediately following her confinement.

(a) No woman worker who has worked in her employment on any day during the period of two weeks immediately preceding her confinement shall be entitled to any maternity benefit for that day or for that part of the period which precedes that day.

(3) Where the Commissioner has issued to any employer a written certificate which states that such employer is an employer who has made arrangements for providing for female labourers employed on his estate such alternative maternity benefits as may be prescribed, such employer shall provide, in lieu of the maternity benefits referred to in sub-section (1), those alternative maternity benefits--

(a) to every female labourer who is resident on such estate ; and

(e) to every female labourer who is not resident on the estate and who has, prior to her confinement, given notice in the prescribed manner to such employer of her desire to receive those alternative maternity benefits.

(4) Any female labourer referred to in sub-section (3) who refuses to accept from her employer the alternative maternity benefits referred to in that sub-section shall not be entitled to receive the maternity benefit referred to in sub-section (e).

(5) A certificate issued to any employer under sub-section (3) shall be liable to be cancelled by the Commissioner, if the Commissioner is satisfied, after such inquiry as he may deem necessary, that the employer has ceased to make arrangements for providing for female labourers on his estate the alternative maternity benefits referred to in that sub-section.

(6) Where a certificate issued to any employer of an estate under sub-section (3) is cancelled by virtue of the provisions of sub-section (5), the employer shall pay to the female labourers on his estate, the maternity benefit referred to in sub-section (1).

(7) Where payment of money in cash is to be part of the alternative maternity benefits referred to in sub-section (3), the Minister shall not prescribe as the amount of such payment any sum which exceeds, or any sums which in the aggregate exceed, four-sevenths of the total amount payable as maternity benefit under sub-section (e).

(8) In the computation of the periods in respect of which payments are made under this section Sundays and holidays shall be taken into account.

le. Nothing in the provisions of section 4 or section 5 shall be deemed to entitle any woman to claim either the maternity benefit or the alternative maternity benefits referred to in this Ordinance from more than one employer in respect of the same confinement.

9. (i) A woman worker may, prior to her confinement, give notice to her employer that she expects to be confined within a month from the date of such notice.

(a) A woman worker who has been confined shall, within one week of her confinement, give notice to her employer of the date on which she was confined.

(3) A woman worker who gives notice under sub-section (a) or sub-section (a) may in such notice nominate some other person to whom her maternity benefit may be paid on her behalf ; and any payment of any maternity benefit made to the person so nominated shall, for the purposes of this Ordinance, be deemed to be payment to the woman worker who nominated such person.

(4) The employer shall, on receipt of a notice from a woman worker under sub-section (a) or sub-section (a), permit that woman worker to absent herself from employment until the expiry of four weeks after the day of her confinement.

(5) If a woman works in any employment after she has been permitted by her employer to absent herself under sub-section (4) she shall forfeit her claim to the payment of maternity benefit to which she is entitled.

10. The liability of an employer to pay any sum of money as maternity benefits to a woman worker employed by him in any shop, mine, estate or factory shall be a first charge on the assets of that shop, mine, estate or factory.

" woman worker" means a woman employed on wages in any shop, mine, factory or estate in which ten or more persons are employed, whether such wages are calculated by time or by work done or otherwise and whether the contract of employment or service was made before or after the commencement of this Ordinance, and whether such contract is expressed or implied, oral or in writing."

(Note—The regulations made under this Ordinance are published in Government Gazette No. 9634 of November 22, 1946. The rate of maternity benefit prescribed is one rupee for each day)

Workmen's Compensation

REPORTS AND RETURNS

WHERE a workman has been injured as a result of an accident occurring on the business premises of his employer or arising out of and in the course of his employment, and either dies within a period of seven consecutive days next succeeding that on which the accident occurred or absents himself from work for that period, his employer shall report the occurrence and the particulars of such accident to the Commissioner in the prescribed form within a period of fourteen days reckoned from the date on which the accident occurred.

Every employer shall before the prescribed date in every year send to the Commissioner a correct return in the prescribed form specifying—

- (a) the injuries in respect of which compensation has been paid by him or by any insurer with whom he has entered into a contract in respect of any liability under this Ordinance during the year preceding that in which the return is made ; and
- (b) the amount of such compensation ; and
- (c) such other particulars in respect of such compensation as the Commissioner may require :

Provided that any further particulars required by the Commissioner under clause (c) of this sub-section may be furnished after the prescribed date and within such period as the Commissioner may appoint.

Every employer who contravenes or fails to comply with any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of an offence and shall, on conviction after summary trial by a Police Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees :

Provided that no employer shall be guilty of a breach of sub-section (1) if he proves that he had no knowledge of the accident within the period of fourteen days mentioned in that sub-section.

Nothing in this Ordinance contained shall be deemed to confer any right to compensation on a workman in respect of any injury if he has instituted in a civil court an action for damages in respect of the injury against the employer or any other person ; and no action for damages shall be maintainable by a workman in any court of law in respect of any injury--

- (a) if he has instituted a claim to compensation in respect of the injury before a Commissioner ; or
- (b) if he has agreed with his employer to accept compensation in respect of the injury in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

POWER OF COMMISSIONER

Where a Commissioner receives information from any source that a workman has died as a result of an accident arising out of and in the course of his employment, he may send by registered post a notice to the workman's employer requiring him to submit, within thirty days of the service of the notice, a statement, in the prescribed form, giving the circumstances attending the death of the workman, & indicating whether, in the opinion of the employer, he is or is not liable to deposit compensation on account of the death.

If the employer is of opinion that he is liable to deposit compensation, he shall make the deposit within thirty days of the service of the notice.

If the employer is of opinion that he is not liable to deposit compensation he shall in his statement indicate the grounds on which he disclaims liability,

Where the employer has so disclaimed liability, the Commissioner, after such inquiry as he may think fit, may inform any of the dependants of the deceased workman that it is open to the dependants to prefer a claim for compensation, and may give them such other or further information as he may think fit.

Where any person (called " principal ") in the course of or for the purpose of his trade or business contracts with any other person (called " contractor ") for the execution by or under the contractor of the whole or any part of any work which is ordinarily part of the trade or business of the principal, the principal shall be liable to pay to any workman employed in the execution of the work any compensation which he would have been liable to pay if that workman had been immediately employed by him ; and where compensation is claimed from the principal, this Ordinance shall apply as if references to the principal were substituted for references to the employer except that the amount of compensation shall be calculated with reference to the wages of the workman under the employer by whom he is immediately employed,

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE COMMISSIONERS

If any question arises in any proceeding under this Ordinance as to the liability of any person to any compensation (including any question as to whether a person injured is or is not a workman), or as to the amount or duration of compensation (including any question as to the nature or extent of disablement), or as to the age of any workman or dependant, the question shall, in default of agreement, be settled and determined by a Commissioner,

A Commissioner shall have all the powers of a civil court under the Civil Procedure Code, 1889, for the purpose of taking evidence on oath (which such Commissioner is hereby empowered to impose) and of enforcing the attendance of witnesses and compelling the production of documents and material objects and a Commissioner shall be deemed to be a civil court for all the purposes of section 147 and Chapter XX XIV of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898.

INSURANCE

It shall be lawful for the Commissioner on payment to him of the prescribed fees, to issue a licence to any person to undertake insurance against liabilities to workmen which may be incurred by employers under this ordinance, if it is shown to his satisfaction, after such inquiry as he may think fit to make, that such person is financially able to undertake such insurance.

LIABILITY TO PAY COMPENSATION

If personal injury is caused to a workman by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment, his employer shall be liable to pay compensation in accordance with the provisions of Ordinance No. ig of 1934.

Provided that the employer shall not be so liable—(a) in respect of any injury which does not result in the total or partial disablement of the workman for a period exceeding seven days ; (b) in respect of any injury, not resulting in death, caused by an accident which is directly attributable to—

(i) the workman having been at the time thereof under the influence of drink or drugs, or (ii) the wilful disobedience of the workman to an order expressly given, or to a rule expressly framed, for the purpose of securing the safety of workmen, or (iii) the wilful removal or disregard by the workman of any safety guard or other device which he knew to have been provided for the purpose of securing the safety of workmen.

If a workman, employed in any employment involving the loading, unloading, handling or transport of wool, hair, bristles, or animal carcasses or parts of such carcasses, or in any work in connection with animals infected with anthrax, contracts the disease of anthrax, or if a workman, whilst in the service of an employer in whose service he has been employed for a continuous period of not less than six months in any process mentioned in the second column of Schedule III of the Ordinance contracts the occupational disease mentioned in the corresponding entry in the first column of that schedule opposite the description of the process, the contracting of the disease shall be deemed to be an injury by accident within the meaning of para 1 above and, unless the employer proves the contrary, the accident shall be deemed to have arisen out of and in the course of the employment.

For the purposes of this section a period of service shall be deemed to be continuous which has not included a period of service under any other employer.

Save as provided by para above no compensation shall be payable to a workman in respect of any disease unless the disease is directly attributable to a specific injury by accident arising out of & in the course of his employment,

AMOUNT OF COMPENSATION

(r) Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance, the amount of compensation payable is as follows :

A. Where death results from the injury— (1) in the case of an adult in receipt of monthly wages falling within limits shown in the first column of Schedule IV—the amount shown against such limits in the second column thereof, and (u) in the case of a minor—two hundred rupees.

E. Where permanent total disablement results from the injury—

(i) in the case of an adult in receipt of monthly wages falling within limits shown in the first column of Schedule IV—the amount shown against such limits in the third column thereof, and (ii) in the case of a minor—twelve hundred rupees.

C. Where permanent partial disablement results from the injury—

(i) in the case of an injury specified in Schedule I, such percentage of the compensation which would have been payable in the case of permanent total disablement as is specified therein as being the percentage of the loss of earning capacity caused by that injury, and (ii) in the case of an injury not specified in Schedule I, such percentage of the compensation payable in the case of permanent total disablement as is proportionate to the loss of earning capacity permanently caused by the injury :

Provided that in a case where more injuries than one are caused by the same accident, the amount of compensation payable under this head shall be aggregated but not so in any case as to exceed the amount which would have been payable if permanent total disablement had resulted from the injuries.

D. Where temporary disablement, whether total or partial, results from the injury, a half-monthly payment payable on the sixteenth day after the expiry of a waiting period of seven days from the date of the disablement, and thereafter half-monthly during the disablement or during a period of five years, whichever period is shorter—(i) in the case of an adult in receipt of monthly wages falling within limits shown in the first column of Schedule IV—of the sum shown against such limits in the fourth column thereof, and (ii) in the case of a minor—of one-half of his monthly wages, subject to a maximum of thirty rupees : Provided that— (a) theM shall be deducted from any lump sum or half-monthly payments to which the workman is entitled the amount of any payment or allowance which the workman has received from the employer by way of compensation during the period of disablement prior to the receipt of such lump sum or of the first half-monthly payment, as the case may be ; and (b) no half-monthly payment shall in any case exceed the amount, if any, by which half the amount of the monthly wages of the workman before the accident exceeds half the amount of such wages which he is earning after the accident.

In a case where for the whole or any part of the period of disablement referred to in paragraph (a) of this proviso, a workman occupies any premises belonging to or provided by his employer and pays no rent to him for such occupation, the amount fixed by agreement between the workman and his employer or, failing such agreement, the amount determined by the Commissioner as a fair rental of the premises for the period of such occupation shall be deemed to have been received by the workman as an allowance by way of compensation from his employer for the purpose of computing the deduction to be made from any lump sum or half-monthly payments to which the workman is entitled.

(2) On the ceasing of the disablement before the date on which any half-monthly payment falls due, there shall be payable in respect of that half-month a sum proportionate to the duration of the disablement in that half-month.

{3} The use in this section of the expression monthly wages ' shall not exclude any workman from the right to compensation under this Ordinance by reason only of the fact that he is not paid at a monthly rate or that his remuneration is calculated by time or by work done or at a daily rate.

PAYMENT OF COMPENSATION

The compensation shall be payable to or for the benefit of the workman, or where death results from the injury, to or for the benefit of his dependants as provided by this Ordinance.

Where a dependant dies before a claim under this Ordinance is made, or if a claim has been made, before an agreement or award has been arrived at or made, the heirs, executors, or administrators of that deceased dependant shall have no right to payment of compensation, and the amount of compensation shall be calculated and apportioned as if that dependant had died before the workman.

Where there are both total and partial dependants, nothing in this Ordinance shall be construed as preventing the compensation being allotted partly to the total and partly to the partial dependants.

At the end of 1952 the number of Unions in operation was 257. The number of Unions at the end of 1953 was 259.

Factories Ordinances

The Factories Ordinances No. 45 of 1942 and No. 22 of 5946 came into force on the 1st January, 1950.

The main Factories Ordinance of 1942 is based generally on the Factories Act (1937) of Great Britain. It lays down various requirements affecting the safety, health and welfare of persons employed in factories. The Ordinances will be augmented by Regulations and Orders from time to time since special precautions for particular kinds of work or plant may have to be set out in greater detail than in the more general term3 of the Ordinance.

Firms are required to supply information as to their correct title, address nature of work undertaken, type of power used and maximum number of workers. Certificates of Registration will be issued after an inspection has been made. Certificates can be refused if reasonably good conditions are not provided.

In regard to the definition of " factory ", it will be found that section 124 is very comprehensive. A more simple definition of a " factory " as a place where persons are employed in manual labour in the making of any article for gain will be found to cover the great majority of factories. But such a simple definition does not cover employment in certain premises and doubt would arise as to whether the Ordinance applied.

In some cases it would rest with a Court of Law to decide. Hence to avoid confusion or else Court decisions, the definition of " factory " is made as explicit as possible.

One of the provisions in this section is that premises are not excluded by reason only that they are open airpremises, (e.g., sawmills). Also the Ordinance applies to premises under the control of Government and Municipal, local or public authorities. Exemption from being a " factory ", however, is given in the case of premises wherein only members of the occupiers family are employed—sometimes referred to as a " domestic " factory.

The Safety Part of the Ordinance deals with such matters as the Fencing {or Guarding} of transmission machinery, other machines, and pits or vessels containing scalding, corrosive or poisonous liquids. Other sections cover the sale of new machines, cleaning of machinery in motion, training of young persons on machines, protection of eyes, construction of floors, safe means of access, precautions against gasing, explosions and fire.

It is also necessary to make arrangements for proper maintenance of hoists, lifts, chains, ropes and lifting tackle, cranes and winches, and for examinations by competent persons. Steam boilers, steam and air receivers must also be soundly constructed and have to be maintained and have to undergo regular examinations.

Notification of accidents causing loss of life or disabling a worker for more than seven days must also be reported. Dangerous occurrences, such as the bursting of a revolving vessel, wheel or grindstone, the collapse of a building or failure of a crane and certain fires and explosions should also be notified whether or not injury results.

The Health sections deal with cleanliness in the workrooms, drainage of floors, prevention of over-crowding of the persons employed, provision and maintenance of adequate ventilation, lighting, temperature and sanitary accommodation.

The use of underground workrooms is only allowed subject to stringent requirements as to conditions. Lifting or moving of excessive loads by young persons is prohibited.

Whenever industrial poisoning or disease from certain substances is discovered by a registered medical practitioner to have arisen from the patient's employment in a factory, a report will be sent to the Chief Inspector of Factories.

Under the Welfare sections, there are requirements regarding wholesome drinking water supply, washing facilities, clothing accommodation, seating and first-aid.

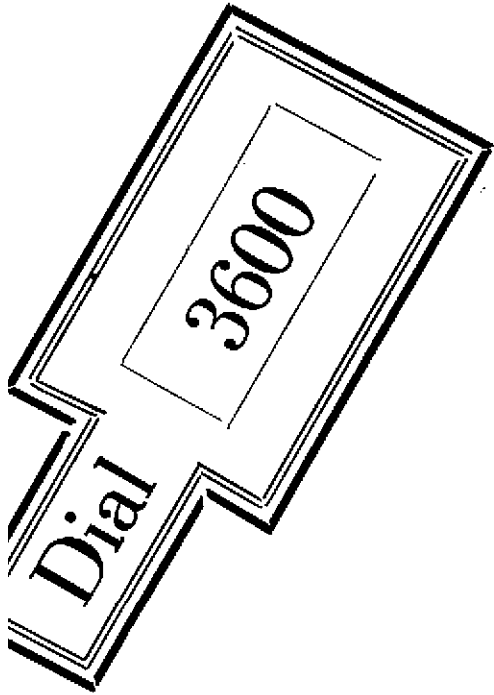

The Employment Part deals with the period of employment of Women and Young Persons under 18 years of age, and the permissible amount of overtime allowed daily, weekly and annually. Weekly and annual holidays must be allowed. Certificates of fitness for work can also be required for young persons.

Other Parts of the Ordinance deal with miscellaneous, legal and administration matters.

St. Bernard's Ecclesiastical Seminary—Borella, Colombo—[Founded by Archbishop Christopher Bonjean, o.m.l., on 1st September, 1883). An Ecclesiastical Institution like St. Bernard's Seminary plays a vital part in the growth of the Catholic Church in Ceylon. During the last 70 years, it has given to the Church numerous priests both religious and secular. To the Seminary are admitted only those young men who show signs of a Divine Vocation to the Priesthood and who have passed at least the S.S.C. examination with a good knowledge of Latin. In the Seminary, they have to go through a course of seven years, namely three years of Philosophy and four years of Sacred Theology. Rector--Rev. Fr. D. Martin Gunaratne, °Jim., B.A. (Lond.), PH. Sports and Recreation in 1953

Both outdoor and indoor sport were never more popular in Ceylon than during the past year, when we saw more visiting teams than ever play cricket, football, tennis and other games in Colombo. The great interest taken by the general public in all branches of sport, is most encouraging and though Ceylon's best standards are by no means up to international class the progress of sport is steadily on the increase and that is a good thing for the public of this island.

RACING

The " Sport of Kings " as Racing is called had a " bumper " year with the standard of sport as high as ever and crowds bigger than ever at meets held in Colombo, Nuwara Eliya and Galle.

The horse of the year was Owen Grange, who bids fair to take the place of Cotton Hall, who carried all before him. Owen Grange, who won the Queen's Cup, carrying 8's, later in the year won Ceylon's Chief Classic, the Governor-General's Cup and also annexed the Governor-General's Bowl at Galle. Leopard did well to win the Clement's Plate, while Taimour proved himself a really classy Arab by winning the Roberts Cup for the second year in succession. Another champion Arab was Sukab, who won the Bandaranaike Cup, carrying 9.4. Canway, who won the Herbert Stanley Cup and the Turf Club Cup at Nuwara Eliya, was another outstanding horse.

Among our leading owners who did well again were Mr. Alfred Wijesooriya, Mr. Vernon Rajapakse, the brothers Amarasuriya, Mr. G. B. S. Gomes, Mrs. Sheila Dodanwela, Sir Chittampalam & Lady Gardiner, and Mr. C. Wijesinghe, while the most successful jockeys were Raffaele, Cook, Harbutt, Don Benjamin and Somapala. The chief training honours went to the Selvaratnams, father and sons, G. N. G. Wailes and son, Clement and Medhi Hussein.

CRICKET

Ceylon cricket was as popular as ever in 1953 and the public were fortunate to have seen the Australian team on their way to England playing at the Oval. The Ceylon Cricket Board of Control and the C.C.A. now have as their President Mr. J. R. Jayewardene and in Mr. F. C. de Sarara they have an excellent Bony. Secretary who is still Ceylon's best batsman. De Saram once again led All Ceylon when they played the Australians and also in Madras when Ceylon won the Gopalan Trophy. As captain of the Sinhalese Sports Club de Sarani has also been a marked success, though his club failed to win the Saravanamuttu Trophy that was annexed by the Nondescripts C.C. led by Vernon G. Prins. In the two tournaments conducted by the C.C.A. for the Saravanamuttu Trophy and the " Daily News " Cup there was very keen competition. While first class cricket flourished in its way Ceylon has not got today as many top notchers as in the past. The best of the lot are R. B. Wijesinghe, C. I. & C. H. Gunasekere, Stanley Jayasinglie, Makin Salih, V. G. Prins, Schafer & Cafloor an excellent young wicket keeper and batsman.

School cricket which is the backbone of our cricket has been as popular as ever and the annual inter-school games in the first term attracted much public interest. St. Thomas' won a great victory over Royal and had the best record of the year with Wesley a good second.

The Government Service and the Mercantile Service tournaments were also popular competitions. In the outstations, too, the game flourished most satisfactorily. Last year Learie Constantine, famous \Vest Indies all round cricketer, visited Ceylon and did quite a lot of valuable coaching of our young cricketers.

LAWN TENNIS

Although Ceylon has a dearth of really top grade players like the best of past years when Oscar Pinto, Hildon Sansoni, the de Sarams, Dr. C. H. Gunasekera and L. V. Loos, flourished, the game continues to prove as popular as ever especially when good players are on view as in the All Ceylon Championships held in Colombo at the Colombo Garden Club. Apart from F. J. "Khoo" de Saram, who is still Ceylon's best and classiest player, there were no players of real top class, but yet Ceylon for the first time sent a team to Europe to compete in the Davis Cup, and to play at Wimbledon. This team that included L. P. Ernst, Douglas Fonseka and Rupert Ferdinands, a 17 year old Thomian still at school, was re-inforced by Douglas Scharenguivel, a really classy player, now settled in England where he is West of England Champion. Ceylon was overwhelmed by Holland in the very first round of the Davis Cup by five matches to nil. In the next round Holland was beaten by 5 matches to nil by Belgium.

Once again the chief Ceylon titles the Men's Singles and Doubles were carried away by visitors. J. Arkinstall of Queensland won the Single's Crown, while Iftikar Ahmed and Naresh Kumar of India won the Doubles.

There were several first class players among the visitors and they outplayed Ceylon's best including F. J. de Saram. What Ceylon needs is a good professional coach to take in hand our young players and more facilities for our schools to play tennis, which is an expensive game. The Government Service Association held a very successful tournament which attracted some of Ceylon's best players including U. J. de Saram.

GOLF

Ceylonese Golf reached its "peak" last year when not only did Ceylon win the Stanley Cup for International Competition, beating England in the final, but the Ceylonese star W. "Pin" Fernando won the Ceylon title, also the R.C.G.C. and Havelock Golf Club championships and went further and won the All India title at Calcutta. There were eight old Royalists in the Ceylonese team that won the Stanley Cup. This must be a world record for any one College.

Ceylon Golfers carried off other honours too, F. J. 'Khoo' de Saram winning the Royal Colombo President's Cup, while "Pin" Fernando won the aggregate Gold medal with a record score.

The Burdett Trophy cup was won by Up-country at N' Eliya while the Puffin Cup for ladies was also won by Up-country.

The best European golfers in Ceylon today are G. G. D. Carter, M. C. Robins, and G. D. Nicholl, M. G. Thornton, one of the best, was out of Ceylon last year on a holiday.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

The comparatively poor standard of Ceylon Rugged was emphasised last year when an Australian team toured Ceylon and outplayed Ceylon's best with ease. In the earlier matches Ceylon teams were swamped by the heavier, faster and titter Australians and in the last game played after rain Ceylon was beaten again but not so badly.

The Ceylon team visited Calcutta once again last year to take part in the All India tournament. Though Ceylon won this Cup two years ago they only tied for it last year, sharing honours with Calcutta.

The C. R. & F. C. once again have the strongest Ceylonese Club side but they were beaten in the Inter-Club Championship by Dimbulla Who had an excellent all round side.

It was fitting that Up-country should again win the Capper Cup beating Low-country in the August Test. Only Royal, Trinity and St. Peter's of our Colleges indulge in Rugger and so Ceylonese Clubs do not have enough of " feeders ". Trinity retained the Brad by Cup by beating Royal in the annual Match.

ATHLETICS

The past year saw Ceylon Athletics making great headway especially in the High Jumps in which we now have two jumpers in Ediriveerasingham of Jaffna and H. V. C. Rajapakse of Ananda, who can be placed in world class among school boy athletes. The former, standing about six feet high, created a Ceylon record of 6 ft. 4 inches which places him in Empire Games Class. With more coaching and better opportunities he should be able to clear 6 ft. 6 inches and compete in the next Olympic Games, in Melbourne.

Young Rajapakse formerly of Dharina3oka College, Amhalarigoda and now at Ananda is a son of a former Ceylon Champion Long Jumper. This lad, still under LO, cleared 5 ft. li inches last year in a championship meet and set up a new Ceylon Schoolboy record for one under L6.

The Ceylon championship, also the big meets of the Aces, the Government Service, the Mercantile Service, the Army & Navy & the Public Schools, all helped to increase public interest. J. R. de Silva proved himself Ceylon's best Soo metres and 1,5clo metres runner, while S. Navaratnam is still Ceylon's best sprinter.

Ceylon had the pleasure of seeing three of India's greatest athletes in Harban Singh, Lavy Pin to and Mary de Souza who all won Ceylon titles, while a team. of Malayan athletes, men and women took part in our championships, the women doing very well and beating our best. Among our schools, St. Thomas' had the best athletes and carried off the Tarbat Cup for Seniors and Juniors.

TABLE TENNIS

Once again a schoolboy N. M. Lakadawala " stole the thunder ", winning the chief honours for 1953. He had previously won the Junior title but last year he won the Men's Open Singles and the Men's Doubles too with C. Gunaratne. Miss Belle Wecrakoon is still Ceylon's best woman player while P. II. Billimoria is Junior title holder.

BOXING

Ceylon can yet show some excellent boxers who are able to compete in India and Burma and win trophies. C. I. Jayasuriya is Ceylon's best of today, now that Albert Perera, and Handunge have retired. O. M. D. V. Perera a " veteran " is still going strong. The Ceylon Police Boxing team visited Burma last year and beat the Burma Police and retained the Gene Tunney Trophy. In India too Ceylon boxers did well not only in Bombay but also better still in Madras.

Boxing is still very popular in our schools and it was nice to see an out-station college—St. Sylvester's win the Stubbs Shield.

AQUATICS

The Otters who will soon be having their own pool having done much again to popularise swimming and diving and in Harry Nightingale and Guy Thiedeman Ceylon has two most competent coaches. The Colombo Swimming Club have also done a lot for the game by holding meets at Colpetty, St. Joseph's magnificent pool has also been utilized often for meets.

HOCKEY

Though a limited number of Clubs indulge in Hockey the standard is fairly high but still much below the best Indian standards, as was proved when a Ceylon team visited Madras and suffered many reverses. The B.R.C. are the best of the Ceylonese Club teams with the Tamil Union a good second. The Mercantile and Government Service tournaments did much to popularise the game. To Heaths went top place in the Mercantile Competition while the Police were the best in the Government Service tourney.

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS IN 1953

Summary of Developments

In 1953 the external trade situation which largely determines the real income of the country improved slightly from what it was in 1952. Internally, the country took hold and more effective fiscal and monetary measures to live within its current export income. As a result of these internal and external developments, the economy moved much more closely to external equilibrium and the difficulties that were faced in 1952 largely disappeared.

As an export economy dependent on external factors, Ceylon's main problem has always been the problem of readjustment to changing external conditions. During the Korean boom, export income went up spectacularly. Import expenditure though higher, was still far behind export income. Consequently large foreign exchange surpluses were built up. From a level of Rs. 933 million at the end of 1949, aggregate external assets went up to Rs. 1240 million at the end of March 1951. The boom began to collapse about the end of 1951. 1952 was a dark year. Export income fell 22% and import prices rose 8%. The terms of trade showed a phenomenal drop from 104 to 75.

It was impossible to expect the country to suddenly cut down its import expenditure absolutely to the level of its shrunken export incomes, particularly when people had accumulated fairly large liquid savings in their hands. Some deficit in the balance of payments was thus inevitable. Unfortunately the Government, by pumping money into the economy by its budget (net cash operating) deficit made the external deficit worse. The Government did this in order to maintain consumption and living standards at more or less the same level as in the boom years. This was obviously a mistake and an impracticability. The boom level of consumption was too high in relation to the normal real income and the development needs of the country. The result was a high propensity to import and a very large balance of payments deficit. To finance this deficit, Rs. 350 million of the accumulated external assets were liquidated.

This policy of maintaining consumption by living on capital could not be carried out indefinitely and had to be reviewed in 1953. The new budget for 1953/54 was virtually a balanced budget. Although it did not quite eliminate the deficit, it brought it down to a figure which could be mainly financed by non-bank borrowing without producing any serious strain on the balance of payments. The budget was balanced mainly by cutting consumption expenditure. Expenditure on development was practically left untouched. These fiscal measures were supported by a cautious and limited move to dearer money by the Central Bank. In this way further injection of money into the economy was stopped and a better balance was established between consumption and investment.

Meanwhile the external situation also showed some slight improvement. Export income rose 44% and import prices fell 10%. The terms of trade strengthened up to 79.

The result of all these factors was that the process of loss of foreign reserves gradually slowed down and towards the end of the year appeared to have become arrested. The total loss for the year was Rs. 229 million as against Rs. 350 million in 1952. Whether the country is out of the woods yet or whether it will have to make further severe internal adjustments, will depend on whether the recession is going to lift gradually or gain in strength.

This in a nutshell is the economic history of 1953. Some details of developments in individual fields may now be given.

Foreign Trade

Ceylon normally has a surplus on merchandise account which she uses to offset her deficit on the invisible account. The movements in merchandise trade are shown in Table T.

TABLE I

1952	1,502	1,702	-200
1953	1,568	1,608	- 40

The improvement in 1953 was due partly to an improvement in the terms of trade, but mainly to the cutting down of the budget deficit which stopped the pumping of new money into the economy. How the prices of the major export and import commodities behaved during 1952 and 1953 is shown in the next table.

Tea and coconut prices, though better than in 1952, were however still below the 1950 level. They were of course very much below the 1951 level. Rubber would have fallen much more but for the Five-year Rice-Rubber Trade Agreement made with China at the end of 1952. Under this, Ceylon undertook to sell annually 50,000 metric tons of sheet rubber to China and buy from her 270,000 metric tons of rice. The prices were to be annually fixed by negotiation. The prices fixed for 1953 were for rubber above and for rice below world prices. The rubber price was Rs. 1.77 per lb. f.o.b. for R.S.S. No. 1, whereas the Singapore average price for the year was Rs. 1.05. In consequence Ceylon earned an estimated Rs. 95 million more than she would have at Singapore prices.

During the year, Ceylon's trade surplus with the dollar area increased from Rs. 45.7 million to Rs. 140.1 million. The increase was due entirely to a reduction in imports. Exports actually fell slightly. They had reached a very high level in 1951, mainly because of large purchases of rubber by the U.S.A. With the U.S.A. cutting down these purchases in 1952, the exports fell considerably.

1953 also saw some further changes in the geographical distribution of Ceylon's trade. On the export side, the Commonwealth's share fell from 54% to 51% (U.K.'s share falling from 29% to 26%), the U.S.A.'s share fell from 1% to 8% and China's share increased from 9% to 16%. On the import side, the Commonwealth's share of total imports increased from 54% to 56% (U.K.'s share remaining constant at 22%), U.S.A.'s share fell from 9% to 3%, and China's share increased from 2% to 13%.

Balance of Payments and Foreign Assets

The persistence of a large deficit in 1953 was, as already explained, chiefly due to the budget deficit. Some deficit was inevitable in 1952 and perhaps also in 1953, since people had considerable savings accumulated during the boom and did not like to cut down expenditure although export income fell. But as the deficit was paid out, it would have reduced money incomes and money holdings and so the propensity to import. In other words, the deficit would have automatically corrected itself in course of time. But this process was hindered by the Government's pumping new money into the economy by its budget deficit. The amount pumped in was however much less in 1953 than in 1952. Also, in 1953 monetary policy was made slightly more restrictive and the terms of trade slightly improved. These caused the balance of payments deficit to be less. Actually the position was somewhat better than what the figure of the deficit (Rs. 221.5 million) suggests, since (a) the deficit was partly offset by an accumulation of imported food stocks and (b) it became less and less as the year progressed. (deficit in the first half of the year Rs. 65.2 million, in the second half Rs. 66.3 million).

The balance of payments deficit on current account is not expected to agree with the figure of the fall in external assets because of (i) capital movements in the form of increase or decrease in foreign liabilities, (ii) time differences between an actual payment or receipt and its recording by Exchange Control on whose returns the accounts are based, and (iii) the exclusion of holdings of individuals and businesses from the figure of foreign assets.

The loss of foreign assets amounted to Rs. 229 million while the balance of payments deficit on current account was Rs. 221.9 million. The difference largely represented a reduction in Ceylon's foreign liabilities.

At the end of 1953 the assets stood at Rs. 607.2 million, as compared with Rs. 836.9 million a year before and Rs. 1240.2 million at their peak in March 1951.

Public Finance

The chief weakness of fiscal policy in 1952 was that it sought to maintain the country's consumption level too high in relation to its normal income and development needs. Income which largely meant export income had seriously fallen. But consumption which largely meant import consumption was stepped up rather than curtailed by a record budget deficit financed by expansion of money. This policy was nearly wholly corrected in 1953.

Final accounts for 1952-53 show that the Government had an overall (cash operating) deficit of Rs. 231.9 million of which Rs. 103.9 million was financed by drawing down cash balances and borrowing from banks, Total revenue was Rs. 52.5 million and total expenditure Rs. 148.7 million (excluding certain payments on advance accounts). A large part of this expenditure was on consumption. Food subsidies alone took Rs. 127 million or 10%. Total social services were Rs. 462 million or 40%. Total capital expenditure (out of revenue and loan funds) was Rs. 296.2 million or 25% (excluding extra-budgetary expenditure).

Even at the end of 1952 the Government had adopted an austerity programme to cut expenditure and increase revenue to some extent. But bolder steps were taken in 1953. The budget for 1953-54 provided for only a small overall deficit of Rs. 80 million which could be largely financed by non-inflationary borrowing. Expenditure, particularly consumption expenditure was severely cut. The food subsidies were completely eliminated in the sense of any net expenditure on the sale of subsidised and unsubsidised foodstuffs. A fall in the world price of rice, flour and sugar helped to achieve this. Though consumption expenditure was drastically cut, development expenditure was left virtually untouched. On the revenue side, both direct and indirect taxes are raised. The prices charged for Government commercial services (electricity, railway etc.) were increased.

These measures, some of them effective even before the new fiscal year commenced in October, brought down the cash operating deficit progressively. The calendar year 1953 showed a deficit of Rs. 176 million, as compared with Rs. 332 million in 1952. The first four months of the new fiscal year showed instead of a deficit a surplus of Rs. 51.7 million. Not only did the budget practically cease to pump money into the economy, but by reducing current expenditure it established a better balance between consumption and investment in the economy. Capital expenditure in the new budget is estimated at Rs. 32.5 million or 31% of total expenditure (excluding extra-budgetary expenditure).

