FERGUSON'S SRI LANKA DIRECTORY

127th Edition

PREFACE

The 127th Edition of the Ferguson's Sri Lanka Directory is brought to you in the year 2001.

It is not out of place to recall on this occasion the history of this publication over the past 140 years. During this period the Directory had been published 126 times, itself an eloquent testimony of its ever increasing usefulness and popularity.

The precursor to the present Directory, "Ceylon Summary of Useful Information and Plantation Gazetteer for 1859" was compiled by Alistair Mackenzie Ferguson, C.M.G., Co-editor of the "Observer" and subsequently, editor and proprietor of that paper. The original title later changed to Ferguson's Ceylon Directory and with Ceylon becoming the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka, to Ferguson's Sri Lanka Directory.

The Directory growing from acorn to oak with the passing years has changed its size and shape, too, from 16 cm x 10 cm to 27.5 cm x 21.5 cm. Just as the Directory had changed its title, size and shape, the country, too, has undergone several political reforms from a British Colony to Dominion Status and then a free nation within the Commonwealth. Thereafter the country became a Republic and finally what it is today the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka with an elected Executive President who is both Head of State and Head of Government. The country's education, economy, agriculture, industries, trade and finance, too, have changed with its political structures.

Ferguson's Sri Lanka Directory, well known to the business community in this country and abroad from colonial days to the present, has been a solid presence in good times and bad - a mine of useful and accurate information on Sri Lanka.

On this happy occasion of the publication of the 127th edition, we remember with gratitude all those who worked with dedication to bring this publication to its present state - an encyclopaedia of facts and figures relating to Sri Lanka, the only one of its kind in the country.

The compiler thanks all those who assisted him in preparing this 127th edition and all users and advertisers who have always extended their co-operation and patronage. A special word of thanks to the Staff of the Production, Commercial Printing and the Annual Publications Departments of The Associated Newspapers of Ceylon Ltd., for their untiring efforts to make this publication a reality.

Lastly, the compiler wishes to say that while every effort has been made to furnish the facts accurately and be or up to date as possible, changes occur during compilation and printing. That is unavoidable. As much as we wish to incorporate changes as they occurred before the printing deadline there was a point beyond which that was impossible.

SRI LANKA

The Land of Palms (specially Coconut), Tea, Rubber, Cocoa, Spices (Cinnamon, Cardamoms, Camphor, Pepper, & c.), Cinchona, Land of Pearls, Rubies, Sapphires, Alexandrite, Cat's-Eyes, Moonstones, Plumbago, & c., of Ancient Ruined Cities, Tropical Vegetations and Scenery (Highland and Lowland), the finest in the world, of a great variety of Fauna, from the Elephant to the Cobra-de-capello.

Sri Lanka is a pear-shaped island lying at the southern extremity of India, between 5° 55' and 9°51' of North Latitude and 79°41' and 81°53' East Longitude. It is separated from India by the narrow Palk's Strait, which is crossed by Adam's Bridge, a row of islands and sandbanks with very shallow water between.

The island extends 432 km. north and is 224 km. broad, its total area being 65,610 square km.

PHYSICAL FEATURES

The mountains of Sri Lanka, which originally formed part of the great massif of Peninsular India, consists of a central mass of crystalline rock of Pre-Cambrian Age, which culminates in the Pidurutalagala (2,524 m.) overlooking Nuwara Eliya.

The central mass of mountains is surrounded by broad coastal plains, which are broadest towards the northern slope of the island. The rivers radiate round the central mountain core and are short and swift and flow into the sea.

CLIMATE

Sri Lanka has a variety of climates largely dependent on the monsoons and the elevation above sea-level. There are no well-marked seasons. The average mean temperature ranges from 79° to 82° in the low-country and from 58° to 75° in the hill-country. The rainfall is low in the south-eastern and north-western coastal regions and averages under 172 cm. a year, while in the wet zones, the average varies from 254 to 508 centimetres or more.

FLORA AND FAUNA

Sri Lanka has a wide variety of vegetation. Paddy fields are found in the wet low-country up to an elevation of about 610 metres above sea-level. The coconut palm is characteristic of the coastal belt of the Southern, Western and North-Western provinces, while plantations of Tea and Rubber are confined to the mid and up-country. The total area cultivated is about 1.42 million hectares. Particulars will be found in the Agriculture and Estates Sections.

Large tracts of forest chiefly supply timber for building, fuel and furniture trades.

The elephant is mostly associated with Sri Lanka, while leopards, bears, deer, monkeys and buffaloes are some of the commoner animals.

POPULATION

The total population on the country according to the Census of Population taken on 17th March, 1981 was 14,850,001. The population at the previous census of 9th October 1971 was 12,689,897. During the intercensal periods 1963 to 71 and 1971 to 81, the population has increased by 19.9% and 17% respectively.

HISTORICAL

The first paper currency of Sri Lanka was issued by the Dutch in May, 1785. These notes were known as Kredit Brieven.

The rupee was adopted as the standard of currency in Sri Lanka from September, 1836, although it was made legal tender only after Proclamation on 18th June, 1869.

The decimal system of coinage came into operation in January 1, 1872 from which date accounts of the island were kept in rupees and cents. Since 1825 they had been kept in pounds, shillings and pence and prior to that in rix-dollars, fanams and pice.

ELECTIONS - PARLIAMENT OF SRI LANKA AND LOCAL AUTHORITIES

In terms of the Constitution of the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka promulgated on September 7, 1978, the Commissioner of Elections is responsible for the conduct of Presidential, Parliamentary, Provincial Councils Elections and for the holding of Referenda. He is also responsible under the Local Authorities Elections Ordinance for the conduct of Elections to Municipal and Urban Councils and Pradeshiya Sabhas.

The Constitution lays down broad principles relating to Presidential, Parliamentary, Provincial Councils and Referenda. Elections to these are conducted under -

The Parliamentary Elections Act No. 1 of 1981.

The Referendum Act, No. 7 of 1981.

The Presidential Elections Act, No. 15 of 1981.

The Provincial Councils Elections Act, No. 2 of 1988.

The Delimitation Commission appointed in November, 1978 in terms of Article 95 of the Constitution presented its Report to His Excellency the President. The Report was published as Sessional Paper No. 1 of 1981. As required by Article 96 of the Constitution, each electoral district shall as far as possible be an administrative district or a combination of two or more administrative districts. The Delimitation Commission has divided the island into 22 electoral districts. Each new district corresponds to an administrative district except in the case of Jaffna, Kilinochchi, Mannar, Vavuniya and Mullaitivu administrative districts. The administrative districts of Jaffna and Kilinochchi together form the electoral district of Jaffna, while the administrative districts of Mannar, Vavuniya, and Mullaitivu together constitute the electoral district of Wannai. The electoral district comprising the administrative district of Ampara has been named Digamadulla. These electoral districts came into operation at the Parliamentary General Election held on 15th February, 1989, which would be recorded as the first Parliamentary General Election to be held on the proportional representation system with three preferences marked for any three candidates of the same political party or independent group, to which the voter has cast his vote.

II - REVISION OF REGISTERS OF ELECTORS

Registers of electors are revised annually. The revision commences in June and an enumeration of electors takes place. This enumeration takes the form of house-to-house visits by Grama Niladharis in the rural areas, while in the larger Towns special enumerators are employed and householders are required to fill up the necessary forms. The essential qualifications for a person to have his name entered or retained in a register are - citizenship of Sri Lanka, being not less than 18 years of age on 1st June and being ordinarily resident at some particular address in an electoral district, on 1st June. There are the other usual disqualifications for those who have been imprisoned or have been convicted of corrupt or illegal practices, insanity, declared bankruptcy, etc. The registers are prepared in draft form and exhibited all over the Island during a period of one month in November / December or January and publicity is given to that fact. Claims and objections are then invited by the Registering Officers. The Registration of Electors (Amendments) Act No. 10 of 1989 provided an additional opportunity in a period extending up to 8th May of the next succeeding year to the category of person who were conferred citizenship under the Grant of Citizenship (Special Provisions) Act, No.39 of 1988, of submitting claims for inclusion of their names in the electoral registers. This is a transitory piece of legislation over the 3-year period from 1988 to 1990. On completion of inquiries into Claims and Objections received from such category or persons as well as those under Section 14(1) of the Registration of Electors Act, the final registers are certified and made available for reference by the General Public. These registers are used for all electoral purposes.

