Established in the year 1889 in accordance with an agreement made between the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music to act as one examining body for the purpose of conducting local examinations in music.

It was felt that the common aim of both, namely, an improvement of the standard of musical education, could best be attained by their combining to offer with their joint authority a scheme of Local Examinations in Music which might hold the same position in musical education as the Local Examinations of the Universities hold in general education.

His Majesty King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales signified his interest in the proposal by graciously consenting to become the first President of the Board, and held this office until he ascended the Throne, when he became its Patron. Successive sovereigns have granted their patronage to the Board and Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother is now its President.

In 1947 the authority of the Board was extended by the association in its work of the two other Royal Schools of Music in the United Kingdom which are also responsible to the public for the character of their work, namely, the Royal Manchester College of Music and the Royal Scottish Academy of Music, Glasgow.

The Board offers a scheme of Examinations suited to candidates of various degrees of attainment. A simple test is provided for beginners in the Grade I examination, and progress may then be pursued in stages of gradually increasing difficulty to the Final (Grade VIII) which leads up to the examination for the Diploma L.R.S.M. (Licentiate of the Royal Schools of Music). There is also provided in 1955 a syllabus of tests in General Musicianship in three divisions.

Scholarships are provided by the Board for the benefit of candidates who display outstanding musical promise to enable them to study in Britain. Patroness—Her Majesty the Queen. President—Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother. Resident Secretary—C. E. Milhuisen, P. O. Box 316, Colombo. Tel. 91960.

Ceylon Institute of Scientific and Industrial Research—3r Torrington Place, Colombo 7—Telephone 91807—Cables: CIS/11—CEYLON Institute of Scientific and Industrial Research is an applied technical research institute working in many fields, in the service of Ceylon’s producers, manufacturers, government agencies, and the general public. Its main work is on specific research projects such as how to build a better coconut scraper, how to reduce a manufacturing cost without sacrificing quality, how to use a new raw material or a waste product profitably, or how to solve an annoying production problem. In addition the Institute’s technical services include many other aids to the country’s productive sectors and their assisting agencies, both public and private. For example, among other things CISIR—AFFORDS technical consultation to manufacturers; CONDUCTS surveys of going factories to suggest improvements; ADVISES financial institutions on the technical merit of projects; UNDERTAKES technical supervision of processes in certain lines; TESTS equipment, materials, processes and products; DEVELOPS processes on its own, and proposes new industries; PROMOTES and encourages technical research and training; CO-OPERATES with government on many national development matters; PUBLISHES timely technical information of practical value; MAINTAINS an up-to-date Technical Reference Library—not merely for its own needs, but for the free use of other accredited technical workers, scientists, officials, and private producers whose work it can benefit.

THE Institute was established in April, 1955, by Act of Parliament, on the basis of studies and recommendations of the Ministry of Industries, Housing and Social Services, the Ministry of Finance, the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and others. The Act provides for government donations of Rs. ,000,000 and certain other aids toward its support.
over the first five years, and during the same period the Institute receives substantial contributions of help from the World Bank and the U.N. Technical Assistance Administration.

CISIR is not a government agency, however. It is an autonomous corporate institution operated on business lines, with its own governing board, administration, and full-time staff of practical research engineers, scientists and assistants. It deals directly with its clients, charging for its work on a uniform non-profit basis, and renders its broad technical services individually to private firms, producers' associations, financial institutions, government departments—and even other research organizations. Although still young as an institution, CISIR operates laboratories in several locations with a considerable complement of pilot plant equipment, machinery, instruments and special scientific apparatus. More is being added constantly as the work enters new fields. In many cases the Institute builds its own for particular needs.

Rissass.cif for clients is conducted under standard agreements which provide for confidential handling of private information and findings, assignment of patentable discoveries and inventions to the client, periodic and final reports, and constant joint review of the work to insure that it steers the most advantageous course at every stage. The Institute will not accept work which would conflict with prior commitments, or which would in any way imperil its reputation for confidence, integrity and service to Ceylon's development.

TEAMWORK is a most important element in the Institute's work. Seldom has any research problem been found to lie wholly within a single specialized field. Solutions are found more quickly when men of different specialities work together, exchanging ideas and contributing their various scientific skills to each problem. Thus the broad capacity of Cisin makes unnecessary the creation of separate new research institutes for individual products—no one of which, indeed, could afford by itself to maintain the extensive research facilities and diversified scientific staff which can be brought to bear on its problems by CISIR at a fraction of the cost.

Lady Lochore Loan Fund—On the 15th of August '927, Lady Lochore entrusted a sum of Rs. 3,000 to the late Rev. C. E. V. Nathanielisz with which to assist two persons who were in the hands of money lenders. The Lady Lochore Loan Fund Account was opened in the Hongkong & Shanghai Bank on that very day. That contribution was supplemented from time to time by those who supported the cause of relief of indebtedness among mercantile employees and public officers. Government also granted interest free loans from time to time. That original Fund now stands at Rs. 556,872-.

This Fund has been a pioneer in the field of relief from indebtedness and has rendered valuable service in rescuing thousands of persons from the hands of money lenders. The total sum paid out by the Fund to date in doing so amounts to over five million rupees. The late Rev. C. E. V. Nathanielisz was the sole Trustee of the Fund from its inception to the date of its incorporation.

On the 24th of September 1951 the Lady Lochore Loan Fund (Board of Trustees) Act, No. 38 of 1951 came into force. The Fund is now controlled by a Board of Trustees with a Life Trustee.

Subsequent to the incorporation Government granted a loan of Rs. 15 million to the Trust for the purpose of affording relief to indebted public officers. During the past four years over 25,000 Government and Municipal employees have been afforded relief at an outlay of about Rs. 20 million.

The Government loan is ear-marked for those in the public services, whereas mercantile employees and others are assisted from the capital of the original Fund.

Sports and Recreation in 1956

Sport of every kind, both outdoor and indoor had a boom year in 1956, when Ceylon sent teams abroad and also entertained visiting teams of repute.

Although our highest standard in any particular form of sport, including Athletics, Boxing, Cricket, Tennis, Golf, Rugger, Soccer, Badminton and Table Teniss never reached International standards, still our general standard all over the Island was a credit to Ceylon.

Not only in Colombo but in the outstations, in the Clubs and Schools sport was more popular than ever and with regular annual competitions and championship meets public interest was aroused and sustained.

RACING

The "Sport of Kings" as Racing is known, enjoyed a successful season both in Colombo and Galle and some excellent performances were recorded. Among our leading owners were Mr. Vernon Rajapakse, Sir Chittampalam Gardiner, Mr. Sarath Wijesinghe, Mr. A. Wijesooriya, The late Mr. G. N. G. Wailes and Mr. S. J. Campbell. Ceylon's champion jockey was Ted Fordyce while others who did well in the saddle were Somapala, A. R. Smith and Gunadasa.

The best horses of the year were Shell Pink, Cobscar, Berwick Law, Friendly Isle while the best Arab was Venus. The Governor General's Cup was won by Mr. A. R. Zarook.

ATHLETICS

The schools, both in Colombo and the outstations, all held annual meets in which fair standards were attained while the Group Meets held by the Schools all over the Island and the Public Schools championships attracted large crowds. The Ceylon A.A.A., the Mercantile A.A.A., the Govt. Service and the Police also held successful Championship Meets and in many events new Ceylon records were set up.

The visits to Ceylon of two world famed athletes from the U.S.A., Brian Norton, who later did excellent coaching work all over the Island and Rev. Bob Mathias, celebrated World record holder in Pole Vaulting, were outstanding events.

Ceylon sent its greatest High Jumper of all time, N. Ethirweerasingham, now a student in an American University, to the Olympic Games held in Melbourne but he failed to reproduce his best Ceylon form owing to climatic conditions to which he was not used. Still this Jaffna boy, who created an Asian record of 6ft. 64 inches and holds the Ceylon record, has put Ceylon Athletics on the world map. The Ace A.C. were our best athletic club while Royal, Ananda, St. Joseph's were our best schools.

Sarath Wijesinghe and Oswald Rajapakse of Ananda were outstanding school boy athletes while Noble Kiel and Rukmani Vethanayagarn were exceptionally good girl athletes. In the 5000 metres Rupasinghe set up a new Ceylon record while Sarath Wijesinghe broke the 13 year old Javelin record.

BOXING

In spite of an outcry raised in the Press and at meetings by several persons against Boxing, the "noble fistic art" was more popular than ever in Ceylon, especially in the schools. The Y.M.C.A., the Police and other clubs have also done much to foster this manly art of self defence and the general standard was very fair. Ceylon's her best amateurs the two Jayasuriyas were sent out to the Olympic Games but both were beaten in the early stages. Ceylon teams visited India and did fairly well but on the whole our best boxers did not compare with "giants" of the past like F. C. Jayawardena, Albert Perera, the Obeyesekeres, Deraniyagalas, Rutnams and other old Oxford and Cambridge Blues that Ceylon has produced.

Royal, St. Thomas', Trinity, St. Peter's and St. Sylvester's of Kandy did best in school contests, the last named winning the Stubbs
CRICKET

Ceylon cricket was never more popular than it was last year all over the Island, especially among the schools, even in distant Batticaloa and Jaffna.

Though our best club cricket has produced several excellent individual bowlers and batsmen we have still a long way to go to reach International Test standards. The Australian Test team of 1956 passed through Colombo in April, but did not, as in the past, play a game in Ceylon. Indian teams like the Madras Varsity Occasionals visited us and Ceylon Club teams toured India.

The stand out event of the year was the visit of an All India team led by Polly Umrigar. Ceylon was outclassed but the Tests ended indecisively, being ruined by rain.

The annual Royal-St. Thomas' match ended in a draw after L. J. Reed has broken the record for the highest individual score in these games. St. Joseph's, Royal, St. Thomas, Trinity, Wesley, Ananda, Nalanda, Zahira and St. Benedict's were our best College teams.

Among the clubs the B.R.C. came out on top and won the Sara Trophy. This club had a strong all round side including Russell Heyn, Ken Joachim, E. Kelaart and G. P. Schoorman. The S.S.C. and Nondescripts also had fairly strong all round sides and so did the Tamil Union and Moors S.C. Among the best young cricketers in the Island was A. C. M. Lahr, an old Antonian who scored more than one century. Others like C. I. Gunasekera, C. H. Gunasekera, R. B. Wijesinghe, M. Sathasivam, Schafter, V. G. Prins, and C. de Saram, still one of Ceylon's best batsmen and Bob Bartels, now in the Lancashire League were outstanding. Ceylon retained the Gopalan Trophy by defeating Madras in the annual match.

GOLF

The "Royal and Ancient" game was never more popular in its way and among a small number than in 1956.

The Ceylonese golfers both in the R.C.G.C. and the Havelock Golf Club carried all before them and are now undisputably the best golfers in Ceylon. But this is in a way due to the fact that Ceylon no longer attracts outstanding golfers to settle here as in the past. W. Pin Fernando stood undisputably as Ceylon's best golfer of the year having won the All Ceylon title also the R.C.G.C. and H.G.C. titles. The Ceylonese team won the Stanley Cup for Ceylon for the fifth time. The second best Ceylonese golfer of the year was Upali Senanayake who again visited India and competed for the All India Title but was beaten before he could reach the semi-final. A remarkable achievement was that of the 20 year old Scottish International A. R. Aitken who won a N'Eliya Golf Club medal contest.

Last year famous International stars like Ken Bousfield and Dai Rees visited Ceylon and gave exhibitions here. The Colombo Ladies won the Puffin Cup in their annual match with Up-country. F. C. de Saram still remains one of our best golfers, while F. N. Bartholomeusz, who was captain of the N'Eliya C.C. once, last year won the Captain's Cup beating I. F. D. Traill.

HOCKEY

A notable event last year was the visit of the Indian Women's Hockey team. They beat the Ceylon Women's XI by 2 goals to 0. They also visited Matale and lost to a school boys team. There were Women's Internationals at Maitland Place, in which England, Scotland, Ireland, India, and Ceylon took part.

Among the Ceylon clubs the B.R.C. were outstanding with the Tamil Union second best. The B.R.C. won both the Andriesz Shield and the Pioneer Cup. Two of their best players were Ivan de Kretser and Ernie Kelaart. In the Women's Hockey International match Scotland beat Ceylon by 3 goals to nil.

SWIMMING

The several Swimming clubs in Colombo, one of the chief being the Otters did much to popularise swimming in Ceylon.
SPORTS AND RECREATION

At St. Joseph's where there is the biggest and best pool in Ceylon, Guy Thiedeman has done excellent work and his boys won the chief honours at the Schools championship. St. Thomas' have also produced some excellent swimmers and divers. The young champion Tony Williams of St. Joseph's has broken a few Ceylon records at Open Meets, while G. Arndt shone at the Mercantile meet. In Water Polo the Mercantile team beat The Rest while Whittalls beat the Galle Face Hotel team for the Arpico Trophy. G. Marks won 5 Championships, while he also excelled in the Sea Swim from Mt. Lavinia to Dehiwela. Fearne Ewart on a visit to Ceylon also did well in that contest.

LAWN TENNIS

The Ceylon L.T.A. held its annual Title Meet which attracted some foreign competitors. Early in the year some U.S.A. stars came out to Ceylon on a "good will" tour. That team included Althea Gibson, now world's woman No. 1, Ham Richardson, Karol Fagaros, and Bob Perry. They visited Galle and gave exhibitions and played in Colombo too. India's No. 1, R. Krishnan, the brilliant 9-year-old Davis Cup player won the Ceylon Singles title in February beating the veteran Jack Arkinson of Australia. There was a Colombo Tennis Championship meet at which R. Ferdinands won the Men's Singles beating B. L. Pinto. The veteran H. C. Sansoni also won a trophy while F. J. de Saram and C. I. Gunasekera won the Doubles at the Otters meet.

At the Bandarawela annual meet R. Ferdinands won the "Triple crown". Ceylon took part in the Davis Cup contest with India and lost all five matches. L. P. Ernst, Ferdinands and Pinto were all beaten in Singles by Krishnan and Naresh Kumar.

St. Thomas' won the Public Schools Championship and the E.R. de Saram Shield while Royal won the C. A. Laing Junior Shield.

Ceylon sent a team including Ferdinands and Pinto to the F. M. S., where they lost the Trophy by 2 to 1, but won the Doubles. Ferdinands was beaten in Singles by Tan Liep. In the Davis Cup tie India beat Ceylon by 5 matches to nil.

TABLE TENNIS

The annual championship meets both Senior and Junior proved very successful. A Ceylon team visited India, where Ceylon failed to win the championship. Chris Gunaratne and Dick Schoorman were beaten by India's best.

SOCCER

Soccer proved to be a great popular attraction especially on the Govt. Service grounds. Huge crowds, often very unruly, watched these matches. Pakistan sent out a strong side to Ceylon and in the First Test they beat Ceylon by 5 goals to 3, but the Second Test ended in a draw.

Saunders won the "Double" including the Gold Cup, beating the Police who were the strongest Govt. Service side. In the Inter-services match Combined Services beat Govt. Service in the League Armistice match. The schools also had their annual contests with St. Joseph's producing the best side.

RUGGER

Ceylonese rugger players and Clubs did very well in all competitions held last year especially the C.R.& F.C. and the Havelocks, while of Up-country Clubs the Combined Dikoya-Dimbula side did best. Though Ceylon on the whole did not reach the best standards of pre 1942 days still the game was very popular and some very promising young players were on view. Visiting Calcutta the Ceylon team failed to win the All India Cup as in the past. Low Country beat Upcountry in the August Capper Cup contest.

ROWING

The Colombo Rowing Club held its annual Regatta and on the Beira Madras beat Ceylon in the Challenge Fours in their annual contest.

NET BALL

Methodist College, Kollupitiya won the Inter-Schools championship both in Net and Volley-ball.
BADMINTON

Badminton filled a big place last year in the sports activities of Ceylon and reached a high standard. There were several big meets and Ceylon saw the India Thomas' Cup team play at the Y.M.C.A. Sir George Thomas, former President of the International Badminton Federation visited Ceylon and gave away the trophies at a League Tournament.

The Central Y.M.C.A. won the "A" League Championship, while Royal College was champion school and the Swifts won the Inter-Club Ladies Cup.

EDUCATION

Education in Ceylon has passed through many vicissitudes, and several influences, from the earliest to the present times, but at no time in its history, perhaps, had it reached that stage of development in which it is today. This growth of modern education began twenty-five years ago, in 1931, when under the Donoughmore Constitution a certain measure of self-government was afforded to Ceylon. Up to that time, education aimed at merely producing men to man the administration of the Government, that was in foreign hands. After 1931, Ceylon being set on the road to self-determination, the leaders of the country focussed their attention on the possibilities of a national system of education with a national destiny, and worked to achieve this end. This aim has now been realised to an appreciable extent, although much remains still to be done.

The progress of education during the last quarter of a century can be gauged from the fact that, whereas in 1931 the number of schools in Ceylon totalled 5304 with 593,437 pupils, there are today 6894 schools with 1,628,742 pupils. It is estimated that 71.7 per cent of children of school-going age, i.e. between the ages of 5 and 14, are now attending school. Above all, education today is free from the Kindergarten to the University stage.

There has also been an unprecedented rise in the educational bill since 1931, and this has been most pronounced during the last five years in view of the introduction of the free education scheme, under which the state bears the cost of the child's education. The following figures of the ten years 1944-54 give some indication of the rising cost of education:

The increase in the supply of teachers has kept pace with the increase in the numbers of school-going children. In 1931 there was only one English Training College, which produced 80 trained teachers annually. Since then more Training Colleges have been established, and in 1948, when Ceylon became a free country, the number of teachers in training totalled 1602. This figure rose to 2,570 in 1950, and in 1954 it was 3,088. It is still rising.

EARLY HISTORY

The early history of education in Ceylon affords a fascinating study. In ancient times, during the days of the Kings of Ceylon, education of the young was the sole monopoly and responsibility of the Buddhist clergy. It is stated that Kings established schools in every village and ordained that priests should carry them on. This system of education, however, did not work satisfactorily, and deteriorated with the waning of the power of the Kings.

A new orientation was given to education with the advent of Portuguese rule, who, after they conquered the maritime provinces of the country, established a number of Roman Catholic schools.

The Dutch, who followed the Portuguese, also concentrated on education, and established a string of parish schools mainly for the "political" purpose of teaching the Presbyterian religion, as it was felt that those who became Christians would be more loyal to the government.
It was under the British, who next conquered Ceylon, that education in this country took on a new form, which remained in its entirety up to recent years.

At the start, however, the British administrators were lukewarm about the growth of education in Ceylon, but a fillip to education was given with the entry of missionary societies: the Baptist Mission in 1812, the Wesleyan Missionary Society in 1814, the Church Missionary Society in 1818, and the American Mission, which began work in Jaffna about the same time. From 1812 to 1832, these missionary societies opened 235 schools attended by about 10,000 pupils, and conducted both in the English medium, and Sinhalese. Apart from fulfilling an urgent necessity, these schools made good, to some extent, the lack of interest in education then displayed by the Government, which had only go schools under its aegis.

There is no record of the number of Roman Catholic schools at this time, but in 1837 there were 118 R.C. schools.

COLEBROOK COMMISSION

The Colebrook Commission on Reforms, in 1832, laid emphasis on English, and the need for more English schools, resulting in Sinhalese and Tamil schools run by the Government being abolished, and five English schools established in Colombo, Galle, Jaffna, Kandy, and Chilaw.

In 1834, a Schools Commission was appointed to supervise Government schools, but this proved a failure, and was supplanted in 1841 by a Central School Commission, which included priests of the Anglican, and other Protestant denominations, Roman Catholic Clergy, and members of the laity. The period from 1841, to about 1847, witnessed several innovations in education in Ceylon. The system of grants-in-aid for missionary schools was introduced, and the principle was laid down that a child should be taught his own language before he was taught English. The expenditure on education during this period rose from £200 in 1841 to £11,415 in 1847.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL RECOMMENDATIONS

For the next decade, from 1848 to 1858, the education system was subject to some mild 'shocks' as a result of a rebellion in 1848, and financial depression the previous year. Strong criticism was levelled at the existing system of State corn missionary education, and in 1865 a sub-committee of the Legislative Council was appointed to report on the state of education in the island. The Sub-committee's report issued as a Sessional Paper in 1867 recommended, inter alia:

(1) that elementary education should be undertaken on a larger scale by Government;

(2) that more Government schools should be established, but that greater support should be given to missionary (denominational) bodies to run schools;

(3) that mixed schools should be replaced by Anglo-Vernacular schools;

(4) that more English schools be established providing for an English education, and also teaching practical subjects;

(5) religious bodies were to be relieved of all restrictions about religious education in their schools, and were to be free to teach any religion they pleased;

(6) the Central School Commission was to be replaced by a Department of Public Instruction under a Director of Public Instruction.

This is in existence even today under the nomenclature of Department of Education under a Director of Education.
These recommendations were implemented, and the increase in the number of schools was rapid, as the following table for the next 20 years shows:

The percentage of literacy among males rose from 24.6 per cent in 1881 to 27.9 per cent in 1891, and that of females from 2.5 per cent to 4.4 per cent.