Money and Banking

The money supply considerably increased during the boom as a result of export surpluses. Whereas the level at the end of 1949 was Rs. 649 million, the average monthly level in 1951 was Rs. 1012 million. In 1952 however, the balance of payments turned into a deficit and became a contracting influence on the money supply. But as already said, the effect of this contracting factor was largely offset by the Government's budget (cash operating) deficit financed by bank credit and depletion of cash balances. While the balance of payments deficit reduced the money supply by Rs. 375.1 million, the budget deficit increased it by Rs. 285.0 million. There was no deficit financing by the private sector. On the contrary, by borrowing less from banks and increasing fixed deposits, the sector's contribution was to reduce the money supply by Rs. 27.8 million. In all the money supply fell by Rs. 112 million. This contraction was apparently not enough to bring the balance of payments into equilibrium and so the deficit persisted.

It will be seen that the contraction caused by the balance of payments deficit was much less neutralised by the Government this year than in 1952. The Government's budget policy was more aggressively anti-inflationary. But while this was the major force, monetary policy was also made slightly more restrictive. There was, in other words, a two-pronged attack against any further undesirable injection of money into the economy, fiscal and monetary.

The first step which the Central Bank took was to withdraw its support from the Government security market. It had maintained yields of Treasury Bills at below x% and of long-term securities at approximately 3% by appearing as a buyer whenever the yields tended to rise. Buying by it increased the money supply. The suspension of this policy stopped this cause of increase, and allowed prices of these papers to fall and interest rates on them to rise to their market levels, because already cash assets available for lending were moderately falling through net payment for imports.

The rise in these rates necessitated ultimately a rise in the Bank's lending rate which was put up on 23rd July to 3%.

The Bank made this moderate move to dear money primarily to limit bank borrowing by the Government and bring interest rates in Ceylon more into line with interest rates abroad. It was hoped that it would not by itself reduce productive credit to the private sector.

By September however the cash assets of the economy fell further due to (a) continued net payment on imports, (b) reduced net spending by the Government and (c) the raising of new loans by the Government in August.

Conditions in the money market became unusually tight and private borrowers found it difficult to get accommodation even for their legitimate business needs. Although further contraction of the money supply was necessary to check the continued drain of foreign reserves, the Bank did not like to do it by curtailing productive credit to the private sector. Therefore on September II it lowered the reserve requirement of commercial banks against demand deposits from 4% to 0%. The requirement against time deposits remained unchanged at 5%.

Actually, as the table above has shown, credit to the private sector increased by Rs. 18 million during the year. The liquidity position of the commercial banks also remained quite sound. Their cash and deposits in Central Bank were 20% of total deposits. Total liquid assets were 40% of total deposits (time and demand). Money rates were however slightly higher as they were intended to be. The Treasury Bill rate which can be regarded as the index and pace-maker of other rates, was 0.92% at the beginning of the year, 1.27% on April 1, 2.05% on June 1 and 2.48% on September 1 where it has remained since then. The exchange rates remained unchanged.

Prices, Wages and Employment

The movements in the Consumer Price Index are shown below. This index was introduced in January 1953 replacing the two indices which were being prepared till then, viz: the Colombo Working Class and the Estate Labour indices. The new index relates to the consumption of the lower and middle income groups in Colombo. Its base is 2952. Its weights were obtained from a family budget survey conducted in 1949 and 1950. For a continuous picture of consumer price movements, the table also projects the old Colombo Working Class index to 1953 after splicing on it the new index.

The Table shows that although for the year as a whole consumer prices were 1.6% higher than in 1952, there were some marked ups and downs during the year. These were largely due to changes in the price and the size of the subsidised rice ration. In July the price was increased, but also the size of the ration. Since rationed rice was still cheaper than off-ration rice, the index did not rise as much as it would have otherwise done. There was however some marked rise. From September the index steadily declined because (a) import prices included in the index fell, (h) the price of rationed rice was lowered again in October, and (c) the prices of domestically produced and consumed articles fell appreciably, largely because of the fall in money incomes and money assets. The price of export articles went on rising, but this-group of articles has a very low weightage in the index.

The movements in money and real wages in tea and rubber estates which together constitute the most important single employment sector in the economy, are shown below. Money wages include basic wages and special allowances which change with changes in the cost of living.

Unemployment as indicated by the number of registrations at the Employment Exchanges showed a slight rise in the first quarter of the year, but fell subsequently to reach a level appreciably below that of 1952.

Production and Development

National income was estimated at Rs. 4619 million for 1951 and Rs. 4476 million for 1952. The estimate for 1953 has not been finalised yet but it is thought that it would be slightly less than in 1952. Although export income slightly increased, domestic production appears to have shrunk more than that. This shrinking was due partly to the fall in the money supply and partly to non-monetary factors such as crop failures (in rice), ageing of plantations (on rubber) etc. The output of the four most important domestic products is estimated to be as follows:

Since 1947 when he obtained independence, Ceylon had been increasingly development-minded. Not much information however is available on development in the private sector. In the public sector, the Government adopted a Six-Year Plan in 1943 covering 1947-53. This plan was rather hastily drawn up and ill-defined. Because of this and also because of the financial difficulties that arose after 1951, its content was largely modified during its life. As the table below shows, total capital expenditure (which includes partly expenditure on maintenance and replacements) during 1947—53 was Rs. 1321.7 million. This was probably much below what the Plan originally contemplated.

Government's development expenditure has quite rightly chiefly concentrated on agriculture. Next in importance have been transport and power. Industry, because of its limited possibilities, has been given less weight. Very generous allocations however have been made for development of social capital under health and education. An interesting feature has been the provision for formation of rural capital by rural surplus labour. Village utilities like roads, canals etc. are built by voluntary unpaid village labour obtained from the ranks of the unemployed and the under-employed. The State only provides the necessary materials and technical supervision.

The general scheme of weights and priorities adopted in the Six-Year Plan was approved of by the World Bank Mission which reported on economic development in Ceylon. The Mission itself recommended a new Six-Year Plan 1953-59 costing Rs. 1 600 million. The Government has in general accepted the project composition of this plan, but has altered it from a fixed period to a fixed expenditure plan, the expenditure being cut down to Rs.

500 million. Because Ceylon's income is very variable, a fixed expenditure plan which could be speeded up or slowed down with change in income, is more appropriate for her than a time plan. The details of this new resources plan have not yet been fully prepared.

Source--Central Bank.

So far development expenditure has been mainly financed either out of revenue surpluses or domestic non-bank borrowing. Deficit financing has been only very moderately used in view of its danger of producing inflation and stimulating imports. Expenditure financed by foreign grants and loans has been negligible. Steps however have been taken to raise two loans in 1954, one from the World Bank and the other from the London money market.

Of the Projects undertaken, some are yet to be completed. Their completion would require an estimated Rs. 750 million. A few projects, particularly under industries, have proved unsuccessful and have been discontinued or modified. Among those which have been completed, the most important are a number of colonisation schemes, the first stage of the Laxapana Hydro-electric scheme (capacity and present output 25,000 kw) and a cement factory (cost Rs. 22 million, capacity 95,000 tons, present output 65,000 tons). Good progress has also been made with the large multi-purpose Gal Oya project (for irrigation, colonisation and power), the Colombo Port Development project and the scheme of improvement of the Railway.

In 1953 the organisation of planning was improved by the establishment of a Planning Secretariat. This was one of the World Bank Mission's recommendations. The Mission's other important organisational recommendation for the creation of a Development Finance Corporation has also been accepted but not yet implemented.

Apart from direct investment in the public sector, the Government also encourages development in the private sector by taxation and subsidies. This policy was continued and strengthened in some respects in 1953. Although tax rates were generally increased, producers continued to receive liberal protection and relief. In addition, an important subsidy scheme for replanting decaying rubber lands with high-yielding strains was adopted. This rehabilitation scheme will cost the Government Rs. 60 million over six years, the money being raised chiefly from a cess on rubber exports.

Tea

4i The Tea industry requires about x x/8th labourer per acre. About 83.3% of the labour on Tea estates consist of immigrant labour from India which was recruited through the agency of the Immigration Fund which is under the control of the Commissioner of Labour and is supported by a quarterly acreage fee levied on Tea and Rubber estates. The bulk of the labour on Tea estates is resident on the estate itself and this gives rise to several problems which are not strictly connected with the working of the estates. In the solution of these problems such as family disputes, and quarrels between rival parties on the Estate, the Labour Department has always been ready to play the part of mediator and it is gratifying to record that this assistance which the department offered was really and widely availed of.

As in the case of Rubber, Tea also came under the operation of the Minimum Wage legislation in 1927, with the application of the Minimum Wages (Indian Labour) Ordinance which regulated wages payable to Indian labourers employed on these estates. The history of the extension of the minimum wage legislation to cover all labour employed in this industry is the same as that of the Rubber industry. The Wages Boards Ordinance was applied to the Tea Growing and Manufacturing trades in 1944 when a Wages Board was established. The decisions of this Board came into force in August, 1945, and cover a wide field inclusive of minimum time rates, overtime rates, definition of a working day, and annual and weekly holidays.

The Tea industry too is covered by the provisions of the Medical Wants Ordinance, the Diseases Among Labourers Ordinance and the Maternity Benefits Ordinance which among themselves provide for the provision and control of medical, housing and sanitation facilities to the labourers on these Estates.

The prosperity of the industry was seriously threatened in the latter part of 1946 when a disease known as 'Blister Blight' appeared on a number of Tea Estates in Ceylon. This disease has been known as a Tea pest in N.E. India for some time, but its harmfulness in that part of India has been greatly reduced by the climatic conditions which prevail there. The Blister Blight may have created a panic on a par with that which accompanied the first appearance of the Coffee disease but thanks to the Tea Research Institute and the co-operation of all interests concerned, the study of the disease and of the measures taken for its abatement continue in an atmosphere of calm confidence, and the industry may look forward to a future as prosperous as its past.

ACREAGE IN CEYLON

In 1880, Ceylon had 9,274 acres of tea, which within ten years increased to 20,000 acres.

The transition from a buyers market to a sellers market, which commenced towards the end of 1952, continued with steady momentum during the whole of 1953 until, finally, a situation approaching boom conditions was reached during Dauenaber. Rising consumption in nearly all the major consuming countries and particularly the combined with a slight decrease in world supplies were the factors which created this situation. The North Indian crop was nearly 20 million lb. less than in 1952 but this shortfall was probably due more to adverse weather conditions than to a continuation of the Voluntary Restriction Programme which had been adopted the previous year in order to reduce the large surplus being produced at that time. Although the decrease in the North Indian crop was more than balanced by an extra 25 million lb. from Ceylon, supplies from Indonesia were somewhat less, and with consumption on the increase, a general shortage of tea was evident by the end of the year. Imports to U.K. from all producing countries were some 4 million lb. less than in 1952 whereas re-exports increased by about 12 million lb. making an actual deficit of 16 million lb. for domestic consumption which, unimpeded by rationing, continued to expand.

Colombo Auctions-During the year 2574 million lb. were sold in the Colombo Auctions, exclusive of reprinted teas. This figure was 191 million lb. more than in 1952 and constituted another record. The introduction of a system of regulating weekly offerings to a maximum of Of million lb. or 2,750 lots whichever figure was first reached enabled this large quantity to be handled expeditiously, but a considerable strain was placed on storage capacity in Colombo during and after the heavy cropping months, which was not alleviated until the accumulation of tea awaiting disposal was eventually cleared up in the third sale of August.

The year opened on a strong note in the first Auction, the average for which at Rs. 1/82 was ro cents higher than the closing Auction of 1952. During January and February, demand for tea from all elevations continued very strong. The seasonal improvements in quality from Western Districts caused a steady rise in prices of High Grown and Medium kinds, culminating in a peak sale average of Rs. 2/23 in the sale of 9th March. In this sale, fine flavoured teas which were realising anything from Rs. 3/- to Rs. 3/50 per lb. and sometimes higher, raised the High Grown average to Re. 2/6r, whilst the Medium Grown average also advanced by 13 cents to Rs. 2/06. During January and February Low Grown teas had also averaged from ro to 15 cents more than at the end of 1952, and in the sale of the 9th March, as a result of the Egyptian Government's release of sterling, there was a welcome return of Egyptian buyers to the market and a spectacular rise of about 50 to 80 cents in prices of Fannings and Dusts suitable for that market caused the Low Grown average to jump from Rs. 1/64 to Rs. /86. Thereafter, quality declined sharply and, aggravated by the high rate of export duty imposed at that time by the sliding scale, prices fell to much lower levels by the end of March and the sale average fell to Re. 1/86. Heavy crops in April and May produced large quantities of rush teas of poor quality and even poorer appearance and it says much for the strong general demand which continued to prevail that, although prices steadily fell in step with declining quality, the sale average only dropped a further io cents and reached its lowest level for the year at Rs. 1/76 during June, which compared very favourably with the lowest average reached the previous year—Rs. 1/51 in May 1952. During this time, however, while High Grown and Medium teas were declining, Low Grown sorts suitable for the Persian Gulf market attracted increasingly strong competition and higher prices. These sorts fluctuated from week to week but in several sales during May and June the Low Grown average was slightly higher than the total sale average whilst during July it topped the High Grown average by about 8 cents per lb. in three consecutive sales, with a peak for the year of Rs. 1/93 on the 13th.

In the second half of the year, demand from all consuming countries continued with unabated strength. There was seasonal fluctuations in prices for teas from certain districts owing to improving or declining quality but prices on the whole were remarkably steady from July to October, culminating in an upward swing during November and December.

Owing to the late arrival of the South West Monsoon early in July, the Uva quality season was very short and teas from these districts did not reach the fine standard produced in 1952. All attractive invoices, however, were keenly sought and consistently higher prices were realised during the whole of August for best invoices at levels of from Re. r/- to Rs. 1/50 higher than the previous month. There was not, however, an abundant selection of the best flavoured teas and, in consequence, the High Grown average only registered a comparatively modest advance from Rs. 1/85 at the end of July to Rs. 2/ii in the first sale of September, but it was very noticeable that buyers were eager to appreciate any improvements in quality. September and October saw a steady seasonal decline in Uva quality and, with prices following the decline, the High Grown average fell from Rs 2/11 to Rs. r/99, although there was no weakening in demand. During this time Medium and Low Grown sorts also continued to be in strong demand, although there were fluctuations from week to week within fairly narrow limits. In the last to o months of the year there was some improvement in quality from Western districts, but erratic weather conditions during November, with about ten days of fine dry weather and low night temperatures, followed by a period of heavy rainfall, caused quality in December to be most irregular.

Increasing competition, however, from U.K. buyers in conjunction with the usual strong support from Australia and South Africa, resulted in steadily rising prices for teas from all elevations, which pushed the sale average from Re. 1/86 up to Rs. 2/oz. The High Grown and Medium averages rose by 20 and T9 cents respectively, whilst although Middle East types fluctuated considerably, those Low Grown kinds destined for U.K. or Australia steadily advanced and the Low Grown average, in consequence, rose from Rs. 1/75 to Rs. 1/89 in the last sale of the year.

The use of coupons for export licences was abandoned from June 1, 1942.

Rubber

THE production of natural rubber shares with the Coconut Industry a place second only to Tea in the agricultural economy of Ceylon. The Rubber tree is not a native of this country but was introduced from Brazil. The seedlings from that country were originally propagated at the Kew Gardens in London and the first rubber plants were sent out to Ceylon in 1876. It was found that the plant took very kindly to conditions in this country and a few years later seeds and seedlings were being exported to other Eastern countries from Ceylon.

Although in its native element the Rubber tree was a jungle plant, in Ceylon it thrived under plantation cultivation. As a commercial proposition it made its presence felt round about the year 1900, in which year there was an export of 4 tons of Rubber from Ceylon valued at about Rs. 12,882. At that time the acreage under cultivation was about 1,750 acres of rubber. At the end of 1946 this had increased to 666,506 planted acres of which about 147,000 acres were small holdings, that is to say, areas under 10 acres in extent mainly cultivated by peasant agriculturists. 60% of the rubber acreages are Ceylonese owned, whilst European ownership accounts for 35% and the balance is in the hands of other nationals,

The principal product of the rubber tree is the latex which is obtained by tapping the trunk. Tapping generally commences when the trees are 6 to 7 years of age and have a girth, at 3 ft. above the ground, of approximately 24 inches. Various systems of tapping are in vogue but the basic idea is to cut the bark so as to cause the latex—a milky substance—to flow from the end of the cut. The latex is collected into cups which are affixed just below the end of the cut. The latex is collected and removed to the Factory by the tappers, after sufficient time has been allowed for the latex to run out and collect in the cups.

The conversion of the latex into the form in which it is put on the wholesale market is done in factories on the estates. It will be noted that Tea is exported in a form ready for consumption but the rubber exported is still a raw material and has to be converted into rubber goods before being put on the consumption market.

The labour required on a Rubber Estate is about one labourer to 3 acres, and the composition of the labour force employed in the industry is 60 % Indian and 40 % Ceylonese labour as far as the plantations are concerned, while in the smallholdings the labour employed is almost exclusively Ceylonese. An appreciable proportion of the labour employed in this industry is not resident on the estate but reports daily for work from the neighbouring villages and settlements. The Rubber industry is covered by the Indian Immigrant Labour Ordinance under which a Fund administered by the Commissioner of Labour has been set up to assist estates in recruitment of unskilled labour from India, and most of the Indian labour employed on these estates has been recruited through the agency of this fund.

There has been for some time wage legislation covering workers in this industry. The earliest Ordinance was the Minimum Wages Ordinance which appeared on the Statute Book in 1927 and covered Indian labour employed on these estates. In addition to the payment of the minimum wage, which was prescribed under the provisions of this Ordinance, employers were required to give the labourers a fixed amount of rice, free of cost, each month or in the alternative to provide the non-working children of labourers entitled to benefits under this Ordinance with at least one meal, free of cost, each day. Most employers extended the benefit under this Ordinance to indigenous labour as well, but indigenous labour did not legally enjoy any benefits until the Defence Regulations came into force during the period of the War when as rubber was an essential commodity, anti-strike regulations required all labour to be treated alike. About 1937, the Labour Department commenced investigations as to the need for wage legislation to cover all classes of labour irrespective of nationality, and the result of these investigations was the Wages Boards Ordinance No. 27 of 194r which extended to, & covered all workers in trades to which the Ordinance was applied.

The Ordinance was applied to the Rubber Growing Trade on the 3rd of January, 1944, and a Wages Board for the trade was established on the 17th of May, 1944. The first decisions of this Board which became effective on 1st August, 1945, covered the fixation of a minimum wage on a time basis the definition of a normal working day and provisions for the payment of overtime wages. Since then other decisions have been made inclusive of the grant of weekly and annual holidays, subject to certain conditions to workers in this trade.

Apart from wage legislation, conditions on these Estates are also governed by the Medical Wants Ordinance and the Diseases Among Labourers Ordinance which provide for medical attention and facilities, housing, sanitation and preventive health measures. Housing is supplied free to resident labour but it was not till 1928 that legislation was brought in to regulate the size and construction of these houses, and rapid strides have been made in the general standards of housing on estates since that date. Women workers on these estates are also entitled to receive benefits under the Maternity Benefits Ordinance provided they qualify in terms of that Ordinance.

The industry as a whole flourished up to about 1929 when there was a decline, partly due to over-production and partly due to the world-wide depression. Efforts were made in common with the rest of the world to assist the survival of the industry, and Ceylon entered the general scheme for the restriction of production, planting, etc. With this in view, the Department of the Rubber Controller was established in May, 1934. This department controlled the production and export of rubber and the planting of new areas. The agreement relating to rubber regulation was eventually terminated on 30th April, 1944, but the Rubber Control Department still functions for the collection of statistics and for other domestic matters connected with the rubber industry. During this period of decline, another step was taken in the direction of the establishment of a Research Institute which continually examines and tries to solve difficulties and problems of the Rubber Planters. This Institute still functions and the results of its research are made available to the members of the trade.

With the second world war there was a sharp step up in the position of the Rubber Growing industry and, with the loss of Malaya and other rubber-producing areas, Ceylon became the chief producer of raw rubber for the Allies. A high production level was reached and this state continued right up to 1946. 1947, however, saw a sharp drop in prices and the resultant position created grave concern for the future of the Rubber industry. A commission was appointed in May, 1947, to enquire into, and report upon, the state of this industry in Ceylon and to make recommendations as to ways and means of improvement. The Commission submitted its report on 7th July, in which many recommendations were made for improving the methods of production in the Rubber Growing industry itself, and also suggestions as to the creation of industries to convert raw rubber into marketable goods in this country, so as to build up a local market for the Rubber Growing trade. At present there are a few industries using rubber on a small scale, such as the re-building of tyres, manufacture of small articles, like balloons, erasers, door mats and similar goods. This aspect of the development of the Rubber manufacturing industry is also receiving the attention of the Director of Industries who has a division of his department under a highly qualified Rubber Technologist.

The above statement does not include Rubber Latex, for which the Customs Returns give the following figures for the last three years : —

		Total Exports	Value	Average value
		lb.	Rs.	per lb.
				Rs. cts.

1953	..	4,350,300	8,689,826	2.00

Market —World Rubber Markets in 1953 have registered lower levels than in the preceding year. Taking the value of No. 1 R.S.S., basis C.I.F. London, as the yardstick, the market opened at the beginning of the year at approximately 264d. and declined steadily to 18d. in July since when the price has fluctuated mildly between 19d. and 16d., finally closing at the end of the year at 17d.

Duty—Throughout the year the sliding scale of Export Duty has continued to operate but in practice has never been above the minimum level of 15 cents per lb. for all types of rubber.

Under the Rubber Re-planting Subsidy Act, an additional cess of 20 cents per lb. was levied on Sheet Rubber. This came into effect at midnight 4/5th October, but shortly afterwards was reduced to 6 cents.

Towards the end of December an additional cess of 10 cents per lb. was levied on Sole Crepe also, as the average price of this type of Rubber at the weekly auctions had exceeded the Rubber Commissioner's price of Rs. 1.20 for 2 R.S.S. by some 5 cents.

Sheet—Under the terms of the Ceylon/China Trade Agreement, the Rubber Commissioner has been the sole exporter of Sheet Rubber to the Peoples' Republic of China throughout 1953. At the beginning of the year he bought from Shippers at Rs. 1.564, Rs. 1.534, Rs. 1.504, Rs. 1.361, and Rs. 1.314 for 1 R.S.S. to 5 R.S.S. respectively F.O.B. Colombo, while the prices for Naked 1 R.S.S. to 5 R.S.S. delivered Shippers' godowns were pegged at Es. 1.35, Rs. 1.32, Rs. 1.29, Rs. 1.15 and Rs. 1.10 respectively. In Mid-March, however, he raised both the F.O.B. and Naked prices by 1 cent all round and these prices obtained until midnight 20/21st December.

The price agreed with China for the 1954 crop is 28c. F.O.B. Colombo for 1 R.S.S., 2 R.S.S. and 3 R.S.S. and 25d. F.O.B. Colombo for 4 R.S.S. and 5 R.S.S.. Subsequent to 21st December, 1953, the Rubber Commissioner has arranged to buy from Shippers at Rs. 1.32, Rs. 1.29, Rs. 1.26, Rs. 1.02 and 97 cents F.O.B. Colombo and the Naked prices have been pegged at Rs, Liof, Rs. 1.071, As. 1,042, 801 cents and 751 cents delivered Shippers' go: downs for I.R.S.S. to 5. R.S. , respectively.

Shipment of the Ant 50,ocia tons sold to China in 1953 was completed by early December and in that month the first ahipment against the 1954 contract was made.

The Government has pursued its policy of the Ceylonisation of the Rubber Trade with China and throughout the year the quantity that Non-National Shippers have been allowed to handle, haS been steadily and drastically diminished until, by December, it had been reduced to some 225 tons (approx,.. mately) among them all.

Crepe—At the beginning of 1953, Latex Crepe was still commanding a s nail premium over Sheet, but with the gradual decline in world markets, Pale Latex Crepe No, x declined from about Rs. 1.45 per lb. in January to Re. Loa in April. For most of the remainder of the year, the price fluctuated between Rs. 1.10 and go cents, but towards the end of December it fell away to the lowest level of 83 cents.

With the present high costs of production, and Sheet Rubber selling at a premium, very many producers have already switched from the manufacture of Latex Crepe to the more profitable manufacture of Sheet and with the continued sagging tendency in world rubber markets, this proce.is is being accelerated so that it is quite possible that in the not very distant future, Latex Crepe will virtually disappear from the local market.

Sole Crepe—The production of Sole Crepe has increased considerably this year and against the 2,400 tons offered for sale at the weekly auctions in 1952, almost 5,400 tons have been offered in 1953. The main cause for this has been the very low prices realised for ordinary Latex Crepe forcing Crepe producers to change to the manufacture of Sole Crepe.

At the beginning of the year Good No. r Sole Crepe was selling around Rs. 1.85 per lb. to Rs. 2.00 per lb., and prices improved slightly during the wintering season when offerings were smaller. As soon as offerings improved, a steady decline set in and by early October Good No. a Sole Crepe was only saleable between about Re. t.00 and Rs. 1.30 per lb., and the large quantities of off grades on offer were almost unsaleable. These low prices caused many estates to cease manufacture and prices thereafter improved slightly to about Rs. 1.35 to Rs. 1.50 per lb. The additional cess of to cents per lb. imposed on Sole Crepe in December, reduced local prices again and at the end of the year No. r Sole Crepe was selling around Rs. 1.05 to Re. 1.25 per lb.

Unless the value improves considerably it is highly probable that Sole Crepe will share the impending fate of Latex Crepe.

Exports--According to figures supplied by the Rubber Controller the over-all exports of rubber from Ceylon during 1953 amounted to 90,679 tons composed as follows :--

Sheet	...	58,776 tons
Sole Crepe		7,517
Scrap Crepe	...	15,914 ,,
Latex Crepe	..•	22,4 ¹ ₅
Latex		2,057 ,,
Total		96,679 ,,

It is to be noted that this total does not agree with the aggregate export total taken from the Customs Returns.

According to these Customs figures the total export of rubber* advanced frgin 206,243,976 lb. in 1952 to 212,975,7T4 lb. in 1953. The distribution to the major consuming countries for the two years were:--

F.O.B. Rubber Contracts—Amended conditions of sale of rubber F.O.B. Colombo were adopted at the Annual General Meeting of the Ceylon Chamber of Commerce on the 20th March, 1953, as it was found that the previous conditions were not sufficiently comprehensive.

Rubber Re-Planting Subsidy Act. No. 36 of 1953—It was found that in its operation, section 7 (2) of the Act had a totally different effect from that which was intended. Whereas the cess on any description of Crepe Rubber should have become payable up to a maximum of 50 cents per lb. only when the price of such rubber exceeded the price of R.M.A. Sheet No. 1 by more than the prescribed amount, such prescribed amount being the difference between the cost of manufacture of Sheet Rubber and Crepe Rubber according to the section as actually passed a cess of 5 cents a pound or more up to a maximum of 10 cents became payable when the price of Crepe Rubber reached the prescribed amount of 5 cents a pound in excess of the price of Sheet.

The Association, therefore, made representations to the Minister of Agriculture and Food that the section be amended to give effect to the original intention, and it is understood that this will shortly be done.

The Association along with other interests also made representations that although it was apparently the intention that different amounts should be prescribed for Crepe Rubber and Sole Crepe Rubber, Regulation 10 of the Regulations made under the Act and published in Government Gazette Extraordinary of the 3rd October, 1953, stated that the prescribed amount should be 50 cents, applicable equally to Crepe and Sole Crepe. As a result of these representations, the following Regulation was published in Government Gazette Extraordinary No. 10,636 of 3rd February, 1954—

'The Rubber Re-planting Subsidy Regulations, 1953, published in Gazette Extraordinary No. 10,594 of October 3, 1953, are hereby amended by the substitution, for Regulation 10, of the following regulation:—

TO, The amount to be prescribed for the purposes of sub-section (2) of section 7 of the Rubber Re-planting Subsidy Act, No. 36 of 1953, shall be:—

- (a) ten cents in the case of sole crepe rubber,
- and
- (b) five cents in the case of crepe rubber of any description other than sole crepe rubber.'

COCONUT

The Coconut Industry occupies a pre-eminent position in the economy of the indigenous population. Of the approximately one million acres of Coconut land in Ceylon, roughly two-thirds consist of small holdings, that is to say, of allotments of 50 acres and under, and practically the whole of it is Ceylonese-owned. It is essentially the small man's industry. The Ceylon Banking Commissioners after a comprehensive investigation into the economic life of the country expressed the opinion that from the point of view of its importance to the export trade of Ceylon, the coconut industry can claim an equal rank with Rubber, but considered with reference to the place it occupies in the village economy, it should take precedence over all the agricultural industries in the Island; in Tea, the share of the villager is insignificant; in Rubber, though larger, it is not considerable, but in the case of coconut, it is the village garden that predominates; in fact, they said, in districts where coconut flourishes, it is the principal money crop of the average villager.

The coconut palm is indeed a Tree of Life to the Ceylonese villager. The fruit of the coconut palm enters very largely into the diet of the Ceylonese. The ripe kernel flavours curries and also provides the indigent classes with a substitute for curry with his rice meal. The oil derived from the kernel is put to many uses; the shell provides fuel; the husk yields fibre for making ropes, string and other useful articles for the house. The unopened flower of the coconut palm when still within the spathe is tapped for toddy which is the poor man's wine and is claimed to have food value. The coconut branches soaked and plaited provide him with covering for his roof while the coconut timber provides him with rafters and beams. The tender coconut gives a delicious and refreshing drink. In nuptials and in death the tender palm leaf decorates his path and it is with the elegant scabbard-like spathe containing the unopened coconut flower that the villager pays his homage at the temple.

The following are the major products of the coconut palm and represent the various industries and occupations associated with it :

- i. Coconuts—Fruit of the Coconut Palm.
3. Copra -The dried kernel of the ripe nut,
3. Coconut Oil—Extract from Copra.
- + Oilcako or Poonac -The residue remaining after the all has been extracted from the Copra.
- S. Desiccated Coconut—Manufactured from the fresh kernel of the ripe nut.
6. Coir Fibre—Manufactured from the husk which surrounds the nut,
7. Coir Yarn—Thin rope spun from the fibres.
8. Toddy—Extracted from the tree, a drink much appreciated by the labour classes especially.
9. Arrack—An alcoholic drink manufactured from fermented Toddy.

No authentic data are available about the introduction of this palm into Ceylon. Although it is said that the coconut industry is one of the earliest economic activities in Ceylon, commercial plantations did not come into being until about a century ago. The industry at one stage achieved such stable conditions of prosperity that coconuts were described as the " Consols of the East." But the days of unrestricted monopoly & consistent, effortless dividends have passed away and the industry has now to face severe competition from oils produced in other countries.

Apart from the normal estate operations of cultivating and manuring, labour in the coconut industry is engaged in the picking of nuts, curing of copra and in the manufacture of oil, desiccated coconut and fibre. Copra curing is carried out in most of the big estates while there are dealers all over the coconut-growing areas who buy nuts and cure copra as a business. Oil, desiccated coconut and Fibre Mills are scattered over these districts, the largest concentration being in the Negombo district and the southern portion of the Chilaw district. The labour employed in the coconut industry is almost entirely indigenous. Toddy tapping which is not an estate operation has attracted a large number of Indians chiefly in the Chilaw district. But apart from these tappers and a small number of coconut pluckers there are hardly any non-Ceylonese engaged in this industry. The labour on Coconut estates is mainly non-resident. In many cases, families reside on estates and provide a little casual labour in return for security and some amenities. Coconut estate management has been marked by a form of beneficent quasi-feudal relationship between the estate worker and the owner. Cases abound where families have resided on estates in employment for several decades and proprietors have exercised care for the welfare of generations of such estate people. Numerically, the Coconut Industry is not a large employer of labour. Although in Tea plantations the average rate of employment is from 1 to 10 labourers per acre and one-third of this in Rubber, in the coconut estates it is about one labourer for 10-13 acres. In these circumstances, the regulation of the terms and conditions of service in this category has not been a need as clamant as in the case of Rubber, Tea and other industries. For the first time minimum wages and hours of work for workers in this industry were fixed with effect from August, 1943. Decisions have also been made relating to holidays. Apart from these, the Maternity Benefits Ordinance has laid on employers the duty of making certain specified payments and granting leave to women workers who are confined.

The coconut industry differs in some respect from the Tea and Rubber industries particularly in that there is a striking distinction between the agricultural and manufacturing side and the wages are fixed both at piece rates as well as on time-rate basis. The present Wages Board for the coconut industry consists of 5 representatives from the workers' side and on the employers' side, of 2 representatives of the Planting Interests and 3 representatives of the Oil, Desiccated Coconut and Fibre Mills. As a result of representations received regarding the disparity of the strength as between Planting Interests and the Manufacturing interests, steps are being taken to have two Wages Boards, instead of one, to deal with the two sections of the industry, viz., (a) the raising and the maintenance of coconut plantations and (b) the manufacture of copra, desiccated coconut, oil, fibre and other coconut products.

There has been no change in the system of purchasing coconuts for export and shippers continue to submit tenders to the Commissioner of Co-operative Development for their requirements.

The market for export nuts opened in January on a firm note at Rs. 322/50 per L000 nuts and fluctuated narrowly between this level and Rs. 305/94 in June, when with the exception of one or two short-lived rises the market declined steadily to Rs. 274/17 in December at which price the market closed.

The total number of nuts shipped from Ceylon was 6,569,656 as against 7,867,474 for the corresponding period last year.

The market opened in January at Rs. 49/- for Fine Yarn, Rs. 43/- for medium and Rs. 28/- for the lowest grade, and declined steadily to reach in December, 1953, Rs. 45/- for Fine Yarn, Rs. 35/- for medium and Rs. 25/- for the lowest grade. Demand from overseas was fairly steady throughout the year. There has been a slight increase in production of about 1,800 cwt. but figures recorded were still below those in 1951.

BRISTLE FIBRE

The Government Control Price Scheme continued in force throughout the year, the 'Fair Price' being Rs. 18/- per cwt.

The market opened in January at Rs. 18/- for Two Tie, but strengthened to Rs. 19/- by the middle of February, at which price it remained until the end of July when Rs. 20/- was paid. This price continued to be paid until the beginning of October when two increases were made, and by the end of the month the market stood at Rs. 22/- per cwt. This firmer market was only temporary as during November the price dropped to Rs. 20/- at which price it remained until the end of the year.

COPRA

As a result of the good demand for coconut oil from the Continent, the market for copra locally maintained good prices during the year. Apart from this there was also a fair demand for copra from India from the beginning of the year up to the end of March. After a short interval India came into the market again in June and continued purchases right up to the end of the year.

Shipments of copra for 1953 were 21,390 tons as compared with 40,731 tons for the previous year, which shows a fall in exports of nearly 50 per cent. This fall is attributable to Pakistan, the largest buyer not being issued with Import Licences. Where licences were issued the quota allowed was nominal.

The sliding scale of duties which had been in force was lifted during the latter part of December and a fixed duty of Rs. 260/- per ton was enforced. In general the change was very welcome to the trade.