1990 Revision of electoral registers for the year 1990 was commenced on 1st June, 1990. All inquiries into claims and objections under Section 14 were concluded on 30th December, 1990. However, claims and objections under Section 17A which closed on 8th May, 1991 continued up to 25th May, 1991. Out of a total of 5,296 claims 2,340 were accepted after inquiry. From a total of 543 objections 169 were accepted as valid. The preparation of the electoral register which commenced in January, 1991 was completed in May, 1991. Provision under the Registration of Electors (Amendment) Act, No. 10 of 1989 to receive claims and objections from the category of persons defined in Section 2 of the Grant of Citizenship to Stateless Persons (Special Provisions) Amendment Act, was yet in operation. As a result up to 8th May, 1991 claims and objections, had to be received. During this period 16,891 claims were received of which 7,651 were accepted, after inquiry. The 1990 electoral register recorded an increase of 201,534 voters over the 1989 electoral register. The total registered electorate of the country according to the 1990 electoral register is 10,341,305.

1991 The 1991 revision of electoral registers was commenced on June 1st 1991 and concluded on schedule. A total of 3,532 claims for the inclusion of names were received in respect of 20 electoral districts. There were 248 objections raised in 13 Electoral Districts. Inquiries into these claims and objections were completed in January 1992. From amongst these, 1,836 claims were allowed and 123 objections were upheld. Preparation of the electoral register was completed in 1992 and it was certified on 11.05.1992. The total Island electorate has increased to 10,701,764 which shows an increase of 360,459 electors over the 1990 electoral register. A programme of supervision of field enumeration was undertaken this year. Under this programme 2,265 Grama Niladharis and an approximate total of 40,500 households were checked by the Assistant Commissioner of Elections assisted by other Assistant Registering Officers.

1992 In order to commence the revision of electoral registers for the year 1992 the training and refresher classes were held during the month of May for the benefit of 14,220 Grama Niladharis in all districts other than in the Districts of the Northern Province. The distribution of enumeration forms was completed on schedule in all districts other than in Trincomalee and Ampara. The preparation of the 1992 electoral register was completed on 20th February, 1993. The register so prepared was statutorily certified on 1st March, 1993, on completion of inquiries into claims and objections. The number of claims and objections received at this revision was 6,061 and 350 respectively, of which 3,197 claims were accepted and 214 objections were upheld after inquiries. The total number of electors in the year 1992 was 10,822,142.

1993 The revision of electoral registers for the year, 1993 commenced on 1st June, 1993. The instruction classes to enumerators were held in all the districts in the last week of May and the first week of June 1993, other than in the districts of Jaffna and Kilinochchi. The preparation of the 1993 electoral register was completed on May 20th, 1994, on completion of inquiries into claims and objections. The number of claims and objections received at this revision was 59,313 and 2187 respectively, of which 32,197 claims were accepted and 592 objections were upheld. The register so prepared was statutorily certified on May 27th, 1994. The total number of electors in the 1993 Electoral Register was 10,945,065.

III - RECOGNITION OF POLITICAL PARTIES

The procedure followed under Section 7 for the Parliamentary Elections Act No. 1 of 1981, for the recognition of Political Parties was amended by Act No. 29 of 1988 in order to facilitate Political Parties to make application at any period of the year. In addition to the provisions under the Parliamentary Elections Act, Section 27A(3) of the Local Authorities Elections Ordinance provides for calling applications once in every four years for the recognition of political parties for the purpose of Local Authorities Elections.

The total number of Political Parties recognised for the purpose of elections now stands at 34.

ELECTIONS TO LOCAL AUTHORITIES - 1991

As a matter of policy the elections to Local Authorities were held as a single day Poll for the first time on 11th May, 1991. By this time the Local Authorities had evolved into three categories. There are 12 Municipal Councils, 39 Urban Councils and 257 Pradeshiya Sabhas. The introduction of the Pradeshiya Sabhas was in effect the replacement of the hitherto existing Town Councils and Village Councils.

The Two Hundred and Fifty-Seven Pradeshiya Sabhas were constituted in 1987. These Pradeshiya Sabhas along with the hitherto existing Municipal and Urban Councils covered the entire island, other than the Biyagama Free Trade Zone area under the Greater Colombo Economic Commission.

Nominations to these Local Authorities were invited in June, 1987. In respect of 75 Local Authorities consisting of 02 Municipal Councils, 05 Urban Councils and 68 Pradeshiya Sabhas, members were returned uncontested. There were contests in respect of 08 Municipal Councils, 30 Urban Councils and 153 Pradeshiya Sabhas. There were no nominations for 02 Municipal Councils, 04 Urban Councils and 36 Pradeshiya Sabhas. The poll in respect of the contested Local Authorities was due to be held on 15th August, 1987. However, due to the civil disturbances that erupted at the end of July, 1987 these elections were postponed sine die.

Based on the policy of a single day poll that was to have been held on 15th August, 1987 the term of office of each of the above categories were adjusted, to enable a single day poll to be held before the end of 1990. However, disturbances continued to prevail in the North and the East, and the elections were postponed again to 1991. Even in 1991, the prospects of holding elections in the North and the East were bleak. Finally, it was decided to hold elections to the Local Authorities (excluding the North and the East) before the end of June, 1991.

However, prior to this decision being taken, a recommendation made by the Youth Commission to recognize the need for youth representation in elected bodies had been accepted. In view of this decision the Local Authorities Elections (Amendment) Act, No.25 of 1990 came into being on 29.06.1990. This amendment stipulated that in each nomination paper, there should be not less than 40% of the candidates from the category of youth. A youth is defined as a person who is below the age of 35 years on the closing date of the nominations for a Council.

Nominations for 10 Municipal Councils, 33 Urban Councils and 194 Pradeshiya Sabhas were called on 07.03.1991. Nominations were received between 21.03.1991 and 12 noon on 28.03.1991. Altogether 875 nomination papers were received, out of which 74 were rejected. In the contest there were 11 recognized political parties and 82 Independent groups. At the conclusion of nominations, the members were returned uncontested in respect of the Urban Council of Kadugannawa. There were in all 16,017 candidates in the field. There were 6,260 youth candidates in this total of 16,017 candidates.

The poll at this election was taken on 11th May, 1991, at 7,499 polling stations spread over these 236 Local Authorities. This poll turned out to be the most normal and peaceful poll after the Presidential Election of 1982. It was quite a contrast to the Referendum, where there were very serious allegations of malpractices and other election offences as well as the Elections to Provincial Councils and Presidential Election of 1988 and the Parliamentary General Election of 1989 which were held under conditions of unprecedented violence, attempts to disrupt the conduct of the elections as well as alleged attempts at widespread malpractices under cover of such threats.

The total poll was recorded as 6,293,929 valid votes constituting 72.97% of the total registered. This showed an increase over the Provincial Councils Elections by 23.2%, Presidential Election by 17.65% and the Parliamentary General Election by 9.37%.

Out of a total of 6,260 youth candidates nominated at these elections, 1,188 were elected as members, which constitutes 19% of the candidates. Compared with the total membership of 3,542 elected as members for all councils, this constitutes 33.54%.