BUDDHIST THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

Up to 1886, all aided schools were those begun and run by Christian missionaries. The impetus given to missionary bodies for educational purposes, by the Legislative Council sub-committee's recommendations, resulted not only in increased fervour for establishing schools by Christian bodies, but also in educational ventures by the Buddhists of the country. Under the Portuguese and the Dutch, the Buddhists were prevented from having their own schools, but by virtue of the freedom of worship allowed by the British, the situation altered. About this time there also came to Ceylon an American Theosophist, Cul. H. S. Olcott, who roused the Buddhists of the island to a sense of their rights and obligations. The result was the establishment of the Buddhist Theosophical Society, in 1886, for the purpose of establishing Buddhist schools. In 50 years, the B.T.S. had succeeded in putting up 63 schools, assisted with grants from Government. The Hindu and Muslim communities did not make use of the facilities afforded at this time for expansion of education, apparently due to lack of organisation. The Government, however, in pursuance of its object of spreading education, particularly for girls, established 6 schools for Muslim girls with facilities for instruction in the Koran.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION

A disturbing feature in these days was the fact that though the number of schools increased, the attendance at them was not commensurate with that increase. In 1897, for example, the average attendance was 88,849, although 150,593 children were on the roll of the schools. This was in spite of the fact that education in Sinhalese and Tamil schools (mostly in the villages), was imparted free of charge, the cost being met by the Government, and only English schools charged fees. To meet this situation, the Government introduced in 1906, the Town Schools Ordinance, and the Rural Schools Ordinance, to enforce attendance at Government schools in urban and rural areas.

In 1905, Sir Henry Blake, the then Governor of Ceylon, appointed a Commission to report on elementary education. Its recommendation dealt Mostly with the question of financing of schools, and compulsory education.

This was followed by a Commission appointed by Governor Mc Callum which reported, in 1908, on the Royal and Technical Colleges.

HIGHER EDUCATION

In the latter nineteenth century, the problem of education, beyond the elementary school stage, began to occupy the minds of administrators of the country, and in 1880 the Cambridge Senior Examination (now abolished) was introduced. This was followed by the introduction of the London Matriculation Examination (also abolished today), in 1882, and the London Intermediate, in 1885.
The introduction of higher examinations paved the way for the provision of facilities for studies for the learned professions of law and medicine, and for other specialised studies, and by 1897 Ceylon possessed a Medical College, a Law College, an Agricultural School, and Technical School (which later became the Ceylon Technical College), and 15 State-aided industrial schools.

Some of the assisted schools were also affiliated to the Calcutta and Madras Universities, and presented students for the degree examinations of those institutions.

AGITATION FOR UNIVERSITY

The thirst for a Ceylon University had now begun, as degree courses were available only in those schools affiliated to the Indian Universities. The Government, of course, had a system whereby scholarships were annually awarded for higher education in British Universities on the results of a special examination held for the purpose.

In 1906 an association was formed to agitate for a University for Ceylon. The labours of this organisation apparently bore fruit, for in 1911 a Committee was set up, assisted by Mr. J. J. R. Bridge, of the English Board of Education, to report on secondary and higher education in the island. The Committee recommended:

1. the establishment of a University College;
2. compulsory education in primary classes for Sinhalese and Tamil children in their respective languages;

Other recommendations of the Committee related to grants to schools.

All the Committee's recommendations were accepted by the Executive Council of Ceylon, and forwarded for the approval of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, who, however, turned down the recommendation for a University College.

The rejection of the proposal for a University College did not mean that the clamour for it would subside, or abate. Instead, it appears to have continued with renewed vigour, and Governor Chalmers took the question up when he came to Ceylon. This time the Secretary of State approved the proposal, and, on March 30, 1915, agreed to the establishment of a University College affiliated to the Oxford University, though such affiliation later proved impossible.

Once again the University issue ran into storms with the outbreak of the Great War 1914-18, and it was only in 1921 that the University College of Ceylon was established in Colombo under the principalship of Mr. (later Sir) Robert Marrs, and presented students for degrees of the London University. Once the University College got into its stride, its transformation into a full-fledged University was only a matter of time, and the Legislative Council voted Rs. 3,000,000 for land and buildings for the purpose. Unfortunately, a controversy began over the question of the location of such a University, and whether it should be residential or otherwise, and it was only in 1927 that the University Site Commission recommended that the University should be unitary and residential in character, and located on a site near Kandy.

This was accepted by the Legislative Council, and the University Commission (that had been set up), and a Bill for the establishment of a University of Ceylon was introduced in 1930. The Bill, however, was not proceeded with owing to the impending reforms at that time, which resulted in the introduction of the Donoughmore Constitution.
The Executive Committee of Education, which came into being with the Donoughmore era, in 1931, addressed itself to the question of the University but difficulties over the site arose. Finally, in 1938, the present site at Peradeniya was acquired and building began.

The Ceylon University Ordinance, which fused the University College and the Medical College, and provided the constitution for the University, was passed by the State Council on April 2, 1942, thereby making the University of Ceylon a reality.

Dr. (later Sir) Ivor Jennings was appointed the first Vice-Chancellor, The University functioned for a start in Colombo, but shifted gradually with the completion of buildings, in Peradeniya, for the various faculties.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION

With the inauguration of the second State Council in 1936, everyone who mattered in the field of education had begun to think in terms of a system of education for Ceylon, to suit national aspirations, and national development. Opinion was hardening against the existing system that appeared to be so little national in character, and so vastly foreign in its outlook. A spirited criticism of the prevailing education system was made by the then Minister of Education, Mr. C. W. W. Kannangara, at a prize-giving of St. Thomas' College, Mt. Lavinia, where he pointed out that under that system children knew more, for example, about Mount Everest than about Pidurutalagala.

The first practical step to give a new look to education was taken when Mr. E. A. Nugawela (who later became Minister of Education in the D. S. Senanayake Cabinet of free Ceylon), moved in the State Council, "that in the opinion of this Council, a Commission should be appointed under the Chairmanship of an expert from abroad, to report upon the existing system of education in Ceylon, and having regard to the changed conditions of the day, and the future development of the country, to recommend the needed changes."

The Executive Committee of Education, to which Mr. Nugawela's motion was referred for report, considered it on several occasions between 1936 and 1937, but was not agreed as to whether the best approach to the education problem of the day was in the manner stated in the motion. Meanwhile in July 1937, the Board of Ministers proposed that the Secretary of State for the Colonies should be asked to appoint a Commission from England to report on the system of education in Ceylon. The need for an investigation into the education system was now accepted by all, but there was some conflict of opinion whether it should be by a Commission from abroad, or by experts appointed from among local educationists.

Finally, on April 4, 1940, the Executive Committee of Education resolved that "the task of investigating the defects of the present educational system, and recommending measures of reform necessitated by the changed conditions, should be undertaken, by the Executive Committee itself, with the assistance of educational experts already available in the country." It therefore, resolved, to form a Special Committee of all members of the Executive Committee willing to serve, together with the following: the Director of Education, the Principal of the Royal College, the Very Rev. Fr. M. J. LeGoc, Rector of St. Joseph's College, Mr. P. de S. Kularatne, Principal of Ananda College, Mr. S. Shivapadasundaram, Rev. R. W. Stopford, Principal of Trinity College, and Mr. E. A. Nugawela. Several other educationists were later co-opted as mem. bore of the Special Committee on Education. These included Rev. (now Canon) R. S. De Saram, Warden of St. Thomas' College, Professor S. A. Pakeman, Mr. N. Nadarajah, K.C. and Dr. Ivor Jennings.

The Chairman of the Committee was the Minister of Education, Mr. C., W. W. Kannangara. The Special Committee had its first meeting on May 31, tog, and finally issued its report to the public in November 1943. A feature of the report was the number of dissents by members of the Committee in connection with the recommendations made.
In support of their conclusions, the Special Committee's report stated:

We have taken our task to be to recommend an educational system suitable for a democracy. Such a system should, on the one hand, enable the pupil to achieve the highest degree of physical, mental, and moral development, of which he is capable, irrespective of his wealth or social status; on the other hand, it should enable the pupil as a result of his education to use his abilities for the good of the nation in fullest possible measure, and exercise intelligently the franchise that the State has conferred on him. We also consider that our fundamental need in Ceylon is to weld the heterogenous elements of its population into a nation. This has to be accomplished through the democratic principal of tolerance, which should permeate our entire educational system."

In accordance with these sentiments, the Special Committee made the following main recommendations:

(i) that the system of direct State control of education, and the system of denominational control should be permitted to exist side by side, under certain conditions:
(ii) that education should be divided into two clear-cut stages—primary and post primary, the dividing line being at the end of Std. V. Three types of post-primary schools were recommended, (a) secondary schools leading to the University and professional colleges, (b) senior schools leading to polytechnics and technical schools, and (c) practical schools leading to agricultural and trade schools:
(iii) that the medium of instruction in the primary schools should be the mother tongue:
(iv) that there should be Fitness Tests at the conclusion of Std V. and Std. VIII, and 4 further Attainment Tests:
(v) that education should be free from the Kindergarten to the University stage, and that provision be made to afford free board and lodging to poor students:
(vi) that permission be made for compulsory education to start at 5 years of age:

The other recommendations of the Committee related to the training of teachers, finance of schools, and allied matters.

OPPOSITION TO RECOMMENDATIONS

The recommendations of the Special Committee on Education came in for violent criticism throughout the country, especially from the Christian sections, who saw in them "a carefully devised plan to undermine the efficiency of Christian schools." Not only priests and laymen, but Bishops too came out to the open to condemn some of the recommendations.

The proposal for free education was welcome as a good idea, but it was opposed as impracticable owing to its enormous cost.

Ultimately some sort of modification in the proposals became inevitable, and they were gone into afresh in the light of criticisms made, and revised by the Executive Committee of Education. The revised recommendations were placed before the State Council for debate in June 1945. Some of the less far-reaching changes were implemented, while others were put off.

WHITE PAPER ON EDUCATION

Meanwhile, the burning topic of education was gradually receding to the background, and giving place to the more important discussions on political reform, and Dominion Status for Ceylon. Finally, the announcement of the appointment of the Soulbury Commission, and their arrival in Colombo, and the dissolution of the State Council later, put off further action on the more drastic changes in the educational set-up, recommended by the Special Committee.
After the constitution of the House of Representatives under the Soulbury Commission, in 1947, and after the grant of freedom to Ceylon, on February 4, 1948, a White Paper on Education, in the form of "Government's Proposals for Educational Reform in Ceylon", was presented to the House, by the Minister of Education (Mr. E. A. Nugawela), on July 9, 1950, embodying most of the ideas of the Special Committee.

The last Minister of Education, Mr. C. W. W. Kannangara, was defeated at the 1947 polls.

The White Paper divided education into three stages primary, secondary and further on a functional basis. A child would spend two years in a Kindergarten department, and four years in the primary section.

The secondary stage of education was to begin at the age of 11 plus. Education was to be free from 5 to 14 years, and those selected for senior secondary education thereafter were to be educated free too. Those found unsuitable at the age of 14 for higher academic education could, however, take to higher studies in assisted schools, but would have to pay for such education. The medium of instruction was to be Sinhalese and Tamil, although some subjects would continue to be taught in English in the secondary stage of education. Nevertheless, from 1953, the medium of instruction for all subjects in Std. VI was to be in the national languages (Sinhalese or Tamil), and this was to be extended to Std. VII in 1954, and Std. VIII in 1955.

English was to be taught as a compulsory second language from Std. III.

With a view to providing facilities for practical education, Government was to establish four Polytechnics, at Kandy, Galle, Jaffna, and Batticaloa, where emphasis would be placed on commercial, literary, musical and dramatic studies.

The recommendations of the White Paper on Education were accepted, and embodied in the Education (Amendment) Act No. 5 of 1951.

Although free education from the Kindergarten to the University was recommended by the Special Committee on Education to be effective from October 1, 1945, a large number of schools, particularly the leading Colombo schools, were still outside the free scheme as they feared a deterioration in their standards of education if they became free schools, without adequate safeguards to ensure that their standards would not be lowered owing to lack of funds to maintain equipment, and for games and other extra-curricular activities.

After the passing of the Education (Amendment) Act of 1951, certain guarantees were offered to schools to join the free education scheme. Today, most of the schools have joined the free scheme, and provide free education. The only fees that could be levied in a free school are:

(I) a fee for the provision of facilities for games, or physical training; and
(2) a fee for the provision of dental treatment.

Three leading Colombo Schools, which a large number of boys and girls from leading families attend, decided to keep out of the free scheme, and became private schools. They are St, Thomas' College, Mt. Lavinia, Ladies' College, Colombo, and Bishop's College Colombo, and the reason for their decision was that their educational standards, which they had maintained at the highest level for several decades would degenerate under a free scheme of education. Their decision has paid good dividends, and the demand for education in these schools has been greater than ever, although they charge fees.

CLASSIFICATION OF SCHOOLS

Schools under the new set-up of education in free Ceylon can be divided into 3 categories: (a) schools administered by Government, (b) schools assisted by Government and (c) schools that receive no aid from Government.

By the middle of 1954, there were 358 Government schools with 844,754 pupils and 23,785 teachers, in addition to 2161 assisted schools with 686,748 pupils and 22,684 teachers. These figures have since increased,
The English schools are classified into collegiate, central, senior, junior, and primary schools, Sinhalese and Tamil schools are divided into senior, junior, primary and infant schools. Primary schools teach up to Std. V; junior schools from Std. VI to VIII, and may have classes up to the Senior School Certificate, with the approval of the Director of Education. Senior schools teach from Std. VI to the S.S.C., and may, with the Director's approval, have classes for the Higher School Certificate, and University Entrance examinations. Central Schools, all of which are run by Government, have courses from Std. VI to the H.S.C., and University Entrance form. In addition to these, there are Pirivena schools, primarily intended for the education of Buddhist priests.

NATIONAL LANGUAGES IN EDUCATION

The policy of adopting the national languages as the media of education in Std. VI, VII and VIII, led to a great deal of criticism. While politicians were anxious to accelerate the pace at which all education could be imparted in Sinhalese and Tamil, educationists found that such a policy would lead to a levelling down in education, particularly owing to the paucity of books in the national languages, and the almost absence of them in subjects like General Science and Mathematics.

This criticism compelled the Minister of Education (Mr. M. D. Banda), to appoint a Committee, in March 1953, to "examine the working of the national languages as the media of instruction for Std. VI, and to make recommendations to facilitate the changing-over to the national languages as the media of instruction in Std. VII and VIII, with particular reference to the subjects of Science and Mathematics." The Committee reported in 1954 that schools, which did not have adequate staff, be allowed to use the English medium in teaching Science and Mathematics in Std. VII till January 1956, and in Std. VIII till January 1957. After these dates, all subjects will have to be taught in the national languages.

A further step in the introduction of national languages was taken when on January 13, 1955, the Minister of Education announced in Parliament that the medium of instruction in the pre—S.S.C. and S.S.C. classes would be in the national languages by December 1957. But he added: "Provision is, however, being made to permit the Minister of Education to authorize or direct the use of the English medium in the teaching of any subject, or subjects, where owing to a lack of textbooks or a dearth of teachers, the use of the swabhasa (Sinhalese and Tamil) medium is not practicable." Government also appointed after that a Commission on Higher Education under the chairmanship of Sir Arthur Wijeyewardena, retired Chief Justice, to report on the introduction of the national languages as media of instruction in the Senior Secondary Classes, and the University, and related questions.

OTHER EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES

Apart from the general educational system, and University, legal and technical education, Ceylon has a reasonably good system of education for defective children, and is fast developing a comprehensive system of practical education, and education for adults.

The Ceylon School for the Deaf and Blind, has been, and still continues to be the pioneer in the education of handicapped children.

In the field of practical education, over 350 practical handicrafts sections have been opened up in the secondary schools. In 1953, the services of Mr. W. J. B. Hunter, of New Zealand, were availed of by the Government, under the Colombo Plan, as adviser in technical education. A total of 193 new workshops have been set up as follows: woodwork (76), metal work (42), cloth weaving (50), and lacquer work (25).

Adult education has made some progress in Ceylon in the past five years. There are today about 10,558 on the roll of adult educational centres and classes conducted by the government,
THE UNIVERSITY OF CEYLON

The University of Ceylon came into existence on July 1, 1942, when the Ceylon University Ordinance, No. 20 of 1942, was brought into operation by proclamation. It incorporates two Government Colleges, the Ceylon University College founded in 1921 and the Ceylon Medical College founded in 1870. It might almost be said to have been born under fire, for during the consideration of the Bill the State Council adjourned for an air raid alarm and a Japanese fleet was steaming towards Ceylon when the Bill was passed on April 2, 1942.

The Ceylon Medical College was founded as an "elementary school" and gradually progressed until, in 1888, its diplomas were recognised by the General Medical Council. University College, on the other hand, was established as the nucleus of a University. The need for a University had been felt even in the early years of the British occupation, and from 1884 there was a growing body of opinion, which swelled to a chorus in the early years of the present century, for the establishment of a University of Ceylon. Whereas the war of 1914-1918 held up the project, that of 1939 onwards, by impeding communications with London, helped it forward. The University College was founded in 1921 with the intention that it should confer diplomas until the University was in being. It was thought that the period of transition would be short, and, in order to obtain experience of University standards it was decided for this short period to prepare students for external degrees of the University of London.

The "short period" was in fact 22 years. The delay was due to controversy over the site which was really a controversy over the nature of the University. University College was given certain buildings in the "educational triangle" in Cinnamon Gardens which had originally been planned for it. It was then decided to use them for Royal College, and to this day they bear witness to the decision. Before they were ready, however, University College was established in College House, now occupied by the offices and common rooms, and, when the buildings were ready, the College was moved into them. The buildings and space were both insufficient. In 1923, therefore, Mr. R. Marrs suggested that the University should take over the whole "educational triangle," which would give enough space until the lease of the Racecourse fell in and its disposal could be "reconsidered." In reply Sir Cecil Clementi minuted that the solution was to move Royal College to Buller's Road; and the University College Council agreed with him.

COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATION

Later in the same year, however, it was agreed that Royal College should stay where it was and that the University should move to Buller's Road. The plan was approved by the Legislative Council, which voted Rs. 3,000,000 for buildings and equipment. In 1925 the Finance Committee of the Legislative Council decided that the fund need not be limited to Rs. 3,000,000 but that "if necessary Rs. 4,500,000 or even more might be spent. The Legislative Council agreed to provide another Rs. 1,500,000 when it was required. The maximum accommodation of this University was to be 500, and plans were prepared on that basis.

Meanwhile, Mr. Marrs and the College Council had been drafting a Constitution and working out schemes of study. When Mr. Marrs went on leave in 1926, nearly all the preliminary planning had been completed. There had been throughout a body of opinion which favoured a residential University outside Colombo. In April 1926, or thereabouts, a memorandum was submitted to the Governor, Sir Hugh Clifford by persons anxious to secure such a University. The Governor thereupon summoned a very representative body to Queen's House and, as a result, a University Site Committee, with Mr. Justice Akbar as Chairman was appointed "to consider the question of a site for the proposed Ceylon University ". The Committee reported that the University should be unitary (i.e., not consisting of affiliated or constituent Colleges) and residential. It considered sites in Buller's Road (Colombo), Ratmalana, Peradeniya and Uyanwatta, in the numbara Valley, and recommended the last of them. As a result of a question by Mr. Mahadeva (now Sir A. Mahadeva) in the Legislative Council, certain sites at Mawilmada and Aruppola, Kandy, were also inspected. The Legislative Council resolved in March, 190, that the University should be unitary and residential, that its site should be Aruppola, and that its constitution should be determined by a Commission.

Sir Walter Buchanan-Riddell, Bart, was Chairman of the Commission which was appointed in July, 1928, and reported in January, 1929. It recommended at the commencement Faculties of Arts, Science, Law, Medicine and Engineering, with a staff of 17 Professors, 6 Readers, 42 Lecturers (16 part-time), 19 Assistant Lecturers and x5 (part-time) Demonstrators. The University would begin with 500 students and the cost would be over Rs. xo,000,000. The courses of study and the Constitution proposed were in all essentials those drafted by Mr. Marrs and the College Council from 1923 to 1926. A Bill was drafted on these lines and was read a second time in the Legislative Council in 1930. It proceeded no further owing to the constitutional changes made by the Orders in Council of 193r. The Executive Committee of Education began to consider the matter soon after its establishment, but it was impossible to expect at that date that an additional Rs. 6,000,000 would be forthcoming for such a project. In 1934 it was agreed to proceed with building on the Aruppola site and meanwhile to convert the University College into a University.

UNIVERSITY PARK

Considerable legal difficulties arose over the transitional provisions, and they were not finally resolved until 1939. Meanwhile, doubts had arisen as to the suitability of the Aruppola site because it had been involved in the great malaria epidemic of 1934-35. In 1937 Drs. Paul and Nell submitted a memorandum to the Board of Ministers urging that the University be established on the Peradeniya site. In 1938 it was decided to purchase this site, less the Court Doraifield, for just under Rs. 750,000. The site therefore forms what is now called the University Park. Additional land has since been acquired and, with other land which is to be handed over to the University, the whole site will cover about 2200 acres.