DESICCATED COCONUT

The total quantity exported in 1953, viz. 57,277 tons, was the largest quantity ever shipped from Ceylon during any one calendar year, and was some 1,600 tons greater than 1952 shipments.

A notable feature was the comparative steadiness of the market during the period under review, the monthly average price ranging from a minimum of 48 cents per lb. in February to a maximum of 56 cents per lb. in September compared with fluctuations from 35 cents to 53 cents in the previous year. The average price for the year 1953 was 52 cents per lb.; 8 Cents higher than 1952.

During the year there was a continued steady demand from the U.K. and Europe, and a number of new markets showed signs of development. During the month of August there was a Desiccated Coconut typhoid 'scare' in Australia and announcements were made in the Press advising housewives to burn their Coconut. Although the affected Coconut was of Papuan origin and the Ceylon produce was declared free from infection, nevertheless these announcements had a weakening effect on sales to this particular market and it is only now that the position is improving.

For the first time a considerable quantity of Coconut was shipped in Multi-wall paper bags, contents being $\frac{1}{2}$ too lb. nett. This type of packing has been used in the Philippines for many years and it is anticipated more and more Desiccated Coconut will be shipped this way.

The sliding scale of export duties introduced in December 1952 was abolished just one year after its inception and a fixed export duty of Rs. 156/- per ton was imposed early in December 1953. The imposition of a fixed scale of duty was largely welcomed.

POONAC

Customs Returns show only 2,40o tons exported during the year. Export duty for some years has been Rs. 200/- per ton which has made shipment impossible. Internal prices varied during the year between Rs. 195/- and Rs. 325/- per ton. It has been the policy of the Government to maintain this high rate of duty on Poonac to give local farmers cheap cattle food.

Fairly heavy business was done in Desiccated Coconut and this, combined with a smaller coconut crop, contributed towards the reduction in the quantity Of Poonac available.

CINNAMON

Quills—The market ruled steady to firm until September and price fluctuations were within reasonable limits. During the last quarter of the year prices advanced sharply by -/25 to -/5o cents per lb. on account of excellent demand from overseas.

Exports nearly reached 54,000 cwt., which was an increase of about 8,00o cwt. over 1952. The additional quantities were shipped mainly to U.S.A., Mexico and South American countries. Exports to the U.K. were again lower but this was made good by increased shipments to Germany.

Chips—Exports have declined for the fourth year in succession and amounted to about 3,50o cwt. only. Prices were rather firm during January/April but declined somewhat towards the end of the year.

COCOA

Although the figures for 1953 showed an overall decrease on the previous year, Cocoa has had a satisfactory year.

Exports to several countries showed a marked increase, whilst the only important decrease was in exports to Japan where a drop of approximately 500 tons was recorded.

The year closed with good demand and prices advancing.

COCONUT OIL

The year opened with the usual shortage of Copra and negligible interest for Coconut Oil from India and Pakistan. There was a mild interest for 13u1k, however, for near positions. At the end of January, there was more interest for March 1Aptil oil and prices firmed fairly steadily until May. There was a sharp decline in price in June due to lack of buying interest and more plenti-fill supplies of raw material. Prices were fairly steady throughout the following months with a few incidents worth commenting upon, but towards the end of the year prices improved steadily with increased buying interest from shippers, mostly for near positions. The change from the sliding scale of duties to a flat rate of duties on December 3rd, resulting in an appreciable decrease in the rate of duty payable, caused an immediate increase in the price of local oil.

The quantity of Coconut oil exported during 1953 was lower than the previous two years owing to the smaller Copra crop.

CARDAMOMS

Shipments for 1953 totalled 2,070 cwt. showing a decline of 391 cwt. on the previous year. This drop was largely due to the ban on imports to Pakistan, which has always been a useful outlet for off-grades, having absorbed 594 cwt. in 1952 as against a total shipment of 3 cwt. for the year under review.

Buying interest came mainly from the Middle East, with the Continent the next best customer. Offerings were confined to Green Cardamoms only.

Demand was quiet at the beginning of the year with nominal quotations for selected parcels at about the closing rates of 1952, while poorer sorts were selling at a considerable discount. By April the general quotation had fallen to about Rs. 3.70 per pound. Thereafter a better enquiry developed and, in the second half of July, prices made a steady advance, following a reduction in the rate of export duty to Re. 1.00 per lb. The closing quotation was fully Re. 1.00 per lb. dearer than the year's lowest level.

MATTRESS FIBRE

The Government Control Price Scheme continued in force throughout the year, the 'Fair Price' being Rs. 8/- per cwt.

The market opened in January at the official price of Rs. 8/- and remained at this level until towards the end of February when it rose to Rs. 9/- . Between the beginning of March and the end of August the market fluctuated between Rs. 8/50 and Rs. 10/- . Firmer conditions were experienced in September when the price rose to over Rs. 10/- and the unseasonal and very heavy rains which fell during October resulted in a further rise to approximately Rs. 12/- per cwt.; with the return of fine weather early in November the market broke sharply and reverted to Re. 9/- per cwt., at which it continued until the end of the year.

PLUMBAGO

Business during the year was more or less quiet. From what could be gathered the inactivity has been due to competition from other sources on the one hand and the large stocks held by U.S.A. on the other.

Small mines completely went out of production and one or two of the bigger mines were also not producing to the extent of the previous years.

Towards the second quarter of the year Japan showed greater interest, and since then has been steadily improving on her imports of Ceylon graphite.

On the whole towards the latter part of the year there was a better demand both from U.S.A. and U.K. and towards the close of the year there were prospects of increased demand. Presently there is much activity in the market.

CITRONELLA OIL

The market opened in January, 1953, at Rs. 1.80 and, after having improved to the level of Rs. 2.05 in February, dropped to Rs. 1.55 per lb. to rise again during the second half of the year, closing on 31st December at Rs. 2.30. Demand from overseas was fair and trading conditions in this commodity were on a more normal basis than they had been during the previous years since the element of speculation which had been the main feature of this market for the last few years had practically disappeared.

PIECE GOODS

At the beginning of the year the outlook was fairly healthy because it was felt that the forced sales of excess stocks during 1952 would have cleared the market to a considerable extent, but unfortunately the market remained in the doldrums during the greater part of 1953 and in fact trading conditions were as bad as in 1952.

The Japanese competition in rayons forced the price of cotton piece goods to even lower levels than those experienced in the previous year, and although the quantity of artificial silks imported was very much less than in 1952 (as a result no doubt of the excessive imports in that year) the average price per yard fell by a further fifteen per cent. Standard lines in cottons continued with a slow turnover but new qualities were almost impossible of sale and conditions were very depressed indeed.

The figures below show that the yardage of cottons imported rose slightly whereas the yardage of rayons fell to two-thirds of the yardage imported in 1952. An indication of the fall in prices can be seen from the fact that the average price of cotton piece goods in 1951 was Rs. 1.70 per yard, and in 1953 Rs. 1.26, whereas rayons in 1951 averaged Rs. 1.79 per yard and in 1953 Rs. 1.23.

The total value of piece goods imported during the year was the lowest since 1950, but even at the end of the year the glut caused by imprudent buying in 1952 was still making itself evident and there was no indication that better conditions could be expected during the first quarter of 1953.

RICE

Government controlled and organised the imports, supply and distribution of rice during 1953. From time to time there were reports that the trade would revert to private hands but no change took place. Comparative import figures for the past three years are :-

On the 30th July, as a measure of economy, Government removed the greater part of the subsidy on rice but pegged the sale ex-Government Depot or Co-operative Store at 70 cents a measure to rice ration card holders. This measure although necessary was most unpopular and on the 19th October the subsidy was increased, and since that date rationed rice has been sold at 55 cents a measure or the equivalent of Rs. 44/- per bag of 160 lb. Un-rationed rice was available in any quantity.

The agreement with China was extended for another year, and in fact the bulk of our rice requirements now come from China.

Owing to shortage of warehouse accommodation within the harbour premises and elsewhere, Government tried to arrange sale of China rice surplus to their immediate requirements. It was unfortunate that so much publicity was given to this proposal for out of 60,000 tons available only 35,000 tons of rice have so far been sold.

The news from Burma is encouraging and a reliable crop estimate for 1954 is the figure at 1,800,000 tons of rice in addition to the 1953 carry-over of anything up to three quarter of a million tons. For the first time, therefore, it is reported with confidence that there are no fears of a rice shortage during 1954; but rice producing countries must bring their prices into line and adopt a more realistic attitude to world economic conditions.

COAL

For the first time since the cessation of hostilities a supply of coal was received from South Africa. There is a likelihood of further parcels being received in 1954.

India continued to be the major supplier, but as in previous years buyers were unable to select grades, this being under the control of the Indian Coal Commissioner who allocates a selected grade Steam Coal for export. The quality of coal received was similar to that obtained in 1952.

Chartering was easier and rates dropped considerably bringing down the cost of coal by an appreciable margin.

Bunker requirements continued their downward trend as the number of coal burning vessels declined.

MOTOR VEHICLES

Motor Cars—Throughout 1953 practically all makes and models of cars were readily available and resulted in a closer approach to normal trading conditions.

Whilst the number imported during the year fell short of 1952 by only 204 units, the value of the imports was less by the wide margin of Rs. 6 million. A preponderance of small cars accounted for the reduction in the import value. The advance in the import duty rate of cars over 18 h.p. to 50 per cent. in July 1953, adversely affected sales for the remainder of the year of cars in the high horse-power range.

Rickshaws were on the way out and were being replaced by fleets of low horse-powered taxis which offered quick and economical transportation.

Commercial Vehicles—The value of imports under this heading for 1952 showed an appreciable drop.

Motor Cycles—Although imports were much below that of 1951 and 1952, the quantity imported, namely 601 units, was sufficient to meet the demand for this form of transportation.

KEROSENE OIL.

Actual consumption in 1953 showed an increase of 9 per cent. over 1952. The growing popularity of tractors using this product for agricultural purposes and the rapid growth of colonists settlement, particularly in the Eastern Province where electricity is not yet generally available, were the main causes for the increased demand. This upward trend is expected to continue during 1954.

MOTOR SPIRIT

Consumption for 1953 showed an increase of about 6 per cent, over 1952 as compared with an increase of 15 per cent in 1952 over 1951. The factors contributing to the drop in percentage were the 'hartal' in August and the comparatively lesser imports of petrol driven vehicles in 1953 compared with 1952.

LIQUID FUEL

Furnace fuel, diesel fuel and gas oil actual consumption figures increased by 18 per cent., 5 per cent. and to per cent. respectively over 1952. The furnace fuel increase was in line with increased production at the Cement Factory and the greater change-over of railway locomotives from coal to oil burning. The increase in diesel fuel was due to a general all-round increase in trade while for gas oil the reason was the use of more diesel driven vehicles:

TEA AND RUBBER CHESTS

The total imports of chests has been on a slightly larger scale than in 1952 but on a considerably reduced scale when compared with 1951.

There were always adequate supplies of chests available during the year but stocks held by importers and estates generally were lower than in the immediate preceding years.

In Mardi, tea and other chests were brought under the Industrial Products Act No. 18 of 1949. In order to import chests it became necessary to obtain an import licence and at the same time pay for and take up one locally made Government plywood chest for every five chests imported.

ALUMINIUM LININGS AND TEA LEAD

Adequate supplies of aluminium finings were available for the packing of produce throughout the year with the exception of a short period when linings for desiccated coconut cases were in short supply.

Again no tea lead was available.

Import figures for aluminium ware: foil for packing produce for export were :—

Total imports 1953	7,031 cwt valued at Rs. 1,565,409
Imports from U.K. 1953 ...	4,385 937,883

FERTILISERS

During 1953 tea sold at more favourable prices than in 1952, and this increased prosperity in the tea industry was reflected in the sales of fertilisers throughout the year.

From the Customs figures, it will be seen that the imports of fertilisers for 1953 were just over one-third as much again as in 1952, and sales during the same period also increased by about 35,000 tons.

It is believed that stocks of fertilisers in the Island at the end of 1953 were approximately the same as at the beginning, and indications are that in the current year imports and sales of fertilisers will once again show an increase.

Prices throughout the year fluctuated within very narrow limits, and it seems that world prices of fertilisers have now reached a fairly steady level since the cessation of hostilities in Korea. The tendencies at the end of the year indicate a slight hardening in prices, but it does not seem likely that there will be very great variations between 1953 and 1954 prices.

The Tea Research Institute during the year did not find it necessary to amend its recommendations, and the T.R.I. 500 mixture still remained by far the most popular mixture supplied to tea. Increases in sales to coconut and rubber plantations were also noted.

IRON, STEEL AND ALLIED TRADES

The promise held out in 1952 of a general easing of the supply position has been fulfilled in the period under review. Although plate from U.K. sources has not always been as readily available as it might have been, there has been little difficulty in procuring requirements from both U.K. and Continental manufacturers.

On the Continent, indeed throughout the area under the governance of the High Authority of the countries covered by the Schuman Plan namely, Belgium, France, Luxembourg and Germany, supply has overtaken the volume of orders; but despite a consequent drop in production in Western Europe, the decline has not deflected the High Authority from its expansionist purposes.

In the U.K., while the outstanding event of the year was the termination of the experiment in State ownership of the Steel Industry, there has also been the abolition of the steel rationing system, as a logical sequel to the conquest of the steel shortage, which was foreshadowed at the end of 1952. The U.K. Iron and Steel Industry is now committed to further schemes of expansion and modernisation designed to raise the annual ingot output to an optimum figure of 20 million tons.

In Ceylon, the better facility of supply has been matched by considerable price reductions for both U.K. and Continental Iron and Steel, a trend made patent by the figures given below.

Total imports and values of ferrous metal and metal (Customs figures) since 1949 are :—

EXCHANGE AND MONEY

On the 4th January, 1952 the Central Bank of Ceylon made a small upward revision of their sterling rates to conform with the provisions of the Monetary Law Act. Since that date the Rupee/Sterling selling rate of exchange for telegraphic remittances has remained at 1/6.

The telegraphic selling rate for dollars on 1st January, 1953 was Rs. 4761= $100, and the rate fluctuated narrowly throughout the year to close at the same rate.

The year opened with the Central Bank of Ceylon discount rate at 2+ per cent. The Bank raised the rate to 3 per cent, on 23rd July, 1953 since when it has remained unchanged.

The Bank of England rate which was 4 per cent. on 1st January, 1953, was reduced to 3½ per cent. on 13th September, 1953 and continued at that rate for the remainder of the year.

Money was in fair supply early in the year, became less plentifully in July and in the later months of the year stringent conditions obtained.

PLANTING AND AGRICULTURAL LEGISLATION

TEA RESEARCH ORDINANCE

The following is the text of Ordinance No. 12 of 1925, and amended by Tea Research (amendment) Act, No. 24 of 1948, which has been enacted to provide for the establishment of a Tea Research Institute and for the incorporation of the Board of Management thereof :-

1. Short title—This Ordinance may be cited as the Tea Research Ordinance 1925, and shall come into operation on the day to be appointed by the Minister of Agriculture by Proclamation published in the Government Gazette.

2. Establishment of Tea Research Institute—An institute, styled "The Tea Research Institute of Ceylon," shall be established in Ceylon for the purpose of research into and investigation of all problems and matters relating to tea and the provision and publication of information relating to the same, and shall provide such facilities for the education of students in tea research as the Minister of Agriculture may from time to time direct.

3. (1) Incorporation of Board—(1) The Institute shall be under the control and management of a Board to be styled "The Board of the Tea Research Institute of Ceylon," in this Ordinance called the Board.

(2) The Board shall be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal and may be sued in all courts by the name of "The Board of the Tea Research Institute of Ceylon."

(3) The Board may acquire and hold property, movable and immovable, and may sell, transfer, lease, mortgage, or otherwise dispose of the same contract and do all things necessary for or incidental to the purposes of its constitution.

(4) Headquarters of the Board—The headquarters of the Board shall be at St. Coombs Estate, Talawakelle or at such other place as may be appointed by the Minister in that behalf.

5. Constitution of the Board—(1) The following persons shall be members of the Board :-

(a) Ex-officio Members—

The Director of Agriculture.

The Minister of Finance or his representative.

The Chairman of the Planters' Association of Ceylon.

The Chairman of the Agency Section of the Planters' Association of Ceylon.

(b) Nominated members—

Three members nominated by the Planters' Association of Ceylon.

Three members nominated by the Agency Section of the Planters' Association of Ceylon.

Three members nominated by the Low-country Products Association of Ceylon.

One member nominated by the Minister of Agriculture to represent the small holders.

(2) Nominated members shall hold office for three years, but may be re-nominated from time to time.

6. Vacation of membership through absence—Any member nominated under section 5 (1) (b) who is absent without reasonable cause from three ordinary consecutive meetings of the Board may, by resolution of the Board passed at any ordinary meeting of which notice has been duly given, be held to have vacated his office.

7. Death or resignation of member—Upon the death, resignation, or the termination or vacation of office of any member of the Board, a new member may be nominated in accordance with the provisions of section 5.

8. Acting appointments—If any nominated member shall be unable or unwilling to act or shall be absent from Ceylon, the body which nominated him may appoint any other person to be a nominated member during the inability or unwillingness of such first mentioned member to act or during his absence from Ceylon.

g. Chairman—(1) The Board shall elect its own Chairman.

(2) In the absence of the Chairman from any meeting of the Board, a Chairman for such meeting shall be chosen by the members present .

10. Meetings and quorum--(1) The Chairman shall summon meetings of the Board when necessary, and shall at any time summon a meeting upon receipt of a request signed by two members of the Board calling upon him to do so.

(2) Five members shall form a quorum. All questions shall be decided by a majority of members voting. In the case of equality of votes, the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote, and all matters decided at a meeting of the Board shall be recorded in a proceedings book kept by the Secretary to the Board. Matters may also be decided by the circulation of papers, on which members of the Board may record their votes, and all such decisions than be reported to the next meeting of the Board and incorporated into the proceedings book.

H. Provision for annual income—(i) In order to provide an annual income for the Board, there shall be charged, levied, and paid, in addition to the export duty charged under Ordinance No. 17 of 1869, an export duty of twenty five cents per one hundred pounds of tea exported and so in proportion for any less weight, the proceeds of which shall be paid over monthly to the Board by the Principal Collector of Customs, no part thereof being credited to the consolidated fund.

12. General powers---(r) The Board shall have full power and authority generally to govern, direct, and decide all matters connected with the appointment of officers and servants of the institute and the administration of its affairs and the accomplishment of its objects and purposes.

(2) All moneys raised for the general purposes and objects of the institute shall be paid to the Board and shall be applied by the Board in its discretion to the accomplishment of such objects and purposes.

12 a. The Board may establish and maintain a Provident Fund for the benefit of all or any of its officers and servants, make contributions out of the moneys at its disposal to that Fund, regulate the management and investment thereof, and prescribe the contributions to be made thereto by, and payments to be made therefrom to, such officers and servants.

(a) The Provident Fund heretofore established for the employees of the Tea Research Institute of Ceylon shall be deemed to have been duly established, and all contributions made to and payments made from that Fund and all acts done in the course of the management and conduct thereof prior to the date of the commencement of this Act shall be deemed to have been duly made and done under powers conferred by the principal Ordinances.

(h) the rules for the establishment and management of the Junior Staff Provident Fund of the Institute heretofore made by the Board shall be deemed to have been duly made under the principal Ordinance and to have been valid and effectual for the purposes for which they were made at all material times from January 1, 1950, until the date of the commencement of this Act ; and

(c) from the date of the commencement of this Act the aforesaid rules shall be in force as if they were rules made under the principal Ordinance and may be amended, rescinded, added to, or replaced by rules made under that Ordinance.

13. Accounts.--Within one month after each 31st December the Board shall cause to be prepared a statement of the receipts & disbursements during the previous year, and the same shall be subject to such audit and published in such manner as the Minister may direct, and a full report of the work of the Board, with the said statement of the receipts and disbursements shall be laid on the table of the Senate and House of Representatives.

Passed in Council the Eighth day of October, One thousand Nine hundred and Twenty-five.

Assented to by His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government the Twenty-seventh day of October, One thousand Nine hundred and Twenty-five.

TEA RESEARCH INSTITUTE

In accordance with the above provisions, the Tea Research Institute of Ceylon was founded in 1925 and is maintained by funds derived by a cess of thirty cents per hundred pounds on all tea exported from Ceylon. The laboratories and research station of the Institute are situated at St.Coombs, Talawakele. The and last Wednesdays in each month have been set aside as Visitors days when those anxious to see the Research Station will welcome.

TEA CONTROL ACT, No. 28 OF 1949

An Act to provide for the registration of lands planted with tea, the proprietors of such lands, and the manufacturers of tea ; for the control of the exportation of made tea, tea seed, and such parts of the tea plant as are capable of being used for propagation ; for the control of the planting of new areas with tea ; for the imposition of an export duty on tea ; and for matters connected therewith.

(Date of Assent : June 6, 1949)•

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and the House of Representatives of Ceylon in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

1. This act may be cited as the Tea Control Act, No. 28 of 1949, and shall come into operation on such date as the Minister may appoint by Order published in the Gazette.

2. (r) There may be appointed for the purposes of this Act—(a) a person, by name or by office, to be or to act as Tea Controller ; (b) a person, by name or by office, to be or to act as Assistant Tea Controller ; and (c) such other officers and servants as may from time to time be required for the purposes of this Act. (2) In the exercise of his powers and the discharge of his duties under this Act, the Controller shall be subject to the general direction and control of the Minister. (3) All persons exercising powers or discharging duties under this Act shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Penal Code. (4) Every person functioning, on the day immediately preceding the appointed date, as an officer or servant for the purposes of the controlled Articles (Tea) Order, 1948, shall from that date be deemed to be an officer or servant appointed under sub-section (r) of this section for the purposes of this Act.

3. In relation to any particular matter or class of matters or to any particular area or district, the Controller may, with the consent of the Minister, by writing under his hand, delegate any of his powers under this Act except this power of delegation. Any powers so delegated may be exercised by the delegate with respect to the matters or class of matters specified or to the area or district mentioned in the instrument of delegation.

4. There shall be established by the Minister a Tea Advisory Board, which shall consist of the Controller for the time being, who shall be the Chairman, and such other members, not exceeding six in number, as the Minister may appoint, two of such members being expressly selected to represent small holders.

5, (x) The Tea Advisory Board shall—(a) advise the Controller on all matters which he may refer to the Board for advice, and (b) perform such other duties and exercise such powers as may be prescribed. (2) Regulations may be made providing for the conduct of the business of the Board and prescribing the procedure to be followed at meetings of the Board. Subject to any such regulations, the Board may regulate its own procedure.

6. (x) The Controller shall register estates and small holdings and the names and addresses of their proprietors, and shall for that purpose keep a register which shall be called the Register of Estates and small Holdings. (z) The register of estates and small holdings kept under the Tea Control Ordinance shall, notwithstanding the expiry of that Ordinance, be deemed to be the Register of Estates and Small Holdings kept under sub section (1) of this section ; and accordingly that register in the form in which it stood on the thirty-first day of March, 1948, shall be reopened and maintained by the Controller for the purposes of this Act. (3) Every estate or small holding registered or deemed to have been registered under the Tea Control Ordinance shall be deemed to be registered under this Act. (4) Every proprietor registered or deemed to have been registered under the Tea Control Ordinance in respect of any estate or small holding shall, so long as he is in possession thereof, be deemed to be registered under this Act.

7. (1) No estate or small holding shall be registered by the Controller on or after the appointed date unless and until he has received a return duly furnished by the proprietor of that estate or small holding under sub-section (2) of this section. (2) The proprietor of every land which is planted with tea and which has not been registered as an estate or small holding under the Tea Control Ordinance shall, within three months from the appointed date, furnish to the Controller a return in the prescribed form, containing particulars of the prescribed matters. (3) The registered proprietor of any estate or small holding shall, within one month of the occurrence of any circumstances affecting the accuracy of any particulars contained in any return furnished by him under the Tea Control Ordinance or under this Act, notify those circumstances to the Controller in order that the Controller may make the necessary amendments in the entries relating to that estate or small holding in the Register of Estates and Small Holdings. (4) In the event of a change in the ownership of any registered estate or small holding, it shall be the duty of the new owner of such estate or small holding to notify the change to the Controller within one month of the occurrence of the change in order that the Controller may amend the entries relating to the proprietor of that estate or small holding in the Register of Estates and Small Holdings. (5) In the event of the death of the registered proprietor of any estate or small holding, it shall be the duty of the person entering into possession of having control of that estate or small holding or having charge of the business of that proprietor to give written information of the death to the Controller within one month thereof. That person shall be responsible for furnishing such information in regard to that estate or small holding as may be required by the Controller, until the name of the new proprietor of that estate or small holding is duly entered in the Register of Estates and Small Holdings.

8. (r) The Controller shall register manufacturers and shall for that purpose keep a register which shall be called the Register of Manufacturers. (2) The register of manufacturers kept under the Tea Control Ordinance and continued under the Controlled Articles (Tea) Order, 1948, shall be deemed to be the Register of Manufacturers kept under this section and shall be continued and maintained by the Controller accordingly. (3) Every person registered as a manufacturer under the Tea Control Ordinance or under the Controlled Articles (Tea) Order, 1948, shall be deemed to be registered as a manufacturer under this Act. (4) Every person who carries on business as a manufacturer and who has not been registered as a manufacturer under the Tea Control Ordinance or under the Controlled Articles (Tea) Order, 1948, shall apply to the Controller, in the prescribed form, for registration. (5) A person who is registered as a manufacturer shall, if he ceases to carry on the business of a manufacturer, notify that fact to the Controller within fourteen days of his ceasing to carry on such business ; and the Controller may, if he is satisfied that such person has ceased to be a manufacturer, cancel the registration of such person.

9. No person shall export made tea from Ceylon except under the authority of a general or special licence issued by the Controller; and no made tea shall be received or accepted for exportation or shipment by any customs or other officer unless the exportation thereof is authorised by such a licence Provided that no licence shall be required to authorise—(a) the re-export from Ceylon, of any made tea which is proved to the satisfaction of the Principal Collector of Customs to have been imported into Ceylon, or (b) the export, from Ceylon, of any quantity of made tea—(i) shipped as stores on board any vessel or aircraft, or (ii) despatched by parcel post, or (iii) taken as part of the personal baggage of a passenger on any vessel or aircraft, or (iv) sent as commercial samples.

so. (1) Save as provided in sub-section (2) of this section, no person shall export, from Ceylon to any other country, any seed, root, stump or bud of any tea plant, or any such cutting from or living portion of any tea plant as may be capable of being used for propagation. (2) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (1) of this section, any article referred to therein may be exported from Ceylon to India or to Pakistan, or to the Netherlands East Indies, or to any prescribed country, under the authority of a licence granted by the Controller and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed.

is. Except under a licence granted by the Controller and except in accordance with such conditions as may be prescribed, no person shall plant or replant with tea any land which is not, or is not deemed to be, a registered estate or small holding or part thereof.

12. Except under a licence granted by the Controller, no person shall plant tea, for the purposes of a nursery, on any land which is not, or is not deemed to be, a registered estate or small holding or part thereof.

13. (s) It shall be lawful for the Controller by written notice to direct any person who is the registered proprietor, or who applies for registration as the proprietor, of any estate or small holding—(a) to furnish before a specified date such information as the Controller may require in respect of that estate or small holding, or such explanation as the Controller may require in respect of any particulars stated in any return furnished by that person, or (b) to produce or cause to be produced before a specified date such documentary or other evidence as the Controller may require for the purpose of verifying any information furnished by that person in respect of that estate or small holding or any facts or particulars stated in any return furnished by that person. (2) It shall be lawful for the Controller by written notice to direct any person who is a registered manufacturer or who applies for registration as a manufacturer—(a) to furnish before a specified date such information as the Controller may require in respect of that person's registration or application, or such explanation as the Controller may require in respect of any information furnished by that person or (5) to produce or cause to be produced before a specified date such documentary or other evidence as the Controller may require for the purpose of verifying any information or explanation furnished by that person (3) A notice under this section shall be deemed to have been duly served if it has been sent by post in a registered letter addressed—(a) in the case of a registered proprietor or a registered manufacturer, to the place specified in the Register of Estates and Small Holdings or the Register of Manufacturers as his address, and (b) in the case of any other person, to his usual place of residence or of business.

14. The Controller, or any person authorised by him in writing, may at any time enter any estate or small holding for the purpose of carrying out an inspection or making a survey plan of that estate or small holding, and may, for that purpose, enter any factory, office, or other building on that estate or small holding.

15. (T) There shall be established a Tea Control Fund for the purposes of this Act. (2) All moneys lying on the appointed date to the credit of the Tea Control Fund established under the Tea Control Ordinance, and all moneys payable to the credit of that Fund under section 36 (7) of that Ordinance and remaining unpaid on the appointed date, shall be paid to the Tea Control Fund established under sub-section (1) of this section. (3) All such payments out of the Tea Control Fund established under the Tea Control Ordinance as may have been made for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the administration of the Controlled Articles (Tea) Order, 1948, shall be deemed to have been validly made out of the Fund.

16. (I) In order to provide an income for the payment of the expenses authorised by section 17 there shall be charged, levied and paid an export duty on tea, of such amount as may be determined from time to time by a resolution of the House of Representatives : Provided that, until a duty is levied under the preceding provisions of this sub-section, the duty authorised to be collected by any resolution which was passed under section 36 (3) of the Tea Control Ordinance and which was in force on the thirty-first day of March, 1948, shall be charged, levied and paid from and after midnight on the day immediately preceding the appointed date. (z) Every resolution under sub-section (I) of this section shall be published in the Gazette, and the duty authorised to be collected thereunder shall be charged, levied and paid from the date specified in that resolution. (3) Any resolution under sub-section (I) of this section may be varied or rescinded at any time by a resolution of the House of Representatives published in the manner specified in sub-section (2) of this section. (4) This section shall have effect as though it formed part of the Customs Ordinance, and the provisions of that Ordinance shall apply accordingly. (5) The proceeds of the export duty recovered under this Act shall be paid over monthly to the Controller by the Principal Collector of Customs and shall be credited to the Tea Control Fund established under sub-section (r) of section 15, and no part thereof shall be credited to the Consolidated Fund. (6) The export duty authorised to be imposed under this Act shall be in addition to the export duties levied under any other written law but shall not be taken into account in computing the export duty levied on tea under the law of Ceylon for the purposes of section 32 of the Income Tax Ordinance.

17. (I) There shall be paid out of the Tea Control Fund—(a) the salaries wages and fees payable to persons employed for the purposes of this Act, (b) all other expenses of the administration of this Act, (c) the prescribed contributions to any Gratuity Scheme established or deemed to be established under this Act, and (d) such of the expenses of the administration of the Controlled Articles (Tea) Order, 1948, as may remain unpaid on the appointed date. (2) Any surplus which may at the end of each year of control be found to the credit of the Tea Control Fund after all the payments authorised by sub-section (I) of this section have been made may be applied for the furtherance and development of the tea industry and to purposes connected therewith or incidental thereto, in such manner as the House of Representatives may by resolution from time to time determine.

18. (r) The Controller shall transmit to the Minister, not later than the fifteenth day of February in each year of control during the operation of this Act, estimates of the income likely to accrue to, and the expenditure likely to be incurred out of, the Tea Control Fund for the next succeeding year of control (2) On receipt of the estimates of income and expenditure, the Minister shall, at the first convenient opportunity, place such estimates before the House of Representatives for its approval.

1g. (1) A person who furnishes any return, explanation or information under this Act shall verify it by a declaration that the statements contained therein are true and accurate. (z) Every declaration made under this section shall be free from stamp duty.

zo. (r) A Gratuity Scheme may be established, in accordance with such regulations as may be made in that behalf, for the payment of gratuities to all or any of the persons appointed or deemed to be appointed officers or servants for the purposes of this Act and to any of the dependants of such persons. (z) The Gratuity Scheme established under the Tea Control Ordinance shall be deemed to be a Gratuity Scheme established under sub-section (r) of this section and shall be continued and maintained accordingly. (3) Any contribution or gratuity which on or before the thirty-first day of March, 1948, was payable to or from the Gratuity Scheme established under the Tea Control Ordinance and which on the appointed date remains unpaid, shall be deemed to be a contribution or gratuity payable to or from the Gratuity Scheme deemed to be established under sub-section (r) of this section and shall be paid accordingly.

21. (r) Every person who—(a) commits a breach of any of the provisions of this Act or of any regulation, or (b) makes default in complying with any direction or requirement duly given or made under the powers conferred by this Act, or (c) resists or obstructs any person in the performance of the duties imposed or in the exercise of the powers conferred upon him by or under this Act, or (d) makes any declaration or furnishes any return containing any particular which is false and which he knows to be false or does not believe to be true, shall be guilty of an offence, and shall, on conviction after summary trial before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or to imprisonment of either description for a period not exceeding six months, or to both such fine and imprisonment. (z) No prosecution for any offence under this Act shall be instituted except with the written sanction of the Controller.

22. (r) The Minister may make regulations for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of this Act. (2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the powers conferred by sub-section (r) of this section, the Minister may make regulations for or in respect of all or any of the following matters :—(a) all matters stated or required in this Act to be prescribed; (b) the forms of the registers which the Controller is required by this Act to keep, and the particulars to be entered in those registers; (c) the forms of the returns, notices and declarations required to be made or issued for the purposes of this Act; (d) the registration of estates, small holdings, proprietors of estates or small holdings, and manufacturers. (3) Every regulation made by the Minister under this section shall be published in the Gazette and shall come into operation upon publication. (4) Every regulation made by the Minister under this section shall be brought before the Senate and the House of Representatives within a period of one month from the date of publication of that regulation in the Gazette, or if no meeting of the Senate or of the House of Representatives, as the case may be, is held within that period, at the first meeting thereof after the expiry of that period, by a motion that such regulation shall be approved. (5) Any regulation which the Senate or the House of Representatives refuses to approve shall be deemed to be rescinded but without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done thereunder or to the making of any new regulation. The date on which a regulation shall so be deemed to be rescinded shall be the date on which the Senate or the House of Representatives refuses to approve the regulation. (6) Notification of the date on which any regulation made by the Minister under this section is deemed to be rescinded shall be published in the Gazette. (7) Where any regulation made by the Minister under this section is approved by the Senate and the House of Representatives, notification of the approval shall be published in the Gazette.

23. Notwithstanding the expiry of the Tea Control Ordinance, every regulation thereunder relating to any matter for or in respect of which regulations may be made under this Act shall, so far as it is not inconsistent with this Act, come into and be in force with effect from the appointed date, until amended or rescinded or replaced by a regulation made under this Act.

24. This Act shall cease to be in force on such date as may be appointed by the Minister by Order published in the Gazette.