Notices under Section 65(c) were served on the Political Parties and Independent Groups to nominate the Mayor/Deputy Mayor, Chairman/Vice Chairman of each Council on 14th May, 1991. They were expected to submit their nominations by 5th June, 1991. This notice was served on the United National Party in respect of 191 Local Authorities, Sri Lanka Freedom Party in respect of 35 Local Authorities, Mahajana Eksath Peramuna in respect of 02 Local Authorities, Ceylon Workers Congress in respect of 02 Local Authorities and the Communist Party of Sri Lanka in respect of 03 Local Authorities where in each of them, they had obtained the highest number of valid votes. All of them responded within the specified time.

The members including the Mayor/Deputy Mayor, Chairman/Vice Chairman declared duly elected to these 237 Local Authorities were gazetted in Gazette Extraordinary No.665/16 - 665/23 of 07.06.1991. They assumed office with effect from 01.07.1991.

The Commissioner of Elections informed them that he had already annulled the polls in respect of such areas, but he would proceed to declare the results without a re-poll because it would not make any difference to the results.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT

There are 2 classes of local authorities, namely

1. Municipal Councils, and
2. Urban Councils.

These are independent, statutory Corporations, constituted under and governed by the provisions of the Municipal Councils Ordinance (Chapter 252) and the Urban Councils Ordinance (Chapter 255) respectively. These local authorities are charged with the regulation, control and administration of all matters relating to the public health, public utility services and public thoroughfares, and generally with the protection and promotion of the comfort, convenience and welfare of the people and the amenities of that local authority.

In addition to the powers, duties and functions vested by the above Ordinances, these local authorities exercise, perform and discharge many other powers, duties and functions conferred on them by a large number of other Ordinances and Acts of which the most important are the Town and Country Planning Ordinance (Chapter 269), the Housing and Town Improvement Ordinance (Chapter 268), the Entertainment Tax Ordinance (Chapter 267), the Public Performances Ordinance (Chapter 272), the Vehicles Ordinance (Chapter 202), the Auctioneers and Brokers Ordinance (Chapter 109) and the Cemeteries and Burial Grounds Ordinance (Chapter 231).

Elections for the selection of Mayors, Deputy Mayors and Councillors of Municipal Councils and Chairmen, Vice-Chairmen and Members of Urban Councils were held on 19th May, 1979 and 18th May, 1983, on a list of proportional representation system in terms of the provisions of the Local Authorities Election Ordinance (Chapter 262).

The Municipal Councils of Colombo and Kandy were constituted in 1865 and the Municipal Council of Galle in 1867, under Ordinance No.17 of 1865. After the enactment of the Municipal Councils Ordinance No.29 of 1947, the Municipal Councils of Jaffna, Kurunegala and Nuwara-Eliya were constituted in 1949, while the Negombo Municipal Council was constituted in 1950. Since then, the following Municipal Councils have been constituted.

Dehiwela-Mt. Lavinia M.C.	in 1961
Badulla and Matale M.C.'s	in 1963
Batticaloa M.C.	in 1967, and
Ratnapura M.C.	in 1968

With the constitution of the Greater Colombo Economic Commission in 1978, the area of the Negombo Municipal Council fell within the administrative limits of that Commission. However, after the passing of the Development Councils Act, No.35 of 1980, the Negombo Municipality was excluded from the administrative limits of the Greater Colombo Economic Commission with effect from 1st February, 1981.

There are 12 Municipal Councils.

Twenty Seven Urban District Councils were constituted under the Local Government Ordinance No.11 of 1920. These 27 Urban District Councils came to be known as Urban Councils with the enactment of the Urban Councils Ordinance No.61 of 1939. Eleven Urban Councils were constituted in 1947 while two more Urban Councils were constituted in 1984, bringing the number of Urban Councils to 40. In 1949 nine of these Urban Councils were upgraded as Municipal Councils, while three new Urban Councils were constituted in 1964 and three in 1970. With the enactment of the Transfer of Powers (Anuradhapura Preservation Board) Law No.25 of 1974, an Urban Council was constituted for the Anuradhapura Town inclusive of the Sacred Area. The administration of the affairs of this Urban Council was vested in a Special Commissioner till such time a General Election is held for the election of the first members of this Urban Council. Later, a new Urban Council was constituted for the new town of Anuradhapura. A new Urban Council for Ampara town was constituted with effect from 1st June, 1979.

With the constitution of the Greater Colombo Economic Commission in 1978, four of these Urban Council areas (Peliyagoda, Mabole-Wattala, Ja-Ela and Katunayake-Seeduwa) fell within the administrative limits of the Commission, but after the passing of the Development Councils Act, No. 35 of 1980, the former Urban Council areas of Peliyagoda, Wattala-Mabole and Ja-Ela, were excluded from the administrative limits of the Greater Colombo Economic Commission with effect from 1st February, 1981. The area of the former Katunayake-Seeduwa U.C., however, was not excluded and remains within the administrative area of the Greater Colombo Economic Commission.

There are 39 Urban Councils.

In 1945, by the Local Government Service Ordinance (Chapter 264) disciplinary control over the middle and higher grades of employees of Local Authorities came to be vested in the Local Government Service Commission. The Commission was abolished by the Local Government Service Law No.16 of 1974, and disciplinary control of the Local Government Service came to be vested in the Ministry of Local Government. The same Law provides for a Director of Local Government Service, a Local Government Service Advisory Board and a Local Government Disciplinary Board, to assist the Minister. The disciplinary control over employees who do not come under the control of the Minister is exercised by the various local authorities.

With the inauguration of the Donoughmore Constitution for the Island in July, 1931, an Executive Committee of Local Administration was elected by the State Council to supervise, control and develop Local Government and a Department of Local Government under the Commissioner of Local Government was created as the executive instrument of the Committee. From October 1947, under the new Constitution, the Department came under the Minister to whom the subject of Local Government was allocated.

From 1966, under an administrative arrangement, the Department of Local Government was constituted a division of the Ministry of Local Government, known as the Local Government Division. The Commissioner of Local Government functioned as a Senior Assistant Secretary of the Ministry in addition to carrying out the statutory functions vested in him as Commissioner by law. But, in May, 1970, the Department of Local Government was re-established as a separate entity under the Ministry of Public Administration, Local Government and Home Affairs. After the reshuffling of Ministries in 1976, the Department was under the Minister of Local Government.

With the change of Government in 1977 the Department of Local Government was brought under the Ministry of Local Government, Housing and Construction. The Department of Local Government was brought under the Ministry of Public Administration, Provincial Councils and Home Affairs in 1989. It so remained after the reshuffling of Ministries in 1990. Subsequently, the Department of Local Government was done away with and its functions were relegated to the Provincial Councils. In all Provincial Councils there is a Minister in charge of the subject of Local Government. The Department of Local Government under such Ministry is charged with the responsibility of guiding and assisting Local Authorities in the province.

In 1995, the Minister of Provincial Councils was appointed and sworn in as Minister of Local Government to take charge of the Form, Structure and Constitution to Local Authorities in the country.

The accounts of the Local Authorities are audited by the Auditor General in terms of the Constitution of 1978 and the provision of the Municipal Councils Ordinance and the Urban Councils Ordinance.

During 1966/67 there were overhead 77,812 miles of Telegraph Wire (including Railway Telegraph Wires), and 113,218 underground Telegraph Wires laid. In 1857, the Ceylon Government decided to open telegraphic communication in the Island, and, accordingly, the first line was completed in January, 1858, between Colombo and Galle* along the sea coast, a distance of 74 miles. In June 1858, the telegraph line was extended from Colombo to Kandy and in October 1858, direct telegraphic communication was established with India by the construction of a line from Colombo via Kandy and Anuradhapura to Mannar and Talaimannar nearly 250 miles in length.

In 1976, 81,000 overhead miles including Railway Telegraph wires and 169,263 underground Telegraph wires were laid.

* A successful Carrier Pigeon Express service begun by Dr. Elliot was carried on in connection with the Ceylon Observer from 1850 to 1858 between Galle and Colombo, before the telegraph was established; pigeons brought the mail news regularly throughout the Crimean War and often brought enough for several columns of news in 1 3/4 hours and once in 1 1/4 hours a distance of 72 miles.