In 194o Professor L. Patrick Abercrombie (now Sir L. P Abercrombie) and Mr. A. C. Holliday were invited to prepare plans for the University Park. In accordance with their plans the P.W.D. began the engineering work in 1941. Progress was slow until the end of the war, the University Park being occupied by Ceylon Army Command and South East Asia Command. Building began in 1946. The plans assumed that 100 students would be provided for. When the University Authorities considered the matter, however, it was thought uneconomic to plan for less than 3,500 students, the recognized maximum for a residential University of this character. The plans have been revised on this basis.

PROCESS OF TRANSITION

The termination of the controversy over the site enabled attention to be concentrated on the process of transition. The creation of a University even in the most favourable conditions is not an easy process and it would have been impossible to bring it about simultaneously with its physical transfer to the University Park and its transformation from a non-residential University College to a residential University. Either the University College had to be transferred as such, or the University had to be established in Colombo, in order that it might be transferred when the buildings were ready. The actual transition from University College to University would take four years even if no new Faculties were created. The Executive Committee of Education therefore decided that the University should first be created in the hope that when the transition was completed, some at least of the buildings at Peradeniya would be ready for occupation.

Accordingly, the Bill of 193o was drawn from its dusty pigeon-hole, modified to suit the changed conditions, and presented to the State Council. It was passed in two weeks, and the whole process, from the presentation to the first memorandum to the third reading, occupied only 49 weeks. The University provided by the Ordinance, No. 20 of 1942, is unitary and residential with its seat "in or near Kandy." The residential provisions have however, been temporarily suspended until the transfer to Peradeniya takes place. It is believed that the Faculties can be transferred or established one by one, so that the suspension can be progressively removed as the building programme proceeds.
Meanwhile, the University opened its doors with 904 students in the Faculties of Oriental Studies, Arts, Science and Medicine and a full time teaching staff of nearly 60. The number of students increased to 2,250 in 1951 and the staff to 175.

In 1946 the Executive Committee of Health agreed with representations from the University that a second Medical School with a University Hospital should be established in Peradeniya, and a site was tentatively selected. Later in the same year the Minister for Agriculture and Lands agreed to recommend the transfer to the University of the lands and buildings used by the School of Agriculture and the Veterinary Hospital in order that a Faculty of Agriculture and a Faculty of Veterinary Medicine might be established. In 1950 the degree students of the Ceylon Technical College were taken with and a Faculty of Engineering established, precedent to its transfer to Peradeniya. The planning of these developments, and also the establishment of a Faculty of Law for which the Council of Legal Education had provided Rs. 50,000, were undertaken in 1947.

LEGALLY AUTONOMOUS

The University is legally autonomous being a corporation consisting of the Chancellor, the Pro-Chancellor, the Vice-Chancellor, the Court, the Council and the Senate. It works through committees which include, in addition to the Court, the Council and the Senate, five Faculties, Boards of Studies, a Scholarships Board, a Board of Residence and Discipline, and numerous ad hoc bodies. The key to the whole is the central administration operated by the Registrar, who is Secretary of all committees, and the Vice-Chancellor who is Chairman of the Senate and the Council and (in the absence of the Chancellor and the Pro-Chancellor) of the Court and also a member of all other committees. The Vice-Chancellor has specific duties under the Ordinance, and in particular it is his function to see that the Ordinance, the Statutes, the Acts and Regulations—the various kinds of University legislation—are observed. The numerous Acts and Regulations have been collected into a general Act and general Regulations.

The University has increased its endowments from Rs. 150,000 to over Rs. 3,000,000 but since it no longer charges fees it is mainly dependent on an annual vote, from Parliament, which exceeds Rs. 5,500,000.

The Education Department-1956

Legislation governing education in Ceylon will be found in the following Legislative Enactments :--

   (a) The Education Ordinance No. 31, of 1939.
   (b) Ordinance, No. 26 of 1947.
   (c) Education (Amendment) Act, No. 5 of 1951.
   (d) Education (Amendment) Act, No. 43 of 1953.

No pupil can be refused admission into any school on account of the religion nationality, race, caste, social status or language of such pupil or either of his parents. Education is compulsory between the ages of 5 and 14. The Director, however, may exempt a child from compulsory attendance on the ground that the Director is unable to procure the admission of the child into a school conveniently situated in the area in which he resides. No fees may be charged in respect of admission to or of the education provided in a Government or Assisted School. There is provision for the levying of a "Facilities and Services Fee" at a rate fixed by the Director.

Schools are classified as follows :—

   (a) A Primary School providing education up to and inclusive of Standard V (6th year).

   (b) A Junior Secondary School providing education from Standard
       VI up to and inclusive of Standard VIII (8th year).
The medium of instruction in all schools up to and inclusive of the S. S. C. Class is Sinhalese for all Sinhalese pupils and Tamil for all Tamil pupils. Parents of pupils who are neither Sinhalese nor Tamil may select either Sinhalese English or Tamil as the medium of instruction for their children. A child may be educated through the medium of the official language if the parent so requests. English is taught as a compulsory second language from Standard II (3rd year).

Considerable progress has been made in the field of practical education and provision has been made for Handicrafts, namely, Wood-work, Metal-work, Weaving, Arts and Crafts, Etc., in the post-primary classes of a large number of Government Schools. Under the Colombo-Plan, equipment from the United Kingdom and Australia has been received to equip 193 such workshops. Syllabuses of instruction for handwork in the Primary Schools and for Handicrafts in the Post-Primary Schools have been prepared and issued to schools.

In addition to the special courses for teachers in training at the Government Training College, Maharagama, in Science and Mathematics, a course of training for specialist teachers in Handicrafts has been started.

In accordance with an order issued by the Minister of Education on Dec. 21, 1955, the medium of instruction in the U.S.C. Class from and after January 1, 1958, will be Sinhalese for all Sinhalese pupils and Tamil for all Tamil pupils. An exception has, however, been made in the case of Mathematics and Science and certain other subjects where the medium of instruction in the S.S.C. & H.S.C. classes may be English, Sinhalese or Tamil at the discretion of the School authorities.

The chief developments during the year may be summed up as follows;

1. There was a marked deterioration in the terms of trade which fell from 160 to 139 (or 13 per cent) over the year. The terms of trade largely determine Ceylon's real national income, since normally exports contribute over one third of the gross national product and imports constitute nearly one third of the gross national expenditure. Also, export volumes are largely inelastic to changes in export prices. The fall of 73 per cent in 7956 was in sharp contrast to the rise of so per cent in 1955.

2. The Suez Canal through which the bulk of the country's foreign trade normally moves was blocked in November 1956. This was a fairly serious blow to the economy since it not only interrupted and delayed the flow of exports and imports, but also increased the freight and insurance charges on them.

3. A new (M. E. P.) Government with new economic policies came into power in May 1956. While the previous (U. N. P.) Government was inclined to expand private enterprise and was actually transferring some of the State industrial undertakings to the private sector, the new Government's intention, as declared in the Party's Election Manifesto, was “to progressively nationalise all essential industries, including foreign-owned plantations, transport, banking and insurance”. Action was initiated during the year for nationalising the private bus services. Nationalisation of other industries, particularly of foreign owned plantations, does not, however, seem to be immediately contemplated and the Prime Minister has given assurances that it would be undertaken only after the fullest consideration. The new Government's views on planning also appear to be markedly different from that of the old. It desired to replace the existing Six Year Investment Programme for the public sector (formulated in 1955) by “a comprehensive new development plan embracing both the public and the private sectors”. To this end it set up in November a new planning body, the National Planning Council, which is charged with the task of helping and advising the Government on all matters of planning. The Council is composed of two Ministers (the Prime Minister who is the Chairman and the Finance Minister who is the Deputy Chairman) and three officials and eight non-officials.

Apart from these developments, the economy remained more or less unchanged. Although money incomes and money holdings rose, no inflationary pressures were visible. Internal prices continued to be stable. The balance of payments position also remained free from any undue strains. The foreign reserves were practically at the same level at the end of the year as at the beginning. No major advance was made in economic development, since the Six Year Investment Programme adopted in the previous year was modest in content and in any case its implementation had only just started.

PRODUCTION

The gross national product for 1955 was estimated by the Department of Census and Statistics at Rs. 328r million. Of this amount Rs. 353 million is estimated to have gone into capital formation in the public sector and Rs. 271 million in the private sector. The rest was used for consumption. A provisional estimate made by the Central Bank puts the gross national product for 1956 at Rs. 4910 million, a fall of 7 per cent from that of 1955.

Agricultural production in Ceylon has shown a steady though modest rise in recent years. The F.A.O. index of production (1934-38—too) recorded a rise from 142 in 1952/53 to 160 in 1955/56. The rise was mainly due to a rise in the production of rice. No figures for 1956/57 are yet available, but parts of the producing areas having been badly affected by drought during the year, production may well have shown a smaller rate of rise during the year, if not an actual fall.
Ceylon has been actively encouraging production of rice by extending irrigation, colonisation and agricultural extension facilities, and by offering guaranteed prices to farmers. Between 1952/53 and 1954/55 the acreage under rice is estimated to have gone up by 29 per cent and the output by 40 per cent. Currently, about half of the country's requirements in rice is locally grown. The Government aims to achieve self-sufficiency in rice as early as possible.

Under the Guaranteed Purchase Scheme, the Government has been buying all locally grown paddy at Rs. 12 per bushel (or about Rs. 87 per ton of milled rice). The average c.i.f. price per ton of imported rice in Ceylon was Rs. 80 in 1953, Rs. 690 in 1954 and 585 in 1955, so that the guaranteed price has meant a large and growing subsidy to the domestic producer—as to the size of which some question now is being raised. This is not the only subsidy which the rice cultivator receives: as a producer he gets direct assistance in purchasing fertilizers and bringing new lands under cultivation, and as a consumer—he enjoys the subsidy given on rationed rice. Together, these subsidies have played a large part in expanding rice production.

Ceylon's other crops, tea, rubber and coconut, are mainly for export. The acreage in tea, the product which now accounts for more than three-fifths of total export earnings has virtually remained stationary since 1952, but production has tended to increase steadily owing to a rise in yield. In 1955, production increased by 4 per cent, reaching 380 million lb. In the first eight months of 1956, however, production showed a slackened monthly rate of 31.5 million lbs. as compared with 32.4 million lb. in the corresponding period of 1955, partly due to unfavourable weather conditions. Unlike in rubber, no 'general replanting scheme has yet been adopted by the Government for tea, although one is now under consideration. Currently, a scheme introduced in 1953 is in operation for small holdings (units below 4 hectares), with grants given for soil conversion and purchase of fertilizers, but replanting assistance is given to the estates, which cultivate 87 per cent of the total acreage.

Rubber acreage at around 660,000 acres, has changed little since 1950. Production, however, has varied considerably in response to movements in world price, the peak being reached in 1950 with 13,500 tons. Thereafter, dower world prices and insufficient planting reduced output. In 1954 and 1955 the outputs were 93,935 tons and 93,830 tons respectively. The five-year rubber-rice trade agreement which Ceylon concluded with mainland China in 1953 has given half of the country's output an assured market at a reasonable price. But for this assurance production might have fallen further. In the first eight months of 1956, production at 58,747 long tons was about 6 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1955. The chief need of the rubber industry is replanting of aged and uneconomic plantations by high-yielding strains. In 1947 175,000 acres (27 per cent of the total) were estimated to be seriously uneconomic. Aging is reflected in the decline in per acre yield from 412 lb. in 1950 to 347 lb. in 1954. The Rubber Replanting Subsidy Scheme introduced in 1953 provided for the replanting of 65,000 acres in five years. In 1955 the scope of the scheme was enlarged to cover 150,000 acres in 8 years (1953 to 1960). 21,000 acres were replanted in 1955. The scheme is financed by a cess on all rubber exports and the profits of exports to mainland China.

The area under coconut is roughly estimated at t.r million acres. No accurate estimate of production is available but it is thought to have declined in recent years owing to inadequate replanting. A rehabilitation scheme was, however, adopted in 1955 providing for new planting of Crown land and replanting of uneconomic marginal lands. Assistance is given for seedlings, fertilizers and fencing. The scheme will cover 15,000 acres in 1956, but 40,000 acres after two years.

Industry is as yet little developed in Ceylon; excluding the processing of tea, rubber and coconut, it contributed in 1955 only about 5 per cent to the gross national product. Between 1954 and 5955 industrial production, except in power and textiles, showed little or no advance. The Daily News index recorded provisionally an increase from 115 to 116 (1951—100), due mainly
ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

To a 6 per cent rise in power production while output of manufactures fell by per cent and of mining by nearly 9 per cent. Among manufactures, the production of cotton yarn and cotton fabrics rose substantially. Production of tiles fell. Work was started on the construction of Stage IIA of the Hydro-electric Project which would double its existing capacity of 25,000 KWh. Available data do not disclose any striking changes in 1956. In the first quarter of the year, production of cement, soap, gas, electricity, graphite and arrack was running at approximately the same annual rates as in 1955, but the production of salt was materially less.

Post-war industrial projects in Ceylon were largely started by the Government. However, in 1955 it was decided to gradually transfer the existing undertakings to private enterprise by first establishing Government sponsored corporations, the Government holding initially 100 per cent of the stock and appointing the directors, but gradually selling its interest until its share in capital fell below 20 per cent, when the corporation was to be converted into a regular incorporated public company. Of the seven State factories three (vegetable oil, ceramic and paper) were handed over to corporations in 1955; three more (leather, ply-wood and DDT caustic soda) in 1956. The seventh, the Cement Factory, was handed over to a corporation towards the end of 1956.

Two special institutions designed to stimulate industries, the Ceylon Institute of Scientific and Industrial Research and the Ceylon Development Finance Corporation, were created in 1955. The Institute, which gets from the Government an annual grant of Rs. 1 million, commenced work in April 1955. It does testing and research on technical processes and industrial methods, seeks new ways of using Ceylon's natural resources and trains industrial researchers. It gives advice free in appropriate cases but normally charges fees.

The Development Finance Corporation started operation in 1956. It is a private organization with a share capital of Rs. 8 million, but may borrow from the Government up to Rs. 16 million and, with the Government's guarantee, from the I. B. R. D. to Rs. 24 million. It will provide industry and agriculture with medium and long-term finance in various forms including Underwriting of and subscribing to new issues. Its functions thus will be partly promotional.

TRADE AND PAYMENTS

Ceylon had a record trade surplus of Rs. 480 million in 1955. The surplus was due to three factors: a 10 per cent improvement in the terms of trade, a rise in the ratio of export volume to import volume, and a Government budget surplus (Rs. 193 million) which put a brake on the rise of private incomes. Towards the end of 1955, however, the foreign trade position started becoming less favourable. The deterioration continued in 1956, due to a fall in the terms of trade and the shift in Government finances from a budget surplus to a substantial budget deficit. The budget deficit for the year (estimated provisionally at Rs. 50 million) prevented domestic incomes from falling by the full amount of the fall in export income.

The trade surplus for 1956 was Rs. 101.6 million. The balance of payments for the first three quarters of 1956 showed a current account surplus of Rs. 62.6 million as compared with a current account surplus of Rs. 275.1 million for the corresponding period in 1955 and Rs. 323 million for the whole of 1955.
The changes in the volumes and prices of the major export products between 1955 and 1956 are shown below:

Total imports in 1956 were Rs. 1632.9 million. Tea accounted for 60.2 per cent, rubber 16.9 per cent and major coconut products 12.3 per cent, very nearly the same percentages as in 2955.

Tea prices were steady for nearly half of the year, but fell later, and subsequently recovering to the initial level in the last quarter. Regarding rubber, under the Five-Year Trade Pact signed in 1953, mainland China has undertaken to buy annually 50,000 tons of sheet rubber (roughly half of Ceylon's rubber output) and to sell Ceylon 270,000 tons of rice. Prices are fixed annually by negotiation. The price fixed for rubber for 1955 was initially 28 d. (Rs. 2.50) per lb f.o.b. Colombo, but in October it was put on a sliding scale basis with a floor of 27 d. when the Singapore price was below 22 d., to be raised by 5 d. when the Singapore price was between 22 and 35 d. by 4 d. more when it was between 35 d. and 40 d., and by another 3 d. when it was over 40 d. The same sliding scale with minor alterations was fixed for 1956. The China contract has largely stabilized Ceylon's export earnings from rubber, although as long as the price was rigidly fixed at 27 d. per lb. it sometimes yielded a profit (as in 2953 and 1954 when the world price was below 27 d.) and sometimes a loss (as in r955 when the world price was above 27 d.). The new sliding scale has assured Ceylon a consistently higher than world price for the rest of the contract period.

Total imports in the first eight months of 1956 were Rs. 5,048 million as compared with Rs. 965 million in the first eight months of 1955, the increase being due to an increase both in volume and in price. The value of food imports, however, fell because of a fall in price. Five-year trade pacts (1933--1957) with mainland China and Burma have assured Ceylon practically the whole of its import requirements in rice (270,000 tons from China and 200,000 long tons from Burma) at satisfactory prices. The prices were lowered by agreement in 1955. A further downward revision of the price of Burmese rice took place in 1956.

Since the pact with mainland China has also assured Ceylon a satisfactory price for its rubber exports, the two pacts have helped to cushion the economy to some extent against violent fluctuations in the terms of trade.
As before, the bulk of Ceylon's trade in calendar 1955 was with the sterling area, which supplied 59.3 per cent of imports and took 54.3 per cent of exports. The magnitude of trade with the dollar area, however, increased considerably. In the first seven months of 1956, this pattern of trade remained more or less unchanged. Exports to the sterling area were Rs. 513 million or 56.1 per cent of the total.

Towards the end of 1955 and in the first quarter of 1956, Ceylon concluded trade agreements with Poland, Czechoslovakia and Rumania. The agreements provided for most-favoured national treatment and, in the case of Poland and Czechoslovakia, reciprocal swing credits (£400,000 for Poland and £500,000 for Czechoslovakia). If the swing limit is exceeded, the excess is to be paid in goods within three months or in sterling after six months.

FISCAL AND MONETARY DEVELOPMENTS

Budget Policy

In 1955/56 the Government budgeted for a deficit of Rs. 94 million contrasting with the achieved surplus of Rs. 127 million in the previous year. The deficit was not needed to maintain domestic incomes against any undue fall in exports as export earnings were expected to be reasonably good, but rather it was designed to step up moderately the Government's developmental expenditure. It was felt that the inflationary pressure thus generated would be partly matched by an increase in home market production and partly allowed to leak out through increased imports (for which foreign reserves were adequate). Changes in Government's net borrowing and cash holdings over the year indicated however, that the actual deficit for the year would be in the region of Rs. 48.9 million.

The budget for 1956/57 was drawn up in the context of less favourable prospects for foreign trade than in the previous year. This and the desire to increase expenditure on social services, particularly on consumer subsidies (on rice and sugar), prompted the Government to budget for a deficit of approximately Rs. 153 million. Budgeted revenue was Rs. 1,208 million, Rs. 46 million more than the original estimates for 1955/56, but budgeted expenditure was Rs. 1,361 million, Rs. 105 million greater than the original budget estimates for 1955/56. Budgeted capital expenditure was Rs. 425 million, nearly the same amount as in 1955/56, but it was in effect higher since the Government stressed its strong determination to stop the traditional under-expenditure on this head. Food (rice and sugar) subsidies were estimated to cost Rs. 100 million and free mid-day meals Rs. ro.5 million. Actually the subsidy on rice may cost more than what has been estimated because of an increase in the off-take of rationed rice.

The decision to increase food subsidies materially and the decision to incur a sizeable deficit are the two chief features of the 1956/57 budget. Food subsidies had risen to a high level in the years 1950/51 to 1952/53, but were cut down drastically in the next two years. The decision to increase their scale again raises the fundamental question as to how far in an underdeveloped economy welfare expenditures (or "investment in men" as the Finance Minister described them in his Budget Speech) should compete with economic development for the country's available resources. The decision to incur a deficit may not be inopportune assuming export income is due to fall. Any import surplus that it may create can of course be easily borne since the external assets position is strong.

The chief tax changes made by the 1956/57 budget were increases in the company income tax rates (from 34 to 39 per cent for resident companies and from 40 to 45 per cent for non-resident companies), in personal income tax rates, in estate duty for estates over Rs. 500,000 and in export duty on plum-bago, and decreases in export duty on cocoa and import duties on certain production goods.

Developments during the fiscal year 1956/57 seem to indicate that the Government would be unable to contain the budget deficit at the estimated figure of Rs. 153 million. Revenues have tended to be below expectation.
ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

(largely because of the fall in exports) while expenditures have tended to be higher (largely because of the introduction of many supplementary estimates). Estimates made in March 1956 suggest that the year may well end with a budget deficit exceeding Rs. 200 million.

At the end of October 1956 the total gross public debt amounted to Rs. 1,153 million of which foreign debt was Rs. 212 million (IBRD Rs. 20 million), sterling loans Rs. 192 million and domestic debt Rs. 946 million (loans Rs. 882 million, treasury bills Rs. 64 million). Sinking funds amounted to Rs. 220 million, consequently the net debt was Rs. 938 million.