25. In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires— " appointed date " means the date appointed by the Minister under section i ; " Board " means the Tea Advisory Board established under section 4 ; " Controller " means the person appointed or deemed to be appointed under section 2 to be or to act as Tea Controller, and includes the Assistant Tea Controller ; " estate " means an area of land, ten acres or more in extent, on which the tea plant is grown for the purpose of harvesting the leaf thereof for conversion into made tea ; " made tea " means tea manufactured from the leaf of the tea plant but does not include red-leaf, fluff, or sweepings ; " manufacturer " means any person who, being lawfully in possession of a tea factory, whether as owner, lessee, usufructuary mortgagee or otherwise, manufactures made tea at that factory ; " Minister " means the Minister of Agriculture and Lands ; " Netherlands East Indies " includes, Java, Sumatra and all other islands in the Netherlands East Indies ; " prescribed " means prescribed by regulation ; " proprietor " means the owner, lessee, usufructuary mortgagee or other person lawfully in possession and taking the produce of any estate or small holding, and, where such owner, lessee, mortgagee or other person is absent from Ceylon, includes any duly accredited agent of such owner, lessee, mortgagee or other person ; " registered " means registered or deemed to be registered under this Act ; " regulation " means a regulation made under this Act ; " small holding " means an area of land less than ten acres in extent on which the tea plant is grown for the purpose of harvesting the leaf thereof for conversion into made tea ; " tea " means the plant known as " Thea Sinensis " and includes the leaf thereof whether in a natural or manufactured state ; " Tea Control Fund " means the Tea Control Fund established under section 15 (r) ; " Tea Control Ordinance " means the Tea Control Ordinance (Chapter 299) ; and " year of control " means the period of twelve months commencing on the first day of April in any year.

The Diseases (Labourers) Ordinance

Rules for the whole Island made by the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services with the approval of the Minister of Health and Local Government under section 12 of the Diseases (Labourers) Ordinance (Chapter 175) as modified by the Proclamation published in Gazette Extraordinary No. 9,773 of September 24, 1947.

RULES

Lines

1. Lines shall be constructed so as to consist of either two single room lines in a block of the cottage type approved by the Director or two double room lines in a block of the cottage type approved by the Director. The single room cottage type of lines shall consist of an open front verandah or an unenclosed verandah as specified in paragraph (C) of Schedule A to these rules, a living room, a back verandah and a kitchen. The double room cottage type of lines shall have the same accommodation as in the case of single room cottage type of lines with an additional living room: Provided, however, that the Director may, if he is satisfied that the nature of the ground and the available sites make it impracticable to construct two single room cottage type of lines or two double room cottage type of lines in a block, permit the construction of cottage type of lines consisting of either a row of four double living rooms in one block or four single living rooms in one block.
2. No cottage type of lines shall consist of more than four single or four double rooms.
3. On or after the date on which these rules come into operation, no owner or superintendent shall erect any permanent labourers lines or latrine except in accordance with plans or designs approved in writing by the Director or any officer authorised in writing by him. Such plans shall in all respects conform to the requirements and standards set out in Schedule A to these rules, and the owner or superintendent shall comply with the requirements set out in the said Schedule A.
4. The Director may permit the construction of temporary lines for the accommodation of labourers on an estate for a period of four years from the date of first occupation, but in no case shall the period of occupation exceed four years. The date of such construction, shall be reported to the Director, who may at his discretion prohibit the further occupation for human habitation of such lines at any time within the said period of four years. Such temporary lines shall in all respects conform to the requirements and standards set out in Schedule B to these rules, and the owner or superintendent shall comply with the requirements set out in the said Schedule B.
5. If at any time it appears to any Inspecting Medical Officer that any labourers lines are dangerous to the health of any labourers accommodated therein, he shall report accordingly to the Director and shall with his report submit recommendations as to the action necessary in his opinion to be taken. On receipt of such report, the Director may, after such inquiry as he shall deem necessary, serve on the owner or superintendent an order in writing directing him to take, within a period to be specified in the order, such steps as are in the opinion of the Director necessary to render the lines fit and safe for occupation: Provided, however, that no lines constructed or under construction before the date on which these rules come into operation shall be condemned so long as they are in the opinion of the Director maintained in a sanitary and safe condition.
6. An appeal shall lie to the Minister from any decision or order of the Director made under the preceding rules. Every such appeal shall be in writing and shall be forwarded to the Medical Wants Committee for submission to the Minister, whose decision shall be final.
7. Labourers' lines shall be built on dry, and, where possible on raised sites, and, where the lie of the land allows, on the eastern slope of a hill and where a sufficiency of good drinkable water is easily accessible. In malarial districts, labourers' lines shall be, whenever possible, at a distance of at least 500 yards from swamps and marshes and above the highest flood level. No lines shall be constructed within 12 feet of any bank or cutting. Where the lines are to be constructed at a distance of more than 12 feet from any bank or cutting, such bank or cutting shall be sloped in such proportion as the Director may determine so as not to interfere with the lighting, ventilation and drainage of the lines. Where prior to the date on which these rules come into operation any labourers' lines have been erected within 10 feet of any such bank or cutting the owner or superintendent shall cause the bank to be cut back or, if that is not possible, he shall so slope and drain the bank above and below as to prevent dampness of the line floor.
8. Subject to the provisions of rule 7 as regards proximity of banks or cuttings, a clear open space of a minimum of 20 feet shall be left all round the line: Provided, however, that except where no buildings are constructed at the rear of a line, a minimum clear space of 10 feet at the rear shall be sufficient and provided further that when the lines face each other the distance between them shall be not less than 40 feet or where lines are built end to end or at an angle to each other, the distance between the nearest gable ends shall be not less than 10 feet. No shed for animals or structures of any kind shall be erected in this open space and no cattle or goat shed shall be erected less than 75 feet from the line. Individual latrines of a type specified in rule 17 shall be placed at a distance of not more than 10 feet from the lines to serve each set of cottage type of lines.
9. In the case of single room cottage type of lines which satisfy the requirements of the standards set out in Schedule A or Schedule B to these rules, such lines shall not be occupied by a family consisting of more than two adults and three children under 12 years. In the case of double room cottage type of lines which satisfy the requirements of the standards set out in Schedule A or Schedule B to these rules, such lines shall not be occupied by a family consisting of more than four adults and four children under 12 years of age.
10. The owner or superintendent shall cause the vicinity of the Lines to be kept clear of refuse and excreta and the lines and the drain to be cleaned daily and all refuse in or near them to be collected, removed, and disposed of by burning or burying. The owner or superintendent shall provide a sufficient number of labourers daily to carry out these duties.
11. (a) The owner or superintendent shall provide a dust bin with cover for every block of two single room cottage type of lines or two double room cottage type of lines, and two dust bins with covers for every set of four single rooms or four double rooms cottage type of lines in one block, and where possible, incinerators for the destruction of rubbish, unless other means of disposal of the rubbish to the satisfaction of the Director are provided.
- (5) In the case of lines which have been erected before the date on which these rules come into operation, the owner or superintendent shall provide dust bins with covers in the proportion of one for every set of five rooms, and where possible incinerators for the destruction of rubbish unless other means for the disposal of the rubbish to the satisfaction of the Director are provided.
12. The owner or superintendent shall cause all the walls of labourers' lines to be white washed or cement washed, once at least annually.
13. All labourers or occupants of labourers' lines shall use the latrines and shall not pollute the soil. All such latrines shall be maintained in a clean condition.
14. No cattle or goats shall be kept in the living rooms or verandahs, and no windows or air spaces shall be blocked up.

15. Every owner or superintendent shall himself visit, or cause to be visited and inspected by a dispenser or oilier reipausible person, all lines and latrines at least twice a week. It should be the duty of the owner or superintendent to cause any default, defect or neglect in the cleansing operations of the lines and latrines to be immediately rectified.

Water Supply

16. The owner or superintendent shall provide a pipe-borne water supply where it is possible to do so and if the Director considers it necessary. Where the water supply for the use of the occupants in the lines is obtained from sources other than wells the owner or superintendent shall take steps to see that the water is conducted in such manner as to obviate any risk of contamination in transit, and is delivered to the consumer with similar precautions. Earth drains or channels for conducting the water from the source of supply shall not be considered a sufficient safeguard against risk of contamination. The source of supply shall be protected by means of a wall or fencing or in such manner as the Inspecting Medical Officer may consider necessary. Bathing or washing of clothes shall not be allowed at any well or at any source of supply or along any conduit, or at any reservoir supplying water which is intended for human consumption. The owner or superintendent shall also take steps to see that—

- (a) all wells are protected from the possibility of surface pollution by properly constructed stone or masonry parapet walls, and are provided with suitable cement drains and aprons to prevent the percolation of waste water from the surface.
- (b) no well is within a distance of 100 feet from a pit latrine unless the bottom of such well is on a higher level of ground than the floor of the latrine, and
- (c) separate bathing and washing places adequately drained are available for the use of the labourers wherever possible.

Latrines

In the case of single room cottage type of lines or double room cottage type of lines, individual latrines of either the water-borne sewage type, the water-seal built pit type, or such other type as may be approved by the Director shall be provided.

Effluent from the latrines shall be disposed of in such manner as the Director considers satisfactory.

In the case of lines erected before the date on which these rules come into operation no less than one latrine compartment for a set of three rooms shall be provided. Separate accommodation for males and females shall be provided.

Repeal

18. The rules published in Gazette No. 7,658 of August 10, 1928, are hereby rescinded.

Interpretation

19. In these rules—

" Director " means the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services ;

" lines " means any building or collection of buildings used or intended to be used either temporarily or permanently for the housing of labourers employed on estates; and

" Minister " means the Minister of Health and Local Government.

SCHEDULE

Requirements and Standards for Permanent Lines

Living Room.—Every living room must comply with the following conditions :—

- (a) The average height must be not less than 10 feet and must in no place be less than 9 feet high
- (b) Floor—The floor area must be not less than 160 square feet in the case of single room cottage type of lines and 120 square feet in the case of double room cottage type of lines and neither the width nor the length must be less than 10 feet. The floor must be raised at least one foot above the level of the surrounding ground and shall be of brick or rubble rendered in cement.
- (c) For the purpose of ventilation and lighting the room must be provided with a door (the inside measurements of which shall be 6 feet 6 inches by 2 feet 6 inches exclusive of thickness of door frame) opening into a verandah or exterior, and a window, the opening of which shall be not less than 8 square feet, exclusive of thickness of window frame. The window must abut on an open square or open verandah. The height of the window sill from the floor must be not more than 3 feet. The window must be barred and shuttered. Door frames and window frames must be constructed of metal, cement concrete, or wood. The windows, shutters, and doors must be of wood, metal, or other approved material. Additional ventilation must be provided by apex truss of 8 inches by 3 inches and 12 inches apart under the wall plate or by over-door frame trellis work.
- (d) The walls must be constructed of burnt or sun dried bricks, stones, masonry, kapok, rubble+cement concrete, or other approved material, and except in the case of cement concrete must be lime plastered. All walls must be provided with a cement skirting 6 inches wide. Partitioned walls separating the lines must be carried up to roof level. Partition walls between rooms of the same lines must be not less than 9 feet high.
- (e) The roof must be of shingles, tiles, metal, asbestos, cement, or other permanent roofing material approved by the Director, or of caelkins or thatch : Provided that where cadjan or thatch is used the roof must be renewed annually. Smoke outlets of a type approved by the Director must be provided for kitchens. In the case of lines which were erected before the date on which these rules come into operation and in which the kitchen is not separated from the living room a continuous vent along the ridging must be provided.
- (f) The verandah must be of a minimum width of 6 feet and may be enclosed by a dwarf wall 1 foot high with an opening 3 feet wide in front of each room, with or without lattice work to the eaves with an opening or lattice door 3 feet wide.

In the case of single lines which were erected before the date on which these rules come into operation and which are above an elevation of 2,500 feet, partition and dwarf walls not exceeding 5 feet and 3 feet high respectively may, if desired, be built on the verandah. The verandah post must be not less than 7 feet high and must be constructed of sawn timber, iron, cement concrete, brick, or stone masonry. The free border of the verandah must be protected by cement concrete or stone cement pointed. The overhanging at the eaves must be 2 feet 6 inches. Valance boarding 10 inches by 1 inch must be attached to the end of eaves. A water impervious ramp of permanent material must be constructed around the Hue sloping into a cement concrete 'V' or 'U' shape drain. The width of the ramp in front of the verandah and along the side and back of the line in which the kitchen is separated from the living room must be not less than 2 feet. The drain round the ramp must be connected, where necessary, to a lead-out drain of such length as the Inspecting Medical Officer may consider necessary and must be directed towards a natural out-fall.

SCHEDULE B

Requirements and Standards for Temporary Labourers' Lines

1. The building must have a cadjan or thatch roof, walls of smoothed wattle, daub, or other approved material and posts and supports of jungle timber.
2. (a) As regards site, compound, dimensions of room, lighting and ventilation, the requirements for permanent lines laid down in these rules and in Schedule A to these rules must be complied with.
(b) Where the Director is of the opinion that the width of any room of a line to be built on an estate planted with coconuts should be different to the width specified in Schedule A to these rules, the width of such room must conform to the width prescribed therefor by the Director.
3. The drainage of temporary lines must be such as to remove storm water effectively from the surrounding compound. The drains may be earth drains or rough stone-lined drains and must surround the lines and lead out towards natural drainage.

Crown Land

The Ordinances in force regulating the disposal of Crown land are—

- (1) The Land Development Ordinance (Chapter 320 of the Legislative Enactments).
- (2) The Crown Lands Claims Ordinance (Chapter 318 of the Legislative Enactments).
- (3) The Crown Lands Ordinance, No. 8 of 0947.

In former years it was the practice not to advertise any Crown land for sale or lease unless someone had applied for the land. When such an application was received steps were taken to survey the land and eventually to dispose of the freehold or leasehold by public auction. The present policy of the Government is to take the initiative in disposing of Crown land. As a necessary preliminary, the Crown land in each village is "mapped-out", that is to say it is allocated to various definite purposes such as—

Village expansion ; Village forest ; Village pasture ; Chena cultivation ; Colonization ; The requirements of local authorities ; Alienation to middle-class Ceylonese ; Alienation to any persons whomsoever irrespective of the class or race to which they belong.

A further change is in the tenure of land alienated by the Crown hitherto the only tenures have been freehold and leasehold, but a new tenure was introduced by the Land Development Ordinance. The principal features of this tenure are as follows :-

- (a) The owner is obliged to cultivate the land, or utilize it in some other way specified in the grant ; (b) The owner is required to make a small annual payment to the Crown in perpetuity.
- (c) The land cannot be subdivided beyond the limit specified in the grant, or held in undivided shares smaller than the fraction specified ; (d) The succession to the land is not regulated by the ordinary law of inheritance, but by special rules designed to prevent the land from being subdivided ; (e) In certain cases, the owner is forbidden to lease or mortgage the land except to the Crown, and may not otherwise dispose of it without the Revenue Officers' consent.

An allotment normally consists of five acres of irrigable land and 3 acres for a homestead and garden crops. The necessary planting material, agricultural implements and livestock are supplied.

Land Redemption

Investigation revealed that during the years of the depression after about 1928, a large number of owners of agricultural lands which were mortgaged failed to pay their mortgage debts owing to a reduction of their income and their lands were either sold in execution of mortgage decrees or were transferred in satisfaction of mortgage debts. In the interests of agriculturists thus deprived of their property Government decided to acquire such land out of public funds and alienate the lands so acquired to the original owners on a grant subject to certain terms and conditions.

Up to date about 600 persons have been granted relief under the provisions of the Land Redemption Ordinance. About another 500 applications have been accepted and action is being taken to acquire these lands and place the applicants in possession thereof.

Under the provisions of the Land Redemption Ordinance, No. 61 of 1942 which came into force on January 22, 1945, as amended by Ordinance No. 62 of 1947 the Land Commissioner is authorised to acquire on behalf of Government the whole or any part of any agricultural land sold not earlier than January, 1929, in execution of a mortgage decree or transferred in satisfaction of mortgage debts by their owners to the mortgagees. Any land acquired under the provisions of this Ordinance may be alienated by grant as a protected holding or on a permit under the Land Development Ordinance. The alienation of such lands to the original owners who are not the owners of other agricultural land as prescribed by the regulations, is the main object of the Land Redemption Ordinance.

For the purpose of securing indefeasible title of the lands thus acquired the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act No. 9 of 1950, will be applied, subject to modifications and amendments. The extent of any agricultural land which may be alienated to any person under the Land Redemption Ordinance will not exceed that which the Land Commissioner considers to be adequate to enable that person to earn by agricultural activity a livelihood suited to his condition in life.

No land acquired under the Land Redemption Ordinance will be alienated to any person, unless that person is—(a) a person against whom that land was sold in execution of a mortgage decree entered by any Court or where such person is dead, the surviving spouse (if any) or any descendant of such person, or (b) a person who transferred the land to any other person in satisfaction or part satisfaction of a debt which was due from him to such other person and which was, immediately prior to the transfer, secured by a mortgage of the land ; or where such transferor is dead, the surviving Spouse (if any) or any descendant of such transferor, or (c) a person who is not the owner of other agricultural land, or (d) a person who is the owner of other agricultural land of an extent not exceeding one-hundred acres.

The provisions of the Land Redemption Ordinance are supplementary to those of the Mortgage (Suspension of Sales) Bill, which is designed to afford equitable relief against enforced sales of immovable property.

Debt Conciliation Board

The Debt Conciliation Board consists of five members one of whom is nominated by the Governor-General, to be its Chairman. The Board was constituted by virtue of Ordinance No. 39 of 1941 and commenced its activities in that year. It has been continuously functioning since then. Starting in a small way, its work has increased eight hundred fold as compared with what it performed during the first year of its career.

The primary nature of this work is to bring about settlements of debts due on mortgage bonds and other charges on property of an agricultural description whether situated in town or in the country. The term " agricultural property " is so defined in the Ordinance as to generally embrace almost any land with or without buildings thereon provided it entirely or partially is used for the purpose of husbandry, agricultural or animal, and this would include the cultivation of vegetables, the keeping of poultry or the rearing of bees etc. It is therefore important to note that the definition is so generously worded as to give the Board a wide jurisdiction in the matter of the entertainment of applications addressed to it. The Board also deals with applications based on conditional transfers, where after taking into consideration the tenour of the instrument and the surrounding circumstances it is of opinion that the instrument has been intended to operate merely as a security for the loan advances.

The settlements arrived at are voluntary, the Board intervening only to clear and definitely set out its terms, and to use its persuasiveness in order to make them acceptable to the parties in the event of these terms, though fair and reasonable, being rejected by the creditor the Board is entitled to grant a Certificate to the debtor to this effect. This Certificate comes into play if the creditor thereafter institutes action for the recovery of the debt in question, and when produced in the proceedings has the effect of placing the plaintiff under certain disabilities.

After an application is pending before the Board no action on this cause of action can be instituted by the creditor in a Court of Law, and such an action cannot be instituted till the application before the Board is formally dismissed or a Certificate has issued.

As this Certificate was found to be wanting in coerciveness certain amendments were introduced to increase its rigour, which briefly stated amount to the creditor being denied his costs of action, and the Court being expressly given the discretion, in view of the matter having been previously considered by the Board in all its bearings, to order the debt to be paid in instalments spread over a period of ten years with interest at a low level as from the date of application to the Board.

Besides a debtor, a secured creditor may also apply for a settlement of all his debts. It is also provided that so long as the application is based on a charge, other supplementary debts as those due on promissory notes, i.o.u.'s, bills of exchange, cheques etc., can also be introduced to make the settlement a complete one.

There are no stamps duties to be incurred, and there is no appeal or revision from the orders of the Board. Services of summons, notices etc., can be effected through a process server and obedience enforced by the issue of warrants and commitments to jail. These sanctions apply to the production of documents and to witnesses considered necessary for the enquiry.

Finally, matters in issue between parties in actions already instituted can by mutual consent be referred by the Court to the Board for adjudication, when a decree thereafter will be entered by the Court in terms of such findings.

The office of the Board is at the Boy Scouts' Memorial Hall, is% Lower Lake Road staffed by a Secretary and clerks. The sittings of the Board are held in the main hall of the said building.

Game and Fauna Protection in Ceylon

CEYLON GAME AND FAUNA PROTECTION SOCIETY

(Formed on May 2304, 1894).

The protection of Game and Fauna in Ceylon is regulated by the Fauna and Flora Ordinance No. 2 of 1937, a copy of which can be obtained from the Government Record Office, Secretariat Buildings, Colombo, and a summary is given below.

The Department of Wild Life is entirely responsible for the control of strict Natural Reserves, National Parks, Sanctuaries and Intermediate Zones and details of these can be obtained from the Warden, Secretariat Buildings, Colombo, or from the Hony. Secretary and Treasurer, the Ceylon Game and Fauna Protection Society.

The Ceylon Game and Fauna Protection Society was formed on the 23rd May 1894 to prevent the elimination of Game in Ceylon by the destruction of Animals for trading purposes, to further the interests of legitimate sport and to conserve one of the food supplies of the inhabitants. It was largely due to the representations of the Society that the Dried Meat Ordinance was passed in 1908 and the Game Ordinance amended in 1909. As the protection of Ceylon's Game and Fauna is now undertaken by the Department of Wild Life and as the Society's watchers no longer have any official status the objects of the Society were altered at the Annual General Meeting held, on the 30th November 1945 and are now

- (a) to prevent the progressive destruction of species of wild animals and wherever possible to preserve wild life intact in natural conditions in Ceylon.
- (a) to continue the tradition of the Society in furthering the interests of legitimate sport.
- (3) to promote an interest in the life histories of all forms of animal life and to co-operate with other Societies and institutions which have similar aims and objects.

CHAPTER I

PreliminaryShort Title

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Income Tax Ordinance.

Interpretation

a. In this Ordinance, unless the context otherwise requires-

" Active partner ", in relation to a partnership, means a partner who takes an active part in the control, management, or conduct of trade or business of such partnership;

" Agent ", in relation to a non-resident person or to a partnership in which any partner is a non-resident person, includes—

(a) the agent, attorney, factor, receiver, or manager in Ceylon of such person or partnership, and

(b) any person in Ceylon through whom such person or partnership is in receipt of any profits or income arising in or derived from Ceylon.

" Assessable income " means the residue of the total statutory income of any person after deducting the amount of the deductions provided for in Chapter V;

" Assessor " means an Income Tax Assessor appointed under this Ordinance.

" Assistant Commissioner " means an Assistant Commissioner of Income Tax appointed under this Ordinance.

" Authorized representative " means an individual authorized in writing by any person to act on his behalf for the purposes of this Ordinance who is---

(a) in any case-

(i) an accountant approved by the Commissioner,

(ii) an advocate or proctor,

(iii) an employee regularly employed by the person concerned, or

(iv) any other person approved by the Commissioner ;

(b) in the case of an individual, a relative ;

(c) in the case of a company, a director or the secretary ;

(d) in the case of a partnership, a partner ;

(e) in the case of a body of persons, a member ;

" Banker " means any company or body of persons carrying on the business of banking;

" Body of persons " includes any local or public authority, any body corporate or collegiate, any fraternity, fellowship, association, or society of persons, whether corporate or unincorporate, and any Hindu undivided family, but does not include a company or a partnership ;

" Business " includes agricultural undertaking ;

" Charitable purpose " includes relief of the poor, education, and medical relief ;

" Commissioner " includes the Commissioner of Income Tax appointed under this Ordinance, and the Deputy Commissioner, and an Assistant Commissioner specially authorized by the Commissioner either generally or for some specific purpose to act on behalf of the Commissioner ;

" Company " means any company incorporated or registered under any law in force in Ceylon or elsewhere ;

" Deputy Commissioner " means the Deputy Commissioner of Income Tax appointed under this Ordinance ;

" Dividend " includes any distribution of profit by a company to its share holders in the form of money or of an order to pay money, or in the form of shares or debentures in the company or in any other company, and also the paid up value of any shares or debentures distributed by a company to its shareholders to the extent of which such paid up value represents the capitalisation of the whole or any part of the profits of the company ; but does not include—

(a) a distribution made wholly out of profits from the sale of fixed capital assets where such profits are not chargeable with tax under the provisions of this Ordinance, and

(b) a distribution in the form of shares or debentures in so far as it is made out of profits which arose in accounting periods ended before the first day of April, 1931 ;

" Executor " means any executor, administrator, or other person administering the estate of a deceased person, and includes a trustee acting under a trust created by the last will of the author of the trust ;

" Government institution " means the Office of the Public Trustee, the Ceylon Government Railway, the Government Electrical Undertakings, the Colombo Port Commission and other Port and Harbour Authorities, the Post Office, and any other Department or undertaking of the Government of Ceylon ;

" Incapacitated person " means any minor, lunatic, idiot, or person of unsound mind ;

" Local authority " means any Municipal Council, District Council, Local Board, Sanitary Board, Village Committee, or Road Committee in Ceylon and any other body constituted under any law of the Island for any purpose relating to Local Government ;

" Non-resident " means not resident in Ceylon within the meaning of Section 33.

" Ordinance " includes any Ordinance amending or substituted for the Ordinance referred to, and any rules, regulations, or by-laws made under any of such Ordinances ;

" Owner ", in relation to land and improvements thereon, includes a person who holds such land and improvements subject to a ground rent or other annual charge ;

" Person " includes a company or body of persons ;

" Precedent partner " means the partner who, of the active partners resident in Ceylon—

(a) is first named in the agreement of partnership ; or

(b) if there is no agreement, is specified by name or initials singly or with precedence to the other partners in the usual name of the partnership ; or

(c) is first named in the statement made under Section 4 of the Business Names Ordinance ;

" Prescribed " means prescribed by or in pursuance of this Ordinance

" Profits " or " income " means the nett profits or income from any source for any period calculated in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance ;

" Rates " means any taxation imposed by a local authority ;

" Receiver " includes any receiver or liquidator, and any assignee, trustee or other person having the possession or control of the property of any person by reason of insolvency or bankruptcy ;

" Resident " or " resident in Ceylon " means resident in Ceylon within the meaning of Section 33 ;

" Shareholder " includes any member of a company having a share or interest in the capital or profits or income thereof, whether the capital of such company is divided into shares or not ; and " share " includes any interest in the capital or profits or income of a company;

" Statutory income " means income from any source computed in accordance with Chapter IV;

" Tax " means the income tax imposed by this Ordinance;

" Taxable income " means the residue of assessable income after deducting the amount of the allowances provided for in Chapter VI;

" Trade " includes every trade and manufacture, and every adventure and concern in the nature of trade;

" Trustee " includes any trustee, guardian, curator, manager, or other person having the direction, control, or management of any property on behalf of any person, but does not include an executor;

" United Kingdom " means the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Island;

" Written-down value " means the residue of the cost to the owner thereof of any plant, machinery or fixtures after deducting a sum representing the total depreciation which has occurred in such plant, machinery or fixtures since the date of purchase by him, such cost, where any deduction in respect of such plant, machinery or fixtures is allowed under paragraph (cc) of section 9 (i), being deemed to be the amount of the difference between the actual amount of such cost and the amount of that deduction ;

" Year of assessment " means the period of twelve months commencing on the first day of April, 1932, or any subsequent period of twelve months commencing on the first day of April;

" Year preceding a year of assessment " means the period of twelve months ending on the thirty-first day of March immediately prior to such year of assessment.

Administration

3. (1) (a) There shall be a Board of Income Tax composed of the Minister and two members of Parliament appointed by the Minister. A member so appointed shall hold office as long as he remains a member of Parliament unless he shall resign or be removed from office by the Minister.

(b) Two members of the Board of Income Tax shall form a quorum for the transaction of business and when the Minister is present he shall be the Chairman.

(c) All matters coming before the Board of Income Tax shall be decided by a majority of votes, and in the case of an equality of votes the Chairman or presiding member shall have a second or a casting vote.

(2) For the purposes of this Ordinance, there may be appointed a Commissioner, a Deputy Commissioner, Assistant Commissioners, and Assessors.

(3) An Assistant Commissioner exercising or performing any power, duty, or function of the Commissioner under this Ordinance shall be deemed for all purposes to be authorized to exercise or perform the same until the contrary is proved.

(4) Any powers conferred upon an Assessor by this Ordinance may be exercised by an Assistant Commissioner.

Official Secrecy

4. (1) Except in the performance of his duties under this Ordinance, every person who has been appointed under or who is or has been employed in carrying out or in assisting any person to carry out the provisions of this Ordinance shall preserve and aid in preserving secrecy with regard to all matters relating to the affairs of any person that may come to his knowledge in the performance of his duties under this Ordinance, and shall not communicate any such matter to any person other than the person to whom such matter relates or his authorized representative, nor suffer or permit any person to have access to any records in the possession, custody, or control of the Commissioner.

(2) Every person appointed under or employed in carrying out the provisions of this Ordinance shall before acting under this Ordinance take and subscribe before a Justice of the Peace an oath of secrecy in the prescribed form.

(3) No person appointed under or employed in carrying out the provisions of this Ordinance shall be required to produce in any court any return, document, or assessment, or to divulge or communicate to any court any matter or thing coming under his notice in the performance of his duties under this Ordinance, except as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Ordinance.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, the Commissioner or any officer of the Income Tax Department authorised by the Commissioner in that behalf may communicate any matter which comes to his knowledge—

- (a) to the Commissioner of Stamps, or to the Commissioner of Estate Duty, or
- (b) to the Income Tax Authority of any part of Her Majesty's Dominions or of any place under Her Majesty's protection or suzerainty to such an extent as the Commissioner may deem necessary to enable the correct relief to be given from income tax in that part or place in respect of the payment of income tax in Ceylon, and may also transmit any return or document received by him or in his possession under this Ordinance to the Commissioner of Estate Duty ; and the Commissioner of Estate Duty may, notwithstanding anything in the Evidence Ordinance relating to the proof of documents produce or cause to be produced in any court, in any proceedings, under the Estate Duty Ordinance, a copy of any particulars contained in any return or document so transmitted, certified by him or on his behalf to be a correct copy of such particulars :

Provided, however, that the Commissioner of Estate Duty may produce or cause to be produced the original of any such return or document in any case where it is necessary to prove the handwriting or the signature of the person who wrote, made, signed or furnished such return or document, but only for the purpose of such proof :

Provided, further, that the Commissioner of Estate Duty shall not in any case be compelled to produce in any court either the original of such document or return or a copy of any particulars contained in such document or return.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, the Commissioner may permit the Auditor-General or any officer of the Department of the Auditor-General duly authorised by him in that behalf to have such access to any records or documents as may be necessary for the performance of his official duties. The Auditor-General or any Officer authorised by him under this sub-section shall be deemed to be a person employed in carrying out the provisions of this Ordinance for the purposes of sub-section (2).

CHAPTER II

Imposition of Income Tax Incidence of Income Tax

5. (5) Income Tax shall, subject to the provisions of this Ordinance and notwithstanding anything contained in any other written law or in any convention, grant, or agreement, be charged at the rate or rates specified hereinafter "or fixed by resolution under section 20 A," for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932, and for each subsequent year of assessment in respect of the profits and income of every person for the year preceding the year of assessment—

- (a) wherever arising, in the case of a person resident in Ceylon, and
- (b) arising in or derived from Ceylon, in the case of every other person, but without prejudice to any provisions of this Ordinance which enact that Tax is to be charged in particular cases in respect of the profits and income of a period other than the year preceding the year of assessment.

(2) For the purposes of this Ordinance, without in any way limiting the meaning of the term, ' profits and income arising in or derived from Ceylon ' includes all profits and income derived from services rendered in Ceylon, or from property in Ceylon, or from business transacted in Ceylon whether directly or through an agent.

Income Chargeable with Tax

6. (t) For the purposes of this Ordinance " profits and income " or "profits " or " income means--

- (a) the profits from any trade, business, profession, or vocation for however short a period carried on or exercised ;
- (b) the profits from any employment;

- (r) the nett annual value of any land and improvements thereon occupied by or on behalf of the owner in so far as it is not so occupied for the purposes of a trade, business, profession or vocation;
 - (d) the nett annual value of any land and improvements thereon used rent-free by the occupier which is not included in paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of this sub-section, or , where the rent paid for such land and improvements is less than the nett annual value, the excess of such nett annual value over the rent, to be deemed in each case the income of the occupier
 - (e) dividends, interest, or discounts ;
 - (f) any charge or annuity ;
 - (g) rents, royalties, and premiums ; and
 - (h) income from any other source whatsoever, not including profits of a casual and non-recurring nature.
- (2) For the purposes of this section—
- (a) " Profits from any employment " includes--
 - (i) any wages, salary, leave pay, fee, pension, commission, bonus, gratuity, or perquisite, whether derived from the employer or others, except the value of any holiday warrant, passage or other form of free conveyance granted by an employer to an employee, or any allowance for the purchase of any such conveyance in so far as it is expended for such purpose;
 - (ii) any sum received in commutation of pension, or any sum refunded under section 38 (I) or section 39 of the Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund Ordinance and any sum refunded under any regulation relating to any Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund or Scheme established for the Local Government Service which corresponds to the aforesaid Section 38 (1) or Section 39;
 - (iii) the rental value of any place of residence provided rent-free by the employer ;
 - (iv) where a place of residence is provided by an employer at a rental less than the rental value, the excess of the rental value over such rent ; and
 - (v) any other allowance granted in respect of employment whether in money or otherwise;
 - (b) The nett annual value of land and improvements thereon or of any place of residence shall be determined on the basis of the rent which a tenant might reasonably be expected taking one year with another, to pay for such land and improvements or for such place of residence (the tenant paying rates and the owner bearing the cost of repairs), subject to a deduction of twenty per cent. for repairs and other expenses. Where the annual value of any land and improvements thereon or of any place of residence has been assessed for rating purposes by a local authority, such annual value, adjusted as may be necessary in respect of rates paid by the owner and the aforesaid deduction of twenty per centum for repairs and other expenses, shall be the annual value for the purposes of this section, unless in the opinion of the Commissioner the assessment made by the local authority does not accurately represent the annual value of the land and improvements or place of residence in the year for which the nett annual value is being determined. Where the annual value has not been assessed by a local authority, the nett annual value shall not in any case exceed five per cent. of the capital value of such land and improvements or place of residence ;
 - (c) The rental value of any place of residence shall be the nett annual value as defined in paragraph (b) of this sub-section with the addition of rates paid by the owner and twenty-five per centum of such nett annual value on account of repairs and other expenses : Provided that for the purposes of subsection (2) (a) (iii) and (iv), any excess of rental value over twenty-five per centum of the profits described in subsection (2) (a) (i) shall be disregarded ;

- (d) The income or profits arising from rents of land and improvements thereon shall be the gross rent which is receivable and can be recovered after deducting rates borne by the owner and, where the owner undertakes to bear the cost of repairs, twenty per centum of the balance, but shall not be less than the nett annual value after deducting therefrom any part thereof deemed to be the income of the occupier, due provision being made for any period in respect of which no rent is receivable or can be recovered.