In 1859 the Morse System was introduced into Ceylon in place of the old needle instrument. In 1864 the telegraph wire was extended from Kandy via Dambulla to Trincomalee, but, owing to the frequent interruptions from herds of wild elephants which pulled down and broke the posts, this line was dismantled in 1881, and another, and a better route from Anuradhapura to Trincomalee took its place.

On March 2, 1865, the first direct message from Europe was received in Colombo. On August 12, 1866, the first message was received from America in Colombo. In July 1880, the telegraph lines were transferred from the Indian to the Ceylon Government.

Telegraphic Money Orders between Ceylon and India were introduced on February 1, 1909.

TOURISM SECTION

TOURISM IN SRI LANKA

The Ceylon Tourist Board was established by an Act of Parliament (No. 10 of 1966) for the purpose of encouraging, promoting and developing tourist travel and to encourage and develop tourist services.

The Board consists of seven unofficial members, one of whom is appointed Chairman by the Minister and two officials, one each from the Treasury and the Ministry of Public Administration, Home Affairs, Plantation Industries and Parliamentary Affairs.

The development of tourism was initially guided by the Ceylon Tourism Plan formulated by a consortium of marketing consultants commissioned by the Tourist Board. Subsequently, revisions and extensions have been effected.

On the lines set out in the Tourism Plan, a many faceted programme of development is being implemented by the Tourist Board.

The Island's tourist potential has been programmed in terms of five resort regions - Colombo and the adjacent beach areas, the south coast, the ancient and historic cities, the hill country, northern and the east coast. The programme envisages a total of 12,060 hotel rooms to be distributed in the resort regions by the terminal period of the plans.

The south coast region will accent beach holidays on the scenic south coast, aquatic sports and the old Dutch City of Galle. The Bentota National Holiday Resort with its complex of hotels, service centres, shops and other resort utilities is one of the highlights of this region.

Bentota has 597 hotel rooms and the South Coast Resort Region has 3,639 hotel rooms.

At Kataragama a Resthouse with 43 rooms is in operation.

The ancient and historic cities region is an area with very potent domestic pilgrim as well as visitor appeal. The remains of Sri Lanka's splendid ancient civilisation at Anuradhapura, Sigiriya, Polonnaruwa and Kandy's pageants and ceremonies are some of the best travel attractions the country has to offer.

In the ancient and historic cities region, Polonnaruwa, Sigiriya, Dambulla and Habarana have a capacity of 840 hotel rooms. Anuradhapura has 203 hotel rooms.

Giritale has 111 hotel rooms in operation.

Tea and scenery, a pleasant mountain climate, golf and trout fishing make up the potential of the hill country resort region which also has heavy domestic vacation traffic. A total of 465 rooms is now available.

Kandy has 890 hotel rooms.

A commercial capital almost always attracts a tourist with its special personality, its shops, amusements, amenities and cultural activities. In the Colombo city the existing capacity is 3090 rooms. The Colombo resort region has 2114 rooms.

The East Coast has 101 rooms.

A tourist hotels code to provide for the inspection and classification of tourist hotels is being implemented in order to ensure the maintenance of international standards.

Improvements and modernisation of existing accommodation units have been strongly emphasised and considerable assistance in the form of import duty exemptions and tax relief is given to hoteliers to improve their establishments.

Apart from this investment, several inquiries have been received from Danish, German, American, British, French, Italian, Chinese, Indian and Japanese groups for investments in the tourist industry, primarily for hotel construction and also leading international chain hotel operators have shown interests in investing in Sri Lanka.

A number of research programmes are being conducted. Basic tourist movement data is compiled and analysed and a series of surveys have been completed. These include Visitor Expenditure Surveys, Reaction Surveys, Travel Industry Survey, Survey of Domestic Tourism, Charter Tourist Survey and a major Visitor Image Motivation study in the primary markets.

Immigration, Customs, Exchange Control, and Health formalities have been streamlined and simplified to make entry and exit as quick and easy as possible. The vastly improved facilities of the Katunayake International Airport at Katunayake have helped in this a great deal.

Another important avenue of development is tourist transportation. Expansion of Domestic and International Air Services have been programmed. Twenty International Airlines including the National Carrier operate services to and from Sri Lanka.

A considerable number of touring vehicles and an air-conditioned luxury train are available for tourist transportation: expansion of tourist reception services, development of airports, highways, sea-ports, cultural institutions and protection of resorts is also planned and considerable progress has been made.

A vigorous programme of publicity and public relations with the travel trade is being implemented. A variety of attractive tourist publications, posters, view cards, sales-aides for trade, documentary films and video cassettes are distributed in our markets.

Due to the public relation activities, we received coverage in trade and consumer publications giving publicity to Sri Lanka's attractions. Sales seminars are conducted abroad and wherever possible Sri Lanka's tourist attractions are publicised at trade fairs and exhibitions.

In Sri Lanka the Tourist Board maintains information centres in Colombo, Kandy and at Katunayake. Representatives in the U.K., Germany, France, Japan and Thailand, service our main market areas abroad. This is supplemented by diplomatic missions.

Staff training is another essential facet of Sri Lanka's tourist development programme and fair progress has been made.

A Hotel School was established in Colombo in the year 1966, to provide technical training in Hotel Management and Catering. The School has over the past years trained young people at various levels to cater to the Hotel Industry in Sri Lanka. These products of the school now hold top management positions in the hotel industry in Sri Lanka and abroad.

In 1976 the "Modular System of Training" was introduced at the Ceylon Hotel School. Here each student starts at Basic Level training in various disciplines of the hotel trade. All students have the option to follow subsequent modules which will allow them to rise up in the industry to their own level of competence. The main disciplines covered under this programme are Food and Beverage Operations, Professional Cookery, Front Office Operations and Hotel Housekeeping. This training programme ideally matches the needs of the hotel industry as a large number of trained personnel are available for employment at skilled levels. At the same time a smaller number of trainees doing the full range of subjects are available for supervisory and management levels.

The school also offers a range of advisory services to the local hotel industry and undertakes consultancy projects as well. The Training Hotel which has been set up serves the public in a limited manner, enables students to receive a higher level of practical training under more realistic conditions than before, and, thereby, produce more competent young men and women for the Hotel industry.

In the development of the tourist industry, local industries and craftsmanship are accommodated very substantially. Local crafts, processes, products and designs are featured extensively in hotels.

The development of the souvenir industry to make the products of Sri Lanka's fine traditional craftsmanship, as well as modern ingenuity, easily available to the tourist has also been programmed.

THE CEYLON TOURIST BOARD

The Ceylon Tourist Board was established with effect from 01.05.66 under the Ceylon Tourist Board Act, No.10 of 1966. Its objects are

- (a) the encouragement, promotion and development of tourist travel,
- (b) the encouragement, promotion and development of adequate, efficient and attractive tourist services and
- (c) the doing of all such acts or things as may be necessary for, or conducive to, the attainment of the objects specified in (a) and (b) above.

Head Office - No.78, Steuart Place, Colombo 3.

Chairman - H.M.S. Samaranayake, Tel. 437953.

The Travel information Centre situated at 78, Steuart Place, Colombo 3 provides a comprehensive Tourist Information service on Sri Lanka and maintains Information Counters at the Katunayake International Airport, Katunayake and at No.3, Deva Veediya, Kandy.

The Tourist Board carries out tourist promotion work abroad through Public Relations, Editorial Publicity, Radio, Films, Advertising and Direct Mailing of Promotional material. This work is done through the Tourist Board's offices and representations in Frankfurt, London, Paris, Perth and Bangkok and through Sri Lanka's Missions abroad.

The Board has also embarked on an extensive programme of development in respect of Domestic Tourism focussed on pilgrim and holiday destinations such as Kataragama, Bandarawela, Nuwara Eliya, Anuradhapura and Bentota.