Monetary Developments

The money supply rose during the year by Rs. 53.9 million or 5.1 per cent, as contrasted with the rise of Rs. 1.6 million or 12 per cent during the previous year. The factors responsible for the change in the money supply are analysed below:

<table>
<tr>
<th>Money Supply</th>
<th>Rs. million</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Change in money supply</td>
<td>+ 53.9</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Causes of the change:

(i) Expansion in foreign sector

(ii) Expansion in private sector

- Rise in commercial bank credit to private sector: 21.0
- Rise in fixed & savings deposits & other liabilities: -31.3

(iii) Contraction in the Government sector

- Rise in commercial bank credit to Government: 62.8
- Fall in domestic assets of Central Bank: -30.2
- Rise in Government rupee cash: 60.0

(iv) Adjustments

(Signs indicate effect on money supply).

The rise in the money supply did not produce any inflationary consequences, probably largely because the holders were exporters who had a high propensity to save. However, open market operations were conducted on a limited scale to syphon off a part of the money supply. In February 1956 two loans totalling Rs. 50 million were floated by the Government and two other loans totalling Rs. 10 million were floated by the Central Bank, largely with the object of reducing the liquidity of the commercial banks and the private non-banking sector. The issue of securities by the Central Bank was an interesting new move. Its special advantages were that (a) the money collected could be completely sterilized with no danger of being spent, and (b) the small capital market of the country could be diversified by the introduction of a new type of paper.

Prices and wages remained stable. The consumer price index which was 100.5 in 1955 altered only to 100.2 in 1956. The wages index of tea and rubber estate workers, who constitute the most important section of wage paid labour in the country, was 107.6 in 1955 and 108.3 in 1956.

Tea

The Tea industry requires about 1 man/8th labourer per acre. About 83.3% of the labour on Tea estates consist of immigrant labour from India which was recruited through the agency of the Immigration Fund which is under the control of the Commissioner of Labour and is supported by a quarterly acreage fee levied on Tea and Rubber estates. The bulk of the labour on Tea estates is resident on the estate itself and this gives rise to several problems which are not strictly connected with the working of the estates. In the solution of these problems such as family disputes, and quarrels between rival parties on the Estate, the Labour Department has always been ready to play the part of mediator and it is gratifying to record that this assistance which the department offered was really and widely availed of.

As in the case of Rubber, Tea also came under the operation of the Minimum Wage legislation in 1927, with the application of the Minimum Wages (Indian Labour) Ordinance which regulated wages payable to Indian labourers employed on these estates. The history of the extension of the minimum wage legislation to cover all labour employed in this industry is the same as that of the Rubber industry. The Wages Boards Ordinance was applied to the Tea Growing and Manufacturing trades in 1944 when a Wages Board was established. The decisions of this Board came into force in August, 1945, and cover a wide field inclusive of minimum time rates, overtime rates, definition of a working day, and annual and weekly holidays.

The Tea industry too is covered by the provisions of the Medical Wants Ordinance, the Diseases Among Labourers Ordinance and the Maternity Benefits Ordinance which among themselves provide for the provision and control of medical, housing and sanitation facilities to the labourers on these Estates.

The prosperity of the industry was seriously threatened in the latter part of 1946 when a disease known as 'Blister Blight' appeared on a number of Tea Estates in Ceylon. This disease has been known as a Tea pest in N.E. India for some time, but its harmfulness in that part of India has been greatly reduced by the climatic conditions which prevail there. The Blister Blight may have created a panic on a par with that which accompanied the first appearance of the Coffee disease but thanks to the Tea Research Institute and the co-operation of all interests concerned, the study of the disease and of the measures taken for its abatement continue in an atmosphere of calm confidence, and the industry may look forward to a future as prosperous as its past.

ACREAGE IN CEYLON

In 1880, Ceylon had 9,274 acres of tea, which within ten years increased to 20,000 acres.

General—In pleasant contrast to the almost disastrous debacle of 1955, the Tea Trade enjoyed during 1956 a year of comparative tranquility, although events both local and overseas were by no means free from alarming features. The steadily increasing world demand for good tea provided a year of increased prosperity for most High Grown producers, and those of lower elevation, unless of poor quality and manufacture, enjoyed moderate profits over the year in spite of poor prices from May to August. Various external circumstances, both political and economic, continued to exert their influence on the market, but the chief factor as far as Ceylon was concerned, proved to be—appropriately in this agricultural industry—nature itself. Amongst the former, labour strikes were the most frequent. At the end of January, a Dock Strike in Australia caused a temporary loss of demand from that country until settlement was reached on 15th February. In May, Strikes occurred on a number of estates on both sides of the Island which temporarily hampered production until the disputes were resolved. Strikes of Port labour became more frequent as the year progressed and 'go slow' tactics adopted by two rival Unions caused serious congestion of shipping. Conditions continued to deteriorate until eventually not only did an increasing number of vessels depart without loading cargo but in addition several important Shipping Lines decided to omit the port of Colombo from their schedule. Fortunately, sufficient freight remained available until the end of the year, mainly due to comparatively small crops from July to October, and the Government's action at the end of November in declaring the working of the Harbour an Essential Service which resulted in an immediate and substantial improvement. In the meantime, however, the prospect of a serious shortage of shipping space during the last quarter forced all markets to obtain their immediate supplies at higher prices.

Other events which had a bearing on the tea market included the raising of the U.K. Bank Rate on 16th February from 44 per cent to 54-per cent which, however, did not appear to cause any decrease in buying orders from the U.K. On February 17th, the Indian Government lifted all restrictions on the direct shipment of tea to London Auctions until the end of May. This action relieved the congestion in Calcutta to some extent but the greater part of the one million lb. accumulation of 1955 crop was too poor in quality to warrant direct shipment. An important factor later in the year was the decision of North Indian producers to cease plucking on the 20th of November.

and to destroy residue teas up to a per cent of individual crops. This step undoubtedly contributed to, if not created, the strong demand by eliminating at least 25 million lb. of poor quality tea from the world market, which in view of the failure of all efforts to renew the International Tea Agreement, was of gratuitous benefit to Ceylon. An interesting event was the entry of Russia into the Calcutta market during the second half of the year which substantially reduced supplies of better quality tea available to the Industry's more traditional markets. Finally the blocking of the Suez Canal early in November failed to create any weakness in the market although shipping space to the U.K., was further reduced by the diversion from this port of a number of vessels on the Far Eastern and Australian runs. On the contrary, there was an increased demand from the U.K., where the extra time lag due to the Cape Route caused stocks to decline temporarily to a dangerously low level. The Trade were aware of ample supplies in transit but the Suez situation caused fears of a tea shortage in the Public mind and consumers once again resorted to hoarding. Consequently, deliveries were abnormally large for many weeks and the big Distributors were obliged to replace them at rising Auction prices. Thus, although the boom prices of early 1955 were not reached, at the same time prices were unduly high, and with similar circumstances prevailing, the portents were ominous. The nervous instability of the U.K. market was once again plainly attributable to the absence of adequate stocks owing to the restriction of free shipments by the Governments of producing countries.

All these events therefore played their part in greater or lesser degree to influence the market but in the long run, weather conditions provided the greatest single influence on prices realised in Colombo Auctions. Extremes of growing weather during the year alternately produced short crops of fine quality and record crops of inferior rush teas. As a result, a very wide range of prices was recorded which reached its maximum during July when owing to regulation of Sales the remaining accumulation of inferior rush teas from Western Districts was offered in the same Auctions as fine flavoured Uva teas. In this month prices ranged from as low as Rs. r.50 for the former to Rs. 5.00 and more for the latter which made current sale averages somewhat deceptive. The market throughout the year was characterised by very selective buying which clearly demonstrated the increasing trend of preference for good tea in nearly all consuming countries.

Colombo Auctions—The quantity offered in Colombo Auctions during 1956 excluding reprinted teas was just short of 286 million lb. compared to the record figure of 288.3 million lb. in 1955. Auctions were regulated throughout the year, but until May the limit was confined to a maximum of 2,750 lots irrespective of quantity. A very heavy crop in April, however, caused sale totals in May to exceed 5 million lb. per week and in view of the resulting weak market, the regulation was altered to a maximum of 2,750 lots or 61 million lb. whichever was reached first. Subsequently, the maximum quantity was raised to 7 million lb. and this remained in force until the end of the year.

The year opened on a strong note due to the re-entry into the market of U.K. buyers who had been very quiet at the end of 1955, and in the first two sales prices of High and Medium Grown teas rose appreciably aided by improving quality. This was followed by a reaction to previous levels, probably due to prevailing weather conditions which promised a plentiful supply of much better quality likely to be available in February. This, in fact, occurred and quality continued to improve until the end of March, providing the finest season for flavour from Western Districts for many years. Buyers were fully appreciative and prices ranged from Re. 4.00 to over Rs. 5.00, for the finest teas, of which there was a large selection. The High Grown Average rose from. Rs. 2.19 to a peak of Rs. 2.85 on 8th March and the Medium Average rose from Rs. 1.77 to Re. 2.14. Low Grown prices had fluctuated considerably during this time but the Total Sale Average advanced from Rs. 2.02 to Rs. 2.41. During April quality began to decline but buying was extremely selective and the best invoices continued to realise more than Rs. 4.00 per lb. In May there was a sharp break in the market due to very large weekly offerings which contained a large proportion of inferior rush teas from the record April crop. Notwithstanding inferior quality and in view of the world wide demand for tea, the initial weakness proved to be largely psychological and demonstrated the inability of this market to absorb such big quantities week after week,
Owing to Catalogues closing earlier under the regulation scheme, the Trade were aware that the first three Sales in May each consisted of more than 8 million lb. and on the 8th of May a very weak market developed at a much lower level of prices which continued to decline as the Sale progressed. Many lots were sold at as much as Re. x .00 below the previous week and there were heavy withdrawals. Immediate steps were taken to rectify the situation whereupon the market promptly recovered. The Sale of 29th May was cancelled owing to the Buddha Jayanthi Holidays and it was decided to limit Auctions thereafter to a maximum of 6-1- million lb. The Government also took prompt but limited action by allowing forthwith the unrestricted shipment of Medium elevation category tea to London Auctions until the end of June. The result of these measures was a return of confidence in the market. The heavy withdrawals were promptly disposed of and although the Auctions of 15th and 11th May totalled over 15+ million lb., a much improved demand enabled this quantity to be readily sold at improved prices in spite of the poor quality. During this time, particularly heavy buying for the U.K., absorbed a large proportion of the 24 million lb. offered and subsequently the stronger demand enabled weekly quantities to be increased from 61 million lb. to 7 million lb. This was necessary to expedite the disposal of the large accumulation of April and May crop, but prices of the poorest sorts again sagged in the second half of June and during July. During the latter month however the seasonal improvement in quality from Eastern Districts had begun and owing to the long drought, an excellent selection of fine Uva teas was offered. The best of these sold at prices comparable to those realised during the fine Dimbula Season, causing the very wide range of prices mentioned earlier and which demonstrated the unpopularity of poorly manufactured teas. From May to July the Medium Grown Average varied from about Rs. 1.60 to 1.70 which suggested that most estates in this category were working at a loss. This was probably true in the case of small-holders and bought leaf estates, many of which in fact were forced out of production, but record crops reduced costs of production and it is likely that well manufactured teas from most of the better estates of Medium elevation were able to show moderate profits. During August there was an improvement in quality from Western Districts and a very strong demand developed which continued until the end of November. Short crops in August, September and October resulted in comparatively small sales and all prices rose considerably. In the Sale of 10th November, all averages reached the highest point for the year and were substantially higher than the previous peak at the height of the flavour season in March. The comparative averages were as follows:

The record November crop caused large Sales in December of inferior quality, and prices dropped sharply in the first Auction which lowered the Sale Average to Rs. 2.33. Thereafter there was some recovery and the final Sale of the year averaged Rs. 2.45, although this was largely due to a substantial upward movement of prices from the lower end of the sale.

Low Grown teas fluctuated violently during the first half of the year, due to a spasmodic demand from Middle Eastern countries. The average declined from Rs. 2.03 in the opening sale to Rs. 1.81 during February but substantial orders from the Persian Gulf quickly raised it to Rs. 2.14 early in March. Four weeks later it was back to Rs. 1.79 and after a quick rise to Rs. 1.95 at the end of April, dropped sharply in May to its lowest point of the year at Rs. x.56.
After another sharp recovery to Rs. 1,92 in the first Sale of June a long period of low prices set in when the average moved narrowly between about Rs. 1.75, and Rs. 1.60 until the end of September. During the last quarter, there was a much stronger demand not only from the Persian Gulf but also from the U.K. and Australia for suitable small leaf types. Substantially improved prices quickly, raised the average to over Rs. 2.00 in October and after reaching a peak of Rs. 2.27 at the end of November, closed at Rs. 2.23 in the last Sale of the year.

An unfortunate feature of the year for Ceylon Low Grown teas was the virtual loss of the Egyptian market. Buying for that country was normal during the first quarter on licences issued in 1955, but when these were exhausted, shipments dwindled to negligible proportions and the offtake for 1956 was about 7 million lb. less than in previous years.

London Market—Applications to ship direct to London Auctions during 1956 amounted to 48.5 million lb. of High Grown and 39.3 million lb. of Medium Grown teas but the permissible quota remained unchanged at 324 million lb. of each category. Licences for each half year were issued on this basis and the monthly quotas were calculated as in 1955, in ratio to the previous five years’ average monthly crop. Unused monthly licences were only valid up to the end of each quarter but an important concession was granted in that quotas of estates in the same elevation category and in the same Company were made interchangeable. This was of great benefit to the larger Companies who were fortunate enough to possess at least one estate of each category on both sides of the Island, since the seasonal shortage of crop in the East could be made good by the West and vice versa. Many estates however were unable to switch licences in this manner, resulting in a loss of nearly 44 million lb. to the London market due to the vagaries of the weather. The present rigidity of the quota system could be relaxed with benefit to all concerned, including the Government, since surplus crop in rush months is thrown on to the Colombo Market which depresses prices and reduces taxation revenue. Owing to the congestion caused by the record April crop, and the weak market resulting from very large sales in May, the Government temporarily suspended the quota system until the end of June but only in respect of Medium category estates. This measure resulted in direct shipment of an extra 4 million lb. of Medium Grown teas to London Auctions over and above the May/June quotas. In spite of this however total shipments of this category for the year only amounted to some 334 million lb. which indicates that at least 3 million lb. were lost owing to short crops and inability to interchange licences. Similarly, High Grown estates lost 11 million lb. total shipments of these for the year being 311 million lb. Low Grown estates were unrestricted as in previous years and shipped 71 million lb. making a grand total from all elevations of nearly 72 million lb. Applications for direct shipments for 1957 amounted to 52.1 million lb. of High Grown and 40.1 million lb. of Medium Grown teas, but the quota remained unchanged at 324 million lb. of each category, and licences for the first half year were issued on the same monthly basis as previously.

Crop and Quality—The three year run of record crops was broken in 1956 with a total of 375-4 million lb. compared to 380 million lb. in 1955. On the other hand, four new monthly records were set up in April, July, November and December. Unprecedented weather conditions in January and February resulted in the crop for the first quarter being 19 million lb. less than the same period in 1955 but the deficit was reduced to less than 4 million lb. at the end of the half year by very large crops in April and May. A combination of severe drought and low temperatures in January and February combined to curtail crop and produced a vintage season of the finest quality and flavour seen from Western Districts for many years. Apart from some local showers in January the drought which had started early in December, 1955, continued for three months until the second week of March. Indeed, many estates which rely on water-power found themselves in difficulties even though crops were reduced. Low night temperatures prevailed during January, and during February the coldest weather within living memory was experienced, with several degrees of frost frequently not only at the highest elevations but down to as low as 4,000 feet. Considerable frost damage occurred particularly in the Nuwara Eliya District where 1,400 acres of frost bitten tea was out of production for many months. A record low temperature of 180 was registered on one estate in this District. The severity of both drought and cold weather had been such that when the rains eventually came early in March, it was several weeks before the bushes responded. The effect of intensive cultivation, however, could not be long delayed and the flush came away very heavily throughout April to produce an all-time record crop of nearly 50 million lb. Good growing weather in May resulted in another large crop of over 41 million lb. and much of the tea manufactured in these two months was of very poor quality and leaf appearance, mainly due to inadequate withering space and machinery to handle the rush of leaf. The North-East Monsoon was a failure and rainfall in Eastern Districts was about half the normal average by the time their dry season commenced. Consequently, crops from Uva Districts were very short from July to September and by the end of October, the Island's total crop again showed a deficit of 17+ million lb. compared to 1955. Uva quality, however, showed an unusually early improvement and there was an excellent selection of flavoury teas available from the second half of July until late in August. Even when quality declined with the advent of North-East Monsoon conditions, TJva Districts continued to produce useful liquoring teas until the end of the year. Excellent conditions for growth produced record crops in November and December, which brought the total for the year to within 4 million lb. of the 1955 record. Low Grown producers maintained a very satisfactory standard of manufacture but owing to the poor demand:fromlApril tol.Sep:ember, had a much less profitable year than in 1955.

Export Duty---In welcome contrast to the frequent changes during the previous year the Export Duty during 1956 remained unchanged at 65 cents per lb. This undoubtedly encouraged a return of confidence amongst overseas buyers and contributed to the smooth marketing of Ceylon's main revenue earning commodity. On the other hand, the rate of duty caused considerable hardship to small holders during the long period of poor prices.

RUBBER

TFIE production of natural rubber shares with the Coconut Industry a place second only to Tea in the agricultural economy of Ceylon. The Rubber tree is not a native of this country but was introduced from Brazil. The seedling, from that country were originally propagated at the Kew Gardens in London and the first rubber plants were sent out to Ceylon in 1876. It was found that the plant took very kindly to conditions in this country and a few years later seeds and seedlings were being exported to other Eastern countries from Ceylon.

Although in its native element the Rubber tree was a jungle plant, in Ceylon it thrived under plantation cultivation. As a commercial proposition it made its presence felt round about the year 1900, in which year there was an export of 4 tons of Rubber from Ceylon valued at about Rs. 12,882. At that time the acreage under cultivation was about 1,750 acres of rubber. At the end of 1946 this had increased to 666,506 planted acres of which about 147,000 acres were small holdings, that is to say, areas under 10 acres in extent mainly cultivated by peasant agriculturists. 60% of the rubber acreages are Ceylonese owned, whilst European ownership accounts for 35% and the balance is in the hands of other nationals.

The principal product of the rubber tree is the latex which is obtained by tapping the trunk. Tapping generally commences when the trees are 6 to 7 years of age and have a girth, at 3 ft. above the ground, of approximately 24 inches. Various systems of tapping are in vogue but the basic idea is to cut the bark so as to cause the latex—a milky substance—to flow from the end of the cut. The latex is collected into cups which are affixed just below the end of the cut. The latex is collected and removed to the Factory by the tappers, after sufficient time has been allowed for the latex to run out and collect in the cups.

The conversion of the latex into the form in which it is put on the wholesale market is done in factories on the estates. It will be noted that Tea is exported in a form ready for consumption but the rubber exported is still a raw material and has to be converted into rubber goods before being put on the consumption market.

Acreage Under Rubber

The total area under rubber in Ceylon on December 31, 1955, was 660,985 acres as compared with 659,209 acres at the end of 1954. The increase was due to the fact that 2,027 acres of newly-planted rubber were registered during the year, while 251 acres of old rubber were uprooted and replanted with other crops.

The Rubber Control Department is required by the Rubber Control Act. No. II of 1956 to maintain a register of all rubber estates and small-holdings in the Island. As "Estate" is defined in the Ordinance as an area of land so acres or more in extent which is planted with rubber and a "Small-Holding" as an area of land under 10 acres in extent planted with rubber. The Island's total rubber area of 660,985 acres was distributed between Small-holdings and Estates of different sizes as follows;—.

Market. -World rubber market values suffered a continuous precipitate decline during the first five months of the year, the value of Ribbed Smoked Sheet, No. 1 c.i.f. U.K./Continental Basis Ports dropping from about 36-212d per lb. in early January to 21d per lb. by the end of May. Thereafter there was a partial recovery during June and the first half of July to about 26-12d per lb. and the Suez crisis caused a sharp but short-lived increase between the end of July and early August up to 23d per lb. followed up by a gradual decline to a level of about 26-1/2d during September/November. Again, mainly as a result of the second Suez crisis there was another recovery during November, and the year ended with the value of Ribbed Smoked Sheet I at the level of 32d per lb. c.i.f.

Duty and Cesses.-Export duties continued to be levied on the sliding pale basis until the 16th May, 1956, when fixed rates were introduced at -/32 cents per lb. on Ribbed Smoked Sheet, Latex Crepe and Sole Crepe and on Liquid Latex, and -/15 cents per lb. on Scrap Crepe and Scrap Rubber.

The Re-planting cess was increased on the 12th January, 1956, from -/fog cents per lb. on Ribbed Smoked Sheet and -/40 cents per lb. on all types of Crepe to -/15 cents per lb. on RSS., Latex Crepe and Sole Crepe. The cess on Scrap Crepe remained at -/fro cents per lb. Exporters were granted extra legal relief in respect of the losses suffered on outstanding overseas commitments resulting from these increases, Sheet—Ribbed Smoked Sheet No. 1 to 5 were reserved exclusively for shipment by the Rubber Commissioner to the People's Republic of China under the bilateral trade agreement. The Commissioner paid for his purchases at prices equal to Rs. 1.50 per lb. for RSS 1 to the producer until May, when the price was reduced to the equivalent of Rs. 1.40 per lb. for RSS 1. Shipment of the 50,000 tons contracted for 1956 was concluded early in January 1957.