Exemptions

7. (i) There shall be exempt from the tax—

- (a) the income of any local authority or Government institution exclusive of the income of any trust or other matter vested in or administered by such authority or institution to which such authority or institution is not beneficially entitled ;
 - (b) the income of the Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund of Public Officers of Ceylon ;
 - (bb) the income of any Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund or Scheme established for the Local Government Service.

 - (d) the income of any religious body or institution whether established under any instrument in writing or not ;
 - (e) the annual value of any place of public worship and its premises ;
 - (f) the income of any institution or trust of a public character established by Ordinance solely for purposes of scientific research ;
- (If) the profits and income derived, during any war in which Her Majesty may be engaged, by the Government of any part of Her Majesty's dominions or the Government of any foreign power allied with Her Majesty in the conduct of any such war, from any business carried on by any such Government as the owner or charterer of any ship or aircraft ;
- (g) the official emoluments and any income not arising in or derived from Ceylon of-
 - (i) The Diplomatic representative in Ceylon (by whatever name or title designated) of the Government of any foreign country and the High Commissioner in Ceylon of the Government of any part of Her Majesty's dominions ;
 - (ii) any member of the staff of any such Representative or High Commissioner, any consul or trade commissioner, and any member of the staff of any consul or trade commissioner; who is a citizen or a subject of the country represented by him and does not carry on or exercise in Ceylon any other employment or any • trade, business, profession or vocation ;
- As regards other income, the liability to tax of any person here in before mentioned shall be the same as though he were a non-resident person ;
- (gg) any overseas allowance or representational allowance granted by the Government of Ceylon to any individual who is deemed by sub-section (6) of section 33 to be resident in Ceylon;
 - (h) the emoluments payable from Imperial Funds to members of Her Majesty's Forces on the active list, (other than members of any such Force raised in Ceylon), and, in respect of their offices under the Imperial Government, to persons in the service of the Imperial Government employed in or visiting Ceylon, not being persons resident in Ceylon for a period exceeding three months immediately prior to the date of their appointment to such office ;

- Retrospective effect from 1-4-1943.

- (hh) the official emoluments, and any income not arising in or derived from Ceylon, of-
- (i) members of any other regular or volunteer naval, military or air forces of Her Majesty, raised in any part of Her Majesty's dominions other than Ceylon, who are serving in Ceylon during any war in which Her Majesty may be engaged ;
 - (ii) members of any of the regular or volunteer naval, military or air forces maintained by any foreign power allied with Her Majesty in the conduct of any such war or by any foreign authority specified by the Minister by notification published in the Gazette to be a foreign authority associated with Her Majesty in the conduct of any such war ;
 - (iii) persons employed in any civil capacity by the Government of any part of Her Majesty's dominions other than Ceylon or by the Government of any such foreign power or by any such foreign authority, who, not being persons resident in Ceylon for a period exceeding three months immediately prior to the date of the commencement of such employment, are so employed in or visit, Ceylon for any purpose connected with any such war ;
- (1) wound and disability pensions granted to members or ex-members of Her Majesty's Forces ;
- (ii) United States Government Disability Pensions ;
- (j) the income accruing to a person receiving instruction at a university, college, school, or other educational establishment from a scholarship, exhibition, bursary, or similar educational endowment ;
- (k) any capital sum received by way of retiring gratuity (other than a sum received in commutation of pension) or death gratuity or consolidated compensation for death or injuries ;
- (l) the accumulated interest payable to an individual in respect of any Ceylon Savings Certificate issued under the Savings Certificates Ordinance, so long as the amount of the certificates held by the individual who is for the time being the holder of such certificates does not exceed the amount which an individual is for the time being authorized to hold under the written law, rules, or regulations relating to such certificates ;
- (m) interest paid or credited to any individual by the Ceylon Savings Bank and the Ceylon Post Office Savings Bank ; and
- (a) the profits and income of any Co-operative Society registered under the Co-operative Societies Ordinance : Provided that the majority of the members of any such Society are resident in Ceylon and provided that in a case where a co-operative society is a member of another co-operative society so registered, each of the members of the former society shall be deemed individually to be and shall be reckoned as a member of the latter society for the purpose of ascertaining whether a majority of the members of the latter society are resident in Ceylon ;

Provided that nothing in this section shall be construed to exempt in the hands of the recipients any dividends (not including rebates to members of registered co-operative societies in proportion to the business done by them with such societies), interest, annuities, salaries, wages, bonuses, perquisites, pensions, or other profits paid or arising wholly or in part out of the income so exempted.

In this sub-section, and in sub-section (3). " Her Majesty's dominions " includes any British Protectorate or Protected State and any territory in respect of which a mandate on behalf of the League of Nations has been accepted by Her Majesty.

(2) Where a body of persons resident in Ceylon carries on a provident, building, savings, or thrift society or fund, and

- (a) the Commissioner is satisfied that a number of persons forming a substantial proportion of such society or of the contributors to such fund have either no taxable incomes, or taxable incomes wholly chargeable at the unit rate, or
- (b) the society or fund has been approved by the Commissioner under section 9 (i) (g), the Commissioner may in his discretion, subject to such conditions as he may specify, restrict or remit the tax payable by such society or fund as the Case may appear to him to require.

⁵(3) The exemption conferred by sub-paragraph (g) (ii) of sub-section (s) shall not apply in the case of any person referred to in that sub-paragraph unless the Minister, being satisfied that a corresponding official of the Govt. of Ceylon resident in the country represented by that person is or would be granted similar exemption from income tax by that country, declares that the exemption shall apply in that case.

7A. (i) Where at any time during the period of three years commencing on April 1, 1951, the Government of Ceylon participates in the formation of any corporation and makes a contribution towards its capital, the Minister of Finance may by notice published in the Gazette declare that this section shall apply to the corporation.

(2) The profits and income of any corporation to which this section applies being the profits and income for the year of assessment in which the corporation commences business and for each of the next two subsequent years of assessment shall be exempt from the tax.

(3) Where the profits and income of any corporation for any year of assessment are exempt from tax by virtue of sub-section (2), all dividends which all in that year paid to the shareholders of the corporation shall be exempt from tax ; and accordingly the provisions of section 43 shall not apply in relation to such dividends.

7B. (x) This section shall apply to any industrial undertaking in respect of which the Commissioner is satisfied that the following conditions are fulfilled.

- (a) that it is an undertaking commenced on or after April 1, 1951, and not later than March 31, 1954, for the production or manufacture in Ceylon of goods or commodities ;
- (b) that electrical energy, or any other form of energy which is mechanically transmitted and is not directly generated by human energy, is used for such production or manufacture.
- (c) that the undertaking is not formed by the splitting up or reconstruction of any business previously in existence, or by the transfer to a new business of buildings, machinery or plant used in a business which was being carried on before April 1, 1951; and
- (d) that more than twenty-five persons are employed for the purposes of the undertaking.

(2) Subject as hereinafter provided, the profits and income of an undertaking to which this section applies, being profits and income of the undertaking for the year of assessment in which it commences to carry on business and for each of the next two subsequent years of assessment, shall be exempt from the tax.

Provided, however, that any sum, by which the statutory income from any such undertaking for any year of assessment referred to in the preceding provisions exceeds five per centum of the capital employed for the purposes of the undertaking as at the commencement of the period by reference to which such statutory income is ascertained, shall not be exempt from the tax.

Such profits and income as are by the preceding provisions of this sub-section exempt from the tax are hereinafter iii this section referred to as "exempted profits."

(3) Where the total profits of a resident company for any year of assessment are exempted profits within the meaning of sub-section (2), then the whole amount of every dividend which becomes payable by the company to any shareholder during that year shall be exempt from the tax.

(4) Where a part only of the total profits of a resident company for any year of assessment constitutes exempted profits within the meaning of sub-section (2), then such part of the total amount, of the dividends which become payable by the company to any shareholder during that year as bears to that total amount the same proportion as the exempted profits of the company bears to the total profits shall be exempt from the tax.

Exemption of Interest on Government Loans

B. The interest payable on any charged on the public revenue of Ceylon shall be exempt from the tax : Provided that this section shall not apply to the interest on any such loan which may be raised after the date on which this Ordinance comes into force.

CHAPTER III

Ascertainment of Profits or Income Deductions Allowed

(r) Subject to the provisions of sub-sections (I B) (2) and (3), there shall be deducted, for the purpose of ascertaining the profits or income of any person from any source, all outgoings and expenses incurred by such persons in the production thereof, including—

- (a) such sum as the Commissioner in his discretion considers reasonable for the depreciation by wear and tear of plant, machinery, and fixtures arising out of their use by the owner thereof in a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment carried on or exercised by him, such sum being calculated normally at a fixed rate per centum per annum on the written-down value ;
- (b) where any person who carries on or exercises a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment has sold or discarded any plant, machinery, or fixtures used in producing the income therefrom, without ceasing to carry on or exercise the said trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment, the loss attributable to the excess of the written-down value over the sum, if any, realized or likely to be realized by the sale thereof : Provided that--
 - (i) any corresponding profit shall be treated as a receipt of the trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment ; and
 - (ii) where such plant and machinery or fixtures were only partly used or employed in such trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment, the deduction or addition under this sub-section shall be proportionately reduced ;
- (c) any sum expended for the repair (but not renewal) of plant-machinery, or fixture employed in producing the income, or for the renewal or repair of any premises, implement, Utensil, or article so employed, such sum, in the case of the renewal of any thing in respect of which a deduction under paragraph (cc) of this sub-section has been allowed, being reduced by the Assessor having regard to such deduction ; Provided that any person may claim as regards his plant, machinery, or fixtures that the cost of renewal be deducted in place of the depreciation and loss mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this sub-section, and his claim shall be allowed on such condition as the Commissioner may prescribe ;
- (tc)
 - (i) a sum equal to 15 per centum of the cost of any such plant, machinery or fixtures used in an agricultural or industrial undertaking carried on by him as may have been purchased by him in the period of which the profits or income are being ascertained ;
 - (ii) a sum equal to 33 x/3 per centum of any expenditure actually incurred by him during the aforesaid period in constructing any building for use as a dwelling-house by any member of the subordinate staff employed by him in, or for the purposes of, or in connection with, such undertaking ; and
 - (iii) a sum equal to 10 per centum of any expenditure actually incurred by him during the aforesaid period in constructing any building occupied, for the purposes of,

of such undertaking, otherwise than as a dwellings house: Provided that the preceding provisions of this paragraph shall apply in the ascertainment of profits or income of any period, only if such profits or income are being ascertained for the purpose of determining the statutory income for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine, or for any of the four years of assessment immediately succeeding;

- (d) such sum as the Commissioner in his discretion considers reasonable for bad debts incurred in any trade, business profession, vocation, or employment which have become bad during the period of which the profits are being ascertained, and for doubtful debts to the extent that they are estimated to have become bad during the said period; notwithstanding that such bad or doubtful debts were due and payable prior to the commencement of the said period; Provided that all sums recovered during the said period on account of amounts previously written off or allowed in respect of bad or doubtful debts shall for the purposes of this Ordinance be treated as receipts of the trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment for that period
- (e) interest paid or payable to a banker;
- (f) any contribution or abatement deducted from the salary or pension of a public officer under the Widows' and Orphans Pension Fund Ordinance, and any contribution or abatement deducted from the salary or pension of a member of the Local Government Service under the regulations relating to the establishments of any Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund or Scheme for that service.
- (g) any contribution to a pensions, savings, provident, or other Society or Fund which may be approved by the Commissioner subject to such conditions as he may prescribe.
- (r) (a) In paragraph (cc) of sub-section (I) "agricultural undertaking" means an undertaking for the purpose of the production of any unmanufactured agricultural, horticultural or animal produce;
- "member of the subordinate staff" means any person employed in a subordinate capacity who wholly or mainly performs manual or clerical work, or the work of a conductor or team-maker, or any other work which in the opinion of the Commissioner is of a description substantially similar to the work hereinbefore mentioned. "industrial undertaking" means-
- (a) an undertaking for the manufacture or production by mechanical means, of any articles, goods or materials, or for the subjection, by mechanical means, of any articles, goods or materials to any process, or for mining, or for printing, or for repairing machinery or vehicles or vessels, other than an undertaking in the case of which the Commissioner is of opinion that mechanical means are not used for the purposes of a substantial part of the work done in the undertaking, and
- (b) an undertaking for transporting persons or goods; and Any industrial undertaking (as hereinbefore defined) which is carried on together with any undertaking which is not an industrial undertaking (as so defined) shall be regarded for the purposes of paragraph (cc) of sub-section (I) as a separate undertaking, so, however, that if it is an undertaking which is carried on together with an agricultural undertaking as hereinbefore defined and which is for the purpose of the manufacture of any articles, goods or materials from the produce of that agricultural undertaking or the subjection of such produce to any process, it shall be regarded as part of that agricultural undertaking.
- (I) (b) No deduction under paragraph (cc) of sub-section (t) shall be allowed to any person except on a claim made by him in writing and containing such particulars and supported by such proof as the Assessor may require. The decision of the Assessor on any such claim may be questioned in an appeal made by the claimant in accordance with chapter XI against an assessment.

- (1) (c) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 75, a claim for a deduction under paragraph (cc) of sub-section (1) made in connection with the determination of statutory income for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-Nine, shall be entertained if it is made before the thirty-first day of January, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty.
- (2) In ascertaining the profits or income arising from the rent or annual value of land and improvements thereon, no deduction shall be made for outgoings and expenses except those authorized in section 6.
- (3) Subject as hereinafter provided, income, arising from interest, shall be the full amount of interest falling due whether paid or not without any deductions for outgoings or expenses : Provided that—
 - (a) where it appears to an Assessor that any interest is unpaid and cannot be recovered any assessment which includes such interest shall, notwithstanding the provisions of section 75, be reduced by the amount of interest included which has been shown to be irrecoverable ;
 - (b) where it appears to an Assessor that any interest falling due in respect of a loan has not been received, he may exclude such interest from the assessment ; and
 - (c) where it appears to an Assessor that any interest which has been excluded from an assessment under paragraph (6) has subsequently been received, he shall make an assessment or additional assessment including such interest, and such assessment or additional assessment may be made and shall be valid notwithstanding that the period of limitation prescribed by section 65 has elapsed.

Any decision of an Assessor in the exercise of any discretion conferred upon him by this sub-section may be questioned in an appeal against an assessment in accordance with Chapter XI.

Deductions Not Allowed

so. For the purpose of ascertaining the profits or income of any person from any source, no deduction shall be allowed in respect of—

- (a) domestic or private expenses, including the cost of travelling between residence and place of business or employment ;
- (b) any disbursements or expenses not being money expended for the purpose of producing the income ;
- (c) any expenditure of a capital nature or loss of capital ;
- (d) the cost of any improvements ;
- (e) any sum recoverable under an insurance or contract of indemnity ;
- (f) rent of, or expenses in connection with, any premises or part of premises not occupied or used for the purpose of producing the income ;
- (g) any amounts paid or payable by way of United Kingdom income tax or super tax or surtax or Ceylon income tax or Empire tax as defined in section 46 ;
- (h) any interest paid or payable other than that allowed under section 9 (s) (e) ;
- (i) any annuity, ground rent, or royalty ; or
- (j) any payment to any pensions, provident, savings, widows' and orphans' or other Society or Fund, except such payments as are allowed under sections 9 (s) (f) and 9 (g).

CHAPTER IV

Ascertainment of Statutory Income Basis for Computing Statutory Income

is. (1) Save as provided in this section, the statutory income of every person for each year of assessment from each source of his profits and income in respect of which tax is charged by this Ordinance shall be the full amount of the profits or income which was derived by him or arose or accrued to his benefit from Such source during the year preceding the year of assessment, notwithstanding that he may have ceased to possess such source or that such source may have ceased to produce income.

(2) Where the Commissioner is satisfied that any person usually makes up the accounts of a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment carried on or exercised by him to some day other than the thirty-first day of March, he may direct that the statutory income from that source be computed on the amount of the profits of the year ending on that day in the year preceding the year of assessment. Where, however the statutory income of any person from a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment has been computed by reference to an account made up to a certain day and such person fails to make up an account to the corresponding day in the year following, the statutory income from that source both of the year of assessment in which such failure occurs and of the two years of assessment following shall be computed on such basis as the Commissioner in his discretion thinks fit.

(3) Where on a day within a year of assessment any person whether resident or non-resident commences to carry on or exercise a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment in Ceylon, or, being a resident person, elsewhere, any profits arising therefrom for the period from such day to the end of the year of assessment shall be statutory income of such person for such year of assessment.

(4) Where on a day within the year preceding a year of assessment any person whether resident or non-resident has commenced to carry on or exercise a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment in Ceylon, or being a resident person, elsewhere, his statutory income therefrom for that year of assessment shall be the amount of the profits for one year from such day.

(5) The statutory income of any person for any year of assessment from a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment which such person whether resident or non-resident has commenced to carry on or exercise in Ceylon, or being a resident person, elsewhere within the two years preceding such year of assessment, shall be reduced to the amount of the profits of the year of assessment.

(6) Where a person whether resident or non-resident ceases to carry on or exercise a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment in Ceylon, or, being a resident person, elsewhere, his statutory income therefrom shall be

(a) as regards the year of assessment in which the cessation occurs, the amount of the profits of the period beginning on the first day of April in that year and ending on the date of cessation and

(b) as regards the year of assessment preceding that in which the cessation occurs, the amount of the statutory income as computed in accordance with the foregoing sub-sections, or the amount of the profits of such year, whichever is the greater and he shall not be deemed to derive statutory income from such trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment for the year of assessment following that in which the cessation occurs. Provided that where any such person becomes entitled to receive after the date on which such cessation occurs a pension or any sum payable in commutation of pension, such person shall be deemed to have commenced a new employment on the date next succeeding the date of such cessation and such pension or sums payable in commutation of pension shall be deemed to be profits arising from such new employment ; and the provisions of this sub-section and of sub-sections (3), (4) and (5) shall apply accordingly. This proviso shall have no application in any case where such cessation occurs on any date in any year of assessment prior to the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April 1936.

(6A) For the purposes of this Ordinance any employment carried on or exercised by any person, whether resident or non-resident, shall not be deemed to cease by reason only of the grant of leave to that person, whether such leave is granted preparatory to retirement or otherwise.

(6B) For the purpose of this section, a person shall be deemed to carry on or exercise an employment notwithstanding that he carries on or exercises a trade, business, profession or vocation if such trade, business, profession or vocation is carried on or exercised by him as the employee of another and not on his own account or in partnership with another ; and a person so deemed to carry on or exercise an employment shall be deemed to commence or cease to carry on or exercise such employment when he commences or ceases to be such an employee :

Provided that if a person who is so deemed to carry on or exercise an employment carries on or exercises, in addition to such employment any trade, business, profession or vocation on his own account or in partnership with another, the profits arising from such trade, business, profession or vocation shall be assessed as profits from a separate source.

(7) Where a person becomes resident on a day within a year of assessment, his income from that day to the end of such year from a source not being a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment to which sub-sections (3) and (4) apply shall be statutory income for such year of assessment. Where a person becomes resident on a day within the year preceding a year of assessment his statutory income for such year of assessment from a source not being a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment to which Sub-sections (3) and (4) apply shall be the income arising therefrom for one year from such day provided that the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to any source of profits or income arising in or derived from Ceylon which was a source of profits or income of that person before he became resident.

(8) The statutory income of any person ceasing to be resident from any source not being a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment to which Sub-section (6) applies, shall, for the year of assessment in which he ceases to be resident, be the profits or income for the period beginning on the first day of April in that year and ending on the date on which he ceases to be resident, and he shall not be deemed to derive statutory income from such source for the year of assessment following that in which he ceases to be resident: Provided that the provisions of this Sub-section shall not apply to any source of profits or income arising in or derived from Ceylon which is retained by such person after he ceases to be resident.

(9) Where any person dies on a day within a year of assessment, his statutory income for such year shall be the amount of profits and income of the period beginning on the first day of April in that year and ending on that day.

(co) Subject as hereinafter provided, the statutory income of the executor of any deceased person from the estate of that person shall be—

- (a) as regards the year of assessment in which the death occurs, the profits or income of the period from the date of death to the end of that year of assessment
- (b) as regards the year of assessment next following that in which the death occurs, the profits or income of one year from the date of death ; and
- (c) as regards any subsequent year of assessment the profits or income of the year preceding that year of assessment

Provided that—

- (i) where the statutory income of the executor is computed on the profits or income of any period, any income of the estate proved to have been received by, distributed to, or applied to the benefit of any beneficiary of the estate during that period (otherwise than as the capital amount, or any part of the capital amount, of his interest in the estate) shall be deducted from such profits or income ;
- (ii) for the year of assessment in which the distributor to the beneficiaries of the capital amount of the several interests in the estate is completed the statutory income of the executor from the estate shall be the profits or income of the period from the first day of April of that year to the day on which such distribution is completed ; and
- (iii) the provisions of sub-sections (3), (4), (3) and (6) shall not apply to any executor as regards any trade or business forming part of the estate.

(II) The statutory income for any year of assessment of any beneficiary of the estate of a deceased person administered by an executor shall, subject to the provisions of sub-sections (8) and (g), be the amount of profits on income received by or distributed to him, or applied to his benefit, out of the estate during the year preceding that year of assessment (otherwise than as the capital amount, or any part of the capital amount, of his interest in the estate).

(is) Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 75, a claim made under this Section to an adjustment of any assessment by reference to the profits or income for any period other than the year preceding the year of assessment shall be entertained if it is made within the period of twelve months next succeeding that year of assessment. A claim so made shall be regarded as an appeal for the purposes of Chapter XI.

Apportionment of Profits

12 Where in the case of any trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment it is necessary in order to arrive at the profits or losses of any year of assessment or other period to divide and apportion to specific periods the profits or losses for any period for which accounts have been made up, or to aggregate any such profits or losses or any apportioned parts thereof, it shall be lawful to make such a division and apportionment or aggregation, and any apportionment under this section shall be made in proportion to the number of days in the respective periods.

CHAPTER V

Ascertainment of Assessable Income

Deductions from Statutory Income in Arriving at Assessable Income

13. (1) The assessable income of a person for any year of assessment shall be his total statutory income for that year subject to the following deductions

(a) Sums payable by him for the year preceding the year assessment by way of interest not allowable under section

9 (1) (e), annuity, ground rent, or royalty ; Provided that--

- (i) where under section II the statutory income arising from any source has been computed by reference to the profits or income of any period other than the year preceding the year of assessment, the interest, annuity, ground rent, or royalty payable in respect of such source shall be computed on the like basis ,
 - (ii) no deduction shall be allowed in respect of any sum payable by way of interest, annuity, ground rent, or royalty by a person out of Ceylon to another person out of Ceylon ; and
 - (iii) where for any year of assessment the said sums exceed the total statutory income for that year, the excess shall be treated for the purposes of this section in the same manner as a loss incurred in a trade during the said year save that the provisions of sub-section (3) shall not apply thereto;
 - (iv) where, at the time of making any assessment, it appears to an Assessor that any of the said sums has not been paid, he may refuse to allow any deduction in respect of that sum ; and
 - (v) where it appears to an Assessor that any sum in respect of which a deduction has been refused under paragraph (iv) has subsequently been paid, he shall on application made in writing within twelve months of such payment and supported by such proof as he may require, make an amended assessment allowing such deduction, notwithstanding the provisions of section 7g; and any tax found to have been paid in excess as a result of such amended assessment shall be refunded notwithstanding that the claim for such refund may be made after the expiry of the period of three years prescribed by section 84 ;
- (8) The amount of a loss incurred by him during the year of assessment in any trade, business, profession, or vocation which, if it had been a profit, would have been assessable under this Ordinance ; Provided that no such deduction shall be made unless it is claimed by notice in writing within six months of the end of the year of assessment

- (c) The amount of a loss similarly incurred by him in any such trade, business, profession, or vocation during any of the three years preceding the year of assessment which has not been allowed against his statutory income of a prior year : Provided that—

- (i) in no circumstances shall the aggregate deduction from statutory income in respect of any loss exceed the amount of such loss ; and
- (ii) a deduction under this paragraph shall be made as far as possible from the statutory income of the first year of assessment after that in which the loss was incurred, and, so far as it cannot be so made, then from the statutory income of the next year of assessment, and so on.

(r) (a) Any decision of an Assessor in the exercise of any discretion conferred upon him by sub-section (r) may be questioned in an appeal against an assessment in accordance with Chapter XI.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (r) (b) and (c), the loss incurred during any year of assessment shall be computed where the Commissioner so decides by reference to the year ending on the day in such year of assessment which would have been adopted under section II (2) for the computation of statutory income of the following year of assessment if a profit had arisen

(3) In the case of an individual resident in Ceylon, any loss deducted under this section shall, in the first instance, be deducted from statutory income which is computed on earned income within the meaning of section 16, and any balance of loss to be deducted from other statutory income shall be reduced by an amount similar to the allowance which would have been due under that section in respect of earned income if the loss in question had been a profit.

Provided that where any person carries on more than one agricultural undertaking, a loss incurred in any such undertaking shall be deducted in the first instance from the statutory income arising from his other agricultural undertakings,

(4) Where any person has been declared bankrupt or adjudged insolvent by a competent court, no loss incurred prior to the date of bankruptcy or insolvency shall be set off against income arising after such date.

(5) As regards losses incurred prior to the first day of April, 1932, the provisions of this section shall extend only to the year ending on the thirty-first of March, 1932, or to such other period not exceeding twelve months as would, if a profit had arisen, have been adopted under section r (2) for the computation of statutory income for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932.

(6) The amount of a loss for the purposes of this section shall be ascertained in the manner provided in this Ordinance for the ascertainment of profits.

(7) No deduction under this section shall be allowable except on a claim made in writing by the person assessable, containing such particulars and supported by such proof as the Commissioner may require.

CHAPTER VI

Ascertainment of Taxable Income Taxable Income

14. Save as hereinafter provided in this Chapter, the taxable income of any person for any year of assessment shall be his assessable income for that year of assessment.

Exemption from Tax of Certain Resident Individuals

15. Where the assessable income for any year of assessment of an individual resident in Ceylon does not exceed two thousand four hundred rupees, such income shall not be taxable :

Provided that, where an individual is resident in Ceylon for only a part of a year of assessment, his income shall be taxable if it exceeds a sum which bears the same proportion to two thousand four hundred rupees as the number of days during which he is so resident bears to the number of days in that year of assessment :

Provided further that for the three years of assessment commencing on the first of April, 1932, 1933, and 1934, respectively, and for the year of assessment commencing on the first day April, 1950, and for such subsequent year of assessment, the words " two thousand four hundred " in this section shall be read as " four thousand eight hundred."

Allowances to Resident Individuals

16. (i) An individual resident in Ceylon shall be entitled to claim for any year of assessment that the following allowances be deducted from his assessable income in arriving at his taxable income :—

- (a) an allowance of two thousand rupees ;
- (b) where any part of his statutory income is computed on earned income, an allowance of either one-fifth of the amount of such part of his statutory income after deducting therefrom any loss allowed under section 13, or one-fifth of his assessable income whichever is the less, provided that such allowance shall not exceed four thousand rupees ;
- (c) an allowance of one thousand rupees, if, at any time during the year preceding the year of assessment, he had a wife ;
- (d) an allowance of one thousand rupees, if he had living at any time during the year preceding the year of assessment an unmarried child who was either under the age of eighteen years or who, if over the age of eighteen years and under the age of twenty-two years, was receiving full time instruction at a university, college, school, or other educational establishment, and where he had more than one such child an allowance of five hundred rupees for each such child in excess of one :

Provided that—

- (i) no such allowance shall be made in respect of a child whose assessable income for the year preceding the year of assessment exceeded one thousand rupees,
- (ii) no such allowance shall be made in respect of a child who carried on or exercised during the year preceding the year of assessment a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment ; and
- (iii) the total allowances under this paragraph shall not exceed three thousand rupees
- (e) An allowance of two hundred and fifty rupees in respect of each individual who lived with him and was maintained by him throughout the year preceding the year of assessment, who was a relative of his or of his wife:

Provided that—

- (i) no such allowance shall be made in respect of a relative whose assessable income for the year preceding the year of assessment exceeded two hundred and fifty rupees;
- (ii) the total allowance under this paragraph shall not exceed one thousand rupees ;
- (iii) the total of the allowance under this and the preceding paragraph shall not exceed three thousand rupees &
- (iv) " relative " means a parent, brother or sister, of child but does not include a child in respect of whom an allowance is due under the preceding paragraph

(IA) Sub-section (IA) of this section shall for each year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1951, have effect subject to the following modifications, :-

- (a) for the words "one thousand rupees", wherever they occur collectively, there shall be substituted the words "one thousand five hundred rupees." ;
- (b) for the words "from hundred rupees". there shall be substituted the words "one thousand rupees" ;
- (c) for the words "three thousand rupees", wherever they occur collectively, there shall be substituted the words "four thousand five hundred rupees"; and
- (d) for the words "two hundred and fifty rupees", wherever they occur collectively, there shall be substituted the words "five hundred rupees."
- (2) For the purposes of this section—
 - (a) " earned income " means any profits immediately derived by the individual through his personal exertion from any trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment carried on or exercised by him either as an individual or, in the case of a partnership as an active partner thereof, or any pension, superannuation, or other allowance given in respect of past services of the individual or of the husband or parent of the individual or given to the individual in respect of the past services of any deceased person whether the individual or husband or parent of the individual shall have contributed to such pension, superannuation, or other allowance or not : Provided that the profits of individual from an agricultural undertaking carried on by him solely or in partnership on land of which he is the owner or joint owner shall not be regarded as earned income to an extent greater than one-half thereof :

- (b) " wife " does not include a wife who is living apart from her husband under the decree of a competent court or duly executed deed of separation:
- (e) " child " in relation to any person, includes a step-child of that person or a child authorised by an adoption order made under the Adoption of Children Ordinance, No. 24 of 1941, to be adopted by that person, but does not include any other adopted child or any illegitimate child.

Proportionate Allowances

57. An individual who is resident in Ceylon for a part only of a year of assessment shall be entitled for that year to the same proportion only of the allowances under section 16 (i) (a), (c), (d), and (e) as the number of days during which he is resident bears to the number of days in that year of assessment, and in the case of the allowance under section 16 (t) (b) the figure of four thousand shall be reduced in the same proportion.

Provided that the allowance under section 16 (1) (b) shall not exceed the allowance due in respect of the earned income of the resident period : Provided further, that where the total of the allowances under section 16 exceeds the assessable income of the resident period, the amount of such excess shall not be set off against the assessable income of the non-resident period

Exemption of Income of Non-resident Persons in Certain Cases

x8. (x) Where the assessable income for any year of assessment of an individual not resident in Ceylon consists solely of earned income within the meaning of section 16 and does not exceed one thousand rupees, such income shall not be taxable.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (4), where a non-resident person receives any sum by way of dividend from a non-resident company or by way of interest, annuity, ground rent, or royalty which has been disallowed or accepted under the provisions of section 13 (r) (a) (ii) or 29 (2), such sum shall not be regarded as income of such non-resident person arising in or derived from Ceylon and he shall not be chargeable with tax or entitled to any relief from Ceylon tax under sections 45 and 46 or to any repayment of the tax in respect thereof.

(3) Subject to the provisions of Sub-section (4), any sum received by a non-resident person as the profits or income of that person arising from any Treasury Bill issued under the Local Treasury Bills Ordinance shall be exempt from Tea tax.

(4) The provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) shall not operate so as to exclude any sum mentioned in either of those sub-sections from the computation of the profits of any trade or business carried on in Ceylon, where such sum forms part of the receipts of such trade or business.

Proof of Claims

19. Every individual who claims an allowance under this chapter shall make his claim on the prescribed form. Such allowance shall be granted if the claim contains such particulars and is supported by such proof as the Commissioner may require.

(8) Tax shall be charged for each year of assessment ending prior to April 1, 1951, at the unit rate upon the taxable income for that year of every mutual life insurance company, whether resident or non-resident.

Provided that for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, and for the next two subsequent years of assessment, the rate of the tax chargeable as aforesaid shall be increased by an additional rate of three per centum on such taxable income.

Provided, further, that for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, the rate of tax chargeable as aforesaid shall be increased by an additional rate of five per centum on such taxable income.

(9) Tax shall be charged for each year of assessment ending prior to April, 1951, at twice the unit rate upon the taxable income for that year of every executor.

Provided that for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and forty-five, and for the next five subsequent years of assessment, the rate of the tax chargeable as aforesaid shall be increased by an additional rate of three per centum on such taxable income.

Provided further that where the Commissioner in his discretion considers that the whole of the tax so chargeable on an executor would be liable to be refunded under section 46, such tax shall not be charged.

(v) Where for any year of assessment the taxable income of an individual exceeds, in consequence of the inclusion in his statutory income of a sum received in commutation of pension or refunded under section 38 (1) or section 39 of the Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund Ordinance or under any regulation relating to any Widows' and Orphans' Pension Fund or Scheme established for the Local Government Service which corresponds to the said section 38 (1) or section 39, the sum to which it would amount if no such commutation or refund were included, the excess shall be chargeable notwithstanding anything contained in any other sub-section, at the rate ascertained by dividing the tax payable by him for the preceding year of assessment (exclusive of any increase in tax at the additional rates under the proviso to paragraph (b) of sub-section (1) or the proviso to paragraph (h) of sub-section (5) by the amount of his assessable income for such preceding year ;

Provided further that where any such individual was resident in such preceding year of assessment and no tax was payable by him for that year of assessment, the said excess shall not be chargeable :

Provided further that where any such individual was non-resident in such preceding year of assessment, the rate at which the said excess is chargeable shall be determined by the Commissioner.

(1) Tax shall be charged for each year of assessment ending prior to April 1, 1951, at twice the unit rate upon the taxable income for that year of every person other than those dealt within the following sub-sections:

Provided that for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and forty-five, and for the next five subsequent years of assessment, the rate of the tax chargeable as aforesaid shall be increased by an additional rate of three per centum on the taxable income of every such person.

(i) a) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (), tax shall be charged for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947, and for the next two subsequent years of assessment, at twice the unit rate increased by an additional rate of eight per centum upon the taxable income for that year of every company, not being a company in the case of which tax is chargeable under sub-section (7) or sub-section (8).

(t) ib) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (11), tax shall be charged for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, at twice the unit rate, increased by an additional rate of ten per centum upon the taxable income for that year of every company not being a company in the case of which tax is chargeable under sub-section (7) or sub-section (8).

(12) The unit rate for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932, shall be the rate specified in the Schedule and may be amended for any subsequent year of assessment by a resolution of the House of Representatives passed before the first day of September in such year of assessment. In the absence of any such amendment, the unit rate for any year of assessment shall be that in force for the preceding year.

zeta. (r) The provisions of section 20, other than sub-sections, (2), (2A), (3), (a), (o) and (i z), shall not apply for any year of assessment commencing on or after the first day of April, 1951.