The Board carries out its cultural tourism programme through regular art exhibitions sponsored by the Board; cultural shows; and the joint sponsorship, with other organisations, of performances of indigenous cultural troupes in other countries. It makes every endeavour to present Sri Lanka's indigenous art forms to the tourist, and seeks by this means to further foster the development of Sri Lanka's music, art and dance forms.

The Board has inaugurated a Community Relations programme aimed at

- (a) creating a greater community awareness of the benefits and merits of tourism
- (b) Keeping Sri Lanka clean and beautiful through an Environmental Beautification campaign.

The Board also runs a Hotel School for training prospective Managers, Cooks, Chefs de Cuisine, Waiters, Receptionists and Kitchen Staff. It is staffed with lecturers trained in Hotel Management and all aspects of catering. The School is situated at Nawala.

WILD LIFE PROTECTION

Sri Lanka, in comparison with its size, has a unique range of wild life to show to the visitor and it is our duty to preserve it for posterity, not only for recreation of the people but also for its cultural and scientific value.

The Department of Wild Life Conservation came into existence on 01.10.49. The department's functions, in general, are to administer and enforce the Fauna & Flora Protection Act and to implement the Government policy on all matters and questions relating to the Fauna & Flora of this island, and include, in particular:

- (a) the control and administration of the national reserves and sanctuaries;
- (b) the control of the killing and capture of wild animals, under licenses and permits;
- (c) the study of all aspects of the lives of wild animals, discovery of changes in their living conditions and population and in the equilibrium of nature generally, and the taking of remedial measures for their preservation and protection;
- (d) the prevention and detection of offences under the Act;
- (e) the promotion and encouragement of public interest in Fauna & Flora Protection;
- (f) the regulation of trading in live specimens and in the flesh, skins, tusks, horns, plumage, eggs and the like of wild life;
- (g) the control of the export of indigenous species and of the import of the exotic species;
- (h) the control of the destruction of dangerous wild animals.

The Fauna & Flora Protection Ordinance (Chapter 469) has now been amended. To give wild life greater protection and wider area for movement, additional areas have been set aside as these conditions are so vital to ensure their rehabilitation and survival.

Protection to our wild fauna is afforded mainly in the national reserves and sanctuaries. The national reserves, and sanctuaries, first proclaimed in 1938, are now 5702 sq. km. in extent, and consist of:

- (a) Four strict natural reserves, 409.4 sq. km. in total extent. In these areas the fauna and flora are left completely undisturbed and into them admission is prohibited except for research.
- (b) Four national parks, 3049 sq. km. in total extent. Into these areas the public are freely admitted on permits for the purpose of study and observation of wild life, the fee payable for admission is Rs. 18/00 per person in the case of a resident and US$ 12/00 for a non-resident.
- (c) Two intermediate zones, 362 sq. km. in total extent. During the close season the zones are open for photography. All national reserves are Crown forests.

The largest strict natural reserves are 291 sq. km. and 292 sq. km. The remaining three which are smaller areas, 15.34 and 11.3 sq. km. are typically flora reserves, one possessing the characteristic flora of the highest mountain zone and the other mixed and unusual flora of the mountain in the arid zone. A strict natural reserve should primarily be a localised area extending over the habitat of a species in danger of extinction or requiring special protection and which needs to be completely isolated from and undisturbed by man in order to enable it to rehabilitate and survive.

NATIONAL PARKS

The two national parks, Ruhunu (Yala) on the south-east and Wilpattu on the north-west cover a total extent of 1163.7 sq. km. and 1421.2 sq. km. respectively.

Ruhunu National Park is more popular than the Wilpattu National Park due to its easier accessibility. Ruhunu National Park abounds in elephants, has many herds of deer and numerous peafowl; but leopard and bear are rarely seen. Topographically the two national parks are strikingly different but equally picturesque and attractive. The Ruhunu park bounded by the sea on the coast, cover large extents of park country with picturesque rocky hills rich in ancient ruins.

Wilpattu National Park has few rock outcrops and hills, but includes 26 natural lakes or "villus" of varying size and beauty.

The Ruhunu park has seven main park bungalows in Yala and Buttuwa while in Wilpattu there are seven at Maradanmaduwa, Kalivillu, Manikapola Uttu, Kokmottai, Maravila, Panikavila and Tanavila. All Bungalows are fully equipped and have bungalow keepers who can cook.

In Wilpattu park, elephants are few but bears and leopards are numerous. Peafowl appear to be more tamed, deer graze or move a short distance only to resume their grazing. Lone bull buffaloes wallowing in water-holes sometimes do not even raise their heads and elephants are liable to behave most strangely to the great alarm of visitors. Other animals found are sambhur, wild boar, porcupine, crocodile, hare and python. Jungle fowl are also common. Birds of varied plumage and description are also found in rich abundance. Of these the most fascinating are the painted storks. Many opportunities are available for the study of animal behaviour, enumeration of animals and ecological studies over a wide field in the national parks.

STRICT NATURAL RESERVES

Hakgala and Ritigala Strict Natural Reserves are two such reserves with a distinctive type of vegetation, Hakgala carries the flora of the highest elevation, Ritigala summit, renowned for its remarkable flora, lying isolated in the flat dry zone on which little or no rain falls for about 6 months of the year, has in the past served as a natural laboratory to many scientists. The flora of Ritigala hill consists of over 100 species of which one or two are local or endemic in the botanical sense.

Yala Strict Natural Reserve. The present extent of the Yala strict natural reserve is 291 sq. km. The northern parts largely unknown and is believed to be mainly high forest. The existence of a brown bear in this reserve first reported by H. Neville in the "Taprobanian" in 1885.

Wasgomuwa Strict Natural Reserve. 292 sq. km. in extent, is one of the most inaccessible reserves with soil that is most fertile. This region is also one of the abodes of marsh elephant.

Horton Plains Nature Reserve. 163 km. by road and 229 km. by railway to which the closest station is Ohiya, is one of the most fascinating scenic beauties of this Island. Embracing huge, treeless rolling patnas with clusters of jungle here and there in which the sambhur find sanctuary. The vast plains which rise to heights of over 2135m. above sea level holds copses of beautiful juniper and rhododendrons and buttercups in certain season astonish the eye. Spectacularly nothing is more comparable with the abyss known as World's End where the plains in the southern side end abruptly to a sheer fall in the nature of 1525m. The resthouse which is fully equipped and to which it is now motorable offers cosy accommodation. The streams that radiate the plains teem with exotic fish, offering exciting sports to the angler. The Horton Plains is also the habitat of many species of fauna and flora of biological interest.

SANCTUARIES

Sanctuaries whose total extent is 1996 sq. km. are merely areas within which any form of human activity except hunting and firing of guns is permitted. Sanctuaries could include, besides Crown forest, private lands as well. The total number of sanctuaries now is 40. Sanctuaries are being declared to serve three purposes. They are -

- (a) protecting bird life
- (b) protecting wild life in religious places.
- (c) buffer to a national park or intermediate zone.

In furtherance of the protection of wild life the following additional preventive measures are now taken by this Department:

- (a) Export of wild animals or parts of wild animals in commercial quantities is prohibited.
- (b) No licences are issued for the capture of elephants.
- (c) Issue of game licences has been suspended.

The wild life of Sri Lanka is a resource of unique value, it must be preserved both as an object of study and as a spectacle to be enjoyed. Its scientific study is a necessary basis for proper land use policies. An increasing number of people from all parts of the world are finding unique satisfaction and interest in it as a spectacle.

WILDLIFE & NATURE PROTECTION SOCIETY OF SRI LANKA (CEYLON)

(Established on May 23rd, 1894)

The protection of Game and Fauna in Sri Lanka is regulated by the Fauna and Flora Ordinance, No.2 of 1937, and its Amendment Acts, Nos. 44 of 1964 1 of 1970 and No.49 of 1993 copies of which can be obtained from the Government record Office, Secretariat Buildings, Colombo, and a summary is given overleaf.