A Government Trade Mission from China visited Ceylon in December 1956, for the purpose of negotiating the terms of the rubber-rice agreement for 1957. China has agreed to purchase 50,000 tons of rubber at a premium ranging from 2 + d. to + id per lb. over Singapore monthly f.o.b. averages, with a floor price of 27cl per lb. f.o.b.

Latex Crepe—The severe setback in world market values early in the year caused most producers of Latex Crepe who were in possession of the necessary equipment, to change over to the manufacture of Ribbed Smoked Sheet, and although the subsequent recovery of the market and the relatively high premium paid for Latex Crepe over RSS 1 resulted in the resumption of a certain amount of Latex Crepe production during the second half of the year, exports of Latex Crepe during 1956 totalled only 10,342 tons as compared with 17,592 tons during 1955.

The local price of RMA 1 Latex Crepe declined from Rs. 1.62 in early January to Rs. 1.50 by the end of May, and the recovery during the second half of the year took the value to a peak of Rs. 1.74 at the end of November, from which the value dropped to about Rs. 1.35 at the close of the year.

Sole Crepe—The total exports during the year amounted to 1,629 tons as compared with 1,821 tons in 1955. The value of good average No. 1 Sole Crepe declined from about Rs. 1.80 per lb. in January to Rs. 1.60 in May, and subsequently recovered to a relatively high average price of Rs. 1.75 during the period July till September, after which the revival of overseas demand brought about a steady increase in prices to Rs. 2.05 per lb. by the middle of December.

Liquid Latex—About 2,200 tons of Liquid Latex were exported during the year. The biggest Plant for the manufacture of Liquid Latex in Ceylon closed down on the 31st December, 1956, and exports of this type of rubber in the future, if any, are therefore expected to be only on a relatively restricted scale.

Exports.—According to the Customs Returns the quantities exported during /955 and 1956 were as follows:

The Coconut Industry occupies a pre-eminent position in the economy of the indigenous population. Of the approximately one million acres of Coconut land in Ceylon, roughly two-thirds consist of small holdings, that is to say, of allotments of 50 acres and under, and practically the whole of it is Ceylonese-owned. It is essentially the small man's industry. The Ceylon Banking Commissioners after a comprehensive investigation into the economic life of the country expressed the opinion that from the point of view of its importance to the export trade of Ceylon, the coconut industry can claim an equal rank with Rubber, but considered with reference to the place it occupies in the village economy, it should take precedence over all the agricultural industries in the Island; in Tea, the share of the villager is insignificant; in Rubber, though larger, it is not considerable, but in the case of coconut, it is the village garden that predominates; in fact, they said, in districts where coconut flourishes, it is the principal money crop of the average villager.

The coconut palm is indeed a Tree of Life to the Ceylonese villager. The fruit of the coconut palm enters very largely into the diet of the Ceylonese. The ripe kernel flavours curries and also provides the indigent classes with a substitute for curry with his rice meal. The oil derived from the kernel is put to many uses; the shell provides fuel; the husk yields fibre for making ropes, string and other useful articles for the house. The unopened flower of the coconut palm when still within the spathe is tapped for toddy which is the poor man's wine and is claimed to have food value. The coconut branches soaked and plaited provide him with covering for his roof while the coconut timber provides him with rafters and beams. The tender coconut gives a delicious and refreshing drink. In nuptials and in death the tender palm leaf decorates his path and it is with the elegant scabbard-like spathe containing the unopened coconut flower that the villager pays his homage at the temple.

The following are the major products of the coconut palm and represent the various industries and occupations associated with it:

1. Coconuts—Fruit of the Coconut Palm.
2. Copa—The dried kernel of the ripe nut.
3. Coconut Oil—Extract from Copra.
4. Oilcalte or Poonac—The residue remaining after the oil has been extracted from the Copra.
5. Desiccated Coconut—Manufactured from the fresh kernel of the ripe nut.
6. Coir Fibre—Manufactured from the husk which surrounds the nut.
7. Coir Yarn—Thin rope spun; from the fibres.
8. Toddy—Extracted from the tree, a drink much appreciated by the labour classes especially.
9. Arrack—An alcoholic drink manufactured from fermented Toddy.

No authentic data are available about the introduction of this palm into Ceylon. Although it is said that the coconut industry is one of the earliest economic activities in Ceylon, commercial plantations did not come into being until about a century ago. The industry at one stage achieved such stable conditions of prosperity that coconuts were described as the "Consols of the East." But the days of unrestricted monopoly and consistent, effortless dividends have passed away and the industry has now to face severe competition from oils produced in other countries.

Apart from the normal estate operations of cultivating and manuring, labour in the coconut industry is engaged in the picking of nuts, curing of copra and in the manufacture of oil, desiccated coconut and fibre. Copra curing is carried out in most of the big estates while there are dealers all over the coconut-growing areas who buy nuts and cure copra as a business.
Oil, desiccated coconut and Fibre Mills are scattered over these districts, the largest concentration being in the Negombo district and the southern portion of the Chilaw district. The labour employed in the coconut industry is almost entirely indigenous. Toddy tapping which is not an estate operation has attracted a large number of Indians chiefly in the Chilaw district. But apart from these tappers and a small number of coconut pluckers there are hardly any non-Ceylonese engaged in this industry. The labour on Coconut estates is mainly non-resident. In many cases, families reside on estates and provide a little casual labour in return for security and some amenities. Coconut estate management has been marked by a form of beneficent quasi-feudal relationship between the estate worker and the owner. Cases abound where families have resided on estates in employment for several decades and proprietors have exercised care for the welfare of generations of such estate people. Numerically, the Coconut Industry is not a large employer of labour. Although in Tea plantations the average rate of employment is from 1 to 10 labourers per acre and one-third of this in Rubber, in the coconut estates it is about one labourer for 10-15 acres. In these circumstances, the regulation of the terms and conditions of service in this category has not been a need as clamant as in the case of Rubber, Tea and other industries. For the first time minimum wages and hours of work for workers in this industry were fixed with effect from August, 1945. Decisions have also been made relating to holidays. Apart from these, the Maternity Benefits Ordinance has laid on employers the duty of making certain specified payments and granting leave to women workers who are confined.

The coconut industry differs in some respect from the Tea and Rubber industries particularly in that there is a striking distinction between the agricultural and manufacturing side and the wages are fixed both at piece rates as well as on time-rate basis. The present Wages Board for the coconut industry consists of 5 representatives from the workers' side and on the employers' side, of 2 representatives of the Planting Interests and 3 representatives of the Oil, Desiccated Coconut and Fibre Mills. As a result of representations received regarding the disparity of the strength as between Planting Interests and the Manufacturing interests, steps are being taken to have two Wages Boards, instead of one, to deal with the two sections of the industry, viz., (a) the raising and the maintenance of coconut plantations and (b) the manufacture of copra, desiccated coconut, oil, fibre and other coconut products.

COCONUTS

The market opened in January at Rs. 135/- per 1,000 nuts, rose to Rs. 145/- in April and thereafter fluctuated narrowly between Rs. 145/- and Rs. 137/50 until September when it advanced to Rs. 165/-. Thereafter the market steadily advanced closing in December at Rs. 190/- per 1,000 nuts.

The total number of nuts shipped from Ceylon in 1956 was 11,047,411 as against 10,917,502 for the previous year.

COIR YARN

Throughout the year there was a continued steady demand for Coir Yarn both in Ceylon and from India, and at no time was there any difficulty in disposing of available supplies.

Unfortunately production was lower and consequently there was no opportunity to exploit fully the potential market available nor were there any incentives to endeavour to create fresh markets.

Towards the close of the year, however, there was a noticeable stiffening in buyers' resistance to current high prices and there were signs that the new year might well see lower levels.

Naturally, this trade reacted, in common with most raw material trades, to the Suez crisis and, if supplies had been available there was a period when extremely high prices could have been obtained, but buyers who were aware of the supply position did not make extravagant bids knowing that these would have been useless. Shippers' costs in regard to the export of Coir Yarn have been considerably increased owing to higher labour wages and the concession of a free midday meal and free tea in the morning and afternoon which more or less brings Coir Yarn shippers' conditions into line with those of the Fibre export trade.

BRISTLE FIBRE

The Government Control Price Scheme continued in force throughout the year, the 'Fair Price' being Rs. 171- per cwt.

The market opened in January at Rs. 17/- per cwt. for two-tie and remained at this price until towards the end of July. Thereafter a steady rise occurred which continued to the end of the year, the price in August being Rs. 19/-, in October Rs. 21/-, in November Rs. 27/-, and finally in December Rs. 29/- per cwt.

The shipments for the year reached the satisfactory total of 320,366 cwt. which is the second highest figure on record.

COPRA

In comparison to 1955, consistently higher prices were paid for copra during 1956.

for the first three months of the year under review, prices remained in the region of Rs. 145/- to Rs. 150/-, which was the average fetched for the whole of 1955, and also the ruling price at the end of 1955. Thereafter, there was an almost uninterrupted appreciation in values until the end of the year.

Total exports for the year fell short of the 1955 mark by about 15 per cent, and this in all probability is the result of the severe drought, which has had an adverse effect on coconut crops.

Once again the bulk of exports went to India, which accounted for 97.5 per cent of the total.

DESICCATED COCONUT

The market opened for the year at 37 cents per lb. and maintained this level or prices near it until May when the market improved to 42 cents and from then onwards steadily continued to rise to 49 cents. There was a recession during November when the market dropped to 45 cents but recovered again towards the latter part of November and early December when it reached the maximum price for the year, viz. 51 cents.

Packing in paper bags continued to gain popularity and considerable shipments in this type of packing, as opposed to cases, go forward to the United Kingdom, Continent, Australia and New Zealand, Scandinavia, however, is more conservative and still appears to prefer their coconut packed in cases.

The general feature in the market over the last year (except for December) was the apparent loss which Desiccated Coconut millers had to sustain as the approximate nut cost worked out to 47 cents and to handle, pack and transport the Desiccated Coconut to buyers would cost an average miller another 3 cents. making his total costs 50 cents per lb. In the face of this theoretical reasoning, it was most surprising to find all millers offering Desiccated Coconut very freely.

The drought experienced in 1956 also considerably affected most millers as pure water is essential for the milling of Desiccated Coconut, and during the most acute period of drought, a number of Mills were forced to close down temporarily due to lack of water.

POONAC

Heavy exports of copra and record exports of desiccated coconut coincided with a poor coconut crop, and as a result there has been less copra for milling, particularly during the last quarter. This, in turn, caused an increasing shortage of poonac which reached serious proportions by the end of the year.

Poonac prices rose steadily from July onwards, and closed at Rs. 4.10— per tun, the highest prices recorded in recent years.

CINNAMON

Quills—During 1956 the total exports of Quills increased by 3,213 cwt. although the general concensus of opinion in the trade was that 1956 would see a drop of 15 per cent as compared to the 1955 export figures. This unusual increase was due to over-peeling by producers under the spur of ever-increasing prices. Prices for all grades spiralled steadily upward throughout the whole year with scarcely a pause and producers peeled every available acre of Cinnamon in response. The increased production was mainly absorbed by the Mexican and American markets where buyers appeared to be prepared to pay almost any price asked by producers.
Chips—Exports in 1956 were 1/000 cwt. less than in the previous year. This was chiefly due to lack of interest from South Africa which is one of the main markets for Cinnamon Chips. The distribution of the exports otherwise remained the same as in 1955.

Cocoa

The market opened steady, but from February onwards declined from month to month till the end of June. With orders from the East prices increased in July and improved further. The rise was maintained during the last quarter, the average level being between Rs. 130/- and Rs. 140/- per cwt. The year closed at the same price level as in 1955.

The export duty was reduced from 40 cents to 25 cents per lb. from 27th/28th September, 1956.

COCONUT OIL

With slight fluctuations, coconut oil prices rose from Rs. 885/- to Rs. 965/- during the first quarter.

A sharp increase followed in mid-April and higher price levels were maintained throughout May due to anticipated purchases of oil by China through the Rubber Commissioner, which did not, however, materialise, and the price fell to Rs. 925/- by the 30th of July. An overnight rise to Rs. 965/- was recorded following news of the Suez crisis, but almost immediately the market returned to normal, until the news of the Israeli invasion of Egypt on the 30th October caused another sharp rise. Thereafter, until the end of the year prices maintained higher levels, but were generally influenced by international news, increasing freight rates, the uncertainty of shipping space and speculative interest.

CARDAMOMS

Total shipments for 1956 amounted to 2,626 cwt. which represents a decrease of 574 cwt. on the previous year.

In the first six months of the year, there was a brisk demand with the market fluctuating narrowly between Rs. 9/25 and Rs. 9/75 per lb. In July and August the price fell to Rs. 8/- owing to the reduced demand, but recovered in September. Thereafter, due to lack of freight space to Aden and Red Sea ports, the demand was substantially lower and prices fell to their lowest level at Rs. 7/50 per lb. in December. Indications, however, were that a recovery would follow when freight space became available.
CITRONELLA OIL

The market moved through wide fluctuations and reached particularly high levels towards the Middle of the year.

Climatic conditions were probably responsible for those high prices which, of the year until

PLUMBAGO & CITRONELLA OIL

The Government Control Price Scheme continued in force throughout the year, the 'Fair Price' being Rs. 10/- per cwt.

The market opened in January at the Fair Price of Rs. 10/- per cwt. and remained at this figure until early November when Rs. 11/-50 was paid. The market closed at this price at the end of the year.

The total shipments for the year were 1,056,115 cwt. which figure is only slightly below the highest figure on record, 1,076,186 cwt. shipped in 1954.

PLUMBAGO

Good business was done during the year 1956. There was a general demand for all grades of graphite but special interest was shown in the high carbon grades.

The U.K. and the U.S.A., were the principal consumers and as usual took the larger part of the exports. Japan too purchased larger quantities than in the previous year.

CITRONELLA OIL

The market moved through wide fluctuations and reached particularly high levels towards the Middle of the year.

Climatic conditions were probably responsible for those high prices which, however, were not long maintained. From the middle of the year until about September there was a steady decline with mild fluctuations. From September to November the market was maintained steadily but, in December, there was again a dropping of confidence enquiry; and, consequently, lower prices.

Supplies during the year were normal and demand from most markets was not significantly below previous years with the exception of America which has purchased virtually no oil from Ceylon at all during 1956. But for this one feature undoubtedly much higher prices might have been realised.

PIECE GOODS

The abnormally high stocks brought forward at the end of 1955 formed a glut during the first few months of 1956, and the instability of the market noticed during the past year or two continued. Business in the better quality cottons continued on a small scale with increasing public interest in lower grade goods. The average price per yard in 1956 was just over Re. 1.11 which is the lowest figure recorded since the war. The same tendency was observable in the artificial silk imports where reducing prices and poorer qualities were the order of the day, although nylon imports increased.

The seizure of the Suez Canal by Egypt in July, and its subsequent closure at the beginning of November have had obvious repercussions in what was already a difficult enough market. In October and November there was considerable over-buying locally on the part of the retailers or small wholesalers, so that although at the end of the year the stocks on importers' shelves were equivalently reduced the overall position was not eased; and this fact, added to the extremely poor off take during the Christmas sales, left the outlook for 1957 unusually bleak.

To achieve the objective of intensifying cultivation with a view to increasing the yields, the Department of Food Production gave the following assistance:

(a) Use of model ploughs. 15,907 demonstrations were held in the use of model ploughs and as a result no less than 334,892 acres were ploughed with model ploughs, during 1954.

(b) Use of pureline seed paddy. More and more cultivators are now beginning to realise that pureline seed paddy has a definite bearing on the yield. During 1954 in the Wet Zone areas progress was made in getting the cultivators to use the popular pureline varieties where they are available. During 1954, 135,074 acres were cultivated with pureline seed and 151,727 bushels of pureline seed paddy were issued to farmers.

(c) Manuring. The manure drive has met with the greatest success. There has been a tremendous increase in the demand for imported fertilizers which are now being used on a very extensive scale in all parts of the Island.

The issue of manure is as follows:

These figures show that the imports of rice for 1956 were 104,755 tons more than for 1955, costing an extra Rs. 42,187,183. This was made necessary by the severe drought experienced throughout the Island during the early months of the year which resulted in the loss of very considerable rice crops at a time when re-planting or re-sowing was impracticable.

The price of rice to the consumer was reduced during the year to 40 cents per measure for rationed rice. Unrationed rice was available to the consumer at prices varying from 80 cts. to Re. rf- per measure according to quality.

MOTOR VEHICLES

The increasing availability of vehicles for export at manufacturing sources has led to larger imports into Ceylon amounting to 7,490 vehicles as compared with 5,754 for 1955.

The total vehicles on the road as at the end of 1956 amounted to 93,403 showing a net increase of 4,653 vehicles for the year. Registrations for the year amounted to 9,261 as compared with 6,870 for the previous year.

Comparative figures according to the returns of the Principal Collector of Customs and the Registrar of Motor Vehicles are as follows:

Cars—Continental makes are becoming more evident on the roads. Interest is being shown in the import of small vehicles with two stroke engines of small capacity as a means of cheap transport.

Commercial Vehicles--A set-back in the sale of omnibuses was created by the announcement of nationalisation plans by the Government. The uncertainty resulting from the delay in the declaration of a final policy is not in the best interests of the trade or of transport.

Motor Cycles—The increase in imports is phenomenal. The scooter is becoming popular due to the low operational and maintenance costs.

General--The reduction in the number of ceilings in the Budget of July, 1956, for determining the categories of cars coming within the different rates of Customs duties was to the advantage of the buyer of the 'family' car and was welcomed by the trade. The adoption of the Slab System is a matter which the trade is still pursuing with the Government.

Inquiries received by the trade from Governmental sources indicate that the assembly of motor vehicles is a matter which is under consideration.

The Road Development Scheme is beginning to show results. All roads appear to be better maintained. The improved type of road surface known as the 'pre-mixed carpet' which has been used on certain sections of roads within the City of Colombo has been very popular among motorists.

KEROSENE OIL

Consumption in 1956 showed an increase of 9 per cent over the figure for 1955. This increase reflects the growth and dispersal of population and the progressive use of modern kerosene appliances for domestic purposes, which still continues to be the most important category of consumption.

MOTOR SPIRIT

In 1956, the consumption of motor fuel was 6 per cent higher than in 1955. This increase was mainly due to such temporary factors which occurred in the earlier part of the year as the Royal Food and Agricultural Exhibition and the elections, and was assisted by good prices being sustained for the major export commodities.

The rate of increase was retarded slightly during the latter part of the year as a result of the severe drought and the arbitrary reduction of 10 per cent imposed by Government on supplies.

LIQUID FUEL—Furnace Fuel, Diesel Fuel, Gas Oil

Increases in consumption of 10, 3 and 19 per cent respectively, were recorded in 1956 over the 1955 figure. The higher consumption of furnace fuel is due to the new factories operated by Government sponsored Corporations coming into operation. The increase in diesel fuel consumption was caused by more small scale industries using prime use of this fuel for tea drying. The increase in consumption of gas oil is due to further dieselisation of road and rail transport.
A factor that may have retarded the greater consumption of liquid fuel was the imposition by Government of an import tax, of 15 cents per gallon effective from the 13th September, 1956.

TEA AND RUBBER CHESTS

Adequate supplies of chests were again available during 1956.

There was a considerable increase in the price of Japanese plywood chests during the latter part of the year which was not noticeable in the case of plywood packages received from the other exporting countries.

The ratio of Government plywood chests to imported chests which was fixed at 1 to 7 on 27th January, 1956, remained unchanged for the rest of the year under review. It is understood, however, that some large importers of plywood chests have had considerable difficulty in obtaining delivery of Government chests at the ratio of 1 to 7.

Imports and values for the past three years according to the Customs Returns were:

ALUMINIUM LININGS AND TEA LEAD

There were sufficient supplies of aluminium linings throughout the year for the packing of produce. Tea lead has not been available for several years and there is now no demand for these linings.

Import figures for Aluminium Foil for packing produce for export were:

- Total imports 1956: 5,353 cwt. valued at Rs. 1,394,389
- Imports from UK, 1956: 2,045 cwt. valued at Rs. 572,159/-.

FERTILISERS

Fertiliser offtake during 1956 continued to increase as can be seen below from a comparison with previous years' figures. During the year Tea Companies were not particularly affected by fluctuations in prices but did suffer from the effects of drought in the early months of the year. Demand for fertilisers during the months of February, March and April was consequently smaller than in the previous year, but during the later months of the year the shortfall in those early months was more than made up. Fertiliser sales to Paddy and Rubber plantations were maintained, and there were considerable increases in supply to Coconut plantations. This was principally due to the Government's well-organised Coconut Rehabilitation Scheme which was started in April.

Prices continued to move slowly upward throughout the year, chiefly because delays in Colombo harbour made shipowners reluctant to carry any large parcels in their vessels for this port. It was, therefore, necessary for the fertiliser importers to use chartered vessels for some of their requirements, but despite this and other difficulties, supplies were maintained throughout the year. Fortunately the fertiliser trade had foreseen most of the difficulties which arose during the year, and took appropriate action to safeguard the supply position.

The shortage of steel has continued throughout the year and according to reports received recently from suppliers the inflow of large orders for steel of all types is greater than the present level of production, and order books are lengthening. In the U.K., the effects of oil rationing and increased prices of oil have affected production, and a price rise in the near future is expected.