(2) (4) Tax shall be charged for each year of assessment commencing on or after the first day of April, 1951; upon the taxable income for that year of any person, at such rates as may be fixed for that year by resolution passed by the House of Representatives.

(b) A resolution under paragraph (a) passed for any year of assessment may fix, as the rates of tax for that year, the rates in force for the preceding year of assessment as modified or altered in such manner as may be specified in the resolution.

(c) Where no resolution is passed under the preceding provisions of this sub-section for any year of assessment, the rates at which tax shall be charged for that year shall be the rates in force for the preceding year of assessment.

(3) Any resolution under sub-section (2) may provide for the charging of tax at the unit rate referred to in sub-section (12) of section 20 or at multiples of the unit rate, whether with or without additional rates, and for the charging of tax at different rates upon the taxable income of persons of different classes or descriptions or at different rates on different portions of taxable income.

(4) Where an individual is chargeable, as a resident or non-resident, for a part only of any year of assessment, any resolution under sub-section (2) by virtue of which tax is chargeable at different rates on different portions of taxable income shall, in its application in the case of such individual, have effect as if each of those portions of income were reduced in the proportion which the number of days during which he is so chargeable bears to the number of days in that year of assessment.

(5) Sub-section (2) section 20 shall in its application in respect of each year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1951, have effects as though for the expression "under sub-section (1)," wherever it occurs in that sub-section, there were substituted expression " by virtue of any resolution under section 20A."

(6) Sub-section (3) of section 20 shall, in its application in respect of each year of assessment commencing on or after the first day of April, 1951, have effect as though for the expression "sub-sections (1) and (2) "there were substituted the expression " - any resolution under section 20a and of sub-section (2) of this section."

(7) In any case where the Commissioner in his discretion considers that the whole of the tax chargeable, by virtue of a resolution under sub-section (z), on an executor, would be liable to be refunded under section 26, such tax shall not be charged.

(8) Sub-section (to) of section 20 shall in its application in respect of each year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1951, have effect as though, for all the words from ""(exclusive of "to sub-section (5)), there were substituted the following :—

" (exclusive of any tax chargeable at any rate specified in a resolution under section 20A as an additional rate).

The provisions of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect in all respects as though those provisions constituted a resolution passed for the year of assessment commencing on April 1, 1951, by the House of Representatives under sub-section (2) of section 20A (inserted in the principal enactment by this Act); and accordingly, every reference in the principal enactment (as amended by this Act.) to a resolution under section 20A of that enactment shall be deemed to include a reference to the provisions aforesaid.

CHAPTER VIII

Provisions Relating to Special Cases

A.—HUSBAND AND WIFE

Wife's Income

21. (r) For the purposes of this Ordinance, the assessable income of a married woman, for any year of assessment during the subsistence of her marriage, shall be deemed to be part of the assessable income of her husband for that year and shall be charged accordingly :-

Provided that—

(a) Where the marriage subsists during part only of a year of assessment, the foregoing provisions of this sub-section shall apply only to such part of the wife's assessable income for that year of assessment as bears to the whole of such income the same proportion as the number of days in that year of assessment during which the marriage subsists bears to the total number of days in that year.

(b) Where the marriage subsists during part only of a year of assessment, the foregoing provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to any source of profits or income which is not a source of profits or income of the wife during that part of the year for which the marriage subsists.

(c) Where the husband is resident and the wife non-resident during the whole or any part of any year of assessment, the assessable income of the wife for that year of assessment shall, for the purposes of this section, be determined as though she were resident during the whole of that year or that part of that year, as the case may be ; and

(d) Such part of the total amount of the tax charged to the husband as appears to the Commissioner to be charged in respect of the income of the wife may, if necessary, be collected from the wife, not withstanding that no assessment has been made upon her, and the provisions of this Ordinance as to collection and recovery of tax shall apply accordingly.

(2) For the purposes of this section ; a marriage shall not be deemed to subsist if the wife is living apart from her husband under the decree of competent court or a duly executed deed of separation.

Separate Assessment of Husband and Wife

22. (i) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 2x, any husband or wife may give notice in writing to the Commissioner before the first day of June in any year of assessment requiring that tax for that year shall be assessed charged, and recovered separately on the income of the husband and on the income of the wife as if they were not married, and all the provisions of this Ordinance shall thereupon apply to each of them accordingly.

Provided that in the case of a person who is not resident in Ceylon immediately prior to his arrival therein; a notice given within the period of twelve months next succeeding his arrival in Ceylon shall be effective for the purposes of this sub-section.

(2) Where tax is assessed separately as a result of a notice under sub-section (1), the incomes of the husband and the wife shall be aggregated for the purpose of the allowances from assessable income under Chapter VI and for the purpose of calculating the sums chargeable at different rates on different portions of taxable income and the total tax payable in respect of the incomes of husband and wife shall not be less than the amount which would have been payable if no notice had been given under this section.

(3) Wherever one spouse is resident and the other non-resident and notice under sub-section (i) is given by the resident spouse, the resident spouse may in such notice elect that the provisions of sub-section (2) be applied, and in that event, the income from Ceylon of the non-resident spouse shall, notwithstanding the provisions of sub-section (2), be deemed to be the income of the resident spouse and shall be assessed accordingly, and no allowance which may be claimed under section 16 (r) (c) and (d) shall be granted.

(a) Where one spouse is resident and the other non-resident, the resident spouse may be deemed the agent of the non-resident spouse for all the purposes of this Ordinance and shall be liable to pay the whole of the tax chargeable in respect of the profits and income of both whether assessed jointly or severally.

B.—TRUSTEES, EXECUTORS, &c.

Chargeability of Receiver and Trustee

23. (r) An Assessor may give notice in writing to a receiver or trustee requiring him to furnish within the time limited by such notice a return of the income of any person for whom he acts or from any property under his control, and such receiver or trustee shall for each year of assessment ending prior to April E, 1951, be chargeable with tax at twice the unit rate on the whole of each income.

Provided that for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and forty five, and for the next five subsequent years of assessment, the rate of the tax chargeable as aforesaid shall be increased by an additional rate of three per centuin on the whole of such income.

Provided further that for each year of assessment commencing on or after the first day of April, 1951, such receiver or trustee shall be chargeable with tax on the whole of such income at such rate or rates as may be specified in that behalf in a resolution under section 2oA.

Provided further that where any persons not exceeding ten in number are entitled as beneficiaries to any part or parts of such income, such part or parts may be deducted from the amount on which the receiver or trustee is assessable and may be treated for the purposes of this Ordinance as the income of the beneficiaries.

Where there are more than ten such beneficiaries, the commissioner may direct that part or parts of the income to which they are entitled shall be treated for the purposes of this Ordinance either

- (a) as the income of the receiver or trustee as the case may be, or
- (b) as the income of the beneficiaries.

{z} Where the Commissioner directs in accordance with sub-section (r) that the part or parts of any income be treated for the purposes of this Ordinance as the income of a receiver or trustee, such receiver or trustee, shall be entitled to deduct tax from any income that he distributes to the beneficiaries, and the provisions of section 43 shall apply, as far as may be, to all the sums so distributed in the same way as they apply to dividends paid by a company.

(3) The trustee of an incapacitated person shall be chargeable with tax in like manner and to the like amount as such person would be chargeable : Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent the direct assessment of an incapacitated person in his own name.

24, as (Repealed by No. as of 1939)

Adjustment of Tax on the Shares of the Beneficiaries when an Estate is Distributed.

26. Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-sections (ro) and (I i) of section rz, where a beneficiary has received the capital amount of his interest in the state of a deceased person administered by an executor, notice may be given either by the Commissioner to the beneficiary or by the beneficiary to the Commissioner within three years of the end of the year of assessment in which the capital amount was received, of his intention to claim an adjustment of the tax charged both to the beneficiary and to the executor in respect of the beneficiary's share of the income of the estate, and such adjustment shall be made accordingly by repayment or additional assessment, as the case may require, in respect of the income of the whole period extending from the date of death to the date on which the beneficiary received the capital amount of his interest in full.

The basis of such adjustment shall be the aggregate difference between—

- (a) the tax (apportioned as the Commissioner in his discretion thinks reasonable) paid by the executor in respect of the beneficiary's share of the income of the estate for the said period added to the total amount of the tax paid by the beneficiary : and
- (b) the total amount of the tax which would have been paid by the beneficiary for the said period, if his assessable income for each year of assessment had included his full apportioned share of the income of the estate arising in that year.

Executor Chargeable with Tax for Periods prior to Date of Death

27. The executor of a deceased person shall be chargeable with the tax for all periods prior to the date of such person's death with which the said person would be chargeable if he were alive, and shall be liable to do all such acts, matters, and things as the deceased person if he were alive would be liable to do under this Ordinance : Provided that—

- (1) no proceedings shall be instituted against the executor under the provisions of Chapter XV. of this Ordinance in respect of any act or default of the deceased person
- (ii) no assessment or additional assessment in respect of a period prior to the date of such person's death shall be made after the expiry of the third year of assessment subsequent to the year of assessment in which the death occurred ;
- (2) The power to make an assessment or additional assessment in respect of a period prior to the date of death of any person may be exercised within the period specified in Paragraph
- (ii) of the proviso to section 27 of the principal enactment as amended by sub-section (I) of this section, notwithstanding that the death occurred before the commencement of this Act.
- (iii) the liability of an executor under this section shall be limited to the sum of—
 - (a) the deceased person's estate in his possession or control at the date when notice is given to him that liability to tax will arise under this section, and
 - (i) any part of the estate which may have passed to a beneficiary.

Joint Trustees and Executors

28. Where two or more persons act in the capacity of trustees of a trust or executors of a deceased person's estate, they may be charged jointly or severally with the tax with which they are chargeable in that capacity, and shall be jointly and severally liable for payment of the same.

C.—PARTNERSHIPS

Assessment of Partnership Income

29. (i) Where a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment is carried on by two or more persons in partnership the provisions of the following sub-sections shall apply

(2) An Assessor may give notice in writing to the precedent partner of the partnership requiring him to furnish within the time limited by such notice a return showing the profits or losses of the partnership from such trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment during the period of twelve months immediately preceding the year of assessment or during any other period in respect of which statutory income may be computed under section 11, ascertained in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance relating to the ascertainment of profits and income of a person, and showing also any interest, annuity, ground rent, or royalty payable by the partnership in respect of such trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment for the said period. The amount of such interest, annuity, ground rent, or royalty (except where it is payable by a person out of Ceylon to another person out of Ceylon) shall be deducted from the profits or added to the losses ascertained as above, and the figure thus arrived at shall be known as the divisible profit or loss for that period. The precedent partner shall further in such return declare any other income of the partnership for the said period together with the names and addresses of all the partners, and shall apportion among them the whole of the divisible profit or loss and other income in accordance with their shares in the partnership during the period in which the said profit or loss or income arose.

Where no active partner is resident in Ceylon, the return shall be furnished by the agent of the partnership in Ceylon.

(3) In computing the profits or losses of the partnership, nothing shall be deducted for salaries or other remuneration of partners or for interest on partners' capital, but such sums shall be taken into account in apportioning among the partners the divisible profit or loss and other income.

(4) The statutory income of any partner from the partnership shall be computed in accordance with the provisions of section 11 by treating his share of the divisible profit of the partnership as though it were profits of a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment carried on or exercised by him, and his share of other income as though it accrued to him solely : Provided that where no return has been made as required by sub-section (2) or a return made under that sub-section has not been accepted, the Assessor may estimate the statutory income of any partner from the partnership to the best of his judgment.

(5) The share of any partner of a divisible loss shall be a loss incurred by him within the meaning of section 13. The amount of such divisible loss and the partner's share thereof shall be determined by the Assessor subject to appeal as provided by Chapter XI.

(6) Where a return has been made by the precedent partner in accordance with sub-section (r) and has been accepted by the Assessor, the income of each partner resident in Ceylon derived from the partnership shall be assessed upon him individually.

(7) The income of any non-resident partner or partners from the partnership shall be assessable in the name of the partnership or of any resident partner or of any agent of the partnership in Ceylon, and the tax charged thereon shall be recoverable by all means provided in this Ordinance out of the assets of the partnership, or from any partner, or from any such agent.

(S) Where no return has been made in accordance with sub-section (2) or the return has not been accepted by the Assessor, either as regards the amount of the profits or income or the allocation thereof among the partners, it shall be lawful for an assessment to be made in the name of the partnership on the estimated amount of the profits and income of the partnership arrived at in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance relating to the ascertainment of the assessable income of a person, and tax thereon may be charged at twice the unit rate "or where the year of assessment commences on or after April 1, 1951, at such rate or rates as may be specified in that behalf in a resolution under section 20A," a'. (I shall be recoverable out of the assets of the partnership, or from any partner, or from any agent of the partnership ; such assessment shall be subject to appeal by any person aggrieved thereby in the manner provided by Chapter XI, and the Commissioner or the Board of Review, as the case may be, may upon such appeal determine the profits and income and allocate the same among the partners and compute their statutory income from the partnership as provided in sub-section (a) and the tax payable in respect thereof, which may be re-assessed on the individual partners or may be recovered as tax on the assessment appealed against without any new assessment.

Provided that for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and forty-five, and for the next five subsequent years of assessment, the rate of the tax chargeable aforesaid shall be increased by an additional rate of three per centum on the estimated amount of the profits and income of the partnership.

(9) Where under this section income has been assessed in the name of a partnership, and a change occurs in such partnership by reason of retirement or death, or the dissolution of the partnership as to one or more of the partners, or the admission of a new partner, in such circumstances that one or more of the persons who were joint owners of the assets of such partnership continues to be owner or joint owner of such assets, the person or partnership becoming owner of such assets in consequence of such change shall be charged with the said tax or any part of it which remains unpaid, and the provisions of Chapter XIII. shall apply to such person or partnership accordingly.

D.—AGRICULTURE

Ascertainment of profits from Certain Agricultural Undertakings

30 (I) In this section —

- (a) " permanent cultivation " means the cultivation of land for the purpose of producing coconuts, rubber, tea, cocoa, and other products from palms, trees or bushes of a more or less permanent character, all of which are hereinafter referred to as trees ;
 - (b) " estate " means any area of land used mainly for the purpose of permanent cultivation ;
- " immature area " means an estate or part of an estate, first planted in a particular year, in which the trees planted in that year are not fully mature, or not in full bearing.

(2) For the purpose of ascertaining the profits from an estate, the provisions of this section shall apply in addition to , and shall be read with Chapter

(3) The income and expenditure in connection with any immature area shall be separately considered, and it shall be lawful for the Assessor to require production of such particulars as may be necessary for that purpose.

(4) Where for any accounting period the expenditure other than capital expenditure incurred by any person on any immature area exceeds the receipts therefrom, and such excess is mainly due to the fact that the trees in that area (or a substantial proportion thereof) are not yet in bearing, the amount of such excess or the total amount of such excesses where expenditure has been so incurred by any such person on more immature areas than one, not exceeding in any case fifteen per cent. of the profits of that person from his estates for the same period, shall be allowed as a deduction from such profits. The balance of such excess shall be deemed to be capital expenditure.

E.—RESIDENCE

What Constitutes Residence

33 (r) Where a company or body of persons has its registered or principal office in Ceylon, or where the control and management of its business are exercised in Ceylon, such company or body of persons shall be deemed to be resident in Ceylon for the purposes of this Ordinance.

Provided that where a company registered in Ceylon proves that it is controlled and managed in the United Kingdom, and that it is treated for the purpose of United Kingdom income tax as resident in that country, it shall be treated as non-resident.

(2) An individual who arrives in Ceylon and who is in Ceylon for a period or periods amounting in the aggregate to more than six months during the year commencing from the date of his arrival shall, if he is in Ceylon at the end of that year, be deemed resident throughout that year ; but if he is not in Ceylon at the end of that year, he shall be deemed resident from the date of his arrival to the date of his last departure during that year, and, subject to the provisions of the following sub-sections, non-resident from the date of such last departure to the end of that year.

(3) An individual who has been deemed resident throughout a period of twenty-four consecutive months or who would have been deemed to be so resident if this Ordinance had always been in force, shall be deemed to be resident until such time as he is continuously absent from Ceylon for an unbroken period of twelve months. When such person is so absent, he shall be deemed to be non-resident as from the date on which such absence commenced.

(4) Where an individual is deemed resident for any period in accordance with the provisions of any of the foregoing sub-sections, and at the end of such period is absent from Ceylon for less than three months, such period of absence shall for all the purposes of this section be treated as if it had been spent by him in Ceylon.

(5) Where an individual dies during any year of assessment, and, in respect of the period from the commencement of such year to the date of his death, the Commissioner is satisfied

(e) that, although he is deemed to be resident under the foregoing sub-sections, he would, but for his death, have been deemed to be non-resident, or

(b) that, although he is not deemed to be resident under the foregoing sub-sections, he would, but for his death, have been deemed to be resident, and

(c) that there is chargeable for the said period a greater amount of tax than would have been so chargeable if he had lived, the Commissioner may direct that such deceased individual shall be deemed to have been resident or non-resident, as the case may be, for the purpose of granting such relief as the circumstances of the case may require.

* (6) An individual who is in the employment of the Govt. of Ceylon and who is resident in any other country during any period for the purposes of such employment shall, for the purposes of this Ordinance, be deemed to be resident in Ceylon during that period if income tax or any tax of a corresponding nature is not payable in that country in respect of the official emoluments payable to him for such period :

Provided that any such individual who is a citizen or subject of any country other than Ceylon shall not, by reason of his being so deemed to be resident in Ceylon, be liable to tax as a resident as respects any income, other than his official emolument or other income arising in or derive from Ceylon. F—LIABILITY OF NON-RESIDENT PERSONS

Chargeability of Certain Profits of Non-resident Persons

34. (r) Where a person in Ceylon, acting on behalf of a non-resident person effects or is instrumental in effecting any insurance or sells or disposes of or is instrumental in selling or disposing of any property, whether such property is in Ceylon or is to be brought into Ceylon and whether the insurance, sale, or disposal is effected by such person in Ceylon or by or on behalf of the non-resident person outside Ceylon and whether the moneys arising therefrom are paid to or received by the non-resident person directly or otherwise, the profits arising from any such insurance, sale, or disposal shall be deemed to be derived by the non-resident person from business transacted by him in Ceylon, and the person in Ceylon who acts on his behalf shall be deemed to be his agent for all the purposes of this Ordinance.

(2) The profits of a non-resident person from employment by a resident person shall be chargeable with tax in so far as such profits arise from services or past services rendered in Ceylon.

Persons Assessable on behalf of a Non-resident Person

35. A non-resident person shall be assessable either directly or in the name of his agent in respect of all his profits and income arising in or derived from Ceylon, whether such agent has the receipt of the income or not, and the tax so assessed whether directly or in the name of the agent shall be recoverable by all means provided in this Ordinance out of the assets of the non-resident person or from the agent. Where there are more agents than one, they may be assessed jointly or severally in respect of the income of the non-resident person and shall be jointly and severally liable for tax thereon.

Liability of Certain Non-resident Persons

36. (1) For the purposes of this section--

- (a) a person is closely connected with another person where the Commissioner in his discretion considers that such persons are substantially identical or that the ultimate controlling interest of each is owned or deemed under this section to be owned by the same person or persons ;
- (b) the controlling interest of a company shall be deemed to be owned by the beneficial owners of its shares, whether held directly or through nominees, and shares in one company held by or on behalf of another company shall be deemed to be held by the shareholders of the last mentioned company

(2) Where a non-resident person carries on business with a resident person with whom he is closely connected and the course of such business is so arranged that it produces to the resident person either no profits or less than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise, the business done by the non-resident person in pursuance of his connection with the resident person shall be deemed to be carried on in Ceylon, and such non-resident person shall be assessable and chargeable with tax in respect of his profits from such business in the name of the resident person as if the resident person were his agent, and all the provisions of this Ordinance shall apply accordingly.

(3) Where tax is chargeable in respect of the profits arising from the sale of goods or produce manufactured or produced outside Ceylon by a non-resident person or by a person or persons with whom he is closely connected, the profits of such non-resident person for the purposes of this Ordinance from the sale of such goods or produce shall be deemed to be not less than the profits which might reasonably be expected to have been made by a merchant, or, where the goods or produce are retailed by or on behalf of the non-resident person, by a retailer of the goods or produce said, who had bought the same direct from a manufacturer or producer with whom he was not connected.

Where import duty levied on an ad valorem basis under Customs Ordinance has been paid in Ceylon' on such goods or produce, the sum to be deducted as the cost of such goods or produce on arrival in Ceylon shall not, for the purpose of computing the profits arising in Ceylon, be greater than the value on which such import duty has been so paid.

Profits of Certain Businesses to be Computed on a Percentage of the Turnover

37. Where the Commissioner in his discretion considers that the true amount of the profits of a non-resident person arising in or derived from Ceylon in respect of a trade or business cannot be easily ascertained, such profits may be computed on a fair percentage of their turnover, of that trade or business in Ceylon : Provided that the amount of such percentage shall be subject to appeal in accordance with the provisions of Chapter XI.

Profits of Non-resident Persons from Sale of Exported Produce

38. Where a non-resident person carries on in Ceylon an agricultural, manufacturing, or other productive undertaking, and sells any product of such undertaking outside Ceylon or for delivery outside Ceylon, whether the contract is made within or without Ceylon, the full profit arising from the sale in a wholesale market shall be deemed to be income arising in or derived from Ceylon : within the meaning section 5 : Provided that, if it is shown that the profit has been increased through treatment of the product outside Ceylon other than handling, blending, sorting, packing, and disposal, such increase of profit shall not be deemed to be income arising in or derived from Ceylon.

Where any such product is not sold in a wholesale market, or is not sold at all, the said person shall be deemed to derive profits from Ceylon within the meaning of section 5 and such profits shall be deemed to be not less than the profits which might have been obtained if such person had sold such product wholesale to the best advantage.

G.—SHIPPING

Profits of Non-resident Shipowners

3g. (r) Where a non-resident person carries on the business or shipowner or charterer and any ship owned or chartered by him calls at a port in Ceylon, his full profits arising from the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, or goods shipped in Ceylon shall be deemed to arise in Ceylon : Provided that this section shall not apply to goods which are brought to Ceylon solely for transhipment.

(2) Where for any accounting period such person produces the certificate mentioned in sub-section (3), the profits arising in Ceylon from his shipping business for such period, before deducting any allowance for depreciation shall be a sum bearing the same ratio to the sums receivable in respect of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, and goods shipped in Ceylon as the ratio for the said period shown by that certificate of the total profits to the total sums receivable by him in respect of the carriage of passengers mails, live-stock, and goods : Provided that where the said total profits have been computed on a basis which differs materially from that prescribed in this Ordinance, the ratio of profits shall be adjusted so as to correspond as nearly as may be to the ratio which would have been arrived at if the profits had been computed in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

(3) The certificate shall be one issued by or on behalf of any income tax authority which assesses the full profits of the non-resident person from his shipping business, and shall certify for any accounting period as regards such business—

- (a) the ratio of the profits, or where there are no profits, of the loss as computed for the purposes of income tax by that authority, without making any allowance by way of depreciation, to the total sums receivable in respect of carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, or goods ; and
- (h) the ratio of the allowance for depreciation as computed by that authority to the said total sums receivable in respect of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, and goods.

(4) Where at the time of assessment the provisions of sub-section (2) cannot for any reason be satisfactorily applied, the profits arising in Ceylon may be computed on a fair percentage of the full sum receivable on account of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, and goods shipped in Ceylon : Provided that where any person has been assessed for any year of assessment by reference to such percentage, he shall be entitled to claim at any time within three years of the end of such year of assessment that his liability to tax for that year be recomputed on the basis provided by sub-section (a).

(3) Where the Commissioner decides that the call of a ship belonging to a particular non-resident shipowner or charterer at a port in Ceylon is casual and that further calls by that ship or others in the same ownership are improbable, the provisions of this section shall not apply to the profits of such ship and no tax shall be chargeable thereon.

Master, of Ship to be an Agent

40. The master of any ship owned or chartered by a non-resident person who is chargeable under the provisions of section 39 shall (though not to the exclusion of any other agent) be deemed the agent of such non-resident person for all the purposes of this Ordinance.

Refusal of Clearance where Tax is in Arrear

(i) In addition to any other powers of collection and recovery provided in this Ordinance, the Commissioner may, where the tax charged on the income of any person who carries on the business of shipowner or charterer has been in default for more than three months (whether such person is assessed directly or in the name of some other person), issue to the Principal Collector of Customs or other authority by whom clearance may be granted a certificate containing the name or names of the said person and particulars of the tax in default. On receipt of such certificate, the Principal Collector of Customs or other authority shall be empowered and is hereby required to refuse clearance from any port in Ceylon to any ship owned wholly or partly or chartered by such person until the said tax has been paid.

(2) No civil or criminal proceedings shall be instituted or maintained against the Principal Collector of Customs or other authority in respect of a refusal of clearance under this section, nor shall the fact that a ship is detained under this section affect the liability of the owner, charterer, or agent to pay harbour dues and charges for the period of detention.

Application of Sections 39 to 42 to Profits of non-resident owners of aircraft

41A (1) The provisions of sections 39 to 41 shall apply in the case of every non-resident person who carries on business as the owner or charterer of aircraft in like manner as they apply in the case of a non-resident person who carries on the business of shipowner or charterer.

(2) In the application of provisions 39 to 41 to the case of any non-resident person who carries on business as the owner or charterer of aircraft—

- (a) " ship " shall be deemed to include aircraft, and "shipowner " shall be construed accordingly ;
- (b) " port " shall be deemed to include a customs aerodrome,
- (c) " shipped " shall be deemed to include the meaning loaded into an aircraft ;
- (d) " transhipment " shall be deemed to include transfer from one aircraft to another or in either direction between an aircraft and some other vessel ;
- (e) " shipping business " shall be deemed to include the business of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, or goods by aircraft ;
- (f) any reference to the master of a ship shall be deemed to include a reference to the person having for the time being control or charge of an aircraft ;
- (g) any reference to the granting of clearance to any ship shall be deemed to include a reference to the doing of any act which, under the provisions of any written law, is authorised to be done in relation to an aircraft in lieu of the granting of a certificate of clearance under section 64 of the Custom Ordinance, and any reference to the refusal of clearance shall be construed accordingly ;
- (h) "harbour dues and charges " shall be deemed to include any charges payable to the Government of Ceylon or to any person, on account of the landing, stay or housing at a customs aerodrome of any aircraft arriving in or departing from Ceylon.

H.—INSURANCE

Ascertainment of Profits of Insurance Companies

42. (1) The profits of a company, whether mutual or proprietary, from the business of life insurance shall be the investment income of the Life Insurance Fund less the management expenses (including commission) attributable to that business : Provided that where such a company which is not resident in Ceylon transacts life insurance business in Ceylon whether directly or through an agent, the profits therefrom shall be the same proportion of the total investment income of the Life Insurance Fund of the company as the premiums from life insurance business in Ceylon bear to the total life insurance premiums received by it, subject to a deduction of agency expenses in Ceylon (including commission) and a fair proportion of the expenses of the head office of the company, due account being taken in each case by set-off against such expenses of any income or profits other than life insurance premiums or investment income.

(2) The profits of a non-resident company, whether mutual or proprietary, from the business of insurance (other than life insurance) shall be ascertained by taking the gross premiums from insurance business in Ceylon (less any premiums returned to the insured and premiums paid on re-insurance) and deducting therefrom a reserve for unexpired risks at the percentage adopted by the company in relation to its operations as a whole for such risks at the end of the period of which the profits are being ascertained and adding thereto a reserve similarly calculated for unexpired risks outstanding at the commencement of such period, and from the nett amount so arrived at deducting the actual losses (less the amount recovered in respect thereof under re-insurance), the agency expenses in Ceylon, and a fair proportion of the expenses of the head office of the company, due account being taken in each case by set-off against such expenses of any income or profits other than premiums.

(3) Where the Commissioner is satisfied that by reason of the limited extent of the business transacted in Ceylon by a non-resident insurance company it would be unreasonable to require the company to furnish the particulars necessary for the application of sub-sections (r) and (e), he may, notwithstanding the provisions of those sub-sections, permit the profits of the company to be ascertained by reference to the proportion of the total profits and income of the company corresponding to the proportion which its premiums from insurance business in Ceylon bear to its total premiums, or on any other basis which appears to him to be equitable.

(4) For the purposes of this section " investment income of the Life Insurance Fund " means, in the case of a company whose sole business is life insurance, the whole of its income from investments, and, in the case of any other company, such part of its income from investments as appears fairly attributable to its life insurance business.

I.—DIVIDENDS, &C.

Deduction of Tax from Interest, &c.

43. (r) Every resident company shall be entitled to deduct from the amount of any dividend which becomes payable during a year of assessment to any share-holder, in the form of money or of an order to pay money, tax—

- (a) at twice the unit rate in force for the year preceding the year of assessment in which such dividend becomes payable ; or
- (b) where the preceding year as aforesaid is the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1945, or the next subsequent year of assessment at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of three per centum, on the amount of such dividend ; or
- (c) where the preceding year as aforesaid is the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947 or any of the next two subsequent years of assessment, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of eight per centum, on the amount of the dividend or ;
- (d) where the preceding year as aforesaid is the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1951, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of ten per centum, on the amount of the dividend :

Provided that—

- (i) all such dividends which become payable during the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932, shall be subject to deduction of tax at twice the unit rate for that year :

the Commissioner may give notice in writing for any year of assessment to a resident company requiring it to deduct tax from dividends payable to a particular shareholder at a rate greater than twice the unit rate appropriate thereto in accordance with the foregoing provisions, not being greater than "four times such unit rate, or in the case of any such notice for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and forty-five or any of the next five subsequent years of assessment not being greater than four times such unit rate increased by an additional rate of thirty per centum on the amount of such dividend"; and the company shall thereupon deduct tax from all dividends paid during that year of assessment to that shareholder at the rate mentioned in the notice, and the tax so deductible in excess of tax at twice the unit rate shall be a debt due from the company to the Government of Ceylon and shall be recoverable forthwith as such, or may be assessed and charged upon the company in addition to any other tax otherwise payable by it ; and

- (iii) Where any such company has obtained or is entitled to obtain relief in respect of double taxation under the provisions of sections 45 or 46, the rate at which tax may be deducted shall be reduced as the Commissioner may direct.

(IA) Every resident company shall be entitled to deduct, from the amount of any dividend which becomes payable during any year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1952, to any shareholder in the form of money or of an order to pay money, tax on such amount at the rate (hereinafter referred to as "the appropriate rate") at which tax was, in the year preceding the year of assessment, chargeable upon the taxable income of a resident company.

Provided, however, that--

- (a) the Commissioner may give notice in writing for any year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1952, to a resident company requiring it to deduct from the amounts of dividends payable to a particular shareholder tax on such amounts at a rate greater than the appropriate rate, but not greater than the highest rate at which tax is chargeable for that year upon the taxable income of an individual; and the company shall thereupon deduct tax on the amounts of all dividends payable during the said year of assessment to that shareholder at the rate mentioned in the notice ; and the tax so deductible in excess of tax at the appropriate rate shall be a debt due from the company to the Government of Ceylon and shall be recoverable forthwith as such, or may be assessed and charged upon the company in addition to any other tax otherwise payable by it ; and
- (b) where any such company has obtained or is entitled to obtain relief in respect of double taxation under the provisions of section 45 or section 46, the rate at which tax may be deducted shall be reduced as the Commissioner may direct.

(iB) Notwithstanding that the whole or any part of the amount of a dividend payable to any shareholder during any year is exempt from the tax by virtue of section 7B, any deduction which may be made under the preceding provisions of this section shall be calculated on the total amount of the dividend; and where such deduction is made —

- (a) if the whole of the amount of the dividend is exempt from the tax, there shall be due from the company as a debt to the Government of Ceylon the total sum actually deducted under such preceding provisions ; or

(b) where a part only of the amount of the dividend is exempt from the tax, there shall be due from the company as a debt to the Government of Ceylon the difference between (i) the total sum actually deducted under such preceding provisions and (ii) the sum which would have been deducted thereunder if the dividend had been reduced by such part thereof as is exempt from the tax.

Ant* such debt shall be recoverable forthwith as such or may be assessed awl charged upon the company in addition to any tax otherwise payable by the company under this Ordinance ; and

(2) by the insertion, immediately after sub-section (4), of the following new sub-section :--

(4A) Where in any year of assessment commencing on or after April r, 1951, the assessable income of a person includes a dividend from a resident company in the form of shares or debentures, he shall be entitled to a set-off, against the tax payable by him, of tax on the amount of such dividend at the rate at which tax is chargeable upon the taxable income for that year of a resident company.

(2) Every person who issues a warrant or cheque or other order drawn or made in payment of any dividend which becomes payable in the form of money or of an order to pay money by a resident company after the thirty-first day of March, 1932, shall annex thereto a statement in writing showing—

- (a) the gross amount which after deduction of the tax appropriate thereto corresponds to the nett amount actually paid ;
- (b) the rate and the amount of tax appropriate to such gross amount ; and
- (c) the nett amount actually paid.

(3) Where the assessable income of a person includes a dividend from a resident company paid in the form of money or of an order to pay money, he shall be entitled, on production of a statement relating to such dividend made in accordance with sub-section (2), to a set-off against the tax payable by him of the amount of tax shown on such statement :.Provided that where the rate at which tax may be deducted from such dividend has been reduced under the provisions of sub-section (x) (iii), or sub-section (rA) (6) the set-off shall be adjusted as the Commissioner may direct.

(4) Where for any year of assessment ending prior to April r, 195r, the assessable income of a person includes a dividend from a resident company in the form of shares or debentures, he shall be entitled to a set-off against the tax payable by him of tax on the amount of such dividend—

- (a) at twice the unit rate for that year of assessment ; or
- (b) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1945, or the next subsequent year of assessment at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of three per centum on the amount of such dividend ; or
- (c) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947 or any of the next two subsequent years of assessment, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of eight per centom on the amount of such dividend ; or
- (d) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of ten per centum on the amount of such dividend.

(5) Where the assessable income of a person includes a dividend from a company which, although not resident in Ceylon, has paid Ceylon income tax on any part of its profits, he shall be entitled to a set-off of tax in respect of a similar part of the dividend, the amount of which shall be decided by the Commissioner.

(6) In the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April 5932, the assessable income of any person from any dividend or part of a dividend to which the sub-sections (3), (4), and (5) would have applied if this Ordinance had been in force at the time when such dividend became payable shall be deemed to have borne tax at twice the unit rate in force for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932, and he shall be entitled to the set-off provided in those sub-sections ; but so, however, that the total tax chargeable to such person for such year of assessment shall not be less than the tax which would be chargeable if such dividend or part of a dividend were omitted from his assessable income and no set-off under this sub-section were allowed.

(7) The provisions of this section shall apply, as far as may be, to sums distributed by a body of persons out of income assessed under this Ordinance in the same way as they apply to dividends paid by a company.