The Department of Wild Life Conservation is entirely responsible for the management of Strict Nature Reserves, National Parks and Sanctuaries and details of these can be obtained from the Director, Department of Wild Life Conservation, No. 493, Dr. T.B. Jayah Mawatha, Colombo 10, or from the Hony.General Secretary, Wild Life & Nature Protection Society of Sri Lanka (Ceylon).

The Wild Life & Nature Protection Society was established as the Game Protection Society on 23rd May, 1894 to prevent the elimination of Game in Sri Lanka by the destruction of Animals for trading purposes. It was largely due to the representations of the Society that the Dried Meat Ordinance was passed in 1908 and the Games Ordinance amended in 1909, also later that the present National Parks and Reserves were established and that the Wild Life Department was created in 1949.

The objects of the Society are -

- (a) To prevent the progressive destruction of species of wild animals and plants, and wherever possible, to preserve wild life intact in natural conditions in Sri Lanka.
- (b) To assist in protecting nature in all its form, i.e. landscape, soil, water, flora, fauna, marine habitats and to conserve it for future generations.
- (c) To co-operate actively with organisations in Sri Lanka and in other countries in the interests of nature conservation and give financial support for study and research concerning wild life.
- (d) To negotiate and co-operate with the State and public bodies in the interests of wild life and nature conservation, especially to establish and support national reserves and sanctuaries, and assist in their administration.
- (e) To establish, administer and hold private wild life sanctuaries and nature reserves.
- (f) To publicise the importance of wild life and nature conservation in this country.

All members, whose subscriptions are not in arrears, receive a copy each of the Society's Magazine, LORIS, which is issued bi-annually in June and December.

SUMMARY OF THE AMENDED FAUNA AND FLORA PROTECTION ORDINANCE

Chapter 469 of Legislative Enactments
By Th. W. HOFFMANN

President, Wild Life & Nature Protection Society of Sri Lanka (Ceylon)

In October, 1993, Parliament gave assent to a bill amending the existing Fauna & Flora Protection Ordinance. Very few people are aware of the nature of these amendments, which now are law, or even of the main provisions of the old Ordinance.

SUMMARY OF THE FAUNA & FLORA PROTECTION ORDINANCE as amended by ACT NO 49 OF 1993.

These meticulously compiled amendments had been the subject of deliberations of several statutory committees, subcommittees and inter-departmental discussions which took more than five years for completion. They have taken into consideration, the several inroads of developmental programmes into conservation areas and an alarming loss, of forest cover and ecologically sensitive habitats during the last 20 years.

While the civil war in the North and East took its own toll of wild animals and valuable forest cover the paucity of commitment to uphold the laws was also a contributory factor to the depletion.

In formulating these amendments deterrent punishments are envisaged against those convicted of offences while maximal protection is offered to ecologically sensitive areas.

Protected Areas

1. Director, Department of Wildlife Conservation will be solely responsible for the control and management of all facilities and amenities in National Reserves.

2. A ban on construction of Tourist Hotels and restriction of any other developmental process within 1 mile of a National Reserve.

3. Statutory recognition of Jungle corridors, Buffer Zone, Refuge and Marine Reserves.

4. Deletion of Intermediate Zones and licensing for seasonal shooting of game.

Elephants

1. The minimum fine for causing the death of a wild elephant is Rs.100,000/- or imprisonment for 2 years.

2. Export of tusks, tushes or any article made of them is banned and is liable to a fine of Rs.30,000/- or imprisonment for 2 years.

3. It is mandatory that every owner of an elephant, tusks or tushes, have them registered on payment of a fee.

Mammals and Reptiles

1. The amended ordinance resorts to a system of "negative listing" in offering protection to mammals and reptiles.

Only 11 animals (6 mammalian species and 5 reptiles) are NOT PROTECTED. They are the wild boar, the black naped hare, crested porcupine, grey langur, torque monkey, rats and mice, Indian krite, Russel's viper, Cobra, Sri Lankan krite and the saw-scaled viper. It would be an offence to kill, take or possess any other wild animal or reptile.

It is an offence to possess or kill leopard, dolphin, marine turtle, deer, sambhur, lorekeet or peafowl.

Birds

Sri Lanka is the home to over 400 species of birds. Of them only 7 species may be killed, taken etc. without being guilty of having committed an offence.

It would be an offence even to have in one's possession or under one's control or expose for sale the meat or flesh or the eggs or the nest of such a mammal, reptile or bird and on conviction, a person guilty of having committed such an offence would be liable to a minimum fine of Rs.10,000/- or to imprisonment of not less than 2 years.

New sections protecting Amphibians, Fishes and Invertebrates (Butterflies, shrimps, molluscs, crabs and corals) are a feature of the amended ordinance. The species thus protected are listed in Schedules IV and IVA and it would constitute an offence punishable with a minimum fine of Rs.5000/- or imprisonment for 1 year if one is convicted. Among the animals so protected are several species of fishes, (Asoka barb, Wilpita Rasbora, Rednecked goby) shrimps, Crabs, Tubeworms, Fanworms, Sand anemone, Pencil urchin and Corals.

IMPORTING of any mammal, bird, reptile, amphibian, fish or invertebrate whether dead or alive or any part thereof or any eggs, larvae or spawn may be done only with a permit issued by a prescribed officer and violation of this regulation would render such an offender to be fined a minimum of Rs.5000/- or be imprisoned for 2 years.

PLANTS

Enhanced protection is given to plants and any member of the plant family which includes orchids, algae and mosses. The list of protected plants are detailed in Schedule V and the specific protected trees are listed in Schedule VI.

It would be an offence to uproot, damage or cause injury to a protected plant or a member of the plant family and such an offence is punishable with a fine of Rs.3000/- or 2 years imprisonment.

These amendments and the enhanced punishments imposed, were considered most desirable, at this juncture, on account of the general disregard for these laws which were very relevant to protect the country's natural resources and its rich biodiversity.

Other law enforcing agencies such as the Police, Customs, Coast Conservation Department and the Forest Department can make major contributions towards implementing the provisions of these laws.

BANKS SECTION

HISTORY OF BANKING IN SRI LANKA

During the first four decades of the nineteenth century Sri Lanka was without the services of a bank, although we were under the British, who were known to the world as the "Nation of Shop-Keepers". The activities somewhat allied to "Banking" were performed by a community called the "Nattukottai Chettiars" whose main ambition of life was strictly restricted to "Making Money". Since they were the main source of money supply to merchants, the Chettiars could command the country's trade to a larger extent. But with the advent of banks, they gradually lost the dominant position they hitherto enjoyed. The European business community ceased to depend on them. Yet, they continued to be "bankers" to many Sri Lankan traders, even upto the early decades of 20th century.

After capturing the hill country the British took every possible step to build new roads where lands were covered with plantations. In short they gave the entire country a face lift. This new trend created the demand for banking services. The Planters wanted banks in order to arrange their capital requirements to discount Bills of Exchange which they drew against the export of their produce, to remit money "home" and also for various other necessities. On the otherhand, a merchant community was developing parallel to the planting community. Demand arose from this new elite class for the import of finished goods, rice and other food stuffs from across the sea. The meagre money supply of the Chettiars, was not adequate to meet this new situation.

Birth of the first Bank of Ceylon

Against such a background, a London businessman named William Thompson, having obtained a Royal Charter, established the first joint stock commercial bank on our soil with a capital of Stg. 125,000. According to records, this first bank, the Bank of Ceylon, commenced business in Colombo on 1st June 1841. (This bank had no connection with the Bank of Ceylon established in 1939). Very soon due to the coffee boom, the first Bank of Ceylon opened its first branch in Kandy in 1843.

Due to a commercial crisis in Great Britain, coffee prices came down. A number of estates were either sold or abandoned. The Bank of Ceylon suffered heavily in this crisis. It is said that the bank had lost Stg. 68,000 out of its nominal capital. Apart from this the bank obviously lacked expertise.