In Britain and on the Continent the base prices of the smaller sizes of flats, round and angles increased by approximately £ per ton, while in the case of heavy sections the rise over the past year was greater amounting to approximately 25 per cent.

The steel situation in America which eventually deteriorated into a strike allied with increasing demands for Continental material from India and countries of the Far East at times led to extreme shortage of all types of iron and steel products.

Supplies from Japan became scarce as it would appear that the Industry is concentrating on the export of shipbuilding plates which are easily disposed of in view of the current world shortage.

For the future, both in the U.K. and on the Continent projects are in hand for new plants to cope with the still increasing demand and it is thought that each year will see increased production all over Europe, but for the time being it is not possible to forecast the state of general availability.

EXCHANGE AND MONEY

On the 4th January, 1952 the Central Bank of Ceylon made a small upward revision of their Sterling rates to conform with the provisions of the Monetary Law Act. Since that date the Ruped/Sterling rate of exchange for telegraphic remittances has remained at 110.

The telegraphic selling rate for dollars on 1st January, 1956 was Es. 477i $100, and the rate fluctuated narrowly throughout the year to close at 480.

The Central Bank of Ceylon discount rate remained at 2½ per cent throughout the year.

The Bank of England rate was 4½ per cent at January, 1956, and was raised to 5½ per cent per annum on 16th February, 1956.

In Ceylon money was in good supply throughout the year and the requirements of trade were comfortably met.

Crown Land

The Ordinances in three regulating the disposal of CrOw land are--

(1) The Land Development Ordinance (Chapter 3zo of the Legislative Enactments).

(2) The Crown Lands Claims Ordinance (Chapter 318 of the Legis- lative Enactments).

In former years it was the practice riot to advertise any Crown Iarid for sale Or lease unless someone had applied for the land. When such an application was received steps were taken to survey the land and eventually to dispose Of the freehold or leasehold by public auction. The present policy of the Government is to take the initiative in disposing of Crown land. As a necessary preliminary, the Crown land in each village is "mapped-out", that is to say it is allocated to various definite purposes such as—

Village expansion ; Village forest ; Village pasture ; Chena cultivation ; Colonization ; The requirements of local authorities ; Alienation to middle- class Ceylonese ; Alienation to any persons whomsoever irrespective of the class or race to which they belong.

A further change is in the tenure of land alienated by the Crown hitherto the only tenures have been freehold and leasehold, but a new tenure was introduced by the Land Development Ordinance. The principal features of this tenure are as follows

(e) The owner fs obliged to cultivate the land, or utilize it in some other way specified in the grant ; (b) The owner is required to make a small annual payment to the Crown in perpetuity.

(t) The land cannot be subdivided beyond the limit specified in the grant, or held in undivided shares smaller than the fraction specified ; (d) The succession to the land is not regulated by the ordinary law of inheritance, but by special rules designed to prevent the land from being subdivided ; (e) In certain cases, the owner is forbidden to lease or mortgage the land except to the Crown, and may not otherwise dispose of it without the Revenue Officers’ consent.

An allotment normally consists of three acres of irrigable land and 2 acres for a homestead and garden crops. The necessary planting material, agri- Cultural implements and livestock are supplied.
Debt Conciliation Board

The Debt Conciliation Board consists of five members one of whom is nominated by the Minister of Justice, to be its Chairman. The Board was constituted by virtue of Ordinance No. 39 of 1941 and commenced its activities in that year. It has been continuously functioning since then. Starting in a small way, its work has increased eight hundred fold as compared with what it performed during the first year of its career.

The primary nature of this work is to bring about settlements of debts due on mortgage bonds and other charges on property of an agricultural description whether situated in town or in the country. The term "agricultural property" is so defined in the Ordinance as to generally embrace almost any land with or without buildings thereon provided it entirely or partially is used for the purpose of husbandry, agricultural or animal, and this would include the cultivation of vegetables, the keeping of poultry or the rearing of bees etc. It is therefore important to note that the definition is so generously worded as to give the Board a wide jurisdiction in the matter of the entertainment of applications addressed to it. The Board does not deal with applications based on conditional transfers.

The settlements arrived at are voluntary, the Board intervening only to clear and definitely set out its terms, and to use its persuasiveness in order to make them acceptable to the parties: in the event of these terms, though fair and reasonable, being rejected by the creditor the Board is entitled to grant a Certificate to the debtor to this effect. This Certificate comes into play if the creditor thereafter institutes action for the recovery of the debt in question, and when produced in the proceedings has the effect of placing the plaintiff under certain disabilities.

After an application is pending before the Board no action on this cause of action can be instituted by the creditor in a Court of Law, and such an action cannot be instituted till the application before the Board is formally dismissed or a Certificate has issued.

As this Certificate was found to be wanting in coerciveness certain amendments were introduced to increase its rigour, which briefly stated amount to the creditor being denied his costs of action, and the Court being expressly given the discretion, in view of the matter having been previously considered by the Board in all its bearings, to order the debt to be paid in instalments spread over a period of ten years with interest at a low level as from the date of application to the Board.

Besides a debtor, a secured creditor may also apply for a settlement of all his debts. It is also provided that so long as the application is based on a charge, other supplementary debts as those due on promissory notes, i.o.u.'s, bills of exchange, cheques etc., can also be introduced to make the settlement a complete one.

There are no stamps duties to be incurred, and there is no appeal or revision from the orders of the Board. Services of summons, notices etc., can be effected through a process server and obedience enforced by the issue of warrants and commitments to jail. These sanctions apply to the production of documents and to witnesses considered necessary for the enquiry.

Finally, matters in issue between parties in actions already instituted can by mutual consent be referred by the Court to the Board for adjudication, when a decree thereafter will be entered by the Court in terms of such findings.

The office of the Board is at the Boy Scouts' Memorial Hall, 151, Lower Lake Road staffed by a Secretary and clerks. The sittings of the Board are held in the main hall of the said building.
THE CEYLON STATE MORTGAGE BANK

(91, Horton Place, Colombo.)

Directors:—R. Sabaneyagam, o.a.z., (Chairman), N. E. Weerasooria, Q.c., R. P. Senanayake, D. Edmund Amarasena, M.B.E., Kingsley Herat.

Manager---T. Victor Fernando, Proctor S.C. and N.P.

Capital—Rs. 50,000,000 to be raised by the issue of debentures, guaranteed by Government bearing interest at rates fixed by the Board at the time of issue of debentures with the approval of the Hon’ble the Minister of Finance.

The Ceylon State Mortgage Bank was established in October 1931 under Ordinance No. 16 of 1931 for the purpose of granting long-term loans for agricultural and other prescribed purposes on the primary mortgage of immovable property situated in Ceylon.

This Ordinance provides that the funds for the purpose should be obtained by the issue of debentures and that the total indebtedness on the principal of such debentures should not exceed Rs. 50,000,000 tie debentures being guaranteed by Government and bearing interest at rates fixed by the Board at the time of the issue of debentures with the approval of the Governor.

The Bank is not a burden on the Government since its money is borrowed from the public on debentures and loans are granted on suitable security. The Bank reserves for itself a marginal profit to cover its overhead expenses.

LOANS & INTEREST RATES

Changes have been made in the limits of loans granted by the Bank. The original limits were a minimum of Rs. 5,000 and a maximum of Rs. 150,000, but with the object of enlarging the Bank’s business and increasing its usefulness, an alteration was effected in 1935. The minimum amount to be granted as a loan was decreased to Rs. 2,500 and the maximum raised to Rs. 500,000. Since then the lower limit has been further reduced to Rs. 2,000 and the higher increased to Rs. 1,000,000. Another alteration was made in the rates of interest charged on loans granted by the Bank and paid on debentures issued by it. Since the Bank was making satisfactory progress, a general lowering of interest rates was considered desirable and the rates were revised in December 1938. A general increase of 1% per cent. in the rate was made as a result of the increase of the interest rate payable by the bank on its debentures from 4% per cent to 4 1/2 per cent due to war conditions, but towards the end of 1940 it was decided to lower the interest rates on debentures and loans to the pre-war level. The rate of interest on Debentures at present vary from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent. and the rates of interest on 4% loans have been fixed at 4 1/2 %.

LOANS & SECURITY

Loans are granted to suitable applicants for the liquidation of their debts incurred on the purchase of development of agricultural lands. In the case of urban property a loan is obtainable from the bank for the liquidation of a mortgage on any building or the land appurtenant thereto or any land suitable for building purposes as authorized in Section 52 of the Ordinance. No loan is granted by the Bank unless its repayment is secured by a primary mortgage of immovable property in Ceylon. This property must not be undivided and the title of the borrower to the land offered as security should be acceptable to the Bank:

REVIEW OF BUSINESS

In the first quinquennium of the Bank’s existence 149 loans were granted in all amounting to Rs. 3,670,000 and in the second period i.e., from 1936 to 1941, 388 loans were paid out totalling Rs. 7,133.105. The peak years of business were 1936, 1937 and 1938 when the amount of loans granted each year exceeded Rs. 2,000,000 while the subsequent years show a considerable falling off in this respect. In 1944, loans amounting to 15 lakhs were repaid and mainly due to war prosperity and inflation, new loans granted by the Bank did not exceed 5 1/2 lakhs. The loans granted in 1946 totalled Rs: 591,600. This falling off in the volume of business is further attributed to the restrictions on trade and shipping occasioned by the war. The prospect of a world slump had probably deterred many people from purchasing urban lands and erecting buildings on them. These are some of the purposes for which loans are granted by the Bank. During the second and third quinquennium of its existence, it has fulfilled in a great measure the purposes for which it was established. The Loans granted in 1952 amounted to Rs.3,184,000,1953 amounted to Rs.4,224,50,1954 amounted to Rs.4,934,500, 1955 amounted to Rs.5,586,250, which is the highest amount granted by way of Loans in any year in the history of the bank, and there is now a definite upward trend in the Bank’s business. The Reserve Fund of the Bank now amounts to Rs. 1,447,268.66.
1. An applicant for a loan shall pay, for the expenses to be incurred in connection with his application, to the credit of the State Mortgage Bank in the Bank of Ceylon, Colombo, a sum of Rs. 20 plus 2 per cent. of the loan applied for, whichever is less, and shall annex to his application a receipt provided that where the amount of the loan applied for exceeds 2 lakhs, the sum to be paid by the applicant shall be Rs. 520. The Board, however, for any special reason, may upon call the applicant to deposit a larger sum.

2. If the loan is sanctioned by the Board two per cent. of the loan, and the stamp duty on the mortgage bond, shall be deducted from the loan before payment is made to the applicant.

3. In making this deduction credit shall be given for the moneys already paid by the applicant and for the hire of any conveyance supplied by him for the valuation of the security tendered. But where the fee paid by the applicant under Rule 1 is more than 2 per cent. of the loan granted the applicant shall not be entitled to credit for a larger sum than 2 per cent. of the loan, unless the Board decides otherwise in the special circumstances of a case and such decision of the Board shall be final.

4. (a) Where an application for a loan is withdrawn by the applicant or refused by the Board the fee paid by the applicant shall be refunded to him by the Manager, subject to—

(a) a deduction of twenty rupees in any case where the application is withdrawn or refused before a valuator is appointed, or before the application is submitted by the Bank for report on title or for report on the purpose for which the loan is applied for, or on any other matter relevant to the application; or

(b) a deduction of such sum as the Manager in his discretion may consider necessary for meeting any expenses incurred by the Bank in any case where the application is withdrawn or refused after the Bank has taken any of the steps referred to in paragraph (a).

The decision of the Manager as to the sum to be deducted under the foregoing paragraph (b) shall be final.

4A. "No applicant for a loan shall be entitled to inspect reports of valuators appointed by the Board or to call for details of expenditure incurred in connection with deposits made by him under Ruler of the said rules.”

5. If the applicant for a loan takes no steps for three months after receiving intimation that the loan has been sanctioned, to perfect the papers for obtaining the loan, the Board may treat the application as having been withdrawn. The Directors may in their discretion grant a loan after the said period and may impose a fine not exceeding Rs. 200 on the applicant for his delay.

6. In the case of a second or a subsequent application for an additional loan on the same security, the fee payable by the applicant at the time of the application shall be Rs. 75 and shall be deposited by the applicant in the Bank of Ceylon, Colombo, to the credit of the Ceylon State Mortgage Bank. It shall be competent for the Manager to require the applicant to deposit a larger sum, when in the opinion of the Board a larger sum is required for assessment of value or for the investigation of title.

7. Where an additional loan is granted deductions shall be made therefrom in the manner provided by Rule 3.

8. Every application for a loan shall be made in the prescribed forms. The applicant shall send along with his application the title-deeds of the property (including probates and letters of administration, and copies of inventories of the property offered as security and other instruments relating to the property or to the dealings with and possession thereof which are in his custody, including in the case of property liable to rates or taxes the latest receipt in his possession, with one copy of an index of such papers.

3. The applicant for a loan shall submit along with his application an abstract of title for each property tendered as security. Provided however that the abstract of title may be dispensed with, if in the opinion of the Asst. Manager or the Conveyancer, the documents relating to any security are few and properly arranged, and the title can be conveniently examined without such abstract of title.

4. The abstract shall commence with the earliest deed or document available relating to title.

5. All facts whereon the title depends such as births, marriages, deaths or bankruptcies shall be stated in their order.

6. The abstract shall contain the exact words used in every material part of any document abstracted, so that the title can be examined in a convenient way. It is not sufficient to give the effect of a material clause.

7. Tracings of any plans referred to in title-deeds shall be inserted at their places in the abstract.

8. The applicant shall produce all the evidence which is necessary to prove the facts stated in the abstracts such as births, marriages, deaths or intestacies. If he is unable to produce evidence to prove any facts the reason for it must be stated.

9. The applicant shall in every case submit an affidavit in support of the statements in the abstract from persons competent to testify to the facts.

10. Where there has been any litigation about the property, particulars of such litigation shall be stated.

11. Extracts from all Registers of Encumbrances, etc., affecting the property, shall be submitted with the application.

12. If the applicant, or any person through whom the title is derived, is subject to any local, personal or foreign laws, the facts should be noted in the proper place in the abstract. Where there is any doubt as to the law applicable, this shall be stated.

13. Where several allotments form one land and are comprised within one plan, the different allotments shall be marked on the plan.

14. If any application is defective or if any other information or material is desirable, the Manager shall call upon the applicant to furnish information or documents.

(Under Section go (d))

6. Valuators should check their valuation by a consideration of one or more of the following methods:--

(r) The price paid for the same property or a portion of it in recent years after making all necessary allowances for lapse of time, difference of situation and any other possible differences between the property sold and that offered as security. Inquiry should be directed to ascertaining--

(a) Whether for any special reason the purchaser has paid a fancy price for it; and

(b) Whether there has been any rise or fall in the value of land in the neighbourhood since the date of his purchase.

(a) The price paid for property of similar description and quality in the vicinity in recent years, after making all proper allowances for lapse of time, advantage of situation, etc. In considering such sales, care should be taken to exclude all transactions in which, taking advantage of the pressing need of the buyer, the seller obtained as the price of the land a much larger amount than its proper value. The buyer may have paid the particular price for the land because no other land suited his requirements. The value to be fixed by the Bank will, however, be only such an amount as the owner would have been likely to get if he had wanted to sell it in the open market and there had been no neighbour compelled by circumstances to purchase it. When considering the case of neighbouring lands which have been sold, the transaction should be compared with the case of the land to be mortgaged to see in what points they do or do not resemble each other.

(3) Sale value of similarly situate property in the vicinity, at an auction.

(Under Section 95 (e))

i. Every borrower who makes default in the payment of an instalment upon the due date, and who is given time by the Board to pay such instalment, shall pay, in addition to the amount consisting of the fixed portion of the principal and the interest due up to the date of payment, as required by section 59 of the Ordinance, further interest for the period from the due date to the date of payment calculated—

(a) in any case where that period does not exceed one month, at the rate of one per centum per annum on the aforesaid fixed portion of the principal; and

(b) in any case where that period exceeds one month, at the rate of one per centum per annum on the balance of the principal outstanding at the due date; Provided that in any case where an instalment is not fully paid within a period of one month from the due date, the amount of further interest payable under this paragraph shall not exceed the difference between the amount of the instalment and the part payment made within the period of one month.

(2) Every borrower who makes default in the payment of an amount due by way of an equated payment, and who is given time by the Board to make such payment, shall pay, in addition to that amount—

(a) in any case where the period from the due date to the date of payment does not exceed one month, interest for that period calculated at the rate of one per centum per annum over and above the rate of interest stipulated in the Bond, on that part of the equated payment which consists of principal; and

(b) in any case where that period exceeds one month, interest calculated at the rate of one per centum per annum on the balance of the principal outstanding on the due date; Provided that in any case where an equated payment is not fully paid within a period of one month from the due date, the amount of interest payable under this paragraph shall not exceed the difference between the amount of the equated payment and the part payment made within the period of one month.

(Under Section 91 (f))

The charge recoverable for advertising the sale of a land and selling the land under Section 64 of the Ordinance shall not exceed one per cent. of the loan or Rs. 50% whichever is less.

Payment of interest on Debentures

The Bank will pay to registered holders of debentures interest at the rates specified therein by half-yearly payments on the 31st day of March and 30th of September in each year. The debentures which are issued at present carry interest varying from 21/2 to 31 per cent. per annum.

Maximum Amount of Loan

The amount on loan from the Bank to any person at any one time shall not exceed Rs. 1,000,000.

CEYLON WILDLIFE PROTECTION SOCIETY
(Former an May 23rd, 1894).

The protection of Game and Fauna in Ceylon is regulated by the Fauna and Flora Ordinance No. 2 or 1937, a copy of which can be obtained from the Government Record Office, Secretariat Buildings, Colombo, and a summary is given below.

The Department of Wild Life is entirely responsible for the control of strict Natural Reserves, National Parks, Sanctuaries and Intermediate Zones and details of these can be obtained from the Warden, Secretariat Buildings, Colombo, or from the Hon. Secretary and Treasurer, the Ceylon Wild Life Protection Society.

The Ceylon Wild Life Protection Society was formed on the 23rd May 1894 to prevent the elimination of Game in Ceylon by the destruction of Animals for trading purposes, to further the interests of legitimate sport and to conserve one of the food supplies of the inhabitants. It was largely due to the representations of the Society that the Dried Meat Ordinance was passed in 1908 and the Game Ordinance amended in 1909. As the protection of Ceylon's Game and Fauna is now undertaken by the Department of Wild Life and as the Society's watchers no longer have any official status the objects of the Society were altered at the Annual General Meeting held on the 30th November and are now:

(x) to prevent the progressive destruction of species of wild animals and wherever possible to preserve wild life intact in natural conditions in Ceylon.

(2) to continue the tradition of the Society in furthering the interests of legitimate sport.

(3) to promote an interest in the life histories of all forms of animal life and to co-operate with other Societies and Institutions which have similar aims and objects.

The annual subscription is Rs. 5/- which entitles the subscriber to the publication "Loris".

(a) Where the Commissioner is satisfied that any person usually makes up the accounts of a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment carried on or exercised by him to some day other than the thirty-first day of March, he may direct that the statutory income from that source be computed on the amount of the profits of the year ending on that day in the year preceding the year of assessment. Where, however the statutory income of any person from a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment has been computed by reference to an account made up to a certain day and such person fails to make up an account to the corresponding day in the year following, the statutory income from that source both of the year of assessment in which such failure occurs and of the two years of assessment following shall be computed on such basis as the Commissioner in his discretion thinks fit.

(3) Where on a day within a year of assessment any person whether resident or non-resident commences to carry on or exercise a trade, business, profession, vocation, or employment in Ceylon, or, being a resident person, elsewhere, any profits arising therefrom for the period from such day to the end of the year of assessment shall be statutory income of such person for such year of assessment.

(b) that, although he is not deemed to be resident under the foregoing sub-sections, he would, but for his death, have been deemed to be resident, and

(c) that there is chargeable for the said period a greater amount of tax than would have been so chargeable if he had lived, the Commissioner may direct that such deceased individual shall be deemed to have been resident or non-resident, as the case may be, for the purpose of granting such relief as the circumstances of the case may require.

(6) An individual who is in the employment of the Govt. of Ceylon and who is resident in any other country during any period for the purposes of such employment shall, for the purposes of this Ordinance, be deemed to be resident in Ceylon during that period if income tax or any tax of a corresponding nature is not payable in that country in respect of the official emoluments payable to him for such period.

Provided that any such individual who is a citizen or subject of any country other than Ceylon shall not, by reason or his being so deemed to be resident in Ceylon, be liable to tax as a resident as respects any income, other than his official emolument or other income arising in or derived from Ceylon.

LIABILITY OF NON-RESIDENT PERSONS

Chargeability of Certain Profits of Non-resident Persons

34. (I) Where a person in Ceylon, acting on behalf of a non-resident person effects or is instrumental in effecting any insurance or sells or disposes of or is instrumental in selling or disposing of any property, whether such property is in Ceylon or is to be brought into Ceylon and whether the insurance, sale, or disposal is effected by such person in Ceylon or by or on behalf of the non-resident person outside Ceylon and whether the moneys arising therefrom are paid to or received by the non-resident person directly or otherwise, the profits arising from any such insurance, sale, or disposal shall be deemed to be derived by the non-resident person from business transacted by him in Ceylon, and the person in Ceylon who acts on his behalf shall be deemed to be his agent for all the purposes of this Ordinance.