J.—INTEREST, & C., PAYABLE TO PERSONS OUT OF CEYLON Deduction of Tax from Dividends

44. (r) Where any person in Ceylon pays or credits to any person or partnership out of Ceylon any sum falling due after the thirty-first day of March 1932, but before the first day of April, 1951, being

(a) interest on debentures, mortgages, loans, deposits, or advances or

(b) rent, ground rent, royalty, or annuity which is payable either in respect of property in Ceylon or out of income arising in Ceylon, whether such sum is due from him or from another person or from a partnership, he shall be entitled, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary whether made before or after the passing of this Ordinance to deduct tax therefrom—

(a) at twice the unit rate in force for the year preceding the year of assessment in which the sum falls due ; or

(b) where the preceding year as aforesaid is the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1945, or the next subsequent year of assessment, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of three per centum, on such sum ; or

(c) where the preceding year as aforesaid is the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947 or any of the next two subsequent years of assessment, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of eight per centum, on such sum ; or

(d) where the preceding year of assessment in the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of ten per centum, on such sum.

and the amount of tax so deductible shall be a debt due from such person to the Government of Ceylon and shall be recoverable forthwith as such, or may be assessed and charged upon such person in addition to any tax otherwise payable by him under this Ordinance : Provided that—

(i) in the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932, the rate of tax at which deductions under this section are to be made shall be twice the unit rate for that year ;

(ii) the Commissioner may give notice in writing for any year of assessment to any person in Ceylon as regards a particular person or partnership out of Ceylon requiring him to deduct tax from any sums paid or credited by him to that person or partnership as aforesaid at a rate greater than twice the unit rate appropriate thereto in accordance with the foregoing provisions, not being greater than four times such unit rate or in the case of any such notice for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and forty five or any of the next five subsequent years of assessment, not being greater than four times such unit rate increased by an additional rate of thirty per centum on such sums and the tax so deductible shall be recoverable or assessable and chargeable as aforesaid ; and

(iii) this section shall not apply to any interest paid out of income not arising in Ceylon, or to interest on any loan or advance made by a banker.

(IA) Where, in any year of assessment commencing on or after April 5, 1952, any person in Ceylon pays or credits to any person or partnership out of Ceylon any sum falling due as—

- (a) interest on debentures, mortgages, loans, deposits, or advances, or
- (b) rent, ground rent, royalty, or annuity, which is payable either in respect of property in Ceylon or out of income arising in Ceylon, whether such sum is due from him or from another person, or from a partnership, he shall be entitled, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary to deduct tax on such sum at the rate hereinafter in this section referred to as the "appropriate date" at which tax was in the preceding year of assessment chargeable upon the taxable income of a resident company; and the amount of tax so deductible shall be a debt due from such person to the Government of Ceylon and shall be recoverable forthwith as such or may be assessed and charged upon such person in addition to any tax otherwise payable by him under this Ordinance :

Provided that—

- (a) the Commissioner may give notice in writing for any year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1952, to any person in Ceylon, as regards a particular person or partnership out of Ceylon, requiring him to deduct, from any sums paid or credited by him to that person or partnership as aforesaid, tax on such sums at a rate greater than the appropriate rate, but not greater than the highest rate at which tax is chargeable for that year upon the taxable income of an individual ; and the tax also deductible shall be recoverable and chargeable as aforesaid ; and
- (h) the preceding provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to any interest paid out of income not arising in Ceylon, or to interest on any loan or advance made by a banker; and

(2) Any person who deducts tax in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) or sub-section (1A) from any sum paid or credited to a person or partnership out of Ceylon shall thereupon issue to such person or partnership a statement in writing showing—

- (a) the gross amount of such payment ;
- (b) the rate and amount of the tax so deducted ; and
- (c) the nett amount actually paid.

(3) Where the assessable income of a person includes a sum from which tax has been deducted in accordance with sub-section (1), or sub-section (1A) he shall be entitled on production of a statement relating to such sum issued in accordance with sub-section (2), to a set-off against the tax payable by him of the amount of tax shown on such statement.

(4) Where in consequence of the provisions of this section tax is deducted during any year of assessment from the income of a person out of Ceylon arising from a source in respect of which that person is liable to be assessed for the same year of assessment either directly or through an agent and no set-off is due under the provisions of sub-section (3) for that year of assessment, the Commissioner may grant such relief as he may decide to be reasonable.

(5) Where for any year of assessment ending prior to April, 1, 1951, the whole or part of the assessable income of any non-resident person, other than an individual who is entitled to relief under section 45 (2) and has claimed such relief, is composed of income from which tax has been deducted by virtue of this or the preceding section, and the unit rate for that year of assessment is either greater or less than the unit rate for the year preceding the year of assessment in which tax has been deducted, the difference between the tax which has been deducted and the tax which would have been deducted if the unit rate in force for that year of assessment had been the same as the unit rate in force for the year preceding the year of assessment in which tax has been deducted shall not be taken into account, and the income from which tax has been deducted shall be treated for all purposes of this Ordinance as if tax had been deducted therefrom at a rate based upon the unit rate for that year of assessment.

For the purposes of the application of this sub-section—

(a) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947, and the next two subsequent years of assessment every reference to the unit rate shall be construed as a reference to the unit rate increased by one half of the additional rate of three per cent= provided for by section 43 (t) (b) or section 44 (1) (b); or

(b) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947, and the next two subsequent years of assessment every reference to the unit rate shall be construed as a reference to the unit rate increased by one half of the additional rate of eight per centum provided for by section 43 (r) (c) or section 44 (l) (e); or

(c) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, every reference to the unit rate, shall be construed as a reference to the unit rate, increased by one half of the additional rate of ten per centum provided for by section 43 (r) (d) or section 44 (r) (d).

* In any case where tax is, under the preceding provisions of this sub-section, deemed to have been deducted at a rate higher than the rate at which tax was actually deducted, no person shall be entitled to any repayment by reason only that such tax is so deemed to have been deducted at such higher rate.

(6) Where for any year of assessment commencing on or after April, 1, 1951, the whole or any part of the assessable income of any non-resident person, other than an individual who is entitled to relief under section 45 (2) and has claimed such relief, is composed of income from which tax has been deducted by virtue of this or the preceding section, and the rate (hereinafter referred to as the "new rate") at which tax is chargeable for that year of assessment upon the taxable income of a resident company is either greater or less than the corresponding rate for the year preceding the year of assessment in which the tax was so deducted, the income from which the tax has been so deducted shall be treated for all purposes of this Ordinance as if tax had been deducted therefrom at the new rate.

In any case where tax is, under the preceding provisions of this sub-section, deemed to have been deducted at a rate higher than a rate at which tax was actually deducted, no person shall be entitled to any repayment by reason only that such tax in so deemed to have been deducted at such higher rate,

44A. (I) In this section, "approved donation" means a donation in money, not less in amount than one thousand rupees, made to any such public charitable trust or institution as is declared by the Minister by notice published in the Gazette to be an approved charity for the purpose of this section.

(2) Where an approved donation has been made by any person, then--

(i) the actual amount of the donation ; or

ii) an amount representing one-tenth of the assessable income of that person for the year of assessment in which the donation is made, or if that person is a company an amount representing one-twentieth of the assessable income ; or

(iii) fifty thousand rupees ;

whichever amount is the least, shall, for the purposes of sub-section (3) of this section, be the permitted allowance in relation to that donation.

(3) In respect of any year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1951, a person who has in the preceding year of assessment made an approved donation shall be entitled on account thereof to such relief from the tax as will secure that the tax payable by him is reduced to the amount which would have been payable as tax if the permitted allowance in relation to that donation had been deducted from his statutory income.

Provided, however, that the total of the relief on account of any approved donation shall not exceed one-half of the permitted allowance in relation to that donation.

(4) Where a person has in any year of assessment made two or more donations, whether to the same approved charity or to different such charities, the aggregate amount of the donations, if such amount is not less than one thousand rupees, shall be treated as one approved donation for the purposes of this section.

K.--RELIEF IN CASES OF DOUBLE TAXATION

Relief in respect of United Kingdom Income Tax

45. (I) Any person who has paid, by deduction or otherwise or is liable to pay, Ceylon tax for any year of assessment on any part of his income and has paid, by deduction or otherwise, or is liable to pay, United Kingdom income tax for the corresponding year in respect of the same part of his income, shall be entitled to relief from Ceylon tax on that part of his income at a rate equal to the amount by which the Ceylon rate of tax exceeds half the appropriate rate of United Kingdom income tax: Provided that if the Ceylon rate of tax exceeds the appropriate rate of United Kingdom income tax, he shall be entitled to relief at a rate equal to half the appropriate rate of United Kingdom income tax.

The preceding provisions of this sub-section shall not apply in respect of any year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1937.

(2) Any non-resident individual who is a British subject resident in the United Kingdom or in any other part of Her Majesty's Dominions or in any British protectorate or protected state, or in any territory in respect of which a mandate on behalf of the League of Nations has been accepted by Her Majesty, shall be entitled to relief equal to the excess of the Ceylon tax paid by him, by deduction or otherwise, for any year of assessment in respect of his Ceylon income over the amount which bears the same proportion to the amount which would be payable by him for that year by way of Ceylon tax he were resident in Ceylon and chargeable in respect of his total income from all sources wherever arising, as the amount if such Ceylon income bears to the amount of such total income from all sources:

(B) Provided that where any such individual is non-resident for a part only of a year of assessment, the relief shall be calculated by reference to the Ceylon income, and total income, Ceylon tax of that part of such year: and provided further that where any person is entitled to relief under both sub-section (1) and sub-section (2), the relief granted to him under either one of those sub-sections shall be reduced by the relief, if any, already granted to him under the other.

Provided further that no individual resident in any place other than the United Kingdom shall be entitled to relief under this sub-section for any year of assessment preceding the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1937.

(3) For the purposes of this section—

- (a) "United Kingdom income tax" includes income tax and surtax, but does not include income tax on any sum payable by way of interest out of the income on which the tax is charged.
 - (b) "The appropriate rate of United Kingdom income tax" has the same meaning as in section 27 of the Finance Act, 1937. A certificate issued by or on behalf of the Commissioners of Inland Revenue in the United Kingdom shall be receivable in evidence to show the appropriate rate or the amount of the United Kingdom income tax in a particular case.
 - (c) "Corresponding year," in relation to a year of assessment under this Ordinance, means the year for the purposes of United Kingdom income tax ending on the fifth day of April next after the end of such year of assessment under this Ordinance.
- (4) For the purposes of this and the following section—
- (a) Income, Ceylon income, and total income shall be calculated as far as may be in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance relating to the ascertainment of assessable income but shall not include any sum payable out of such income by way of interest, annuity, ground rent or royalty.
 - (b) "Ceylon tax" means the amount of such tax before deducting any relief under this and the following section, but does not include—
 - (i) tax on any sum payable by way of interest, annuity ground rent or royalty out of the income in respect of which the tax is charged, or
 - (ii) any additional tax charged under any of the following provisions, that is to say, sub-sections (6) (7), (7A) and (7B) of section 70, not being an additional tax charged under any proviso of the said sub-section (7) or sub-section (7A) or sub-section (7B); or
 - (iii) such part of any tax chargeable in any case under any resolution section 20A as is declared in such resolution not to be "Ceylon Tax" for the purposes of this and the following section.

• Retrospective effect from 1-4-190

- (c) the Ceylon rate of tax shall be ascertained by dividing the Ceylon tax by the income on which the tax has been paid or is payable, calculated in accordance with paragraph (a) of this sub-section.

Relief in respect of Entire Income Tax

46. (I) Where any person proves to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that he has paid, or is liable to pay, by deduction or otherwise, both Ceylon tax for any year of assessment and Empire tax for the corresponding year on his income from any source, he shall be entitled to relief from Ceylon tax of one-half of the Ceylon tax or Empire tax paid or payable in respect of his income from that source, whichever is the less.

Provided that the total relief granted under this sub-section added to that granted under section 45 (1) shall not exceed one-half of the Ceylon tax after deducting therefrom any relief given under section 45 (2)-

(2) For the purposes of this section—

- (a) " Empire tax " means any income tax and super tax charged under any law in force in any part of Her Majesty's Dominions (other than the United Kingdom and Ceylon), or in any British protectorate or protected state, or in any territory in respect of which a mandate on behalf of the League of Nations has been accepted by Her Majesty, where the legislature of that part or place has provided for relief in respect of tax charged on income both in that part or place and in Ceylon which appears to the Commissioner to correspond to the relief granted by this section, and the amount of Empire tax shall be the amount of such tax before deducting such first mentioned relief.
- (b) The Ceylon tax paid or payable in respect of income from any source shall be ascertained by applying the Ceylon rate of tax to the assessable income from that source, after deducting any sum payable therefrom by way of interest, annuity, ground rent or royalty, and Empire tax paid or payable in respect of income from any source shall be ascertained as far as may be in a corresponding manner.
- (c) A certificate issued by or on behalf of the authority administering an Empire tax shall be receivable in evidence to show the amount of the Empire tax paid or payable in respect of income from any source.
- (d) " Corresponding year," in relation to a year of assessment under this Ordinance, means the year for the purposes of Empire tax which the Commissioner in his discretion shall deem to correspond with such year of assessment under this Ordinance.

KK—Income from houses rentable at not more than fifty rupees per mensem

Relief in respect of income from Houses rentable at not more than fifty rupees per mensem

46A. (r) Where the construction of any dwelling-house to which this section applies is or has been completed on or after the first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight, then, in respect of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine, and each of the four years of assessment immediately succeeding the person liable to tax in respect of the income from such house shall—

- (a) in any case -
- (i) where the maximum rate at which tax is chargeable upon his taxable income is less than 374 per centum or
- (ii) where such maximum rate would, if the income from such house were excluded from his statutory income, be less than ³⁷⁴ per centum, be entitled to such relief from tax as will secure that the tax payable by him is reduced to the amount which would have been payable if the income from such house had been excluded from his statutory income, or
- (b) in any other case, be entitled to relief from tax of an amount equal to 374 per centum of the income from such house.

- (2) This section shall apply to, and only to, every dwelling-house in respect of which the conditions set out in any one of the following paragraphs are satisfied :—
- (a) that the house is let to a tenant, and that the actual rent per month paid by the tenant together with such amount (if any) as may be paid by him by way of rates in respect of one month, does not exceed fifty rupees ; and, in addition, that the authorised rent (if any) per month of that house together with such amount (if any) as may be paid by the tenant by way of rates in respect of one month, does not exceed fifty rupees ;
 - (b) that the house is occupied as a residence by or on behalf of the owner, and that the rent at which the house could reasonably be let, if the landlord were to be liable to pay the rates (if any), does not exceed fifty rupees per month ; and, in addition, that the authorised rent (if any), per month of that house, if the landlord were to be liable to pay the rates (if any), would not exceed fifty rupees.

111 this sub-section-

" authorised rent," with reference to a dwelling-house, means the authorised rent of that dwelling-house as determined in accordance with the provisions of the Rent Restriction Act, No. 29 of 1948 ; and

" rate " means the rates levied by any local authority under any other written law.

L.—MISCELLANEOUS

Applicability of provisions relating to particular sources of profits or income

Where any provision of this Ordinance expressly relates to any particular source of profits or income mentioned in sub-section (1) of section 6, such provision shall not apply to the determination of any profits or income which is assessable and has been assessed as falling within any other source mentioned in that sub-section.

Profits of a Company from Transactions with its Shareholders

The profits of a company from transactions with its shareholders which would be assessable if such transactions were with persons other than its shareholders shall be profits within the meaning of this Ordinance.

Income from Certain Dividends to Include Tax Thereon

49- The income of a person arising from a dividend paid by a company liable to Ceylon tax, United Kingdom income tax, or Empire tax within the meaning of section 46 shall, where any such tax has been deducted therefrom, be the gross amount before making such deduction ; where no such deduction has been made, the income arising shall be the amount of the dividend increased by an amount on account of such taxes corresponding to the extent to which the profits out of which the said dividend has been paid have been charged with such taxes.

How Cert in Receipts from Insurance to be Treated

50. Where any insurance premium has been allowed as an expense incurred in the production of profits or income, any sum realized under such insurance, shall be taken into account in the ascertainment of such profits or income.

Ascertainment of Income of Clubs, Trade Associations, &c.

51. (r) Where a body of persons, whether corporate or unincorporate carries on a club or similar institution and receives from its members not less than three-fourths of its gross receipts on revenue account (including entrance fees and subscriptions), it shall not be deemed to carry on a business ; but where less than three-fourths of its gross receipts are received from members, the whole of the income from transactions both with members and others (including entrance fees and subscriptions) shall be deemed to be receipts from a business, and the body of persons shall be chargeable either in respect of the profits therefrom, or in respect of the income which would be assessable if it were not deemed to carry on a business, whichever is the greater.

(z) Where a body of persons, whether corporate or unincorporate, carries on a trade association, chamber of commerce, or similar institution in such circumstances that more than half its receipts by way of entrance fees and subscriptions are from persons who claim or would be entitled to claim that such sums were allowable deductions for the purposes of section 9, such body of persons shall be deemed to carry on a business, and the whole of its income from transactions both with members and others (including entrance fees and subscriptions) shall be deemed to be receipts from a business and the body of persons shall be chargeable either in respect of the profits therefrom or in respect of the income which would be assessable if it were not deemed to carry on a business, whichever is the greater.

(3) In this section, " members," in relation to a body of persons, means those persons who are entitled to vote at a general meeting of the body at which effective control is exercised over its affairs.

(4) Nothing in this section shall operate to annul or reduce any exemption granted in section 7 of this Ordinance.

Certain Undistributed Profits to be Treated as Distributed and Certain Transactions and Dispositions to be Disregarded

3z. (i) Where, in the case of a Company controlled by not more than five persons :—

(a) the assessable income of the company for any year of assessment is computed on the profits of the company for any year ending on or after the 31st day of December 1941 (Hereinafter referred to as the " previous year ") and

(b) an Assessor is satisfied that, in respect of the previous year, the company has made no distribution out of its profits to its shareholders or has distributed to its shareholders out of such profits an amount which is less than sixty per cent. of the assessable income of the company for that year of assessment, after deducting from such assessable income the amount of income tax payable by the company in respect of that year of assessment, the Assessor may, subject as hereinafter provided, treat either the whole of such undistributed profits, or a specified part thereof, as distributed in the form of dividends, if the Assessor is of opinion that the whole of such profits, or such specified part thereof, as the case may be, should have been distributed in the form of dividends without detriment to the company's existing business and the persons concerned shall be assessable accordingly

Provided that no action under this sub-section shall be taken by an Assessor in the case of any such Company until the expiration of a period of not less than three months after the date on which the accounts of the company for the previous year have been laid before the company in general meeting.

Provided, further, that where one of the shareholders of any such company is another company, any amount required by the preceding provisions of this sub-section to be treated as having been distributed in the form of dividends to such other company shall, for the purposes of the application of such provisions to such other company, be deemed to be profits of such other company and to form part of the assessable income of such other company."

*52. (IA) Where under sub-section (i) the whole or any part of the undistributed profits of a company is treated as distributed in the form of dividends and any shareholder is assessable accordingly, the additional amount which becomes payable as tax by that shareholder by reason of the operation of that sub-section shall be recoverable either from the shareholder or from the company as the Commissioner may in his discretion determine.

(2) Where an Assessor is of opinion that any transaction which reduces or would reduce the amount of tax payable by any person is artificial or fictitious or that any disposition is not in fact given effect to, he may disregard any such transaction or disposition and the persons concerned shall be assessable accordingly.

(3) Nothing in this section shall prevent the decision of an Assessor in the exercise of any discretion given to him by this section from being questioned in an appeal against an assessment in accordance with Chapter XI.

(4) In this section—

(a) " disposition " includes any trust, grant, covenant, agreement, or arrangement ;

(b) " company controlled by not more than five persons " means a company in which—

(i) the number of shareholders is not more than fifty: and

60. (2) Any banker, agent of a banker, or other person in Ceylon who on any date subsequent to the thirty-first day of March, 1932, pays or credits to any person the value or proceeds of a coupon for any interest, dividend, or other annual payment payable out of or in respect of the stock, funds, shares or securities of any company or body of persons not resident in Ceylon shall, within thirty days of such date, render to the Commissioner a statement showing the name and address of such person, particulars of such coupon and the amount paid or credited in respect thereof : Provided that the Commissioner may authorize any such banker, agent of a banker or other person to render such statements quarterly or half-yearly during any year of assessment.

(2) In this section, " coupon " includes any warrant, bill of exchange or order to pay money purporting to be issued, drawn, or made in payment of any interest, dividend, or other annual payment as aforesaid

Precedent Partner to Act on behalf of a Partnership

6r. (r) Wherever two or more persons in partnership act in the capacity of trustees or executors, or as agents, or are employers, or are persons in receipt of money, value, or profits to whom section 56 applies, or act in any other capacity whatever, either on behalf of themselves or of any other person, the precedent partner of such partnership shall be answerable for doing all such acts, Matters, and things as would be required to be one under the provisions of this Ordinance by an individual acting in such capacity.

Provided that any person to whom a notice has been given under the provisions of this Ordinance as precedent partner of a partnership shall be deemed to be the precedent partner thereof unless he proves that he is not a partner in such partnership, or that some other person resident in Ceylon is the precedent partner thereof.

(2) Where two or more persons who are not in partnership act jointly in any capacity mentioned in sub-section (1), they shall be jointly and severally answerable for doing all such acts, matters, and things as would be required to be done under the provisions of this Ordinance by an individual acting in such capacity.

Principal Officer to Act on Behalf of Company or Body of Persons

62. The secretary, manager, or other principal officer of every company or body of persons corporate or unincorporate shall be answerable for doing all such acts, matters, or things as are required to be done under the provisions of this Ordinance by such company or body of persons.

Provided that any person to whom a notice has been given under the provisions of this Ordinance on behalf of a company or body of persons shall be deemed to be the principal officer thereof unless, he proves that he has no connection with the company or body of persons or that some other person resident in Ceylon is the principal officer thereof.

Signature and Service of Notices

63. (1) Every notice to be given by the Commissioner, and Assistant Commissioner, or a i Assessor under this Ordinance shall bear the name of the Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner or Assessor, as the case may be, and every such notice shall be valid if the name of the Commissioner, Assistant Commissioner, or Assessor is duly printed or signed thereon.

(2) Every notice given by virtue of this Ordinance may be served on a person either personally or by being delivered at, or sent by post to, his last known place of abode or any place at which he is or was during the year to which the notice relates, carrying on business : Provided that a notice of assessment under section 67 shall be served personally or by being sent by registered post to any such place as aforesaid.

(3) Any notice sent by post shall be deemed to have been served on the day succeeding the day on which it would have been received in the ordinary course by post.

(4) In proving service by post it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was duly addressed and posted.

(5) Every name printed or signed on any notice or sign on any certificate given or issued for the purposes of this Ordinance which purports to be the name of the person authorized to give or issue the same shall be judicially noticed.

CHAPTER X ASSESSMENTS;

Assessor to Make Assessments

64. (r) Every person who is in the opinion of an Assessor chargeable with tax shall be assessed by him as soon as may be after the expiration of the time limited by the notice requiring him to furnish a return of income under section 54 (i) :

Provided that the Assessor may assess any person at any time if he is of opinion that such person is about to leave Ceylon, or that for any other reason it is expedient to do so.

(2) Where a person has furnished a return of income, the Assessor may either—

- (a) accept the return and make an assessment accordingly • or
- (b) if he does not accept the return, estimate the amount of the assessable income of such person and assess him accordingly.

(3) Where a person has not furnished a return of income and the Assessor is of the opinion that such person is chargeable with tax, he may estimate the amount of the assessable income of such person and assess him accordingly, but such assessment shall not affect the liability of such person to a penalty by reason of his failure or neglect to deliver a return.

Additional Assessments

65. Where it appears to an Assessor that for any year of assessment any person chargeable with tax has not been assessed or has been assessed at less than the proper amount, the Assessor may, within the year of assessment or within three years after the expiration thereof, assess such person at the amount or additional amount at which according to his judgment such person ought to have been assessed, and the provisions of this Ordinance as to notice of assessment, appeal, and other proceedings shall apply to such assessment or additional assessment and to the tax charged thereunder :

Provided that, where the non-assessment or under-assessment of any person for any year of assessment is due to fraud or wilful evasion, such assessment or additional assessment may be made at any time within ten years after the expiration of that year of assessment.

Assistant Commissioner to Scrutinize, Amend, and Allow Assessments

66. Every Assessor shall from time to time submit his assessments to an Assistant Commissioner, who shall scrutinize and amend the same as may appear necessary. When the Assistant Commissioner is satisfied that the assessments as made or amended charge the persons to whom they relate with full tax with which they ought to be charged, he shall sign and allow them

Notice to be Issued by Assistant Commissioner

67. (1) An Assistant Commissioner shall give a notice of assessment to each person who has been assessed stating the amount of income assessed and the amount of tax charged.

(2) Where by reason of an amendment of the law or an amendment of the unit rate under section 20 it is necessary to vary the amount of tax charged in any notice of assessment, the Assistant Commissioner may give such notification as may be necessary to the person assessed in that notice of assessment ; and any notification so given shall, as regards any particulars of the assessment contained in the notification which have not been included in the notice of assessment, have effect as if the notification were a notice of assessment.

Validity of Assessments, &c.

68. (i) No notice, assessment, certificate, or other proceeding purporting to be in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance shall be quashed, or deemed to be void or voidable, for want of form, or be affected by reason of a mistake, defect, or omission therein, if the same is in substance and effect in conformity with or according to the intent and meaning of this Ordinance and if the person assessed or intended to be assessed or affected thereby is designated therein according to common intent and understanding.

(a) Without prejudice to the generality of sub-section (r), an assessment shall not be impeached or affected—

(a) by reason of a mistake therein as to the name or surname of the person chargeable, the amount of income assessed or the amount of tax charged ; or provided that a notice of such assessment is duly served o • the person intended to be charged and contains in substance and effect the particulars mentioned in paragraph (a) of this sub-section.

(b) by reason of any variance between the assessment and the notice thereof.

CHAPTER XI APPEALS

Appeal; to the Commissioner

69. (r) Any person aggrieved by the amount of an assessment made under this Ordinance may within twenty-one days from the date of the notice of such assessment appeal to the Commissioner by notice of objection in writing to review and revise such assessment. Any person so appealing (hereinafter referred to as the appellant) shall state precisely in his notice the grounds of his objection and the notice shall not be valid unless it contains such grounds and is made within the period above mentioned :

Provided that the Commissioner, upon being satisfied that owing to absence from Ceylon, sickness, or other reasonable cause the appellant was prevented from giving notice of objection within such period, shall grant an extension thereof :

Provided further that, where the assessment appealed against has been made in the absence of a return of income by the appellant, no notice of objection shall be valid unless and until such return has been duly made.

(2) On receipt of a valid notice of objection under sub-section 1)), the Commissioner may cause further inquiry to be made by an Assessor, and if in the course of such inquiry an agreement is reached as to the amount at which the appellant is liable to be assessed, any necessary adjustment of the assessment shall be made.

(3) Where no agreement is reached between the appellant and the Assessor in the manner provided in sub-section (2), the Commissioner shall subject to the provisions of section 72, fix a time and place for the hearing of the appeal.

(a) Every appellant shall attend before the Commissioner at the time and place fixed for the hearing of the appeal. The appellant may attend the hearing of the appeal in person or by an authorised representative. The Commissioner may, if he thinks fit, from time to time adjourn the hearing of an appeal for such time and place as he may fix for the purpose. In any case in which an authorised representative attends on behalf of the appellant, the Commissioner may adjourn the hearing of the appeal and may, if he considers that the personal attendance of the appellant is necessary for the determination of the appeal, require that the appellant shall attend in person at the time and place fixed for the adjourned hearing of the appeal. If the appellant or his authorized representative fails to attend at the time and place fixed for the hearing or any adjourned hearing of the appeal, or if the appellant fails to attend in person when required so to attend by the Commissioner, the Commissioner may dismiss the appeal.

Provided that if the appellant shall within a reasonable time after the dismissal of an appeal satisfy the Commissioner that he or his representative was prevented from due attendance at the hearing or at any adjourned hearing of such appeal by absence from Ceylon, sickness, or other unavoidable cause the Commissioner may vacate the order of dismissal and fix a time and place for the hearing of the appeal.

(5) The Commissioner shall have power to summon any person whom he may consider able to give evidence respecting the appeal to attend before him at the hearing and may examine such person on oath or otherwise. Any person so attending may be allowed by the Commissioner any reasonable expenses necessarily incurred by such person in so attending.

(6) In disposing of an appeal the Commissioner may confirm, reduce, increase, or annul the assessment, and shall record his determination in writing and announce it orally.

(7) Where the Commissioner authorizes an Assistant Commissioner to hear appeals, such authority shall not empower such Assistant Commissioner to hear an appeal against an assessment which he has himself signed and allowed or against a penalty which he

Board of Review App al Constitution of the Board of Review

70. (r) For the purpose of hearing appeals in the manner hereinafter provided, there shall be a Board of Review (hereinafter referred to as the Board) consisting of not more than twenty members who shall be appointed from time to time by the Minister. The members of the Board shall hold a term of three years but shall be eligible for re-appointment. There shall be a Clerk to the Board who shall be appointed by the Minister.

(3) There shall be a Legal Adviser to the Board who shall be appointed by the Board.

(a) Three or more members of the Board shall be nominated by the Minister and summoned by the Clerk to attend meetings at which appeals are to be heard. At such a meeting a quorum shall consist of two members.

(a) At the request of the Commissioner, the Clerk to the Board shall summon a meeting of the whole Board. At such a meeting a quorum shall consist of five members.

(6) The remuneration of the members of the Board, the Clerk, and the Legal Adviser shall be fixed by the Minister with the Concurrence of the Minister of Finance.

Right of Appeal to the Board of Review

71. (1) Any appellant, or the authorized representative of any appellant, who is dissatisfied with the determination by the Commissioner of an appeal under section 6g may declare his dissatisfaction with that determination. Such declaration shall be made orally immediately after the announcement by the Commissioner of his determination or shall be communicated in writing to the Commissioner within one week from the date of such announcement.

(2) Where the appellant has declared or communicated his dissatisfaction in accordance with sub-section (1), the Commissioner shall, within one month of the determination of the appeal transmit in writing to the appellant or his authorized representative his determination and reasons therefor.

(3) Within one month of the transmission of such written determination and reasons by the Commissioner, the appellant may give notice of appeal to the Board. Such notice shall not be entertained unless it is given in writing to the Clerk to the Board and is accompanied by a copy of the Commissioner's written determination, together with a statement of the grounds of appeal therefrom.

(4) Save with the consent of the Board and on such terms as the Board may determine the appellant may not at the hearing by the Board rely on any grounds of appeal other than the grounds stated in accordance with sub-section (3), and may not adduce any evidence other than evidence adduced at the hearing of the appeal before the Commissioner.

Commissioner may refer Appeals to the Board of Review

72. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 69, where the Commissioner is of opinion that no useful purpose would be served by his hearing an appeal, he may refer it to the Board of Review, and the Board shall hear and determine such appeal and the provisions of section 73 shall apply accordingly,

Hearing and Disposal of Appeals to the Board of Review

73. (r) As soon as may be after the receipt of a notice of appeal, the Clerk to the Board shall fix a time and place for the hearing of the appeal and shall give fourteen clear days' notice thereof both to the appellant and to the Commissioner.

(2) Every appellant shall attend at the meeting of the Board at which the appeal is heard in person or by an authorized representative : Provided always that the Board may postpone the hearing of the appeal for such time as it thinks necessary for the attendance of the appellant.

(3) The Assessor who made the assessment appealed against or some other person authorized by the Commissioner shall attend such meeting of the Board in support of the assessment.

(a) The onus of proving that the assessment as determined by the Commissioner on appeal, or as referred by him under section 72, as the case may be, is excessive shall be on the appellant.

(5) All appeals shall be heard in camera.

(6) The Board shall have power to summon to attend at the hearing any person whom it may consider able to give evidence respecting the appeal and may examine him as a witness either on oath or otherwise. Any person so attending may be allowed by the Board any reasonable expenses necessarily incurred by him in so attending.

(7) At the hearing of the appeal the Board may, subject to the provisions of section 71 (4), admit or reject any evidence adduced, whether oral or documentary, and the provisions of the Evidence Ordinance, relating to the admissibility of evidence shall not apply.

(8) After hearing the appeal, the Board shall confirm, reduce, increase or annul the assessment as determined by the Commissioner on appeal, or as referred by him under section 72, as the case may be, or shall remit the case to the Commissioner with the opinion of the Board thereon. Where a case is so remitted by the Board, the Commissioner shall revise the assessment as the opinion of the Board may require.

(9) Where under sub-section (8) the Board does not reduce or annul such assessment, the Board may order the appellant to pay as costs of the Board a sum not exceeding one hundred rupees, which shall be added to the tax charged and recovered therewith.

Appeals to the Supreme Court

74. (r) The decision of the Board shall be final : Provided that either the appellant or the Commissioner may make an application requiring the Board to state a case on a question of law for the opinion of the Supreme Court. Such application shall not be entertained unless it is made in writing and delivered to the Clerk to the Board, together with a fee of fifty rupees, within one month of the date of the Board's decision. If the decision of the Board shall be notified to the Commissioner or to the appellant in writing, the date of the decision, for the purposes of determining the period within which either of such persons may require a case to be stated, shall be the date of the communication by which the decision is notified to him.

(2) The stated case shall set forth the facts, the decision of the Board and the amount of tax in dispute where such amount exceeds five thousand rupees, and the party requiring it shall transmit the case, when stated and signed, to the Supreme Court within fourteen days after receiving the same.

(2A) For the purpose of the application of the provisions of the Stamp Ordinance—

- (a) all proceedings before the Supreme Court on any case stated under this section or incidental to the hearing, determination or disposal of any such case, shall be deemed to be civil proceedings before the Supreme Court of the value of five thousand rupees, or of such greater amount as may be set forth by the Board under sub-section (2) as the amount of the tax in dispute ;
- (b) every such case stated shall, together with all books, documents and papers annexed hereto by the Board, be deemed to be a single exhibit in civil proceedings before the Supreme Court ; and
- (c) the Commissioner, if he is an appellant, shall be deemed to be a Government officer suing or if he is the respondent to the appeal a Government officer being sued in a suit virtute officii,

(3) At or before the time when he transmits the stated case to the Supreme Court, the party requiring it shall send to the other party notice in writing of the fact that the case has been stated on his application and shall supply him with a copy of the stated case.

(4) Any two or more judges of the Supreme Court may cause a stated case to be sent back for amendment and thereupon the case shall be amended accordingly.