Oriental Bank

In the meantime, a large Indian Bank opened a branch in 1843. (In some books, the year is indicated as 1845). This branch of the Bank of Western India was welcome by both the business as well as the planting community, as it had large resources, unlike the indigenous Bank of Ceylon. This Indian Bank changed its name to "Oriental Bank", after their head office shifted from Bombay to London. In 1851, they took over the business of Bank of Ceylon, thus ending the activities of the first bank in this country. The two banks were merged under a new name "Oriental Bank Corporation" with a paid-up capital of Stg. 1,260,000. The initial capital was Stg. 2,500,000, a fairly large sum according to the time and period.

In 1844, the Government permitted banks to issue promissory notes. As a result there were bank notes circulating along side the Treasury notes. Yet it must be noted that, although the Government notes enjoyed greater credit and were even held by the banks, as part of their cash reserves, the bank notes were not accepted by the government, in settlement of taxes and other dues. The volume of paper currency in the hands of the public on 30th September 1847 was as follows :

Government Notes	-	Stg. 43,310
Bank of Ceylon Notes	-	Stg. 14,340
Oriental Bank Notes	-	Stg. 16,800
Total	-	Stg. 74,450

Effect of Coffee

Any research into this period of banking will not be complete without a reference to coffee cultivation, as it was the live wire of trading of Sri Lanka at that time. Coffee covered 85,600 acres of land in 1855 and by 1875 the acreage increased to 249,600. Pattern of life too depended on coffee prices. The situation of the economy of this period, can be judged from letters the Governor Torrington sent to Lord Gray, Secretary of State for the colonies, published by Prof. K.M. de Silva, under the title "The Rebellion of 1848". To quote Torrington ... "The amount of silver in the island is very small, we could only just pay our notes in circulation and the surplus is cut down to a very small sum indeed. No sufficient money for commercial purposes and a great difficulty in getting money sent up into the interior for the use of the estates. The banks are hardly under sufficient restrictions, or with capital for a more extended business". "Everything is dear and it requires considerable care to live within bounds. The difficulties of travelling are so great, that the number of servants required is beyond belief. There is no article of living that has not increased by 50% in the last six years. I want nothing but what is necessary. I am too poor a man to be able to spend money beyond my allowances ..."

By the end of 1853 the coffee crisis, which had completely dislocated banking services in the island, was over and the economy was well on the road to recovery. Early in 1854, branches of the "Mercantile Bank of India, London and China" were opened in Colombo and Kandy and the bank obtained a charter of incorporation in 1857 and changed its name to "Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China", which entitled it to secure rights to issue notes. Since the Oriental Bank Corporation and the Mercantile Bank were the only Chartered Banks, they enjoyed the privilege of the notes issue until 1884".

New Banks

1860s show the arrival of number of new banks. Most of these banks existed only for a brief period. "Asiatic Banking Corporation" started a branch in July 1864 but was closed in October 1866. "The Bank of Hindustan, China and Japan" also opened its branch in July 1864, but ceased operations in November 1866. "The Royal Bank of India" holds the unique record of being the bank with the shortest existence in Sri Lanka opened in February 1865 but liquidated on 31st December, 1866.

The "Bank of Madras" commenced business in July 1867 and opened a branch within one year in Kandy. "The Comptoir D Escompte de Paris" opened their branch in 1877 but closed in 1879. "The National Bank of India" opened a branch at Baillie Street, Colombo, but involved mainly in exchange business. In 1892 the "Chartered Bank of India, China and Australia" and the "Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation" established branches in Sri Lanka. In January 1893, "The Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China" was re-constituted and emerged as the "Mercantile Bank of India". A new bank, by the name of "New Oriental Bank Corporation" which tried to build upon the ruins of the great "Oriental Bank Corporation" commenced business in 1885, but voluntarily liquidated in 1892. A reference is needed for two more banks due to special reasons. One is the "Bank of Kandy" and the other is "Uva Bank".

Bank of Kandy

In some books, we find that the "Bank of Kandy" was opened in Kandy in 1828, by Mr. Jeronis Peiris and Mr. Louis Peiris, but unfortunately the year is in doubt. Historians of later years have proved that this Bank existed much later. Ferguson's Ceylon Directory 1863 describes Jeronis Peiris' occupation as that of a "native banker". It appears that he has opened the bank with the assistance of his London trained younger brother Louis Peiris in 1860s.

Bank of Uva

After the collapse of the Oriental Bank Corporation, the Manager of its Branch in Badulla started a bank and forwarding agency in 1884, under the title "The Bank of Uva". This bank existed for a long time. It is recorded that the second 'Bank of Ceylon' which came into existence in 1939, acquired the business of "Bank of Uva" in 1954 and the Bank was converted to Bank of Ceylon's Badulla Branch in the same premises.

Banking Activities

The banks played a very significant role in the country's economy, in the latter part of the 19th century. Apart from being responsible for the currency supply, they assisted in the rapid growth of economic development of the period by meeting the demand for short term credit generating process. The most striking characteristic of their business was the type of credit, which was essentially short term. The usance of bills of exchange was not more than six months. Advances on cash credit account likewise, had an upper limit of six months while promissory notes had a life cycle of not more than four months.

It can, of course, be argued that these short term loans and advances were "in effect" long term loans, in that they were renewable. But the essential point about the bank's loans was that they constituted short term credit which could be utilized only for purposes of working capital. "This became the rule wherever the British banker went" says Dr. H.A. de S. Gunasekera (P.43 "From Dependent Currency to Central Banking").

It must be mentioned that H.D. Andree, who was the Accountant of the Chartered Mercantile Bank of Colombo was one of the very few men who left us some literature in the banking field. According to Andree "The two banks established in the island are strictly and avowedly banks of exchange. The distinguishing principle of their business is to deal in foreign bills of exchange, the other branches of business being considered merely accessory. Thus the entire capital of the banks may be said to be devoted to exchange business being constantly employed in going backwards and forwards between the different branches and their head office, while portion of their deposits is lent out to customers upon promissory notes and the balance held as reserve".

Once the Government had withdrawn from the business of note issue, it began to make use of the banks to an increasing extent. The Government's cash balances at Badulla, Nuwara Eliya and Jaffna were transferred to the Oriental Bank against the deposit of Stg. 16,000 in consols as security. The Chartered Mercantile was entrusted with the collections of Matale. The business in Galle was shared between the two banks. From 1857 the practice had developed to lending government surplus balances to the banks. Soon the two banks had been recognised as bankers to the Government.

Troubles Begun

But the trouble of the banks began in the seventeens. J. Ferguson describes this situation thus. "As early as 1869, at the height of the development of the coffee plantations, an unknown fungus, which was afterwards termed "Hemileia Vastarix" was found to attack the tender coffee leaves, the orange coloured spots on the leaves multiplying and increasing in size upto July and August. But its effects were hardly felt owing to the rapid extension of the cultivated area and the equally rapid rise in coffee prices". (Review of the Planting and Agricultural Industries of Ceylon 1888). Another planter described more aptly "All the time the Leaf disease got worse and worse, and men got madder and madder and prices got higher and higher and crops got smaller and smaller". (R.W. Jenkins "Ceylon in the Fifties and Eighties" - 1886).