Provided that, when the property sold or disposed of is produced or manufactured by such non-resident person outside Ceylon, the profits from the sale or disposal shall,—

(a) if the sale or disposal was by wholesale, be deemed to be not more than the profits which might reasonably be expected to be made by a merchant selling the property by wholesale, and

(b) if the sale or disposal was by retail, be deemed to be not more than the profits which might reasonably be expected to be made by a merchant selling the property by retail.

The profits of a non-resident person from employment by a resident person shall be chargeable with tax in so far as such profits arise from services or past services rendered in Ceylon.

Persons Assessable on behalf of a Non-resident Person

A non-resident person shall be assessable either directly or in the name of his agent in respect of all his profits and income arising in or derived from Ceylon, whether such agent has the receipt of the income or not, and the tax so assessed whether directly or in the name of the agent shall be recoverable by all means provided in this Ordinance out of the assets of the non-resident person or from the agent. Where there are more agents than one, they may be assessed jointly or severally in respect of the income of the non-resident person and shall be jointly and severally liable for tax thereon.

Liability of Certain Non-resident Persons

36. (I) For the purposes of this section—

(a) a person is closely connected with another person where the Commissioner in his discretion considers that such persons are substantially identical or that the ultimate controlling interest of each is owned or deemed under this section to be owned by the same person or persons;

(b) the controlling interest of a company shall be deemed to be owned by the beneficial owners of its shares, whether held directly or through nominees, and shares in one company held by or on behalf of another company shall be deemed to be held by the shareholders of the last mentioned company.

*In force from I. 4. 1949
(2) Where a non-resident person carries on business with a resident person with whom he is closely connected and the course of such business is so arranged that it produces to the resident person either no profits or less than the ordinary profits which might be expected to arise, the business done by the non-resident person in pursuance of his connection with the resident person shall be deemed to be carried on in Ceylon, and such non-resident person shall be assessable and chargeable with tax in respect of his profits from such business in the name of the resident person as if the resident person were his agent, and all the provisions of this Ordinance shall apply accordingly.

(3) Where tax is chargeable in respect of the profits arising from the sale of goods or produce manufactured or produced outside Ceylon by a non-resident person or by a person or persons with whom he is closely connected, the profits of such non-resident person for the purposes of this Ordinance from the sale of such goods or produce shall be deemed to be not less than the profits which might reasonably be expected to have been made by a merchant, or, where the goods or produce are retailed by or on behalf of the non-resident person, by a retailer of the goods or produce sold, who had bought the same direct from a manufacturer or producer with whom he was not connected.

Where import duty levied on an ad valorem basis under Customs Ordinance has been paid in Ceylon on such goods or produce, the sum to be deducted as the cost of such goods or produce on arrival in Ceylon shall not, for the purpose of computing the profits arising in Ceylon, be greater than the value on which such import duty has been so paid.

Profits of Certain Businesses to be Computed on a Percentage of the Turnover

37. Where the Commissioner in his discretion considers that the true amount of the profits of a non-resident person arising in or derived from Ceylon in respect of a trade or business cannot be readily ascertained, such profits may be computed on a fair percentage of the turnover of that trade or business in Ceylon: Provided that the amount of such percentage shall be subject to appeal in accordance with the provisions of Chapter XI.

Profits of Non-resident Persons from Sale of Exported Produce

38. Where a non-resident person carries on in Ceylon an agricultural, manufacturing, or other productive undertaking, and sells any product of such undertaking outside Ceylon or for delivery outside Ceylon, whether the contract is made within or without Ceylon, the full profit arising from the sale in a wholesale market shall be deemed to be income arising in Ceylon: within the meaning section 5: Provided that, if it is shown that the profit has been increased through treatment of the product outside Ceylon other than handling, blending, sorting, packing, and disposal, such increase of profit shall not be deemed to be income arising in or derived from Ceylon.

Where any such product is not sold in a wholesale market, or is not sold at all, the said person shall be deemed to derive profits from Ceylon within the meaning of section 5 and such profits shall be deemed to be not less than the profits which might have been obtained if such person had sold such product wholesale to the best advantage.

G.—SHIPPING

Profits of Non-resident Shipowners

39. (1) Where a non-resident person carries on the business or shipowner or charterer and any ship owned or chartered by him calls at a port in Ceylon, his full profits arising from the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, or goods shipped in Ceylon shall be deemed to arise in Ceylon: Provided that this section shall not apply to goods which are brought to Ceylon solely for transhipment.

(2) Where for any accounting period such person produces the certificate mentioned in sub-section (3), the profits arising in Ceylon from his shipping business for such period, before deducting any allowance for depreciation shall be a sum bearing the same ratio to the sums receivable in respect of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, and goods shipped in Ceylon as the ratio for the said period shown by that certificate of the total profits to the total sums receivable by him in respect of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, and goods: Provided that where the said total profits have been computed on a basis which differs materially from that prescribed in this Ordinance, the ratio of profits shall be adjusted so as to correspond as nearly as may be to the ratio which would have been arrived at if the profits had been computed in accordance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

(3) The certificate shall be one issued by or on behalf of any income tax authority which assesses the full profits of the non-resident person from his shipping business, and shall certify for any accounting period as regards such business—

(a) the ratio of the profits, or where there are no profits, of the loss as computed for the purposes of income tax by that authority, without making any allowance by way of depreciation, to the total sums receivable in respect of carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, or goods:

(b) the ratio of the allowance for depreciation as computed by that authority to the said total sums receivable in respect of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, and goods.

(4) Where at the time of assessment the provisions of sub-section (2) cannot for any reason be satisfactorily applied, the profits arising in Ceylon may be computed on a fair percentage of the full sum receivable on account of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, and goods shipped in Ceylon:

Provided that where any person has been assessed for any year of assessment by reference to such percentage, he shall be entitled to claim at any time within three years of the end of such year of assessment that his liability to tax for that year be recomputed on the basis provided by sub-section (2).

(5) Where the Commissioner decides that the call of a ship belonging to a particular non-resident shipowner or charterer at a port in Ceylon is casual and that further calls by that ship or others in the same ownership are improbable, the provisions of this section shall not apply to the profits of such ship and no tax shall be chargeable thereon.

Master of Ship to be an Agent

40. The master of any ship owned or chartered by a non-resident person who is chargeable under the provisions of section 39 shall (though not to the exclusion of any other agent) be deemed the agent of such non-resident person for all the purposes of this Ordinance.

Refusal of Clearance where Tax is in Arrear

45 (1) In addition to any other powers of collection and recovery provided in this Ordinance, the Commissioner may, where the tax charged on the income of any person who carries on the business of shipowner or charterer has been in default for more than three months (whether such person is assessed directly or in the name of some other person), issue to the Principal Collector of Customs or other authority by whom clearance may be granted a certificate containing the name or names of the said person and particulars of the tax in default. On receipt of such certificate, the Principal Collector of Customs or other authority shall be empowered and is hereby required to refuse clearance from any port in Ceylon to any ship owned wholly or partly or chartered by such person until the said tax has been paid.

(2) No civil or criminal proceedings shall be instituted or maintained against the Principal Collector of Customs or other authority in respect of a refusal of clearance under this section, nor shall the fact that a ship is detained under this section affect the liability of the owner, charterer, or agent to pay harbour dues and charges for the period of detention.

Application of Sections 39 to 41 to Profits of non-resident owners of aircraft

41A (1) The provisions of sections 39 to 41 shall apply in the case of every non-resident person who carries on business as the owner or charterer of aircraft in like manner as they apply in the case of a non-resident person who carries on the business of shipowner or charterer.

(2) In the application of provisions 39 to 41 to the case of any non-resident person who carries on business as the owner or charterer of aircraft—

(a) "ship" shall be deemed to include aircraft, and "shipowner" shall be construed accordingly;

(b) "port" shall be deemed to include a customs aerodrome;

(c) "shipped" shall be deemed to include the meaning loaded into an aircraft;

(d) "transhipment" shall be deemed to include transfer from one aircraft to another or in either direction between an aircraft and some other vessel;
(s) "shipping business" shall be deemed to include the business of the carriage of passengers, mails, live-stock, or goods by aircraft;

(f) any reference to the master of a ship shall be deemed to include a reference to the person having for the time being control or charge of an aircraft;

(g) any reference to the granting of clearance to any ship shall be deemed to include a reference to the doing of any act which, under the provisions of any written law, is authorised to be done in relation to an aircraft in lieu of the granting of a certificate of clearance under section 64 of the Custom Ordinance, and any reference to the refusal of clearance shall be construed accordingly;

(h) "harbour dues and charges" shall be deemed to include any charges payable to the Government of Ceylon or to any person, on account of the landing, stay or housing at a customs aerodrome of any aircraft arriving in or departing from Ceylon.

H.—INSURANCE

Ascertainment of Profits of Insurance Companies

42. (r) The profits of a company, whether mutual or proprietary, from the business of life insurance shall be the investment income of the Life Insurance Fund less the management expenses (including commission) attributable to that business: Provided that where such a company which is not resident in Ceylon transacts life insurance business in Ceylon whether directly or through an agent, the profits therefrom shall be the same proportion of the total investment income of the Life Insurance Fund of the company as the premiums from life insurance business in Ceylon bear to the total life insurance premiums received by it, subject to a deduction of agency expenses in Ceylon (including commission) and a fair proportion of the expenses of the head office of the company, due account being taken in each case by set-off against such expenses of any income or profits other than life insurance premiums or investment income.

(a) The profits of a non-resident company, whether mutual or proprietary, from the business of insurance (other than life insurance) shall be ascertained by taking the gross premiums from insurance business in Ceylon (less any premiums returned to the insured and premiums paid on re-insurance) and deducting therefrom a reserve for unexpired risks at the percentage adopted by the company in relation to its operations as a whole for such risks at the end of the period of which the profits are being ascertained and adding thereto a reserve similarly calculated for unexpired risks outstanding at the commencement of such period, and from the nett amount so arrived at deducting the actual losses (less the amount recovered in respect thereof under re-insurance), the agency expenses in Ceylon, and a fair proportion of the expenses of the head office of the company, due account being taken in each case by set-off against such expenses of any income or profits other than premiums.

(b) Where the Commissioner is satisfied that by reason of the limited extent of the business transacted in Ceylon by a non-resident insurance company it would be unreasonable to require the company to furnish the particulars necessary for the application of sub-sections (r) and (a), he may, notwithstanding the provisions of those sub-sections, permit the profits of the company to be ascertained by reference to the proportion of the total profits and income of the company corresponding to the proportion which its premiums from insurance business in Ceylon bear to its total premiums, or on any other basis which appears to him to be equitable.

43. (r) Every resident company shall be entitled to deduct from the amount of any dividend which becomes payable during a year of assessment to any share-holder, in the form of money or of an order to pay money, tax-
INCOME TAX ORDINANCE

(a) at twice the unit rate in force for the year preceding the year of assessment in which such dividend becomes payable; or

(b) where the preceding year as aforesaid is the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1945, or the next subsequent year of assessment at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of three per centum, on the amount of such dividend; or

(e) where the preceding year as aforesaid is the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947 or any of the next two subsequent years of assessment, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of eight per centum, on the amount of the dividend or;

(d) where the preceding year as aforesaid is the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of ten per centum, on the amount of the dividend

Provided that—

(i) all such dividends which become payable during the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932, shall be subject to deduction of tax at twice the unit rate for that year:

(ii) the Commissioner may give notice in writing for any year of assessment to a resident company requiring it to deduct tax from dividends payable to a particular shareholder at a rate greater than twice the unit rate appropriate thereto in accordance with the foregoing provisions, not being greater than "four times such unit rate, or in the case of any such notice for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of A.W.L nineteen hundred and forty-five or any of the next five subsequent years of assessment not being greater than four times such unit rate increased by an additional rate of thirty per centum on the amount of such dividend"; and the company shall thereupon deduct tax from all dividends paid during that year of assessment to that shareholder at the rate mentioned in the notice, and the tax so deductible in excess of tax at twice the unit rate shall be a debt due from the company to the Government of Ceylon and shall be recoverable forthwith as such, or may be assessed and charged upon the company in addition to any other tax otherwise payable by it; and

(iii) Where any such company has obtained or is entitled to obtain relief in respect of double taxation under the provisions of sections 45 or 46, the rate at which tax may be deducted shall be reduced as the Commissioner may direct.

(iA) Every resident company shall be entitled to deduct, from the amount of any dividend which becomes payable during any year of assessment commencing on or after April 5, 1952, to any shareholder in the form of money or of an order to pay money, tax on such amount at the rate (hereinafter referred to as "the appropriate rate") at which tax was, in the year preceding the year of assessment, chargeable upon the taxable income of a resident company.

Provided, however, that—

(a) the Commissioner may give notice in writing for any year of assessment commencing on or after April 5, 1952, to a resident company requiring it to deduct from the amounts of dividends payable to a particular shareholder tax on such amounts at a rate greater than the appropriate rate, but not greater than the highest rate at which tax is chargeable for that year upon the taxable income of an individual; and the company shall thereupon deduct tax on the amounts of all dividends payable during the said year of assessment to that shareholder at the rate mentioned in the notice: and the tax so deductible in excess of tax at the appropriate rate shall be a debt due from the company to the Govern-
merit of Ceylon and shall be recoverable forthwith as such, or may be assessed and charged upon the company in addition to any other tax otherwise payable by it; and

(b) where any such company has obtained or is entitled to obtain relief in respect of double taxation under the provisions of section 45 or section 46, the rate at which tax may be deducted shall be reduced as the Commissioner may direct.

(TB) Notwithstanding that the whole or any part of the amount of a dividend payable to any shareholder during any year is exempt from the tax by virtue of section 7B, any deduction which may be made under the preceding provisions of this section shall be calculated on the total amount of the dividend; and where such deduction is made—

(a) if the whole of the amount of the dividend is exempt from the tax, there shall be due from the company as a debt to the Government of Ceylon the total sum actually deducted under such preceding provisions; or

(b) where a part only of the amount of the dividend is exempt from the tax, there shall be due from the company as a debt to the Government of Ceylon the difference between (I) the total sum actually deducted under such preceding provisions and (ii) the sum which would have been deducted thereunder if the dividend had been reduced by such part thereof as is exempt from the tax.

Any such debt shall be recoverable forthwith as such or may be assessed and charged upon the company in addition to any tax otherwise payable by the company under this Ordinance; and

(2) by the insertion, immediately after sub-section (4), of the following new sub-section:—

(4A) Where in any year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1951, the assessable income of a person includes a dividend from a resident company in the form of shares or debentures, he shall be entitled to a set-off, against the tax payable by him, of tax on the amount of such dividend at the rate at which tax is chargeable upon the taxable income for that year of a resident company.

(2) Every person who issues a warrant or cheque or other order drawn or made in payment of any dividend which becomes payable in the form of money or of an order to pay money by a resident company after the thirty-first day of March, 1932, shall annex thereto a statement in writing showing—

(a) the gross amount which after deduction of the tax appropriate thereto corresponds to the nett amount actually paid;

(b) the rate and the amount of tax appropriate to such gross amount; and

(c) the nett amount actually paid.

(3) Where the assessable income of a person includes a dividend from a resident company paid in the form of money or of an order to pay money, he shall be entitled, on production of a statement relating to such dividend made in accordance with sub-section (2), to a set-off against the tax payable by him of tax shown on such statement: Provided that where the rate at which tax may be deducted from such dividend has been reduced under the provisions of sub-section (r) (iii), or sub-section (IA) (6) the set-off shall be adjusted as the Commissioner may direct.

(4) Where for any year of assessment ending prior to April 1, 1951, the assessable income of a person includes a dividend from a resident company in the form of shares or debentures, he shall be entitled to a set-off against the tax payable by him of tax on the amount of such dividend—

(a) at twice the unit rate for that year of assessment or

(b) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1945, or the next subsequent year of assessment at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of three per centum on the amount of such dividend; or

(c) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947 or any of the next two subsequent years of assessment, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of eight per centum on the amount of such dividend; or in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of ten per centum on the amount of such dividend.

(5) Where the assessable income of a person includes a dividend from a company which, although not resident in Ceylon, has paid Ceylon income tax on any part of its profits, he shall be entitled to a set-off of tax in respect of a similar part of the dividend, the amount of which shall be decided by the Commissioner.

(6) In the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April 1932, the assessable income of any person from any dividend or part of a dividend to which the sub-sections (3), (4), and (5) would have applied if this Ordinance had been in force at the time when such dividend became payable shall be deemed to have borne tax at twice the unit rate in force for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932, and he shall be entitled to the set-off provided in those sub-sections; but so, however, that the total tax chargeable to such person for such year of assessment shall not be less than the tax which would be chargeable if such dividend or part of a dividend were omitted from his assessable income and no set-off under this sub-section were allowed.

(7) The provisions of this section shall apply, as far as may be, to sums distributed by a body of persons out of income assessed under this Ordinance in the same way as they apply to dividends paid by a company.

J.—INTEREST, &c., PAYABLE TO PERSONS OUT OF CEYLON

(b) rent, ground rent, royalty, or annuity which is payable either in respect of property in Ceylon or out of income arising in Ceylon, whether such sum is due from him or from another person or from a partnership, he shall be entitled, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary whether made before or after the passing of this Ordinance to deduct tax therefrom—

(d) where the preceding year of assessment in the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, at twice the aforesaid unit rate, increased by an additional rate of ten per centum, on such sum, and the amount of tax so deductible shall be a debt due from such person to the Government of Ceylon and shall be recoverable forthwith as such, or may be assessed and charged upon such person in addition to any tax otherwise payable by him under this Ordinance: Provided that—

(i) in the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1932, the rate of tax at which deductions under this section are to be made shall be twice the unit rate for that year; or

(ii) the Commissioner may give notice in writing for any year of assessment to any person in Ceylon as regards a particular person or partnership out of Ceylon requiring him to deduct tax from any sums paid or credited by him to that person or partnership as aforesaid at a rate greater than twice the unit rate.
appropriate thereto in accordance with the foregoing provisions, not being greater than four times such unit rate or in the case of any such notice for the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and forty five or any of the next five subsequent years of assessment, not being greater than four times such unit rate increased by an additional rate of thirty per centum on such sums and the tax so deductible shall be recoverable or assessable and chargeable as aforesaid ; and

(iii) this section shall not apply to any interest paid out of income not arising in Ceylon, or to interest on any loan or advance made by a banker.

(IA) Where, in any year of assessment commencing on or after April r, 1952, any person in Ceylon pays or credits to any person or partnership out of Ceylon any sum falling due as—

(a) interest on debentures, mortgages, loans, deposits, or advances, or

(b) rent, ground rent, royalty, or annuity, which is payable either in respect of property in Ceylon or out of income arising in Ceylon, whether such sum is due from him or from another person, or from a partnership, he shall be entitled, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary to deduct tax on such sum at the rate hereinafter in this section referred to as the "appropriate date" at which tax was in the preceding year of assessment chargeable upon the taxable income of a resident company; and the amount of tax so deductible shall be a debt due from such person to the Government of Ceylon and shall be recoverable forthwith as such or may be assessed and charged upon such person in addition to any tax otherwise payable by him under this Ordinance

Provided that—

(a) the Commissioner may give notice in writing for any year of assessment commencing on or after April 1, 1952, to any person in Ceylon, as regards a particular person or partnership out of Ceylon, requiring him to deduct, from any sums paid or credited by him to that person or partnership as aforesaid, tax on such sums at a rate greater than the appropriate rate, but not greater than the highest rate at which tax is chargeable for that year upon the taxable income of an individual ; and the tax so deductible shall be recoverable and chargeable as aforesaid ; and

(b) the preceding provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to any interest paid out of income not arising in Ceylon, or to interest on any loan or advance made by a banker; and

(2) Any person who deducts tax in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (r) or sub-section (IA) from any sum paid or credited to a person or partnership out of Ceylon shall thereupon issue to such person or partnership a statement in writing showing—

(a) the gross amount of such payment ;

(b) the rate and amount of the tax so deducted ; and

(c) the nett amount actually paid.

(3) Where the assessable income of a person includes a sum from which tax has been deducted in accordance with sub-section (1), or sub-section (IA) he shall be entitled on production of a statement relating to such sum issued in accordance with sub-section (2), to a set-off against the tax payable by him of the amount of tax shown on such statement.

(4) Where in consequence of the provisions of this section tax is deducted during any year of assessment from the income of a person out of Ceylon arising from a source in respect of which that person is liable to be assessed for the same year of assessment either directly or through an agent and no set-off is due under the provisions of sub-section (3) for that year of assessment, the Commissioner may grant such relief as he may decide to be reasonable.

(5) Where for any year of assessment ending prior to April, 1, 195 r, the whole or part of the assessable income of any non-resident person, other than an individual who is entitled to relief under section 45 (2) and has claimed such relief, is composed of income from which tax has been deducted by virtue of this or the preceding section, and the unit rate for that year of assessment is either greater or less than the unit rate for the year preceding the year of assessment in which tax has been deducted, the difference between the tax which has been deducted and the tax which would have been deducted if the unit rate in force for that year of assessment had been the same as the unit rate in force for the year preceding the year of assessment in which tax has been deducted shall not be taken into account, and the income from which tax has been deducted shall be treated for all purposes of this Ordinance as if tax had been deducted therefrom at a rate based upon the unit rate for that year of assessment.