(5) Any two or more judges of the Supreme Court shall hear and determine any question of law arising on the stated case and may in accordance with the decision of the Court upon such question confirm, reduce, increase, or annul the assessment determined by the Board, or may remit the case to the Board with the opinion of the Court thereon. Where a case is so remitted by the Court the Board shall revise the assessment as the opinion of the Court may require.

(6) In any proceedings before the Supreme Court under this section, the Court may make such order in regard to costs in the Supreme Court and in regard to the sum paid under sub-section (r) as to the Court may seem fit

(7) For the purpose of enabling the Commissioner or any other party to appeal to Her Majesty in Council against any order of the Supreme Court under sub-section (5) and for the purpose of the application of the provision of the Appeals (Privy Council), Ordinance--

- (a) an order made by the Supreme Court under sub-section (5) shall together with any order of that Court under sub-section (6), be deemed to be a final judgment of the Supreme Court in a civil action between the Commissioner & such other party;
- (b) the value of the matter in dispute in such civil action shall be deemed to be five thousand rupees :

Provided that where the Board has, under sub-section (2) set forth a higher amount than five thousand rupees as the amount of the tax in dispute, the value of the matter in dispute in such civil action shall be the higher amount so set forth by the Board ; and

- (c) the Commissioner on any appeal to Her Majesty in Council, shall not be required to make any deposit or pay any fee or furnish any security prescribed by or under the Appeals (Privy Council) Ordinance.

Assessments or Amended Assessments to be Final

75. Where no valid objection or appeal has been lodged within the time limited by this Chapter against an assessment as regards the amount of the assessable income assessed thereby, or where the amount of the assessable income has been agreed to under section fe) (2) or where the amount of such assessable income has been determined on objection or appeal, the assessment as made or agreed to or determined on appeal, as the case may be, shall be final and conclusive for all purposes of this Ordinance as regards the amount of such assessable income : Provided that nothing in this Chapter shall prevent an Assessor from making an assessment or additional assessment for any year of assessment which does not involve re-opening any matter which has been determined on appeal for the year.

CHAPTER XII
PAYMENT OF TAX

Provisions regarding Payment of Tax

76. (i) The tax charged by any assessment shall be paid in the manner directed in the notice of assessment on or before a date specified in such notice. Any tax not so paid shall be deemed to be in default, and the person by whom such tax is payable or, where any tax is payable by more than one person or by a partnership, then each of such persons and each partner in the partnership, shall be deemed to be a defaulter, for the purposes of this Ordinance.

(2) Tax shall be paid notwithstanding any notice of objection or appeal, unless the Commissioner orders that payment of the tax or any part thereof be held over pending the result of such objection or appeal.

(3) Where the Commissioner is of opinion either that the tax or any part thereof held over under sub-section (2) is likely to become irrecoverable or that the appellant is unreasonably delaying the prosecution of his appeal he may cancel any order made under that sub-section and make such fresh order as the case may appear to him to require.

(4) Where; upon the final determination of an appeal under Chapter XI, or upon any order made by the Commissioner any tax which has been held over under sub-section (2) becomes payable or the tax charged by the original assessment is increased, the Commissioner shall give to the appellant a notice in writing fixing a date on or before which any tax or balance of tax shall be paid. Any tax not so paid shall be deemed to be in default.

(5) Where any tax is in default, the Commissioner may in his discretion order that a sum or sums not exceeding twenty per cent. in all of the amount in default shall be added to the tax and recovered therewith.

(6) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this section, any person whose principal source of income is the profits of an employment may, by notice in writing sent to the Commissioner not later than twenty-one days after the date of the notice of an assessment which includes the income from such source, elect that the tax be recovered by way of deductions from his remuneration. Such deductions shall be made, as far as may be, by twelve equal monthly instalments commencing in September in the year of assessment.

Provided that—

(a) where the notice of assessment is not issued in time to permit a deduction to be made in September, all amounts which if the said notice had been issued in time, would have been deducted in any month prior to that in which the first deduction is made, shall be added to such first deduction and shall be recovered therewith ; and,

(b) where the Commissioner is of opinion that the application of the method of payment provided for in this sub-section is likely to endanger the ultimate recovery of the tax or any part thereof, he may, notwithstanding such election, by notice in writing addressed to the said person, direct that the tax or any part thereof be paid on or before a date specified in such notice. Any tax not paid as required by such notice shall be deemed to be in default.

(7) Any person by whom remuneration is payable (hereinafter in this section referred to as an employer) shall, if required by the Commissioner to deduct tax from such remuneration, comply with such requisition, and shall pay over the tax so deducted as directed by the Commissioner. Where any person from whose remuneration tax is to be deducted by his employer is about to leave or leaves his employment, the employer shall deduct the whole amount of the tax or any balance thereof which he has been required to deduct from all or any payments made by him to such person after he becomes aware that such person is leaving his employment.

(8) Where any person from whose remuneration tax is to be deducted under sub-section (6) or (7) has left the employment of the employer to whom a requisition under sub-section (7) is addressed, or where for any other reason the employer is unable to deduct the whole or any part of the tax included in any such requisition, he shall forthwith give notice in writing to the Commis-

&loner acquainting him with the facts of the matter, and any tax which the employer has not deducted or cannot deduct shall immediately become payable by the employee and shall be deemed to be in default fourteen days after the date of a notice thereof given to him.

(9) Where any employer is unable to deduct any tax which he has been required to deduct from any remuneration and has failed to give notice to the Commissioner as provided in sub-section (8) within fourteen days of the date on which such deduction should have been made, or where he has deducted or could have deducted tax in any month from any remuneration in accordance with a requisition under sub-section (7) and has not paid over as directed by the Commissioner the amount of such tax by the fifteenth day of the following month, such employer shall be personally liable for the whole of the tax which he has been required to deduct under this section, which may be recovered from him by all means provided in this Ordinance, and such tax shall be deemed to be in default for the purposes of sub-section (5).

(so) Every employer who deducts tax from the remuneration of any person in accordance with a requisition under sub-section (7) shall on request made by such person issue to him a certificate of the amount of tax deducted in the prescribed form.

CHAPTER XIII RECOVERY OF TAX

Tax to Include Fines, &c.

77. In this Chapter, " tax " includes any sum or sums added under section 76 (5) by reason of default, together with any fines, penalties, fees, or costs incurred.

Tax to be a First Charge

78. (a) Save as provided in sub-section (2), tax in default shall be a first charge upon all the assets of the defaulter :

Provided that--

- (i) such charge shall not extend to or affect any assets sold by the defaulter to a bona fide purchaser for value prior to the seizure of the same in accordance with the provisions of section 79 ;
- (ii) as regards immovable property, the tax shall not rank in priority to any lease or encumbrance created bona fide for value and registered prior to the date of such seizure ; and
- (iii) as regards movable property, where tax for more than one year of assessment is in default, the tax for one year only, to be selected by the Commissioner, shall rank in priority to any lien or encumbrance created bona fide for value prior to the date of default.

(2) A receiver shall pay out of the assets under his control the tax charged or chargeable for one complete year of assessment prior to the date of the insolvency, bankruptcy, or liquidation, to be selected by the Commissioner, as a first charge on such assets and any other tax charged or chargeable for periods prior to such date shall be an unsecured debt : Provided that where the receiver proves to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that any tax to which this sub-section applies is excessive, the Commissioner may, notwithstanding the provisions of section 75, review the assessment in respect of which the tax is charged and make such adjustment as he may in his discretion think reasonable.

Recovery of Tax by Seizure and Sale

7g. (I) The Commissioner may appoint persons to be Income Tax Collectors.

(2) (a) Where any tax is in default, the Commissioner may issue a certificate to a Government Agent, Assistant Government Agent, Fiscal, or Deputy—Fiscal, or Income Tax Collector containing particulars of such tax and the name of the defaulter, and the officer to whom such certificate is issued shall be empowered and is hereby required to cause the tax to be recovered from the defaulter named in the certificate by seizure and sale of his movable property.

(b) The said seizure shall be effected in such manner as the said officer shall deem most expedient in that behalf, and any property so seized shall be kept for five days at the costs and charges of the defaulter. If the defaulter does not pay the tax in default together with the costs and charges within the said five days, the Government Agent, Assistant Government Agent, Fiscal, Deputy-Fiscal, or Income Tax Collector shall cause the said property to be sold by public auction. The sum realized by the sale shall be applied-

- (i) firstly, in payment of the costs and charges of seizing keeping, and selling the property and
- (ii) secondly, in satisfaction of the tax in default, and any balance shall be restored to the owner of the property seized.

(3) Where any tax is in default, and the Commissioner is of opinion that recovery by the means provided in sub-section (z) is impracticable or inexpedient, he may issue a certificate to a District Court having jurisdiction in any district where the defaulter resides or in which any property movable or immovable owned by the defaulter is situated, containing particulars of such tax and the name or names of the person or persons by whom the tax is payable and the court shall thereupon direct a writ of execution to issue to the Fiscal authorizing and requiring him to seize and sell all and any of the property movable and immovable of the defaulter, or such part thereof as he may deem necessary for recovery of the tax, and the provisions of section 226 to 297 of the Civil Procedure Code shall, mutatis mutandis apply to such seizure and sale.

(4) Whenever the Commissioner issues a certificate under this section, he shall at the same time issue to the defaulter, whether resident or non-resident, a notification thereof by personal service, registered post, or telegraph; but the non-receipt of such notification by the defaulter shall not invalidate proceedings under this section.

Proceedings for Recovery before a Magistrate

Po. (t) Where the Commissioner is of opinion in any case that recovery of tax in default by seizure and sale is impracticable or inexpedient, or where the full amount of the tax has not been recovered by seizure and sale, he may issue a certificate containing particulars of such tax and the name and last known place of business or residence of the defaulter to a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the division in which such place is situated. The Magistrate shall thereupon summon such defaulter before him to show cause why further proceedings for the recovery of the tax should not be taken against him, and in default of sufficient cause being shown, the tax in default shall be deemed to be a fine imposed by a sentence of the Magistrate on such defaulter for an offence punishable with fine only or not punishable with imprisonment, and the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 352 (except paragraphs (a), (c), and (h) thereof) of the Criminal Procedure Code, relating to default of payment of a fine imposed for such an offence shall thereupon apply, and the Magistrate may make any direction which, by the provisions of that sub-section, he could have made at the time of imposing such sentence.

Provided that nothing in this section shall authorize or require the magistrate in any proceedings thereunder to consider, examine, or decide the correctness of any statement in the certificate of the Commissioner.

- (ra) Nothing in sub-sections (2) to (5) of section 312 of the Criminal Procedure Code shall apply in any case referred to in sub-section (r) of this section.
- (rn) In any case referred to in sub-section (i) in which the defaulter is sentenced to imprisonment in default of payment of the fine deemed by that sub-section to have been imposed of him, the magistrate may allow time for the payment of the amount of the said fine or direct payment of that amount to be made by instalments.
- (I c) The court may require bail to be given as a condition precedent to allowing time under sub-section (r) for showing cause as therein provided, or under sub-section (in) for the payment of the fine; and the provisions of Chapter XXXVI of the Criminal Procedure Code shall apply where the defaulter is so required to give bail.
- (to) Where payment in instalments is directed under sub-section (re) and default is made in the payment of any one instalment, the same proceedings may be taken as if default had been made in payment of all the instalments thus remaining unpaid.

(2) In any proceeding under sub-section (1) the Commissioner's certificate shall be sufficient evidence that the tax has been duly assessed and is in default, and any plea that the tax is excessive, incorrect or under appeal shall not be entertained, except that where any person proceeded against has not appealed within the proper time against the assessment in respect of which the tax is charged and alleges that the tax is in excess of the sum which would have been charged if he had so appealed, the court may adjourn the matter for not more than thirty days to enable such person to submit to the Commissioner his objection to the tax.

(3) The Commissioner, shall notwithstanding the provisions of section 75, consider such objection and give his decision thereon, which shall be final, and shall be certified by Lim to the Magistrate, and proceedings under this section shall thereupon be resumed to enforce payment of the tax as reduced or confirmed, under such decision.

Recovery of Tax out of Debts, &c.

Sr. (r) Where tax payable by any person is in default and it appears to the Commissioner to be probable that any person-

- (a) owes or is about to pay money to the defaulter ; or
- (b) holds money for or on account of the defaulter ; or
- (c) holds money on account of some other person for payment to the defaulter ; or
- (d) has authority from some other person to pay money to the defaulter, the Commissioner may give to such person notice in writing (a copy of which shall be sent by post to the defaulter) requiring him to pay any such moneys not exceeding the amount of the tax in default to the officer named in such notice. The notice shall apply to all such moneys which are in his hands or due from him or about to be paid by him at the date of receipt of such notice, or come into his hands or become due from him or are about to be paid by him at any time within a period of thirty days thereafter.

(z) Any person who has made any payment in pursuance of this section shall be deemed to have acted under the authority of the person by whom the tax was payable, and of all other persons concerned, and is hereby indemnified in respect of such payment against all proceedings, civil or criminal notwithstanding the provisions of any written law, contract, or agreement.

(3) Any person to whom a notice has been given under sub-section (r) who is unable to comply then-with owing to the fact that the moneys in question do not come into his hands or become due from him within the period referred to in sub-section (s) shall within fourteen days of the expiration thereof give notice in writing to the Commissioner acquainting him with the facts.

(4) Where any person to whom a notice has been given under sub-section (1) is unable to comply therewith and has failed to give notice to the Commissioner as provided in sub-section (3), or where he has deducted or could have deducted the tax to which the notice relates or any part thereof and has not paid over as directed by the Commissioner the amount of such tax or part thereof within fourteen days after the expiration of the period referred to in sub-section (1), he shall be personally liable for the whole of the tax which he has been required to deduct, which may be recovered from him by all means provided in this Ordinance.

(5) The provisions of this section shall apply in any case where the tax which would have been payable by any person if he were alive is in default ; and for the purposes of the application of those provisions in any such case, the expression "defaulter" in sub-section (r) means.—

- (a) the executor or administrator of a deceased person, or
- (b) any person who takes possession of, or intermeddles with, the property of a deceased person, or
- (c) any person who has applied or is entitled to apply to a District Court for the grant or re-sealing of probate or letters of administration in respect of the estate of a deceased person,

Recovery of Tax from Persons Leaving Ceylon

82. Where the Commissioner is of opinion that any person is about to or likely to leave Ceylon without paying all tax assessed upon him, he may issue a certificate containing particulars of such tax and the name of such person to a Magistrate, who shall on receipt thereof issue a direction to the Inspector-General of Police to take such measures as may be necessary to prevent such person from leaving Ceylon without paying the tax or furnishing security to the satisfaction of the Commissioner for payment thereof. At the time of issue of his certificate to the Magistrate, the Commissioner shall issue to such person a notification thereof by personal service, registered post, or telegraph ; but the non-receipt of any such notification by such person shall not invalidate proceedings under this section. Production of a certificate signed by the Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner, or an Assistant Commissioner stating that the tax has been paid or that security has been furnished, or payment of the tax to a police officer in charge of a police station, shall be sufficient authority for allowing such person to leave Ceylon.

Use of More than One Means of Recovery

83. Where the Commissioner is of opinion that application of any of the provisions of this Chapter has failed or is likely to fail to secure payment of the whole of the tax due from any person it shall be lawful for him to proceed to recover any sum remaining unpaid by any other means of recovery provided in this Chapter, notwithstanding that an order has been made by a Magistrate under section 80 and carried into effect.

CHAPTER XIV REPAYMENT

Tax Paid in Excess to be Refunded

84. (t) If it is proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioner by claim duly made in writing within three years of the end of a year of assessment that any person has paid tax, by deduction or otherwise, in excess of the amount with which he was properly chargeable for that year, such person shall be entitled to have refunded the amount so paid in excess :

Provided that (i) nothing in this section shall operate to extend or reduce any time limit for appeal or repayment specified in any other section or to validate any objection or appeal which is otherwise invalid, or to authorize the revision of any assessment or other matter which has become final and conclusive ; and (ii) where any person has paid tax by deduction in respect of a dividend in accordance with section 43 or in respect of interest, rent, ground rent, royalty, or other annual payment in accordance with section 44, he shall not be entitled by virtue of this action to any relief greater than that provided by section 43 (3), (4), and (5) and section 44 (3).

(2) Where through death, incapacity, bankruptcy, liquidation, or other cause a person who would but for such cause have been entitled to make a claim under sub-section (r) is unable to do so, his executor, trustee or receiver, as the case may be, shall be entitled to have refunded to him for the benefit of such person or his estate any tax paid in excess within the meaning of sub-section (r).

- (d) signs any statement or return furnished under this Ordinance without reasonable grounds for believing the same to be true ; or
- (e) gives any false answer whether verbally or in writing to any question or request for information asked or made in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance ; or
- (f) prepares or maintains or authorizes the preparation or maintenance of any false books of account or other records or falsifies or authorizes the falsification of any books of account or records ; or
- (g) makes use of any fraud, art, or contrivance whatsoever or authorizes the use of any such fraud, art, or contrivance, shall be guilty of an offence, and shall for each such offence be liable on summary trial and conviction by a Magistrate to a fine not exceeding the total of five thousand rupees and treble the amount of tax for which he, or as the case may be the other person so assisted, is liable under this Ordinance for the year of assessment in respect of or during which the offence was committed, or to imprisonment of either description for any term not exceeding six months, or to both such fine and imprisonment.

(z) The Commissioner may compound any offence under this section and may before judgment stay or compound any proceedings thereunder.

Tax to be payable notwithstanding any proceedings for penalties, &c.

88. The institution of proceedings for, or the imposition of, a penalty, fine, or term of imprisonment under this Chapter shall not relieve any person from liability to assessment or payment of any tax for which he is or may be liable.

Prosecutions to be with the Sanction of the Commissioner

89. No prosecution in respect of an offence under section 85 or section 87 may be commenced except at the instance of or with the sanction of the Commissioner.

CHAPTER XVI

Power to Make Rules

go. (r) The Board of Income Tax may from time to time make rule generally for carrying out the provisions of this Ordinance and for the ascertainment and determination of any class of income.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such rules may—

- (a) prescribe the manner in which, and the procedure by which, the income, profits and gains shall be arrived at in the case of-
 - (i) Insurance Companies
 - (ii) Non-resident Companies ;
- (b) prescribe the procedure to be followed on application for refunds and reliefs;
- (c) provide for any matter which by this Ordinance is to be or may be prescribed.

(3) In cases where income, profits and gains liable to tax cannot be definitely ascertained the rules may prescribe methods by which an estimate of such income may be made and the proportion thereof liable to tax.

(4) All rules made under this section shall come into operation on publication in the Gazette, or at such other time as may be stated in such rules.

(5) Such rules may prescribe penalties for any contravention thereof or failure to comply therewith not exceeding in each case a sum of five hundred rupees.

(6) All such rules shall be laid, as soon as conveniently may be, on the table of the Senate and the House of Representatives at two successive meetings of the Senate and the House of Representatives and shall be brought before the Senate and the House of Representatives at the next subsequent meeting held thereafter by a motion that the said rules shall not be disapproved, and if upon the introduction of any such motion, or upon any adjournment thereof, the said rules are disapproved by the Senate or the House of Representatives, such rules shall be deemed to be rescinded as from the date of such disapproval, but without prejudice to anything already done thereunder and such rules, if not so disapproved, shall continue to be of full force and effect. Every such disapproval shall be published in the Gazelle.

DOUBLE TAXATION (RELIEF) ACT No. 26 of 1950

An act to enable effect to be given to arrangements made with Governments of Foreign Territories for the avoidance of Double Taxation for Relief therefrom, and to provide for matters connected therewith.

(Date of Assent : October 20, 1950.)

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and the House of Representatives of Ceylon in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—
Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Double Taxation (Relief) Act. No. 26 of 1950.

Bringing into effect Agreements for double taxation relief.

2. (I) Where the Senate and the House of Representatives by resolutions approve any Agreement, entered into between the Government of Ceylon and the Government of any other territory, for the purposes of affording relief from double taxation in relation to income tax and profits tax under Ceylon law and any taxes of a similar character imposed by the laws of that territory, the Agreement shall, notwithstanding anything in any other written law, have the force of law in Ceylon in so far as it provides for relief from income tax or profits tax, or for charging the profits or income arising from sources in Ceylon to persons not resident in Ceylon or determining the profits or income to be attributed to such persons and their agencies, branches or establishments in Ceylon, or for determining the profits or income to be attributed to persons resident in Ceylon who have special relationships with persons not so resident.

(2) Every Agreement which is approved by resolutions under sub-section (1) shall be published in the Gazette together with a notice that it has been so approved.

(3) The Minister may, by Order published in the Gazette, make such provision as may be necessary for the purpose of implementing any Agreement which by virtue of sub-section (i) of this section has the force of law in Ceylon, including provision—

- (a) that the Agreement and the Order shall have effect in respect of periods prior to the date of the execution or publication in the Gazette of the Agreement ; and
- (b) that any provision of any written law relating to income tax or profits tax shall have effect subject to such amendments or modifications as may be specified in the Order.

Every Order made under this sub-section shall have the force of law.

(4) In any case where any Agreement referred to in sub-section (I) provides that tax payable under the laws of any territory outside Ceylon shall be allowed as a credit against any tax payable in Ceylon, the credit to be granted in respect of any Ceylon tax upon profits or income arising from any source shall not exceed the amount of the Ceylon tax payable in respect of such profits or income.

(5) The Agreement between the Government of the United Kingdom and the Government of Ceylon dated July 26, 1950, the text of which was reproduced in Treaty Series No. 9 (1950) and tabled in the Senate and the House of Representatives on August 15, 1950, and July 31, 1950 respectively, shall be deemed for all purposes to have been approved by the Senate and the House of Representatives under sub-section (i) of this section, and shall have the force of law in Ceylon in terms of that sub-section ; and the provisions of sub-sections (3) and (4) of this section shall apply accordingly to and in relation to that Agreement.

The Estate Duty Ordinance

Under the Estate Duty Ordinance No. 1 of 1938 Estate duty is leviable in respect of all Estates valued not below Rs. 20,000.

The determination of the value of Ceylon Estate and total Estate is ascertained in accordance with the provisions of the Ordinance. What property is deemed to pass on death, life interests, property subject to an annuity, gifts, joint settlements etc., are detailed in the Ordinance.

Exemptions from Estate duty are allowed in the case of small annuities and pensions of widows and orphans. Relief is allowed in respect of Stamp Duty, British Empire Estate Duty and quick succession where property consists of land or a business etc.

When a member of a Hindu undivided family dies no Estate duty is payable on property proved to be the joint property of a Hindu undivided family.

An executor is not liable for any duty in excess of the assets which he has received. A declaration of property has to be made by the executor of every deceased person within six months after the date of the death of the deceased. If there is a certified copy of the Will of the deceased, it must also be delivered to the Commissioner along with the declaration of property. Assessment to Estate duty, is made by an assessor in respect of the Estate of a deceased person and a notice of such assessment is issued to the person or persons whom he considers liable to pay such Estate duty.

Any person who desires to appeal has, within thirty days of the service of the notice of such assessment, to deliver to the Commissioner a written notice of such objection. The appellant may, in the appropriate District Court, proceed with his appeal naming the Attorney-General as respondent to his petition.

A Certificate of Payment and Release has to be issued by the Commissioner on receipt of payment.

No Probate or Letters of Administration may be granted by a Court until Estate duty is paid.

Estate Duty may be recovered by the seizure and sale of property, out of debts or from surviving partners. The special procedure prescribed by this Ordinance does not affect the right of the Crown to recover duty in any other manner.

Refunds of Estate duty may be made under certain conditions and any person who fails to deliver a proper declaration of property or does not furnish the necessary information or makes an incorrect statement is liable, to conviction by a Magistrate. Any person making a fraudulent declaration would be guilty of an offence. The Commissioner may, at any time, compound any offence under this Ordinance.

The main ordinance has been amended by the Estate Duty Amending Ordinance No. 76 of 1938 and further by the Estate Duty Amending Ordinance No. 8 of 1941. Ordinance No. 35 of 1944 makes provision for relief from Estate Duty in cases where property passes upon deaths due to causes arising out of the present war. The Estate Duty (Amendment) Act, No. 3 of 1948, brings into force two schedules of rates of Estate Duty respectively known as Part I and Part II. Part I applies to estates where the date of death is prior to April 1st, 1947. Part II applies to deaths occurring on or after April 1st, 1947. See Estate duty (Amendment) Act No. 8 of 1951

- (g) No account shall be taken of any interest, dividends or rents received from investment or from immovable property except in the case of a building society, banking business, insurance business or business consisting wholly or mainly in the holding of investments or immovable property : Provided that in the case of public holding companies whose income is derived from dividends, any such dividends which have been received from companies who have already paid profits tax on those dividends shall not be subject to profits tax under this Act.
- (h) No deduction shall be allowed in respect of amounts paid or payable in Ceylon as profits tax or income tax, or in respect of any amounts paid or payable in any other territory by way of any tax which, in the opinion of the Commissioner, is a tax of a like nature to that imposed under the Income Tax Ordinance or this Act :
 Provided that in the case of income arising outside Ceylon any tax of a like nature as the tax imposed under this Act shall, if it is paid in any other territory, be allowed as a deduction.
6. (x) The taxable profits or income for the profits tax year commencing on the first day of January, 1947, shall—
- (a) in the case of each business which has been liable to excess profits duty under the Excess Profits Duty Ordinance, No. 38 of 1941, be the profits or income from such business for the period commencing on the day next succeeding the date on which that Ordinance ceased to apply to the profits of that business and ending on that day in the year 1947 up to which the accounts of that business are usually made up and which has been or is adopted as such for the purposes of ascertaining statutory income from that business for either of the years of assessment commencing on April 1, 1947, and April 1, 1948, 03 the case may be, under section II (s) or section II (a) of the Income Tax Ordinance ;
- (b) In the case of each business not referred to in paragraph (a), be the profits or income for any period of twelve months ending after the first day of January, 1947, which has been or is adopted as the year preceding the year of assessment under section m (I) or section (z) in the case of each business commencing on or after the first day of January, 1947, the taxable profits or income for the profits tax year in which the business commences shall be the profits or income for the period from the date of commencement of such business to the date up to which the accounts of that business are made up and which will be adopted as such for the purpose of ascertaining the statutory income from that business under section ar (I) or section x (a) of the Income Tax Ordinance.
- (3) The taxable profits or income for each subsequent profits tax year in respect of each business shall be the profits or income for a period of twelve months immediately following the period the profits or income of which have been charged or are chargeable for the preceding profits tax year
- (4) In the case of a business ceasing on or after the first day of January, 1947, the taxable profits or income for the profits tax year in which that business ceases shall be the profits or income for the period commencing on the day next succeeding the date up to which the accounts of that business for the last preceding year, if any, were made up and which has been adopted as such for the purpose of ascertaining statutory income under section z (r) or section Ix (2) of the Income Tax Ordinance, and ending on the date of cessation of such business Provided that where any such cessation of business occurred at any time during the profits tax year commencing on the first day of January 1947, by reason of the death of the person by whom, or the liquidation of the company by which, the business was carried on, the taxable profits or income from that business for that profits tax year shall be computed only in respect of the period commencing on the first day of January, 1947, and ending on the date of the cessation of the business.
- (7) Where any person carries on or is engaged in more than one business, the taxable profits or income of that person for any profits tax year shall be ascertained by aggregating the profits determined under section 6 in respect of such businesses for that year, or, where any loss has been found under section 6 to have been incurred in any such business in respect of that year, by setting off such loss against the aggregate of the profits of the other businesses for that year.
- (a) In the case of a person who is a member of a partnership, his share of the divisible profits of the partnership for any profits tax year shall be aggregated with the taxable profits or income derived from any other business for that year; and his share of the divisible loss of the partnership for any profits tax year shall be set off against the taxable profits or income derived from any other business for that year.
8. The taxable profits or income of any person for any profits tax year shall be reduced by the amount of any less or aggregate loss, which, in the event of its being a profit, would have been assessable to profits tax in the two preceding profits tax years, if, but only if, such loss or aggregate loss has not been set off against the taxable profits or income of any previous profits tax year.
- g. The chargeable surplus of profits or income of any person for each profits tax year shall be ascertained by deducting from the taxable profits or income of that person for that year as determined under the foregoing sections an allowance equal to the larger of the two following amounts :-
- (a) an amount equal to six per centum of the capital employed in the business or each business of that person at the commencement of the accounting period of which the profits are assessed to tax in that year ; or
- (b) an amount of fifty thousand rupees
- Provided that—
- (i) in the case of a Hindu undivided family having two working members, the amount shall be seventy-five thousand rupees, and
- (ii) in the case of a Hindu undivided family having three or more working members, the amount shall be one hundred thousand rupees ;
- Provided further that if the profits or income from any business, included in the taxable profits or income of any person for any profits tax year, is for a period other than one year, the amount of the allowance to be deducted under the preceding provisions of this section shall be varied or adjusted by the Commissioner, who shall, in so doing, have due regard both to the amount of the taxable profits or income from that business and to the length of time during which such profits or income arose.
- in. The rate of the profits tax payable in respect of each profits tax year shall be twenty per centum of the chargeable surplus of profits or income of each person to whom this Act applies. Provided however, that the rate of such tax payable in respect of the profits tax year commencing on the first day of January, 1951, and of each subsequent Profits tax year shall be twenty per centum of each chargeable surplus.*

*Amended by the P. T. (Amendment). Act. No. 33 of 1951

In the computation of the capital used for the purposes of any business, the following provisions shall apply -

- (a); The amount of the capital shall, so far as it does not consist of money and
- (i) so far as it consists of assets being debts due to the person carrying on the business, be taken to be the nominal amount of those debts, subject to any reduction which has been allowed in respect of those debts for income tax purposes ;
so far as it consists of assets acquired by purchase, be taken to be the price at which those assets were acquired, subject to any proper deductions for depreciation or for unpaid purchase money ;
 - (ii) so far as it consists of assets acquired by gift or under the last will or on the intestacy of a deceased person, be taken to be the value of the assets at the date of the gift in the case of a gift, or at the date of death in the case of a devise or inheritances subject in each case to any proper deduction for depreciation since such date
- (6) Any capital which is proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been introduced into the business after its acquisition, or any profits so proved to have been employed to effect permanent additions to or improvements of the assets of the business, shall be treated as capital employed in the business, subject to any necessary deduction for depreciation and for assets disposed of or lost.
- (e) Any money borrowed or debts incurred in connection with the business or charged upon the assets thereof shall be deducted in computing capital, and in particular -
- (i) any duty chargeable under the Excess Profits Duty Ordinance, No. 38 of 1941, and unpaid at the beginning of the accounting period shall be deducted ;
 - (ii) capital shall be deemed to be reduced by the amount of the profits tax, on the first day after the accounting period in respect of which it is payable.
- (d) Where a part of a business is carried on in Ceylon and a part outside Ceylon and the liability to profits tax arises only in respect of that part of the business in Ceylon, the capital employed in that part which is liable to profits tax shall be computed separately from the capital of the whole business :

Provided that where for any reason it is found that the capital of a company cannot be conveniently ascertained, application may be made to the Commissioner that the capital be ascertained by taking such proportion of the issued capital of the company and of the reserves as are in the opinion of the Commissioner represented by assets that part of the business :

Provided further that the Commissioner may in his discretion direct that the capital of that part of the business which is in Ceylon shall be taken to be the amount which bears to the capital of the entire business the same proportion as the gross receipts of that part of the business bear to the gross receipts of the entire business.

12. The share of any person in the assets and business of any partnership shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a business carried on by him : Provided that where the Commissioner is satisfied that any partnership is fictitious or that any person has been admitted as a new partner to any partnership with a view to the avoidance or reduction of any liability to tax under this Act, the Commissioner may, notwithstanding anything in any deed or agreement relating to such partnership or the admission of the new partner, and notwithstanding the registration of the names of the partners or of the new partner under the Business Names Ordinance, disregard the existence of such partnership or the admission of the new partner, as the case may be.

13. The amount of the profits tax paid by any person on the taxable profits or income from any business for any accounting period shall be allowed as a deduction in computing the profits or income of that business for that period for purposes of income tax ; and where profits tax has been so paid in respect of more than one business, then the amount of profits tax to be so allowed as a deduction in respect of each business shall be determined by the Commissioner, who shall, in so doing, have due regard both to the amount of the taxable profits or income from that business and to the length of time during which such profits or income arose.

For the purpose of allowing any such deduction, any assessment made under the Income Tax Ordinance may, notwithstanding the provisions of section 75 of that Ordinance, be amended accordingly, and any tax found to have been paid in excess as a result of such amended assessment shall be refunded, notwithstanding that the claim for such refund may be made after the expiry of the period of three years prescribed in section 84 of that Ordinance.

14. The profits tax imposed by this Act shall be charged, levied and recovered in like manner as the income tax, and for that purpose the following provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance, namely - sections 5, 3, 4, 5, 12, 29, 33, 40, 41, 41A, 52 (a), 52 (3) and 53, and Chapters IX, X, XI, XII, XIII, XV and XVI.

shall apply reidatis mutatis and subject to such limitations and modifications as are imposed or made by this Act.

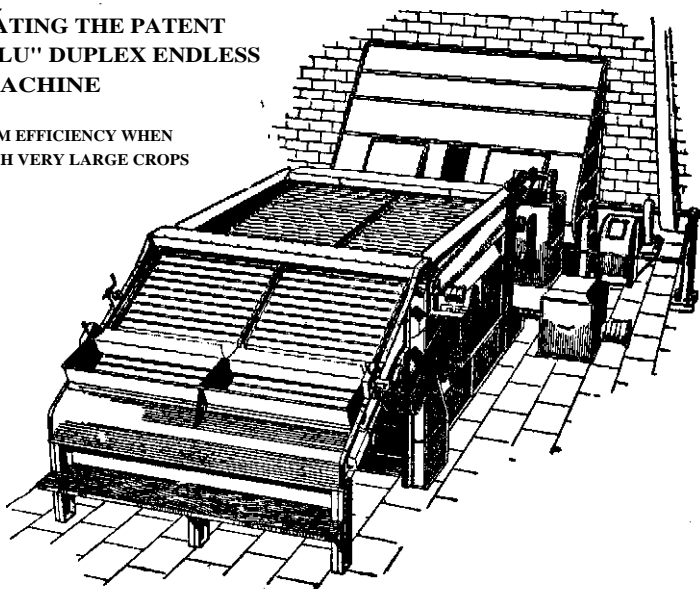

15. (r) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires -
- " accounting period ", iii relation to any business, means the period in respect of which the taxable profits or income from that business are determined under section 6 ;
 - " chargeable surplus " means the surplus of profits or income ascertained in accordance with the provision .11 section 9
 - " taxable profits or income " has the meaning assigned to it in section a.

(a) For the purposes of this Act, a person shall not be deemed to be a working member of a Hindu undivided family unless he—

- (a) ; has attained majority ; and
- (b) (i) devotes his full time to the business of such family, or
- (ii) if he is engaged in any other business or employment, devotes more than half of his working time to the conduct of the business of such family.