The failure of the Oriental Bank Corporation

As "Bankers Magazine" of June 1884 says, "Almost at the end of the long depression there occurred the heaviest colonial bank failure that has yet been recorded". On 3rd May 1884, outside the gates of the Oriental Bank's Office in Queens Street, Colombo, there was this poster "... a telegram has been received this morning advising me to suspend, and I have accordingly done so (Sgd.) James Anderson, Manager ...". According to the Ceylon Observer, "... the streets of the Fort was one large blaze of excitement. Groups of anxious chetties and native traders were hurrying into the Fort from every direction and collecting in a noisy mob outside the bank premises. By 11.00 O'clock the Fort was full of natives from the Pettah. (Readers should remember the Pettah at that time was the habitat of the 'native' and 'Indian' traders, while the Fort was overwhelmingly the 'European' Quarter) and all parts of Colombo, and it required the efforts of a strong body of Police to keep Queens Street, free of Traffic. The panic soon spread to the outstation towns and then throughout the villages. Misfortune and mismanagement too played a major role in the failure of Oriental Bank. However, the cause may be attributed mainly to the coffee crisis. Governor, Sir Arthur Gordon told the Legislative Council that the Planters reduced from affluence to embarrassment by no error or failure of their own, but through the mysterious ravage of a microscopic fungus" (Hansard of Legislative Council 06th December 1883).

The failure of Oriental Bank Corporation was also the end of the "Bank Note Issue" and Government introduced "Paper Currency" to replace bank note currency. The sad end of this gigantic organisation is one of the most astounding events in the history of eastern banking. "For years its name had been the very embodiment of credit" says, Dr. H.A. de S. Gunasekera. An official at Colonial Office during that time has said that the "failure of the Oriental Bank might be as ruinous there, as the failure of the Bank of England here" what better assessment than this?

Banking in 1900s

The economic and political environment of this period was not "healthy" enough for any development in banking. The unsettling influence in the earlier years plus the first world war were the main reasons. During this time, another indigenous bank commenced business on 8th January 1917, with an authorised capital of Rs.2 million and paid-up capital of Rs.5 lakhs. It was privately arranged to have the shares between ten prominent men. The prime mover of this venture was a businessman of Colombo with a name of O.B. Wijesekara. This Bank suspended its activities on 8th June, 1921. It is said that the bulk of Bank's capital was locked up in advances to its share holders, against security of its own shares. The Bank it is also said, was over-staffed and the staff was overpaid, while none of the Directors, had any previous banking experience. At one stage, the bank's total deposit amounted to Rs.900,000/-. Of this Rs.100,000/- was held in cash, Rs.200,000/- had been lent to the public while Rs.600,000/- had been borrowed by the shareholders themselves, Mr. F.R. Senanayake, who was a Director of this bank retired in 1917 itself, as he was disappointed of this unhealthy "Banking Practice". It is also recorded that there was a malicious propaganda by a newspaper against this bank. It should be mentioned that the first Sri Lankan Governor General Sir Oliver Goonetilleke was one time a Sub-Accountant of this bank. Till recent times as late as 1980s, the concrete name board of "Bank of Colombo" was visible on the front wall of an old building now demolished at Janadhipathi Mawatha, at the turn of Flag-staff Street. However, in fairness to its movers, we must say that the Bank of Colombo apparently tried to fill an important gap in the credit structure of Sri Lanka.

Of the other new Banks, there was the Eastern Bank whose Colombo Branch was opened in 1920. The P & O Banking Corporation opened a Branch in 1922, but merged with Chartered Bank in 1939. A number of Indian Banks opened in the thirties. The Indian Bank and Chettinad Bank in 1932, Hatton Bank in 1933, City Bank in 1934, the Travencore National Bank and Quilon Bank in 1936, Oriental Bank and the Nadar Bank in 1937. Of these, only the Indian Bank remained in 1939. Thomas Cook and Son (Bankers) Ltd., and the American Express Company did a small volume of banking business, mainly involving with tourist traffic.

Banking during inter war period

Out of the banks so far mentioned the "Bank of Madras" played a very significant role in banking activities of the time. Since 1885, it conducted the "Bankers' Clearing House" and the other banks maintained balances with it, for settlement clearing. In 1921 their business was transferred to the Imperial Bank of India, but the "Clearing House Function" continued to be performed by the successor, i.e. Imperial Bank of India. It must be mentioned that the government also maintained their main account with this Bank.

All banks of this period opened current accounts and accepted fixed deposits. Interest at the rate of 2 per cent used to be paid on current accounts provided the daily balance exceeded Rs.100,000/-. Fixed deposits received from 2 per cent to 4 per cent depending on the period, but often rates varied from one bank to another. The Eastern Bank and the P & O Bank also opened savings accounts on which interest was paid at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. The assets of the banks consisted of :

- a. Cash, Bullion and Money at Call
- b. Investments and Treasury Bills
- c. Bills of Exchange and Advances

But even in 1930s, large number of small estate owners and small and medium entrepreneurs had to rely primarily on the chettiar money lenders. Import of rice and other food stuffs had all along been in the hands of chettiar and other Indian traders. The slice of the import trade in the hands of Sri Lankans was negligible. Many a Sri Lankan had to import goods on DP terms, as they were unknown to sellers overseas. The native traders had a number of obstacles when compared to others, as far as banking is concerned. Dr. Wickrema Weerasooriya aptly described the situation in his book titled "The Nattukottai Chettians - Merchant Bankers in Ceylon". To quote Dr. Weerasooriya from his introduction to Book Page XV ... "the British Bankers were not easily accessible to the Ceylonese except to the very wealthy and the very influential. Those Ceylonese who needed loans and financial accommodation from the banks could not meet the British Bank Managers as they can now do. The Ceylonese did not visit (and for that matter they were often not permitted to enter) the tennis-courts, the golf links, the swimming pools and the social clubs that were frequented by the European Bank Managers and other Bank Officials. In addition to this non accessibility and the absence of direct communication between the European staff of the banks and the Ceylonese there was another obstacle that the Ceylonese faced. This came in the form of the "Shroff", an Officer now almost unknown in the Ceylonese banking scene, but then a formidable obstacle to Ceylonese borrowings from banks. The shroff was a native gentleman of some social and financial standing who acted as the guarantor for Ceylonese borrowers. The "Shroff" or "Guarantee Shroffs" as they were normally called came from the Colombo Chettiar community and worked at the banks on a commission basis paid to them both by the bank and the borrower. They scrutinized and assessed every Ceylonese applicant for a loan. Every Ceylonese had to "go through" the Shroff before he could obtain any accommodation from a British Bank. The Nattukottai Chettians took advantage of this situation and volunteered themselves as the middlemen to negotiate and act between the Ceylonese and the British Banks ...".

Ceylonese Banking Commission

It is a fact that at a certain stage of any country under foreign rule, the growth of an elite class, eager to take over the mantle of rule, not only in the sphere of administration, but in every other respect. In Sri Lanka we witnessed this growth from around 1920s. In the political field, the grouping of Leaders of different colours under one banner could be seen in "Ceylon National Congress", whose efforts paved way for political reforms through Donoughmore Constitution. Similarly, the unrest among the business community led to a patriotic politician to move a motion on 23rd November, 1932 in the country's legislature asking for the appointment of a "Banking Commission to go into the system of commerce, banking and insurance of this land". The mover was George Edmund de Silva whose services in the fields of introduction of Universal Franchise, Free Medical Services, Eradication of Malaria have made a special place in our history for him, apart from this prime and timely move for a banking commission. Although the proposal appeared to be radical (Ceylonisation and state control were unheard then), George E. de Silva was a man who professed no liking for Marxist principles. However, November 23rd 1932 could be considered as an important milestone of banking in our country. Sir E.A.P. Wijeyaratne seconded the motion. As a result "The Ceylon Banking Commission" was appointed on 24th April 1934. Sir Sorabji Nusserwanji Pochkhanawala, a leading Indian Banker was made Chairman while Sir H. Marcus Fernando and Dr. S.C. Paul were the other two members. Dr. B.B. Dasgupta and Mr. N.U. Jayawardene served as Secretary and Assistant Secretary of the commission respectively.

The report of the Commission, an invaluable document, was published in December 1934. This was debated in the State Council, under a resolution moved by the then Hon. Minister of Labour, Industry and Commerce, Mr. Peri Sunderam, on 28th February 1935, to establish a state-aided bank.

The result was the establishment of the Bank of Ceylon, on 01st August, 1939.