For the purposes of the application of this sub-section--

(a) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1947, and the next two subsequent years of assessment every refer-for by section 43 (1) (c) or section 44 (1) (b); or

(c) in the case of the year of assessment commencing on the first day of April, 1950, every reference to the unit rate, shall be construed as a reference to the unit rate, increased by one half of the additional rate of ten per centum provided for by section 43 (1) (d) or section 44 (1) (d).

* In any case where tax is, under the preceding provisions of this subsection, deemed to have been deducted at a rate higher than the rate at which tax was actually deducted, no person shall be entitled to any repayment by reason only that such tax is so deemed to have been deducted at such higher rate.

(6) Where for any year of assessment commencing on or after April, 1951, the whole or any part of the assessable income of any non-resident person, other than an individual who is entitled to relief under section 45 and has claimed such relief, is composed of income from which tax has been deducted by virtue of this or the preceding section, and the rate (hereinafter referred to as the "new rate") at which tax is chargeable for that year of assessment upon the taxable income of a resident company is either greater or less than the corresponding rate for the year preceding the year of assess-been so deducted shall be treated for all purposes of this Ordinance as if tax had been deducted therefrom at the new rate.

In any case where tax is, under the preceding provisions of this sub-

Appeals to the Commissioner

69. (r) Any person aggrieved by the amount of an assessment made under this Ordinance may within twenty-one days from the date of the notice of such assessment appeal to the Commissioner by notice of objection in writing to review and revise such assessment. Any person so appealing (hereinafter referred to as the appellant) shall state precisely in his notice the grounds of his objection and the notice shall not be valid unless it contains such grounds and is made within the period above mentioned:

Provided that the Commissioner, upon being satisfied that owing to absence from Ceylon, sickness, or other reasonable cause the appellant was prevented from giving notice of objection within such period, shall grant an extension thereof:

Provided further that, where the assessment appealed against has been made in the absence of a return of income by the appellant, no notice of objection shall be valid unless and until such return has been duly made.

In any case in which an authorised representative attends on behalf of the appellant, the Commissioner may adjourn the hearing of the appeal and may, if he considers that the personal attendance of the appellant is necessary for the determination of the appeal, require that the appellant shall attend in person at the time and place fixed for the adjourned hearing of the appeal. If the appellant or his authorized representative fails to attend at the time and place fixed for the hearing or any adjourned hearing of the appeal, or if the appellant fails to attend in person when required so to attend by the Commissioner, the Commissioner may dismiss the appeal.

Provided that if the appellant shall within a reasonable time after the dismissal of an appeal satisfy the Commissioner that he or his representative was prevented from due attendance at the hearing or at any adjourned hearing of such appeal by absence from Ceylon, sickness, or other unavoidable cause the Commissioner may vacate the order of dismissal and fix a time and place for the hearing of the appeal.

(2) Tax shall be paid notwithstanding any notice of objection or appeal unless the Commissioner orders that payment of the tax or any part thereof be held over pending the result of such objection or appeal.

(3) Where the Commissioner is of opinion either that the tax or any part thereof held over under sub-section (2) is likely to become irrecoverable or that the appellant is unreasonably delaying the prosecution of his appeal he may cancel any order made under that sub-section and make such fresh order as the case may appear to him to require.

(4) Where, upon the final determination of an appeal under Chapter XI, or upon any order made by the Commissioner any tax which has been held over under sub-section (2) becomes payable or the tax charged by the original assessment is increased, the Commissioner shall give to the appellant a notice in writing fixing a date on or before which any tax or balance of tax shall be paid. in the prescribed form.

CHAPTER XIII
RECOVERY OF TAX

Tax to Include Fines, &c.

77. In this Chapter, "tax" includes any sum or sums added under section 76 (5) by reason of default, together with any fines, penalties, fees, or costs incurred.

Tax to be a First Charge

78. (1) Save as provided in sub-section (2), tax in default shall be a first charge upon all the assets of the defaulter:

Provided that--

(i) such charge shall not extend to or affect any assets sold by the defaulter to a bona fide purchaser for value prior to the seizure of the same in accordance with the provisions of section 79

(ii) as regards immovable property, the tax shall not rank in priority to any lease or encumbrance created bona fide for value and registered prior to the date of such seizure; and

(iii) as regards movable property, where tax for more than one year of assessment is in default, the tax for one year only, to be selected by the Commissioner, shall rank in priority to any lien or encumbrance created bona fide for value prior to the date of default.

(2) A receiver shall pay out of the assets under his control the tax charged or chargeable for one complete year of assessment prior to the date of the insolvency, bankruptcy, or liquidation, to be selected by the Commissioner, as a first charge on such assets and any other tax charged or chargeable for periods prior to such date shall be an unsecured debt.

Provided that where the receiver proves to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that any tax to which this sub-section applies is excessive, the Commissioner may, notwithstanding the provisions of section 75, review the assessment in respect of which the tax is charged and make such adjustment as he may in his discretion think reasonable.

Recovery of Tax by Seizure and Sale

79. (1) The Commissioner may appoint persons to be Income Tax Collectors.

(2) (a) Where any tax is in default, the Commissioner may issue a certificate to a Government Agent, Assistant Government Agent, Fiscal, or Deputy–Fiscal, or Income Tax Collector containing particulars of such tax and the name of the defaulter, and the officer to whom such certificate is issued shall be empowered and is hereby required to cause the tax to be recovered from the defaulter named in the certificate by seizure and sale of his movable property.

(b) The said seizure shall be effected in such manner as the said officer shall deem most expedient in that behalf, and any property so seized shall be kept for five days at the costs and charges of the defaulter. If the defaulter does not pay the tax in default together with the costs and charges within the said five days, the Government Agent, Assistant Government Agent, Fiscal, Deputy-Fiscal, or Income Tax Collector shall cause the said property to be sold by public auction. The sum realized by the sale shall be applied--

(i) firstly, in payment of the costs and charges of seizing, keeping, and selling the property; and

(ii) secondly, in satisfaction of the tax in default, and any balance shall be restored to the owner of the property seized.
Where any tax is in default, and the Commissioner is of opinion that recovery by the means provided in sub-section (2) is impracticable or inexpedient, he may issue a certificate to a District Court having jurisdiction in any district where the defaulter resides or in which any property movable or immovable owned by the defaulter is situated, containing particulars of such tax and the name or names of the person or persons by whom the tax is payable and the court shall thereupon direct a writ of execution to issue to the Fiscal authorizing and requiring him to seize and sell all and any of the property movable and immovable of the defaulter, or such part thereof as he may deem necessary for recovery of the tax, and the provisions of section 226 to 297 of the Civil Procedure Code shall, mutatis mutandis apply to such seizure and sale.

Whenever the Commissioner issues a certificate under this section, he shall at the same time issue to the defaulter, whether resident or non-resident, a notification thereof by personal service, registered post, or telegraph; but the non-receipt of such notification by the defaulter shall not invalidate proceedings under this section.

Proceedings for Recovery before a Magistrate

So. (r) Where the Commissioner is of opinion in any case that recovery of tax in default by seizure and sale is impracticable or inexpedient, or where the full amount of the tax has not been recovered by seizure and sale, he may issue a certificate containing particulars of such tax and the name and last known place of business or residence of the defaulter to a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the division in which such place is situated. The Magistrate shall thereupon summon such defaulter before him to show cause why further proceedings for the recovery of the tax should not be taken against him, and in default of sufficient cause being shown, the tax in default shall be deemed to be a fine imposed by a sentence of the Magistrate on such defaulter for an offence punishable with fine only or not punishable with imprisonment, and the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 322 (except paragraphs (a), (r), and (h) thereof) of the Criminal Procedure Code, relating to default of payment of a fine imposed for such an offence shall thereupon apply, and the Magistrate may make any direction which, by the provisions of that sub-section, he could have made at the time of imposing such sentence.

Provided that at nothing in this section shall authorize or require the magistrate in any proceedings thereunder to consider, examine, or decide the correctness of any statement in the certificate of the Commissioner.

Nothing in sub-sections (2) to (5) of section 312 of the Criminal Procedure Code shall apply in any case referred to in sub-section (1) of this section.

In any case referred to in sub-section (r) in which the defaulter is sentenced to imprisonment in default of payment of the fine deemed by that sub-section to have been imposed of him, the magistrate may allow time for the payment of the amount of the said fine or direct payment of that amount to be made by instalments.

The court may require bail to be given as a condition precedent to allowing time under sub-section (1) for showing cause as therein provided, or under sub-section (in) for the payment of the fine and the provisions of Chapter XXXVI of the Criminal Procedure Code shall apply where the defaulter is so required to give bail.

Where payment in instalments is directed under sub-section (ris) and default is made in the payment of any one instalment, the same proceedings may be taken as if default had been made in payment of all the instalments thus remaining unpaid.

In any proceeding under sub-section (r) the Commissioner's certificate shall be sufficient evidence that the tax has been duly assessed and is in default, and any plea that the tax is excessive, incorrect or under appeal shall not be entertained, except that where any person proceeded against has not appealed within the proper time against the assessment in respect of which the tax is charged and alleges that the tax is in excess of the sum which would have been charged if he had so appealed, the court may adjourn the matter for not more than thirty days to enable such person to submit to the Commissioner his objection to the tax.
(3) The Commissioner, shall notwithstanding the provisions of section 75, consider such objection and give his decision thereon, which shall be final, and shall be certified by him to the Magistrate, and proceedings under this section shall thereupon be resumed to enforce payment of the tax as reduced or confirmed under such decision.

Recovery of Tax out of Debts, &c.

81. (1) Where tax payable by any person is in default and it appears to the Commissioner to be probable that any person—
   (a) owes or is about to pay money to the defaulter; or
   (b) holds money for or on account of the defaulter or
   (c) holds money on account of some other person for payment to the defaulter; or
   (d) has authority from some other person to pay money to the defaulter, the Commissioner may give to such person notice in writing (a copy of which shall be sent by post to the defaulter) requiring him to pay any such moneys not exceeding the amount of the tax in default to the officer named in such notice. The notice shall apply to all such moneys which are in his hands or due from him or about to be paid by him at the date of receipt of such notice, or come into his hands or become due from him or are about to be paid by him at any time within a period of thirty days thereafter.

(2) Any person who has made any payment in pursuance of this section shall be deemed to have acted under the authority of the person by whom the tax was payable and of all other persons concerned, and is hereby indemnified in respect of such payment against all proceedings, civil or criminal notwithstanding the provisions of any written law, contract, or agreement.

(3) Any person to whom a notice has been given under sub-section (1) who is unable to comply therewith owing to the fact that the moneys in question do not come into his hands or become due from him within the period referred to in sub-section (1) shall within fourteen days of the expiration thereof give notice in writing to the Commissioner acquainting him with the facts.

(4) Where any person to whom a notice has been given under sub-section (1) is unable to comply therewith and has failed to give notice to the Commissioner as provided in sub-section (3), or where he has deducted or could have deducted the tax to which the notice relates or any part thereof and has not paid over as directed by the Commissioner the amount of such tax or part thereof within fourteen days after the expiration of the period referred to in sub-section (1), he shall be personally liable for the whole of the tax which he has been required to deduct, which may be recovered from him by all means provided in this Ordinance.

The provisions of this section shall apply in any case where the tax which would have been payable by any person if he were alive is in default; and for the purposes of the application of those provisions in any such case, the expression "defaulter" in sub-section (1) means—
   (a) the executor or administrator of a deceased person, or
   (b) any person who takes possession of, or intermeddles with, the property of a deceased person, or
   (c) any person who has applied or is entitled to apply to a District Court for the grant or re-sealing of probate or letters of administration in respect of the estate of a deceased person.

Recovery of Tax from Persons Leaving Ceylon

82. Where the Commissioner is of opinion that any person is about to or likely to leave Ceylon without paying all tax assessed upon him, he may issue a certificate containing particulars of such tax and the name of such person to a Magistrate, who shall on receipt thereof issue a direction to the Inspector-General of Police to take such measures as may be necessary to prevent such person from leaving Ceylon without paying the tax or furnishing security to the satisfaction of the Commissioner for payment thereof. At the time of issue of his certificate to the Magistrate, the Commissioner shall issue to such person a notification thereof by personal service, registered post, or telegraph; but the non-receipt of any such notification by such person shall not invalidate proceedings under this section. Production of a certificate signed by the Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner, or an Assistant Commissioner stating that the tax has been paid or that security has been furnished, or payment of the tax to a police officer in charge of a police station, shall be sufficient authority for allowing such person to leave Ceylon.
Use of More than One Means of Recovery

83. Where the Commissioner is of opinion that application of any of the provisions of this Chapter has failed or is likely to fail to secure payment of the whole of the tax due from any person it shall be lawful for him to proceed to recover any sum remaining unpaid by any other means of recovery provided in this Chapter, notwithstanding that an order has been made by a Magistrate under section 843 and carried into effect.

CHAPTER XIV
REPAYMENT

Tax Paid in Excess to be Refunded

84. (1) If it is proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioner by claim duly made in writing within three years of the end of a year of assessment that any person has paid tax, by deduction or otherwise, in excess of the amount with which he was properly chargeable for that year, such person shall be entitled to have refunded the amount so paid in excess:

Provided that (i) nothing in this section shall operate to extend or reduce any time limit for appeal or repayment specified in any other section or to validate any objection or appeal which is otherwise invalid, or to authorize the revision of any assessment or other matter which has become final and conclusive; and (ii) where any person has paid tax by deduction in respect of a dividend in accordance with section 43 or in respect of interest, rent, ground rent, royalty, or other annual payment in accordance with section 44, he shall not be entitled to virtue of this action to any relief greater than that provided by section 43 (3), (4), and (5) and section 44 (3).

(2) Where through death, incapacity, bankruptcy, liquidation, or other cause a person who would but for such cause have been entitled to make a claim under sub-section (r) is unable to do so, his executor, trustee or receiver, as the case may be, shall be entitled to have refunded to him for the benefit of such person or his estate any tax paid in excess within the meaning of sub-section (I).

(3) When it is proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioner by claim made in writing within three years of the end of a year of assessment that any person has paid tax in excess of the amount with which he was properly chargeable for that year of assessment and that the excess is due to any error in the assessment or the return of the income of that person other than an error in the application or construction of any provision of this Ordinance in the making or revision of the assessment, such person shall be entitled to have refunded the amount so paid in excess.

The Estate Duty Ordinance

Under the Estate Duty Ordinance No. I of 1938 Estate duty is leviable in respect of all Estates valued not below Rs. 20,000.

The determination of the value of Ceylon Estate and total Estate is ascertained in accordance with the provisions of the Ordinance, but property is deemed to pass on death, life interests, property subject to an annuity, gifts, joint settlements etc., are detailed in the Ordinance.

Exemptions from Estate duty are allowed in the case of small annuities and pensions of widows and orphans. Relief is allowed in respect of Stamp Duty, British Empire Estate Duty and quick succession where property consists of land or a business etc.

A member of a Hindu undivided family dies no Estate duty is payable on property proved to be the joint property of a Hindu undivided family.

An executor is not liable for any duty in excess of the assets which he has received. A declaration of property has to be made by the executor of every deceased person within six months after the date of the death of the deceased. If there is a certified copy of the Will of the deceased, it may also be delivered to the Commissioner along with the declaration of property. Assessment to Estate duty is made by an assessor in respect of the Estate of a deceased person and a notice of such assessment is issued to the person or persons whom he considers liable to pay such Estate duty.

Any person who desires to appeal has, within thirty days of the service of the notice of such assessment, to deliver to the Commissioner a written notice of such objection. The appellant may, in the appropriate District Court, proceed with his appeal naming the Attorney-General as respondent to his petition.

A Certificate of Payment and Release has to be issued by the Commissioner on receipt of payment. No Probate or Letters of Administration may be granted by a Court until Estate duty is paid.

Estate duty may be recovered by the seizure and sale of property, out of debts or from surviving partners. The special procedure prescribed by this Ordinance does not affect the right of the Crown to recover duty in any other manner.

Refunds of Estate duty may be made under certain conditions and any person who fails to deliver a proper declaration of property or does not furnish the necessary information or makes an incorrect statement is liable, to conviction by a Magistrate. Any person making a fraudulent declaration would be guilty of an offence. The Commissioner may, at any time, compound any offence under this Ordinance.

The main ordinance has been amended by the Estate Duty Amending Ordinance No. 75 of 1938 and further by the Estate Duty Amending Ordinance No. 8 of 1941. Ordinance No. 35 of 1944 makes provision for relief from Estate Duty in cases where property passes upon deaths due to causes arising out of the present war. The Estate Duty (Amendment) Act, No. 3 of 1948, brings into force two schedules of rates of Estate Duty respectively known as Part I and Part II. Part I applies to cases where the date of death is prior to April 1st, 1947, Part II applies to deaths occurring on or after April 1st, 5047. See Estate duty (Amendment) Act No. 8 of 1951 and Estate Duty (Amendment) Act, No. 34 of 1955.

ESTATES DIRECTORY

TEA, RUBBER AND COCONUT ESTATES WITH ACREAGE FIGURES OF COFFEE, COCOA, 141;kDAMOMS, CINNAMON CINCHONA, CAMPHOR, TOBACCO, COTTON, FOOD CROPS AND OTHER PRODUCTS

FOLLOWED BY A LIST SHOWING THE VISITING AGENTS,
A COMPLETE INDEX
AND
THE SINHALESE AND TAMIL NAMES OF ESTATES

In arranging the list of estates we have made an attempt to preserve the names of the older Planting Districts as defined by a Committee of the Planters' Association in 1856. The development of the 'planting industry has been phenomenal in many respects.

There are 62 planting districts in the Island and all the estates that come within the limits of each district are listed together. Comprehensive details relating to these estates, their usual designations, the names of the proprietors or lessees, the agents, resident managers, superintendents and assistant superintendents have been included. In every case the acreage of the estates is mentioned and particularised as the total acreage, the planted acreage of each estate and the respective acreage in each product. Information is also supplied regarding the names of post towns; the distance of each estate from telegraph office or railway station and the proximity of hospitals and dispensaries. The telephone numbers of the estates in those districts where there are telephones are also quoted. Wherever ascertainable we have indicated the approximate elevation of each district above sea-level as well as the elevation of each individual estate.

The Tamil and the Sinhalese names of estates are embodied in a special index following the index of the English names of estates. Attention has been paid to provide information regarding the situation of each estate or the distance in miles of each estate from the nearest telegraph and railway stations. The number of each estate in the Register for labourers’ Tin Tickets is also indicated in some cases.

In all cases where we have been informed of the existence of any appreciable acreage of subsidiary products—cinchona, cardamoms, cotton, tobacco or any other cultivation on an estate—we have provided the particulars either in separate columns or with notes.

FINEST INVESTMENT.

Some one once said that "The finest investment a person can make is in Life Assurance".

How true is that statement.

Possibly the man who made it was making a broad generalisation; possibly he referred only to the mental satisfaction of possessing Life Assurance.

But there is a more practical side.

The death of the wage earner in a family might cause deprivation and suffering to those who depended upon his income. The death of the father might ruin the future of the children. Lack of forethought might spoil one's own retirement.

The fundamental purpose of Life Assurance is to lessen such calamities.

Truly, an investment in LIFE ASSURANCE is the finest investment a person can make.

General Directory of Addresses

THE ADDRESSES DIRECTORY has been corrected up to the end of April, 1957. In some cases an approaching change of address has been anticipated but allowance must be made for changes that have taken place while the pages were passing through the press.

Communications regarding errors, omissions, additions, &c., should be addressed to the Compiler, "Ferguson’s Ceylon Directory", Ceylon Observer Office, P.O. Box No. 116, Colombo.

N.B.—In consulting the following list of names there are a few points which must be kept specially in view, in respect of certain names which for one reason or another, have come to acquire different forms of spelling. For instance, we have "Silva" and "Sylva" "Zilva" and "Zylva" with or without the prefix "De". It is impossible, therefore, to lay down any clear rule; accordingly although the vast majority are entered as "De Silva", yet there are some "Silvas" and one or two other forms. If the name sought for is not found under "De", "S" and "Z" must be tried. The same applies to several other Ceylonese and other Asiatic names. One person will write "Peiris," or "Pieris," another "Penis," and "Pereira," another "Perera." So with "Alwis," and "Alvis," the former used often with the prefix "De" while "Goonewardene," "Gooneratne," "Goonaseliera," and "Moonesinha" are written as "Gunawardana," "Gunsratne," "Gunasekera," and Munasinha," respectively, according to spellings adopted, or even, perhaps, according to the taste and fancy of the speller. The letters C. G. and K. are often interchangeable. Keeping these hints in view, however, there ought not to be much difficulty in finding the names and addresses of Ceylonese who have names which are spelt variously.

ABBREVIATIONS

An explanation of the contractions attached to some of the names may be necessary—"B.A.,” “M.A.,” “F.R.S.,” “F.L.S.,” “F.R.G.S.,” “D.D.,” “J.P.,” “R.E.,” “R.A.,” “C.E.”, of course, require no elucidation; but it may be necessary to state that the letters 1—
